Games That are to be Played and Points About Teams and Individual Players That May Prove Interesting to Cranks.

William Lawrence, of Sherman avenue, who fractured his ankle while playing football about one week ago, is now improving rapidly.

George Cathcart, the well known full-back of the Plainfield team, will appear on the gridiron again next Saturday when he will play his old position behind the line, Darling going to half.

The Crescent football team of this city will play its first game at home on Saturday in the Journal League. The game will start at 4 o'clock on the field at the corner of Giraud and Myrtle avenues.

Harry Lovell will appear with the Plainfield eleven again on Saturday at his old place at tackle. His experience at Yale has made him a valuable man for the team, and the excellent work he did last year showed that he has not forgotten the game since he graduated.

The Plainfield Athletic Association is about to inaugurate a new policy which, it is hoped, will make the football games of that association more popular than usual. Beginning on Saturday afternoon of this week, all the fair sex will be admitted to all games of the club free of charge. Not only will they be admitted free, but the Plainfield A. A will extend a hearty invitation to all of them to come and bring their friends. It is one of the standing rules of the field that no improper language shall be used on the gridiron, and the fair sex need not fear any trouble on that score.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Mr. and Mrs. VanEps, of Park avenue, and Miss Laura J. Runyon, of East Fifth street, rode their wheels to Orange yesterday.

Three thousand and thirty seven new members have joined the New Jersey Division of the L. A. W. from Dec. 1st, 1896, to Sept. 24th, 1897, ten months. Essex county stands first in line with 857 members. Hudson is next and Camden third. Union county comes fifth in line with 191 new members, of which Elizabeth furnishes 68; Summit, 22; Plainfield, 21; Union Hill, 17; Cranford, 15 Rahway, 14, and Westfield 10. Middlesex is tenth in line with 105 new members, of whom 64 come from New Brunswick. Somerset county is clear down to fifteenth, with only 32 new members.

BASKET BALL.

The Y. M. C. A. officers of Summit and this city are making an effort to have a trophy cup offered in the basket ball tournament. The cup, if put up, will probably be awarded to the team winning three out of five games. Young men wishing to present their names for membership in the basket ball team should signify their intention at once, as games are now being scheduled. The team will meet for practice on Friday night.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The managers of the Y. M. C. A. bowling teams of Summit and Plainfield are arranging to offer a trophy cup to be competed for in a series of games between the two teams.

REHEARSING FOR THE 'FEST.

Those in Charge Are Bending Every Energy to Make of it a Successful Affair.

The Speilkartenfest is now occupying the minds of a great many people of the city and borough and frequent rehearsals which are held in the Cycle Academy are bringing forth good results.

This entertainment will be given in aid of Muhlenberg Hospital from November 8th to November 13th, inclusive, at the Cycle Academy

Miss L. A. Stewart is directing the rehearshals and is well satisfied with the progress being made. Several dances were rehearsed last evening.

The entertainment will embrace the best features of the Kirmess, and the reigning novelty in the way of figure dances, the Speilkartenfest, or playing card festival. A game of whist is played by living cards who are dressed as kings and queens, jacks and tenspots, aces and every other card in the pack. They are dressed to represent diamonds, hearts, clubs, spades and special characters. Four players will indicate the cards they wish to play and the game proceeds. During the progress of the game enlivening dances are given. There are usually the dance of the court cards, of the aces, and joker, a cut for deal, shuffle, and tableaux.

Preparations are being made to accommodate the large number of people who are expected to be in attendance. W. R. Cock, W. L. Saunders and H. P. Reynolds are in charge of the arrangements and are giving every detail personal supervision. Everyone thus far has shown a remarkable inclination to help to make the affair the most successful yet given.

It is said that there is not a tedious moment in the play and everyone in the audience can readily follow the game. Decorations will show which side is winning.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church, of Craig place, will continue its fair in the basement of the church this afternoon and evening. The proceeds will go into the church treasury

10,000 Kisses in 10 Hours.

Berlin, Oct. 14.—The Munchener Nachrichten records the experience of a young German who undertook to establish a kissing record. He gained his sweetheart's consent, the terms being that he should take ten thousand kisses from her lips in ten hours, with a brief interval for refreshment every half hour. Umpires were appointed and the attempt to make the record began.

The young man scored 2,000 kisses in the first hour and 1,600 in the second. He had reached 750 in the third hour when his lips were paralyzed and he became unconscious

Package Containing $14,000 Missing.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—A package containing $14,000 has been lost between Omaha and Denver. The money was sent by registered package by a bank in Chicago to a financial institution in the West. The Postoffice authorities are hard at work on the case, but have traced the money westward from Chicago only as far as Omaha.

At that point all record of the small fortune is lost. The authorities refuse to give either the name of the bank sending the money or the one to which the package is consigned.

Secretary Bliss Must Move.

Washington, Oct. 14.—Secretary Bliss has discovered that his lease of a residence at Sixteenth and K streets is invalid, and though he caused his household effects to be moved into the premises on Sept. 1, he will have to look for another house. The house is in a fashionable part of the city, opposite the homes of Secretary Alger and Senator Hale.

Joaquin Miller to Become an Actor.

New York, Oct. 14.—A contract was made yesterday by Davis & Keogh by which they have secured the services of Joaquin Miller, the poet of the Sierras, to make his debut as an actor in the coming production of Scott Marble's drama, "The Heart of the Klondike." The play will be put on at the Star Theatre, Nov. 8.

Deceived by Appearance.

An old darky was arrested for stealing a silver dollar. The dollar was found on his person and produced in court.

"You stole this money?" asked the judge.

"Dat's whut dey says, suh!"

"Well, what have you to say for yourself?"

"Well, suh, nuttin' much, 'ceptin' dat I wuz driv ter it."

"Driven to it?"

"Yes, suh. You see, jedge, dat dollar had a bird on it, en it look so much like a game chicken dat I though it wuz in a hen roos' en des nachully bagged it!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Reliable.

"Yez know Casey, the conthractor," said Mr. Dolan.

"Oi do," replied Rafferty.

"Is he what ye'd call reliable?"

"He is the most reliable man Oi iver knew. Whiniver he tells yez anythin' ye kin depind an it's not bein' so."

A LAY OF THE SUMMER.

Oh! I'd like to go with Nansen
To the Pole.
Where the grizzly bears are dancin'
And they roll
In a chilly, frapped ocean
With a rhythmic sort of mot on
That is droll!
Where Mrs. Seal cavorting
Wears her furs,
And Mr. Seal though sporting,
Ne'er demurs;
Where the wind is wild, and freely
O'er the country found by Greely
Ever stirs—
O'er the country found by Greely
Ever stirs!
Oh! I'd like to be a blooming
Esquimau,
All his frozen airs assuming,
Don't you knau!
Then farewell to moods so melting,
With a snowball I'd be pelting
Every wau!
All of Greenland's icy mountains
I would do;
Drinking drinks that frozen fountains
Only brew.
There I know they'd ne'er be trotin'
Out that query, "Is it hot en-
Ough for you?"
Out that query, "Is it hot en-
Ough for you?"

AMENDED PLAN OF FRANK BERGEN'S TROLLEY ROAD.

A plan is here presented for widening the county road and building a trolley upon it which involves a change of the one presented by Frank Bergen. The new suggestion, as shown in the sketch, is to construct a bicycle path 14 feet wide between the trolley tracks. This amended plan, which is the idea of former Freeholder James T. Pierson, will meet with the enthusiastic endorsement of cyclers of both sexes, who were not taken into consideration in the original plan. A path of this character, constructed with special reference to the comforts of cyclers, will increase the popularity of Mr. Bergen's plan immeasurably. Wheelmen would then be able to escape the annoyances incident to riding upon a road where carriages and trucks block the way and frequently endanger life and limb. The proposed change is approved by Frank Bergen, and will be adopted by him hereafter in his efforts to obtain the improvement of the road. The addition of the proposed bicycle path will necessitate a number of changes in the original drawing, and these changes can be understood easily by a glance at the above sketch. The space for the 14 foot path is gained by making the sidewalks 12 instead of 15 feet wide, and the roadways 19 and 29 feet wide respectively, as shown above, instead of 26 feet. On each side of the path, between it and the gutters, there will be a gutter, which will serve to prevent accidents, which might occur if the path was built close up to the tracks.

If you like the idea say so to Mr. Pierson or some member of the committee, and when it leaves their hands for the commissioners, who will order the work done, make your voice heard in the most effective way you can. The committee of eleven are John B. Dumont and DeWitt C. Ivins, of Plainfield; Frank W. Wescott, of Fanwood; James T. Pierson, of Westfield; Jaspar C. Hunt, of Cranford; George W. Doty, of Union; Albert B. Carlton, Louis Quien and Alexander Kerr, of Elizabeth; W. H. Coffey, of Summit, and B. A. Vail, of Rahway. Vail is chairman and Quien secretary.

BEES INVADE A CHURCH.

KEPT WORSHIPPERS VERY ANXIOUS.

Driven Out of a Cupola by Heat From the Furnace They Took Refuge in the Auditorium.

Every person that attended the services at the Park Avenue Baptist church last Sunday was on the anxious seat, caused by the presence of a very large swarm of bees that had gained admittance. For sometime past the bees have made their home in the cupola of the church and up to last Sunday they had been undisturbed. The weather being a trifle cool, Mr. Brokaw felt compelled to build a fire in the furnace to warm the church. The fire not only warmed the church but also the bees. The honey-makers did not like the heat and they adjourned to the auditorium of the church to bother the worshippers.

They made life miserable for the congregation. Their humming songs kept all in a state of worriment, for no one knew what minute they might be a victim.

Wesley Brokaw, the organist, was the first victim. He was struck twice in the face with a bee, and declared that if it occurred again he would leave the church.

The unusual occurrence, however, did not disturb the equanimity of Pastor Richardson, for he preached one of his powerful sermons with even more than usual vigor, if that is possible, but the congregation did not seem to be in a condition to receive the Word as they should.

Fortunately no one received a sting, and when church was out everyone breathed a sigh of relief. At the evening service the bees were still present.

At the Wednesday evening prayer-meeting a few of the bees were present, but they did not disturb anyone. An effort will be made to get the bees out of the church by next Sunday so that the members of the church and their friends can worship in peace and comfort.

An Ideal Home.

Miss Lillian A. Force, of Duer street, returned home last evening from Hamden, Hunterdon county, where she has been visiting her friend, Miss Sara Todd, for the past ten days. The home of Miss Todd, which stands on an elevated portion of the 120 acres of fertile farm land surrounding it, has recently been thoroughly remodeled and is a credit to the architect, A. L. C. Marsh, of this city, as are also the interior decorations and furnishings to the owner, Mrs. Julia F. Grandin, Miss Todd's mother. Persons who have had the pleasure of visiting this hospitable home are led to believe that it is one of the most complete country residences in Hunterdon county.

—Young men interested in the study of Spanish are requested to apply at the Y. M. C. A. building on Friday evening of next week.

PRIZES AWARDED.

Successful Workers for the German Fair are Rewarded.

There was a good attendance at the German Reformed church fair which was continued last evening, and many sales were made by those in charge of the tables. The contests were decided and prizes were given to all who were in the contest, except Mrs. Hauser who would not accept a prize. Mrs. Phillip Giese headed the list by bringing in $35 61 and she received a rocking chair. Mrs. Angerbauer brought in $28 10 and was awarded a quilt, while Mrs. Fred Conde received a rocking chair as a present for the $8.40 she collected. A lemonade set was given to Mrs. Phillip Bach who collected $8.16. Mrs. Jacob Blimm was presented with a flower vase for the $8.02 she brought in. Mrs. Hauser collected $5. August Wolf collected $4.75 and Mrs. Sutterlein $3.49. Each of the last two named received a fancy cake. The total amount received was $101.53.

A short programme, consisting of piano solos and vocal solos, was rendered during the evening. The fair will be continued this evening when an auction will be held and everything disposed of.

CARPET WORKS START AGAIN.

Will be Run on Full Time as Soon as Loo ms Are Put in Order.

The VanDeventer Carpet Company, whose factory is on South avenue, near Scott's Printing Machine Works, resumed work yesterday after a shutdown of four weeks. The factory now has thirty hands working full time, and will increase the number to sixty, its full capacity, as soon as the looms can be placed in running order. S. J. Acheson, the superintendent of the mill, informed a Daily Press reporter today that the firm already had sufficient orders on hand to keep the looms busy until December 15th, running full time, and that there was every prospect that work would continue all winter. The season has opened unusually early this fall owing to the fact that all retail dealers have been buying very lightly for the past few years, and have no stock to meet the fall demand.

A Somerville Marriage.

Miss Fannie Fields and William Cox, both of Somerville, were married in the Second Reformed church at that place yesterday afternoon, and left at once upon their wedding trip. Upon their return they will make their home in Somerville. The bride is a sister of James C. Fields, who was formerly associated with L. W. Randolph in the drug business in this city, and she has many friends here. Among the Plainfield people who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, Mr. and Mrs. William Chapman, Mrs. William Westphal and Miss Ella Serrell.

ROBBER DIDN'T FINISH JOB.

SUSPICIOUS MAN UNDER ARREST.

Attempt to Enter a West Front Street House—Frightened By the Return of One of the Family.

An attempted robbery was committed at the home of William B. Shafer, of 732 West Front street, last evening about 8 o'clock, but no trace of those committing the act can be ascertained. Mr. Shafer and his family had left the house for the purpose of attending the band concert at Music Hall. They had not gone a great distance, when one of the family happened to think that something at home was forgotten. Just before reaching the house she heard a scramble and hurried footsteps. Previously, Mrs. Morton, who lives next door, heard a noise in Mr. Shafer's house but she thought it was made by some members of the family, until her attention was called to the attempted robbery.

An investigation showed that the thieves had made free use of a jimmy in opening a cellar window, and they had gained access to the cellar for the purpose of entering the upper part of the house, when they were disturbed by the return of the family. The entire family returned when they learned what had happened, and made a thorough search of the house. They could not find that anything had been disturbed, and after locking up the house they went to the concert. The matter has been reported to the police.

After this had occurred the police found a stranger wandering along West Front street with a package under his arm. The contents of the package proved to be a set of moulder's tools, one of which fitted in the dents left in the cellar window by the burglar's jimmy. The man was arrested and locked up in the city jail.

This morning he was arraigned before City Judge DeMeza on the charge of vagrancy. He had a plausible story. He gave his name as Thomas O'Toole, of New York. He claimed to be utterly innocent of any attempt to enter any house in the neighborhood. The Judge reserved his sentence until a further search for clues to the identity of the burglar might be made.

Nell Picket a Witness.

Rumors have been current in this city to the effect that Martin Galbrath and Nell Pickett had been implicated in a murder at Greenwich, Conn. The truth of the matter is that there was a murder there in which a man named Sydney played the leading role. Nell Pickett was one of the principal witnesses and was held for that reason. Galbrath did not figure in the affair at all although rumor had him sentenced to prison for life.

After the Postoffice.

Considerable quiet work is being done for the postoffice honors by the local politicians. It is said that one possibility has an extremely long petition, while the other has adopted another course, that of depending on the powers that be.

THE REPORT CONFIRMED

BOROUGH COUNCIL APPROVE OF AVENUE COMMISSIONERS' WORK.

Final Hearing Held Last Night and Many Objections Were Made to Assessments—Only a Few Changes Were Made, Though.

There was a mixture of comedy with the serious side of the discussion concerning the report of the Watchung Avenue Commissioners which was considered last evening at a special meeting of the Borough Council, and a number of the objectionists furnished it, much to the amusement of those present.

After a resolution was adopted, which authorized the Council to take the report from the table so that all objectors could be given a chance to be heard, also that the report be examined and confirmed by the Council, Mayor Wilson stated that the Council was ready to listen to anyone who had anything to say about the report.

G. W. Bird was the first one to speak, and he remarked in substance what he previously stated at the meeting of the commissioners. He cited the case of where the commissioners had assessed property on Chatham street and Watchung avenue twelve times greater than property on Summit avenue, and he asked the Council not to confirm the report. Mr. Bird said that he would be willing to settle for $300 if the Council would allow him $27 for an old barn which they had taken.

Father Miller, representing St. Joseph's church, made a lengthy speech concerning the assessments on the church property. He compared a case of where a property on Jackson avenue opposite the church property with a depth of 230 feet and a fifty foot frontage was assessed about $280, and the church property 120 feet deep and 97 feet wide was asaessed $460. He thought the assessment was unfair and that the method of assessing so much a foot was unjust. He contended that from Manning avenue down to the brook the benefits are very little, and yet the people in that territory were assessed two-thirds of the entire cost. He said he had purchased additional property near the church recently for $2,800, which was held at $3,500 eight years ago and this fact showed that values are decreasing. He also claimed that it had cost the church between $3,000 and $4,000 as a result of opening the avenue. It was shown, however, that the church had received nearly value for their money.

Judge McCarter, of Newark, was present to represent the interests of Mrs. Hannah Durlach. His remarks were about the same as made at the meeting of the commissioners. His principal points were that the opening of the avenue had left the property in a peculiar size, and that being close to the dam left it in a dangerous place, and therefore would never derive the benefits that other properties would. He stated that his people were not satisfied with the reduction from $1,350 to $1,100 recently made, and he could not account for the gap between $100 as first assessed sometime ago and the present figures of $1,100, and he asked the Council to consider the matter further.

George White made a few remarks, in which he stated that he considered the assessment unfair, as the figures are $500 more at present than they were when the assessment was made some time ago, and he is receiving no more benefits, surely not to the extent of $8.0, the amount asked. D. D. Smalley took a serious view of matters and said that if the Council continued everybody would be driven out of town by assessments. The times are hard, and it is all the people can do to pay their State and county tax, he said. He held that his property would not bring the price it would before the avenue was opened. Frank Conshea caused much fun by his witty remarks. He claimed that the avenue tax is no benefit to him, and in fact it is a detriment. At this time someone told Mr. Conshea that he had been drinking too much buttermilk, whereupon he replied, "I know it," and he attempted to say something further, but the remark was lost in the loud roar of laughter. Another objector that caused merriment was William Boe, representing Mrs. William Boe, in a protest against an assessment of $198. He said that his wife's property was not benefited by the opening of the avenue, and he considered the work of the commissioners as a d—— outrage and a skin. He claimed that the people who started the work were the ones in the borough who do not live anywhere near the avenue. He held that the work was illegal, and that he would not pay his assessment, if he had to pay that amount into the hands of a lawyer to get out of it. He offered to sell the property to Mr.

CARRIED OFF HONORS.

TRINITY COMMANDERY DISTINGUISHED AT THE FIELD DAY.

Eighty Members Were There and Their Drilling Was the Best of the Day—Trinity Accompanied by Drake's Band.

The Knights Templar of this State held their annual field day at Morristown yesterday. While it was considered a very successful event, it could not compare with the one held in this city last year. The entertaining commandery was the Odo de St. Amand Commandery, one of the smallest in the State, so they were somewhat handicapped in their plans of entertainment. The day was a delightful one, however, and the city of Morristown was gay with flags and bunting.

The Trinity Commandery, of this city, carried off the honors of the day. Including their visitors from several of the other commanderies who did not send complete delegations, they numbered eighty in all. There marching was the best and they performed a number of evolutions which the other commanderies did not attempt.

The Plainfield Knights met at the North Avenue station yesterday morning, and took the 7:50 train for Newark. There they were met by the Damascus Commandery, of Newark, and escorted to the D. L. & W. station where a special train conveyed both commanderies to Morristown. The morning was spent in getting the commanderies in order and completing the necessary arrangements.

In the afternoon, the review and dress parade was held, the commanderies falling in line at 2 o'clock. Being the youngest commandery in line, Trinity brought up in the rear of the column, but her superior marching and greater numbers gave her a hearty reception all along the line. The line of march was six miles long.

At 6 o'clock, the Trinity and Damascus Commanderies were conveyed back to Newark by special train, and there the Plainfield Knights were treated to an elaborate collation by their hosts. The Plainfield delegation finally left for home at 9 o'clock.

Trinity Commandery was accompanied by Drake's Band, who made an excellent showing in the parade. It is estimated that there were about four hundred Knights in line.

LOOK OUT FOR THE CHIEF AWHEEL.

Head of the Police Force Falls a Victim to the Bicycle Fever.

The bicycle is all-powerful. One by one the well-known Plainfielders are succumbing to its influence and are trying to learn to ride. The latest victim of the wheel is Chief George W. Grant, who stands at the head of the Plainfield police force. He is doing it on the quiet, with the assistance of Roundsman Frederickson, but his friends have spied him out and are now congratulating him, for the Captain has finally conquered the tricks of the silent steed and can navigate the streets on it to some extent. He is still a novice in the art, however, and prefers to do his riding for the present in some secluded nook where there is no one to watch his performances.

The friends of the Captain have long tried to persuade him to ride, but he has laughed at them, and no one had an idea until the other day that the genial Chief had ever thought of riding a wheel. He admits the advantages that a wheel has for a policeman, and will be able to more completely look after the peace and quiet of the city now that he is soon to be able to spin along like the rest of the force.

HUMOR AND PATHOS BOTH.

Delightful Entertainment of a Literary Nature Given in Vincent Chapel.

A delightful entertainment of a literary nature was given in Vincent chapel last evening under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Mission Band of the First M. E. church. The principal entertainer was Prof. Barbour, of Rutgers College, a man of great talent and ability. He recited a number of selections and his audience found him charming as a humorist or in his pathetic selections.

His humorous recitations were especially good and received great applause from the fair-sized audience present. He also gave Wallace's "Chariot Race" in a very graphic manner. "Daddy's Li'l Boy" was also one of his best renditions.

A piano solo was well rendered by Miss Mabelle Force and Miss Charlotte Messersmith gave a vocal solo very acceptably.

THE GREED OF FARMERS

IT CAUSES TROUBLE WITH TOWNSHIP HEALTH OFFICIALS.

It is Said That They Heap Their Wagons With Fertilizer in the City, Dumping Part of it in the Township.

The health authorities of the township of North Plainfield claim that they have been made the victim of the greed of farmers who live back in the mountains in the direction of Warrenville and Mt Bethel. The farmers buy their fertilizer in Plainfield by the load. They heap their wagons to their utmost capacity and it is claimed when they reach the hilly country in the township they leave part of their load behind on the highway so that the horses can draw the wagons and then return at their leisure for that left behind. Now the Board of Health of the township has instructed its inspector, Constable George N. Steward, to start criminal proceedings against the next man to dump compost in the public highway of the township.

Such was one of the most important acts of the Board of Health at the regular meeting held last evening in William Demler's grocery store at Washingtonville. It was the first meeting of the new Board which met for organization with the following members: William H. Smith, Charles Sebring, Frank Mobus, Theodore Luerrsenn, William Demler, of Washingtonville; Benjamin Clark, of Scotch Plains, and Goldson Smalley, of Greenbrook. Robert M. Clark, as assessor, was the secretary ex-officio. Theodore Luerrsenn was elected president of the Board.

George H. Steward, the constable, was made inspector of the Board, with the munificent salary of $12 a year. Dr. D. C. Adams was chosen township physician. Robert M. Clark was made attorney for the Board.

The annual report of the Board was prepared and sent to the State Board. It showed that there had been 17 births and 5 deaths in the township during the last year. During that time there had been one case of scarlet fever and four of measles, all of which had recovered. Two inspections had been made of the milk dairies in the township and all were reported to be in a good sanitary condition.

The inspector was ordered to hereafter make an inspection of the dairies every month and thoroughly inspect them to see that all was conducted in a sanitary manner.

BIG BICYCLE PARADE.

Somerville's Pageant Composed of Nearly All Decorated Wheels.

Somerville held a bicycle carnival last evening and it proved a great success. It was almost exclusively composed of wheelmen from Somerville and Raritan, but those that did take part made considerable effort to present a fine showing and they succeeded admirably. The parade was on somewhat different lines from those in this city and New Brunswick, as no effort was made to have uniformed clubs in line. The parade consisted almost entirely of wheels gotten up after some novel design. Every wheel in line was decorated to some extent while some of the decorations were very novel and intricate.

There were nearly 300 wheels in line and they paraded through the principal streets in Somerville and Raritan. The paraders looked very gay at first, but many of the lanterns went out as the line of march was covered, and the beauty of some of the decorations went unappreciated on account of the darkness.

One of the most novel floats in line was an elephant suspended between two wheels. Astride of the elephant's neck was a small boy. Many of the riders merely masqueraded as various humorous characters and amused the crowd by their gesticulations.

JUDGMENT AGAINST A MINISTER.

Reed & Coddington Want Rev. E. Kionka to Pay for Legal Services.

The case of Reed & Coddington against Rev. E. Kionka, formerly pastor of the German Lutheran church, North Plainfield, to recover the amount of a bill for legal services, was tried in Justice Newcorn's court this morning, and judgment was rendered for the plaintiffs for the full amount of the bill, which was $19, and the costs of the action. It is probable that the case will be appealed.

Another Industrial School.

There has been organized at the East Third Street mission an Industrial School, the object of which is to teach children such useful arts as sewing, etc. The organization is wholly unsectarian and is under the management of Mrs. A. E. Bushnell, of this city, who will be assisted by several other ladies of this city. The first meeting of the school will occur tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, at which time all interested in the work are invited to be present.

FOR RECIPROCITY NOW

President to Name a Commission to Negotiate Treaties.

JOHN A. KASSON SELECTED

Will Endeavor to Renew All the Agreements Made Under the Harrison Administration and Since Revoked—Provisions of the Law.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 15.—The President is about to announce a commissioner to take charge of negotiating commercial treaties with foreign countries. For some time past Mr. McKinley has been considering the subject of reciprocity, and the advisability with opening negotiations with other nations. He has been in consultation with a number of persons in relation to the best course to pursue, and has finally decided to name a commissioner to take charge of the matter.

Hon. John A. Kasson of Iowa has been asked to accept the commissionership and assume charge of the work. Mr. Kasson will have several assistants.

Has Two Years to Act.

Under Sections 3 and 4 of the new tariff act the President is empowered, with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make commercial treaties with foreign countries, with a view to securing reciprocal trade. The law limits the time in which he shall act to two years from and after the passage of the tariff act, and consequently the President is anxious that the work begin at once. It is understood that the new commissioner will endeavor to renew all the reciprocity treaties negotiated under the Harrison Administration, but revoked under Cleveland, so far as they are consistent under Sections 3 and 4 of the Dingley Tariff act.

Provisions of the Law.

These provisions of the tariff law state that, for the purpose of equalizing the trade of the United States with foreign countries and their colonies, producing and exporting to this country certain articles, the President is authorized to enter into negotiations for a commercial agreement in which reciprocal and equivalent concessions may be secured in favor of products and manufactures of the United States. The articles mentioned are as follows: Argols or crude tartar, or wine lees, crude; brandies or other spirits manufactured or distilled from grain or other material; champagnes and all sparkling wines; still wines and vermuth; paintings and statuary. When such commercial agreements between the United States and the countries exporting these articles have been made, and in the judgment of the President they are reciprocal and equivalent, he is authorized to suspend during the time of such agreement, by proclamation, the imposition and collection of duties imposed by the present tariff law, and thereafter the duties on such article or articles shall be as follows: Argols, or crude tartar, or wine lees, crude, 5 per centum ad valorem; brandies or other spirits manufactured or distilled from grain or other materials, $1.75 per proof gallon; champagne and all other sparkling wines in bottles containing not more than one quart and more than one pint, $6 per dozen; containing not more than one pint each and more than one-half pint, $3 per dozen; containing one-half pint each or less, $1.50 per dozen; in bottles or other vessels containing more than one quart each, in addition to $6 per dozen bottles on the quantities in excess of one quart, at the rate of $1.90 per gallon; still wines and vermuth in casks, 35 cents per gallon; in bottles or jugs, per case of one dozen bottles or jugs containing each not more than one quart and more than one pint, or twenty-four bottles or jugs containing each not more than one pint, $1.25 per case, and any excess beyond these quantities found in such bottles or jugs shall be subject to a duty of 4 cents per pint or fractional part thereof, but no separate or additional duty shall be assessed upon the bottles or jugs; paintings in oil or water colors, pastels, pen and ink drawings and statuary, 15 per centum ad valorem.

As to Tea and Coffee.

The section states that the President, whenever he is satisfied that any such reciprocity agreement with any government has not been fully executed, shall have the power to revoke such suspension of duties. It also provides that, with a view to securing reciprocal trade with countries producing and exporting to the United States coffee, tea and tonquin, tonqua or tonka beans and vanilla beans, when such government imposes a duty on the agricultural, manufactured or other products of the United States which, in view of the introduction of such coffee, tea, tonka and vanilla beans into this country free, the President may deem to be reciprocally unequal and unreasonable, he can suspend by proclamation the provisions of the tariff act admitting these articles free and impose specified duties.

The Administration expects to announce all the members of the new commission at once, and hopes that the work of negotiating reciprocity treaties will begin immediately.

Jury Played Cards for Verdict.

Ashland, Wis., Oct. 15.—A. L. Warner, a juryman in the case of Ewer vs. Darwin, which was decided a few days ago in favor of the plaintiff, has made an affidavit, which has been filed by counsel for the defense as the basis of a request for a new trial, that when the jury stood 11 to 1 for the plaintiff the verdict was settled by the result of a game of cards between the dissenting juryman and one of the others.

Killed a Stage Robber.

Delta, Cal., Oct. 15.—A desperate fight took place this morning in this town when William Harald, a stage robber who had been run to earth by officers, killed Under Sheriff Radford, wounded Under Sheriff Stewart, and was himself shot through the heart. The fight did not last a quarter of a minute, but fully twenty shots were fired and Harald was filled with lead.

$50,000 Gift to Yale.

New Haven, Oct. 15.—Another gift of $15,000 has been announced for the Yale Law School. The donor is John W. Hendrie, of South Beach. He has now given $50,000 to the institution.

JUSTICE FIELD RETIRES

The Venerable Jurist Leaves the Supreme Court Bench.

THE PRESIDENT NOTIFIED

Formal Announcement of the Fact Made in the United States Supreme Court Yesterday—Letter from the President.

Washintgon, D. C., Oct. 15.—It was announced in the Supreme Court yesterday that Justice Stephen J. Field of California had notified President McKinley of his intention to retire as a member of the court, and had informed his colleagues of this fact. The members of the court, after adjournment at 4 o'clock, called in a body on the retiring Justice to pay their respects.

It is expected that his successor will be nominated by the President immediately after the reassembling of Congress in December, and that Attorney-General McKenna, also of California, will be named for the office.

Justice Field, it is learned, notified the President last April of his intention to retire, but the President did not acknowledge it until Oct. 9.

Letter from the President.

The following letter was given out yesterday afternoon:

Supreme Court of the United States,
Washington, D. C., Oct. 12, 1897.

Dear Mr. Chief Justice and Brethren:

Near the close of last term, feeling that the duties of my office had become too arduous for my strength, I transmitted my resignation to the President, to take effect on the first day of December next, and this he has accepted with kindly expressions of regard, as will be seen from a copy of his letter, which is as follows:

"Executive Mansion,
"Washington, D. C., Oct. 9, 1897.

"Hon. Stephen J. Field, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, Washington, D. C.:

"My Dear Sir—In April last Chief Justice Fuller, accompanied by Mr. Justice Brewer, handed me your resignation as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, to take effect Dec. 1, 1897.

"In hereby accepting your resignation I wish to express my deep regret that you feel compelled by advancing years to sever your active connection with the court of which you have been so long a distinguished member.

"Entering upon your great office in May, 1863, you will on the first of next December have served upon this bench for a period of thirty-four years and seven months, a term longer than that of any member of the court since its creation, and throughout a period of special importance in the history of the country, occupied with as grave public questions as have ever confronted that tribunal for decision.

"I congratulate you, therfore, most heartily upon a service of such exceptional duration, fidelity and distinction. Nor can I overlook the fact that you received your commission from Abraham Lincoln, and, graciously spared by a kind Providence, have survived all the members of the court of his appointment.

"Upon your retirement both the bench and the country will sustain a great loss, but the high character and great ability of your work will live and long be remembered, not only by your colleagues, but by your grateful fellow countrymen.

"With personal esteem and sincere best wishes for your contentment and happiness during the period of rest which you have so well earned, I am, dear sir, very truly vours,

"WILLIAM M'KINLEY."

STARVING IN HAVANA CITY.

About Twenty-five Pacificos Die Daily in the Capital.

Havana, via Key West, Oct. 15.—Twenty-five persons, among them twelve women and five children, died yesterday of hunger in Havana. They were crowded into the place called Los Fosos, where the Spanish police here huddle the pacificos who have been driven by the troops into the capital from the neighboring country. Many thousands of these hapless persons are now starving to death in Los Fosos, and I have been informed by trustworthy persons that since Oct. 1 about twenty-five of them have died every day of their privations. The Spanish authorities conceal these facts, and the black Maria comes in the night to take away under cover of darkness the bodies, which are buried in the cemetery of Colon.

The war continues fiercely in Havana province. A Spanish column, surrounded in the town of Santiago de las Vegas by the insurgents, is unable to leave the place on account of the superior Cuban forces which control all the roads. The commander has asked for reinforcements from Havana.

Faure Makes a Speech.

(Cable Dispatch to the New York Sun.)

Paris, Oct. 15.—The merchants of this city last night gave a banquet to President Faure in commemoration of his recent visit to Russia. M. Faure made a strong speech, dwelling chiefly upon colonial expansion.

Referring to the recently revealed resources of new countries, he eloquently appealed to French private enterprise to increase the nation's wealth by developing such resources. An epoch was now beginning, he said, that was likely to finally fix the destines of the nations of Europe and to determine their respective positions in the world.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—A convention echo meeting will be held in the Park Avenue Baptist church this evening, under the charge of the Christian Endeavor Society of that church.

—The members of Howell Division, Sons of Temperance, went to Elizabeth last evening where they were the guests of a fellow-division. All report having had a good time.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent Cough Remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form.—The Banner of Liberty, Libertytown, Maryland. Horsley Barker, the West Front street druggist, has returned from a visit with friends in Brooklyn.

Those who believe chronic diarrhœa to be incurable should read what Mr. P. E. Grisham, of Gaars Mills, La., has to say on the subject, viz.: "I have been a sufferer from chronic diarrhœa ever since the war and have tried all kinds of medicines for it. At last I found a remedy that effected a cure and that was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy." This medicine can always be depended upon for colic, cholera morbus, dysentery and diarrhœa. It is pleasant to take and never fails to affect a cure. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Croup Quickly Cured.

MOUNTAIN GLEN, Ark.—Our children were suffering with croup when we received a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It afforded almost instant relief.—F. A. Thornton. This celebrated remedy is for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Charles O'Neil, of West Second street, who sometime ago fractured his arm while playing, has about recovered from the effects of the accident.

A pain in the chest is nature's warning that pneumonia is threatened. Dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind over the seat of pain, and another on the back between the shoulders, and prompt relief will follow. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

E. E. Anthony, of West Front street, was in Philadelphia yesterday on business.

It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by L. W. Randolph.

George Lewis, of the borough, is slowly recovering from the effects of the fall he had some time ago.

Electric Bitters

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

—New electric light poles are being erected on Front street to take the place of the old ones which are worn out.

Stands at the Head.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits.' Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and to-day stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

INQUIRING INTO HAZLETON RIOT.

The Austrian Minister Makes a Formal Complaint to Sherman.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 15.—The following dispatch from Secretary of State Sherman has been received by Gov. Hastings:

"His Excellency the Austrian Minister has filed a communication with this Department, reresenting that in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, near Hazleton, on the 10th of September, 1897, a conflict took place between the Sheriff of Lucerne County, supported by an armed force, and certain striking workmen; that in that conflict ten Austrian and Hungarian subjects were killed and eleven more wonded; also that of the other wounded men there are some twenty-three whose names would seem to indicate that they are of Austrian or Hungarian birth.

"According to the representations of the Minister, the victims of this catastrophe were guilty of no acts of violence, nor in any opposition to local authority which might justify the measures taken against them. It is also claimed by the Minister that a number of the deceased were fired upon without cause and while in retreat, and that these acts constitute a violation of the dights of Austrian subjects.

"It is represented on the part of the Austrian Government that these subjects suffered death and grievous wounds not in unlawful oposition to the authorities of Pennsylvania, but by reason of unwarranted and unlawful use of power by the Sheriff of Lucerne County of your State.

"The Austrian Government, through its Minister, has requested this Department to bring the matter to the proper authority that it may be thoroughly investigated and the result communicated to that Government.

"Will you be kind enough to report to this Department the facts in relation to these cases, together with such information and suggestions as may be pertinent to you, in order that the request of the Austrian Minister may be complied with and such action taken as may be proper in the premises. Very respectfully, "JOHN SHERMAN."

The communication has been referred to Sheriff Martin, of Luzerne County, and to Gen. Gobin, with the request that they enlighten Secretary Sherman as soon as possible.

RESCUER OF MISS CISNEROS.

Charles Duval Decker a Resident of Washington.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 15.—"Karl" Decker, as he is familiarly known, who played so important a part in the rescue of the fair Cuban, Senorita Cisneros, is a resident of Washington City. His family, consisting of Mrs. Decker, and a little girl, aged 5 years, are now residing in this city. Mr. Decker is expected to join them at a very early date.

"Karl" Decker is known best as a newspaper man, and has been engaged as a newsgatherer since he was 18 years of age. His first newspaper work was on the Washington Post, and after that he went into the bureau of the Baltimore American, where he remained for six years. During a portion of that period he was also Washington correspondent for the Florida Citizen, which recently merged with the Florida Times-Union. He has been employed on the New York Journal since August, 1896. During the last session of Congress he was one of the staff of correspondents for the Journal in the press gallery.

In personal features and manners Mr. Decker is pleasing and affable, and is one of the best-liked newspaper men at the national capital. On account of his gallant rescue of Miss Cisneros, he is likely to become one of the best-known newspaper men in the country, and will doubtless be much sought after next Winter. It is expected that he will continue to represent the Journal here during the next session.

Boasts of Murders.

Lyons, France, Oct. 15.—Vacher, the shepherd, who was arrested on a charge of murder by the police of Belley, Department of Ain, a few days ago, and admitted having killed and mutilated a number of persons, including three shepherd who was arrested on a charge two old women, is giving his captors a great deal of trouble.

He is morbidly vain, and fancies himself a hero. He declares his undying hatred of society, but insists upon writing a full account of his crimes and having it published in the newspapers. Otherwise, he says, he will not submit to an examination.

Seeking Federal Patronage.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 15.—Several Pennsylvania politicians are in Washington to-day, among them being Representatives McAleer, Dalzell and Harmer. They are here for the purpose of looking after the Federal patronage, and also in relation to the proposed dry dock at League Island.

One of the Pennsylvania delegation stated this morning that it is not likely that Mr. Samuel Randall, son of the late Speaker Randall, would secure any office during the present Administration. It is said that he has no backing sufficient to secure a place for him in Pennsylvania.

Four at One Birth.

Troy, Oct. 15.—Mrs. William J. Olmstead, wife of a motorman on the Troy City Railroad, recently gave birth to four children—two boys and two girls—at her home in Albia, a suburb. The mother and children are all doing well. The children weighed six and one-half pounds each. The mother weighs only 130 pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Olmstead have four other children, the eldest being a girl of 16 and the youngest a boy of 5.

Gladstone Won't Intervene.

London, Oct. 15.—Mr. Gladstone has declined to accede to a request that he intervene to bring about a settlement of the engineers' strike.

The Australian marine engineers have voted $2,500 in aid of the strikers.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

The Bank of England advanced its rate of discount from 2½ to 3 per cent.

Edwin Gould denies that an English Syndicate has purchased the Diamond Match Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Munger, of Eureka, Kan., have offered a permanent home to Miss Cisneros.

TAUNTS FOR MR. SHERMAN

Demand that the Cabinet Shall Put an Immediate End to Bimetallic Negotiations—Gladstone and the Venezuelan Question.

London, Oct. 15.—The afternoon newspapers yesterday take the same views of Secretary Sherman's latest dispatch to the Marquis of Salisbury on the sealing conference question as expressed by the morning papers. The St. James' Gazette says:

"It will be a relief if this transatlantic Polonius is restricted in the future to playing the fool in his own home, and the foreign affairs of his country are transferred into more capable hands. But we need not count upon this too confidently. We, ourselves, allowed an elderly statesman to play tricks in the national name with national interests for many a long year."

The St. James' Gazette taunts Mr. Herbert Gladstone with "copying Secretary Sherman's manner" in a speech Wednesday evening, in which Mr. Herbert Gladstone said that the Venezuelan question would not have been peacefully settled if there had been no United States concerned, adding that in the latter case, "Our ironclads would have been sent there and our troops would have made short work of the Venezuelan question. But the United States appeared on the scene, and the virtues of arbitration became obviously apparent."

CAMDEN'S MURDER MYSTERY.

Nephew of the Murdered Woman—No Real Evidence Against Him.

Camden, N. J., Oct. 15.—Charles Higgins, a nephew of one of the women murdered Tuesday morning at 242 Line street, was arrested yesterday in Philadelphia in connection with the murder.

Prosecutor Jenkins says they have no real evidence against Higgins, but believe that he can shed some light on the subject.

John Duney and Harry Deasey, the two Philadelphians who were arrested in Stockton on suspicion of being the murderers of Mrs. Emma Shaw, have been cleared of all suspicion by the authorities here.

They had a hearing and were closely questioned, after which it was decided that they had nothing to do with the double crime and they were released yesterday.

There is $1,000 reward for the arrest of the murderers, $500 being offered by the county and $500 by the city.

Important Naval Changes.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Two changes of importance to the navy were made by Secretary Long yesterday. He assigned Commodore John A. Howell, present commander of the League Island Navy Yard and president of the Armor Plate Board, to the command of the European naval station, and Commodore George Dewey, president of the Board of Inspection and Survey, to the command of the Asiatic naval station. These assignments are made necessary by the coming retirement for age of Rear Admiral Thomas O. Selfridge, Jr., the Commander-in-Chief of the European station, and the expiration of the tour of duty of Commodore F. V. McNair as Commander-in-Chief of the Asiatic station.

Ready to Try Thorn.

New York, Oct. 15.—The trial of Martin Thorn for the murder of Guldensuppe, which begins on Monday in Long Island City, will rival in interest any trial for murder ever occurring in this country.

The prosecution will call nearly one hundred witnesses, and Lawyer Howe, for the defense, will produce forty.

Among the witnesses for the defense will be experts to prove that the stains in the Woodside cottage are not bloodstains, and witnesses who will swear that the dismembered body in that of some one other than Guldensuppe.

Inspector Scharf's Resignation.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Secretary Gage has accepted the resignation of J. Thomas Scharf, special Chinese Inspector for the Southern District of New York, to take effect to-day. In his letter of resignation Mr. Scharf asserts that the Chinese Exclusion law is a failure, and intimates that its enforcement is made impossible by the use of money, which has corrupted officials both in Washington and on the border. No appointment has been determined upon to fill the vacancy. Mr. Scharf was a holdover from the Cleveland Administration.

Gen. Lee in Richmond.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Gen. Fitzhugh Lee has gone to Richmond, where he has an engagement to speak at a banquet to-night. During his stay in Washington this week he has had interviews with Secretary Sherman and Assistant Secretary Day about affairs in Cuba. He has not seen the President, but will do so on his return next week. The date of his departure for Havana will be fixed at the interview with Mr. McKilney.

Won't Vote for Men of Wealth.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 15.—All Democratic candidates for the Legislature yesterday signed a pledge agreeing to vote for no candidate for the United States Senate who is either a millionaire or a monopolist. This move is intended as an attack on the Senatorial aspirations of John R. McLean and Tom L. Johnson.

Yellow Fever on the Decline.

New Orleans, Oct. 15.—One new case of yellow fever and one death from the disease were reported to the Board of Health yesterday.

The high-water mark in new cases has probably been reached. It is unlikely that there will be on any other day this Fall as many as forty-five cases.

An Engine's Great Speed.

Camden, N. J., Oct. 14.—The Holman friction engine made its run to Cape May yesterday. The fastest mile was made in thirty seconds, or at the rate of 120 miles an hour.

BICYCLE AND CHURCH.

At the State convention of the W. C. T. U. yesterday a paper was read deploring the increasing tendency of people to ride bicycles on Sunday instead of attending divine service. The thousands of riders who spin along city and country roads every Sunday are enough evidence that there is ground for such regret among the real church workers. The author of the paper insisted that the attendance at weekday meetings was also injured. Of this latter fact Plainfield Christians long ago became convinced, and they sought to meet the enemy, so to speak, on common ground. This was done by organizing Christian Endeavor and Epworth League bicycle corps, in which it was sought to combine the pleasures of riding and the benefits of Christian efforts in a perfectly harmonious manner. The result was voted a success. But to overcome the inclination to forsake the church for the bicycle on Sunday is a problem not so easy to meet. Moral suasion seems to be about the only way to overcome it. And that is slow, indeed.

The Hunterdon county Republican convention, held Wednesday at Flemington, was harmonious. Former Assemblyman Charles N. Reading, of Frenchtown, was named for Senator, and Edward S. Johnson and Joseph E. Hampton were named for Assemblymen.

James E. Martine authorizes the statement that under no circumstances will he become the nominee for Surrogate of the Union county Democrats. Mr. Martine had enough of campaigning a year ago to last him for sometime.

Seth Low is not laying low, by George. He is doing his best to kick over the Traceys.

The New York Sun candidly admits that it is now a simon pure Republican newspaper.

The Democratic primaries will be held this evening.

PLAINFIELD WOMAN PRESIDENT

Officers Elected at the Twentieth Annual Meeting of a Mission Society.

The twentieth annual meeting of the Women's Synodical Societies of Home and Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian church of New Jersey was held in the First Presbyterian church, New Brunswick, yesterday. Officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. W. E. Honeyman, of Plainfield; vice presidents, Mrs. J. H Owens, of Paterson; Mrs. C. H. Langdon, of Elizabeth; Mrs. D. C. Blair, of Belvidere; Mrs James Roberts, of Lambertville; Mrs. H. V. Deshler, of Hightstown, and Mrs. M. J. Paulding, of Daretown; corresponding secretary, Miss M. J. THEATRICAL.

One of the foremost of Europe's musical organizations is soon to be heard in America under the direction of Carl & Theodore Rosenfeld, opening tonight at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, for a series of twelve concerts, including Sunday evenings and Saturday matinees, to October 24th, inclusive. The Randa Rosa (Red Band) of San Severo, Italy, is an organization under municipal control and has been in existence now for fourteen years. Within the past few years its fame has spread to the adjoining countries and several concert tours have been made. On the occasion of the visit of Emperor Welhelm to Rome a year or more ago this band was the one commanded by King Umberto to play at the festivities, and at the Cristoforo Colombo Festivals in Genoa in 1892 it carried away the first prize (medal, diploma and banner) from 64 competitors embracing the pick of the leading bands of Sothern Europe.

Pastime's Social Affair.

The dance given under the auspices of the Pastime Social Club, in T. A. B. Hall, corner of Fourth and Liberty streets, last night, was a most successful affair, there being about 400 people in attendance. O'Reilly's orchestra furnished excellent music and those present gave themselves up thoroughly to the pleasures of the dance. In the intermissions between the dances refreshments were served under the direction of Wm. Claassen. The floor managers were P. Revelle, Jas. Kane and Clinton Shannon. Michael O'Keefe and James Monohan acted as doorkeepers. The general committee in charge of the affair were D. Crowley, Edward Coffee, Clinton Shannon, John Grunell and John J. Kenney. The proceeds will be used for some worthy charity.

FALL AND WINTER -CLOTHING-

-: FOR :-

MEN, BOYS AND CHILDREN.

One of the leading wholesale manufacturers in New York has failed and their entire stock was sent to us to be sold at less than forty cents on the dollar they cost to manufacture. The house was noted in New York, and only the very best and choicest lines were handled by them. Recollect these will be sacrifice prices and will last but three weeks. A great opportunity for money-saving clothing buyers.

The very finest tailor-made clothing in the world will be sold at retail for less than half the prices that other stores ask for inferior goods. As this is such a rare occurrence, we respectfully invite all intending purchasers of clothing to give their personal attention and call early, as the choicest goods will most naturally go first. The sheriff must be paid in cash and this elegant stock of fine clothing will consequently be sacrificed at an enormous loss. We will sell you fine fall and winter suits, fall and winter overcoats, ulsters, heavy-weight trousers, coats and vests, handsomely and elegantly made, equal to the best merchant tailor's work, for less than the actual cost of the labor in making these fine garments. Here is your opportunity to purchase a suit or overcoat for what the lining would cost at any tailoring establishment in the city. A few prices will tell the whole facts. Means a saving of 60 per cent. on every dollar spent. We deal only in reliable clothing, and will not undertake to sell one dollar's worth of clothing unless we know that what we sell will give the buyers as good wear as if he paid us what the garment was worth. An unknown man narrowly escaped death at the Westfield railway station yesterday afternoon. The man stood on the track as a Royal Blue flyer approached, and was warned just in time to leap from in front of the engine.

Jose Sterpone, the Italian who was arrested by Game Warden Brown for shooting a robin, on Monday, and was committed to the county jail by Justice Collins upon failing to pay his fine, was released yesterday by an order from the chief game warden, to whom Sterpone's case was referred by the Justice, Sterpone erred through ignorance of the law.

Robert Ellis, the five-year-old son of Frank Ellis, of Park street, while playing on Broad street yesterday afternoon, was struck by a passing wagon, driven by Frank R Baker, Sr., and thrown between the wheels. The lad fortunately rolled in the right direction and escaped being injured by having the heavy wagon pass over his body. His only injuries were a few cuts and bruises.

A horse owned by J. F. Mattlage took fright on Broad street yesterday and ran away. The driver in attempting to stop the animal's flight was caught in the shaft and dragged some distance. He fortunately escaped serious injury. The frightened animal turned into the yard of the Westfield Hotel and ran into the sheds, damaging them considerably. It then ran out into Broad street and back to its stable without doing any more damage.

James McCarthy, a Westfield hackman, was arraigned before Justice Collins yesterday charged with assaulting James Wright, another hackman, at the Westfield station on Wednesday afternoon. The testimony of the witnesses called was to the effect that Wright had accused McCarthy of cutting rates, and the latter in a rage had struck Wright in the face twice. The Justice after hearing the evidence held McCarthy under $100 bonds to appear before the Grand Jury.

It Reflects Our Methods.

There are two notable points about the sale of

that are worth notice. First, we guarantee it. If it fails to give satisfaction in any respect your money will be cheerfully refunded. Second, it is a remedy that can be guaranteed; it would be folly to sell an inferior remedy that way.

The price is 25 cents. It cures bruises, strains, backache or deep seated pains anywhere.

Our proposition on this remedy applies to all the preparations we make. Our aim is to make satisfaction the basis of every transaction. We believe that such methods appeal to thinking people more than plausible promises of something for nothing; more than the use of schemes which in the end must prove a delusion.

MacLaughlin, when the latter began questioning him as to price.

W. E. Brock stated that he considered the commissioner's men of good judgment and they probably knew more about the work of assessing than the men who are objecting. This was an incentive for William Pangborn to say something, and he rehearsed a little history telling how Mr. Brock was one of those who secured an injunction on the work some time ago for the reason that his assessment was too high. Mr. Pangborn held that the opening is a wonderful improvement, and said that he is willing to pay fifty per cent., but he did not think that he should be called to pay twice as much as he rightfully should. A few questions brought out the fact that on the first assessment Mr. Brock was assessed $700 and on the present one $150. At this point Charles Lyman said that he could not see how Mr. Brock got off with $150 when his property was smaller and yet was assessed $350. Mr. Reed, by way of a joke, told Mr. Lyman that he had better keep quiet or his assessment would be made larger.

N. B. Smalley made a few remarks by the way of objection to the methods used in assessing, and he said the report should not be confirmed. Mr. Daly's objections were the same as previously stated, and he claimed they were too high, His property had been left in such a state that it would never benefit him the way the avenue was opened. John Becker and his brother, who own two properties, claimed their assessment was too high.

Thomas Rutledge made quite a kick against his assessment. Questioning on the part of the Mayor brought out the fact that he had been paying taxes on $1,000, while he had been receiving revenue from $7,000. The Mayor held that something was radically wrong and it should be attended to.

Regarding the objections made by D. R. Weaver, Mayor Wilson said that Mr. Weaver's claims were just and that his assessment should be reduced. He did not think that Mr. Weaver's neighbors had acted fair in placing their outhouses so close to his house. Mrs. McGlone was the last one to speak and her remarks were few and substantially the same as made previously. Mayor Wilson asked her to ascertain what she would consider a fair price for her property and report to him.

At this time Mr. Burtis offered a resolution to the effect that the assessor deliver to the clerk the tax duplicate and that the latter take copy and deliver the original to the collector. A motion was then made by Mr. MacLaughlin that the Council go into executive session, which was adopted.

During the executive session the report of the commissioners was confirmed by the Council. Only a few changes were made in the report and after a corrected copy of the report is made it will be placed in the hands of the borough clerk, where it can be seen by those interested.

THE SUNDAY LESSON.

INTERNATIONAL SERIES WITH COMMENTARY BY DR. STEARNS.

Golden Text: Fear thou not, for I am with thee.—Isaiah xli: 10. Oct. 17, 1897.

10. After five days Paul is now before Felix, the governor, and is permitted to speak for himself in the presence of his accusers, the high priest and others who have come from Jerusalem to condemn him (verse 1). They accused him of many things, but all their accusations were false (verses 5-9), and thus he had increased fellowship with his Lord, in that they spoke mischievous things of him, imagined deceits and laid to his charge things he knew not of (Ps. xxxviii, 12; lxix, 4). All manner of fellowship with God and with Christ should be prized by us as a gift as much as to believe on Him (Phil. i, 29).

11-13. Paul with few words sweeps away all their accusations as utterly untrue and without foundation. He knew that God was with him, and he had no fear. He could calmly face all his accusers, and the devil himself, their captain. He knew in his soul that there were more with him than with them (II Kings vi, 16) and could say: "Though my soul is among lions, men whose teeth are spears and arrows, and their tongue a sharp sword, be Thou exalted, O God. My heart is fixed. I will sing and give praise" (Ps. lvii, 4-7).

14. Here he begins to state the real cause of their anger against him. He believed all things written in the law and in the prophets, and that made him a very troublesome fellow to these religious people who did not believe God. A minister in Chicago said the other day that these people calling themselves Bible students were very troublesome, and certainly they must be to such ministers as prefer their own ease, with lots of cricket and lawn tennis and hunting and fishing, rather than Bible study and real work for God.

15. "There shall be a resurrection of the dead both of the just and of the unjust." This was an is even to this day a troublesome doctrine to many, though plainly taught even in the cherubim story of Gen. iii, and very clearly set forth in Dan. xii, 1-3. Not that just and unjust shall rise at the same time, for Rev. xx, 5, 6, says that a thousand years shall intervene and to this there is no contradiction in all Scripture, for the hour of John v, 28, will cover the thousand years as easily as the hour of John v, 25, has already covered over 1,800 years. Our Lord Jesus made a very evident distinction between the two resurrections when He told a certain one of rewards at the resurrection of the just (Luke xiv, 14).

16. The blessed hope of the return of Christ, the resurrection of the righteous and their rewards for service at His coming for His saints is that which purifies us from the denlements and the entanglements of this present evil world and makes us labor to be ever acceptable to Him, every believer is accepted in Him, (Eph i, 6) and that stands unchanged, but because of this we seek to be acceptable to Him in all things, and trust Him to work in us those things which are well pleasing in His sight. (Heb. xiii, 21).

17-19. Here is a true and brief statement of the case as to why he was in Jerusalem and why in the temple when they found him there, and who his accusers ought to have been, if any. The secret of the whole trouble was that which Paul well understood, for he himself was once heartily one with the high priests and elders in their hatred of Jesus and the story of His resurrection from the dead. If Jesus of Nazareth was really Israel's Messiah, then the nation was guilty of crucifying their King, and that they would not submit to. Paul had actually seen Him, and knew that it was even so, and that the crucified Christ was really risen from the dead and was at the right hand of God, Israel's true and only Messiah, Son of David, Son of Abraham.

20, 21. "Touching the resurrection of the dead I am called in question by you this day." It was that which set the council in an uproar (xxiii, 6, 7), and they knew it. It was the resurrection from the dead which with power declared Him to be the Son of God (Rom. 1, 4), and the full import of the great fact is finely set forth in I Cor. xv. There is no gospel, no salvation, no forgiveness of sins, no use in preaching, no ground for faith, no sense in baptism or any ordinance of the Church if Christ be not risen. His life and death were all in vain if He be not risen. But He is risen, and that secures everything for all who are His or are willing to become His by faith in Him.

22. Felix evidently saw more clearly into the whole business than the high priest and elders wished that he might, and the man who could now give the most important testimony, next in order, was the chief captain, who had twice rescued him from the infuriated Jews. There was, therefore, nothing further to be done till Lysias should come. The waiting times for the people of God when the work seems hindered by the indifference or open opposition of the enemies of God is one of the mysteries. It would seem from verse 27 that Paul was a prisoner at Caesarea for two years. Might all this have been escaped if he had not insisted upon going to Jerusalem just at that time? Anyway, to rest in the Lord and wait patiently for Him is surely good.

23. Paul is a kind of free prisoner. He is under guard, but at liberty to see all who come to him. So it was also on the way to Rome and at Rome (xxvii, 3; xxviii, 16), and Paul doubtless made the best possible use of his liberty for the glory of God and to magnify the Lord Jesus, for that was the whole aim of his life and the end of all his teachings (Gal. ii, 20; Phil. i, 20, 21). Let each one ask, Can I say truly "For me to live is Christ?" "I live, yet not I, but Christ liveth in me?" "Christ shall be magnified."

24. How glad Paul would be of this opportunity to set forth the faith in Christ, and especially to a Jewess, for one of his mottoes was, "To the Jew first" (Rom. i, 16). He did not need time to think out or prepare his discourse, for he was full of it, or rather of Christ, and always ready for such an opportunity.

25. "He reasoned of righteousness, temperance and judgment to come."

The Tables Turned.

We have almost solved the servant girl problem.

Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.

The tables are turned, and we have turned them.

We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.

Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "

What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

NO DECREASE IN PENSIONS.

On the Contrary, They Have Not Yet Reached the Highest Point.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Commissioner of Pensions H. Clay Evans has completed the report of the doings of his bureau for the past fiscal year, and the results, which will be made public in full in a few days, will prove to be anything but gratifying to the taxpayers, who have been vainly hoping for years that the great burden of pension payments had reached its highest point and would soon begin to decrease rapidly.

Mr. Evans finds that this is not so, although he holds out the hope that the burden will begin to grow smaller within a year or two; but even this, it appears, may not be true, unless there is some legislation provided to keep from swelling the pension lists with long-lived young widows as fast as the old soldiers drop off, under the pension law of 1890.

"I'm going to try to get Congress to put a stop to the present opportunities which the law offers to women to secure pensions for life from the United States by marrying an old soldier," said Commissioner Evans to-day, "by recommending some important pension legislation. The practice of women of securing pensions in this manner is notoriously common. At the soldiers' homes young women will snap up the chance to marry decrepit old men, evidently hoping that they will soon die and leave the pension, and in many of these cases the women do not even live with the men they marry.

"I hope to recommend to Congress that a law be passed providing that women marrying soldiers hereafter shall not be entitled to any pension upon the death of their husbands. The law of 1890 makes this stipulation regarding the pensions which are payable under that act, but the great majority of the pensioners now on the rolls draw their money by virtue of previous acts."

Mr. Evans said that he expected the proposed law would meet with much opposition from the Grand Army men, but it was a necessity in the interest of justice.

RECEPTION TO CUBAN MAID.

To Be Given in Her Honor To-morrow Evening.

New York, Oct. 15.—A reception in honor of Miss Cisneros, the little Cuban patriot, is to be held at Delmonico's to-morrow evening, and afterward there will be a great public demonstration in Madison Square. As the ward of the nation, Miss Cisneros will receive the leading men of the country. There will be present Governors, United States Senators and Representatives, Supreme Court Justices, men prominent in pulpit and other professions—Chauncey M. Depew, Robert G. Ingersoll, Bourke Cochran, Thomas C. Platt, Murat Halstead, former Ambassador Eustis, Judge Van Wyck, Senator Thurston, Rabbi Gottheil, Henry George, Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Mrs. Gertrude Van Courtland Hamilton, Regent of the Daughters of the Revolution, and scores of other equally distinguished men and women.

Speeches of welcome will be made in Madison Square, and the two bands of the Seventh Regiment and the Sixty-ninth Regiment will play throughout the great demonstration.

Her Rescuer Arrives.

New York, Oct. 15.—Carl Decker, otherwise known as Charles Duval, the Journal correspondent who rescued Angelina Cisneros from prison in Havana, arrived here yesterday afternoon on the Spanish line steamer Panama. The officials of the Panama did not know that Decker was on board. He had sailed under the name of Baker.

IMPORTANT EXCISE DECISION.

It Upholds Saloons Established Within 200 Feet of Church.

Albany, Oct. 15.—The State Excise Department has received word that Justice Nash, of the Fourth Department, has decided that a saloon established within two hundred feet of a church or school prior to the enactment of the Raines law has a perpetual right to exist in that locality, even if there is a change of ownership or temporary suspension.

Commissioner Lyman says that his department has made no ruling on the question, inasmuch as two Supreme Court Justices had made decisions diametrically opposite, and, therefore, it could not be settled until it had been passed upon by the Court of Appeals, to which it will be carried as soon as possible.

Madison Square Athletic Club.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 15.—The Madison Square Athletic Club of New York City was incorporated yesterday with the Secretary of State, to promote bicycle races and other sport, and for the development of physical skill and endurance. The directors are Max Adler, Harry L. Dyer, Benjamin W. Singer, Cahas W. Boyd and Thomas F. Harmon of New York city.

Big Cut in Railroad Rates.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad has made a sensational cut in second-class passenger rates from St. Paul to New York via Chicago, in connection with eastbound steamship business.

The tariff for this class of business is $27.50 and the St. Paul reduced this rate by $10.50, making the rate an even $17.

$500,000 Fire in Durham, N. C.

Durham, N. C., Oct. 15.—A destructive fire occurred here yesterday in which $500,000 worth of property was destroyed. At 11.25 o'clock fire was discovered in H. J. Bass & Co.'s factory on Morgan street, and for two be enveloped in flames. The burned district covers eight acres.

Will Pardon Cuban Exiles.

Madrid, Oct. 15.—The Cabinet has decided to suspend the severe decrees recently issued against political associations in the Philippine Islands.

It has also decided to pardon all Cuban exiles who were not included in previous amnesties.

Pope Leo Greets Pilgrims.

Rome, Oct. 15.—The Pope celebrated mass yesterday morning, upon the occasion of the visit of a party of Irish pilgrims. Afterward he conversed with several of the visitors.

The Pope was in excellent health and fine spirits.

JUSTICE NASH'S COURT.

A Number of Contract Cases Brought Through Murphy & Blatz.

Murphy & Blatz represented the plaintiffs in a number of cases that came before Justice Nash yesterday afternoon. Judgment was rendered for the full amount and costs in the following contract cases: Seely Edsall against Lambert Edmunds Seely Edsall against Charles Durneen, Schwed Brothers against Robert W. Garvey. The case of A. M. Griffen against I. V. Freeman was settled out of court. The case of Welch against Wilmout was adjourned until October 29th, and the cases of Schwed Brothers against J. J Ackerman and Seely Edsall against George Dennick were adjourned for a week.

The case of Edward Love against E. E. Barrett was also tried and the Judge declared there was no cause of action. The case will be appealed. The contested point is not that there is money due, but as to how it shall be paid. The plaintiff wants cash and the defendant says it was agreed to trade the amount out.

A Case on Contract.

The case of Newman against Peck, on contract, was called in Justice Newcorn's court this morning, and on motion of W. S. Angleman, attorney for the defense, a nonsuit was granted, on the ground that the summons was not properly served. Another action will be commenced by plaintiff through his attorney, W. Gordon Williams.

F. W. Hebard's Appointment.

F. W. Hebard, formerly a resident of this city, has received an appointment as an assistant librarian in the Library of Congress, in Washington.

THE TANGLE TOO TWISTED.

Participants in a Cobweb Social Got Tired and the Prize Divided.

The cobweb social held at Warren chapel last evening under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the chapel was a great success. About five hundered yards of thread was wound about through five rooms and those who entered the contest became somewhat weary before they completed their task. The prize, a box of candy, for the lucky contestant was not awarded and was distributed as far as possible among those present. A programme was rendered, consisting of piano solos by Andrew Carpenter, and Mrs. Rosenstheil, a piano duet by Miss Cortwright and Miss Minnie Zeisz, and a recitation by Helen Woolley was much enjoyed. At the close refreshments were served in abundance to all.

Former Plainfield Pastor Hurt

Rev. Dr. A. H. Tuttle, pastor of St. Luke's M. E. church, of Newark, who was the pastor of the First M. E church of this city ten years ago, met with a serious bicycle fall in Newark, Monday afternoon. While riding along at a high rate of speed he struck his arm against a tree box, and was thrown from his wheel. Physicians were summoned and found the doctor suffering from a severe scalp wound and bruises on the head and cuts on the left leg.

Visitors Came on Their Wheels.

Rebekah Degree Lodge received a visit from fifty members of Hope Lodge, of Newark, last evening, in their rooms in the Babcock Building. The visitors came on their wheels and they had an enjoyable ride. After a varied programme of amusement the visitors were given something to eat, and at a late hour they departed for home. Those from Rebekah Lodge who entertained the visitors included Mrs. Jacob Kriney, Mrs. Anna Ketterling, Mrs. VanFleet, Mrs. Hicks and Mrs. Barber.

Jacob Jones is no longer guessing. He has found his wheel. Theodore Vroom left his by mistake and then could not remember where he had left it. When he noticed the article in The Press, he discovered the owner and took the wheel back to the City Hotel this morning.

PASSING COMMENT.

The following letter is fished out of a pigeon-hole in The Press sanctum and comes very opportunely just now as an evidence of what Mr. Spencer's friends think of him:

Those who come in contact with Mr. Spencer appreciate his warm, genial nature, his loyalty and unfailing friendship, his desire to play on the best parts of human nature, and the inspiration of his happy, cheery personality. The Republican party of North Plainfield is fortunate that a character so attractive is one of their leading members. There is nothing surly about him; success doesn't turn his head; never envious of the successful; never jealous in thinking that there is some other man greater than himself. He knows human nature, weighs its weakness and doesn't set himself above his fellow-men, whether earning honestly five or fifty dollars a week. All classes of society are his friends. They like him. His brow is not withered and wrinkled with the frowns of disappointment. His life has not been embittered with the promptings and the plannings of hate and revenge. People like him because he is true, loyal and buoyant.

THREE SURPRISES.

Pleasant Social Visitations in Three Homes Last Evening.

A surprise party was tendered to Miss May Mulford at her home on East Fifth street, last evening. Among those present were the Misses May and Lillie Mulford, Clara Crane, Della Grant, Gussie Long, the Misses Grace and Bess TenEyck, Violet VanWinkle, Lucy Coriell, Marian Shotwell, Violet Beerbower, Grace Ulrich, Florence Morrison, May Serrell, the Misses Edna and Iva Dayton, Carrie Mulford, Mina Sampson and Messrs. Andrew and Lewis Mulford, Harry Thompson, Kendal Masson, Irwin Yerkes, Charlie Kerns, Harry Messersmith, Walter Hockridge, Walter Sampson and many others.

A birthday party was tendered to Miss Mamie DeVine, of West Front street, last evening by twenty-five of her young friends. The affair was arranged by William Ross and the party met at the home of Mr. Nelson, on New street. Miss DeVine was completely surprised, but she was equal to the occasion and joined heartily in the festivities of the evening. Music for dancing was furnished by Naylor. Interspersing the dancing refreshments were served by those in charge.

Florence Williams, of 417 Madison avenue, was surprised last night by her friends. Among those present were Maud Anthony, Kizzie Neagle, Bertha Miles, Bessie Martin, Nettie Young, Mabel Vail, James Pope, Edward Bellis, Ben Schenck, Willard Martin, Edward Ross and Robert Jeffery.

COMES NORTH FOR A WIFE.

Charles D. Stillman and Miss Grace Barlow to be Married Next Wednesday.

Chas. D. Stillman left the Pass yesterday for a brief but most important trip to his old home at Plainfield, N. J. Mr. Stillman joined the engineering corps of the Sabine Land and Improvement Company last April and has not missed a day's service since, having been principally engaged in laying out townsite, establishing street grades, etc. For the past two months he has been superintendent of construction upon the slips being built by the land company. He has demonstrated a capacity in his profession to be envied, a faithfulness in the discharge of duty unquestioned and a loyalty to honor and manliness that has secured him a host of friends. He has also won the heart and promised hand of one of Plainfield's most popular and fairest daughters. He goes to reap of the fruit he has sown—honesty, faithfulness, devotion. Mr. Stillman and Miss Grace Barlow are to be married at Plainfield, N. J., on the 20th, inst. A host of friends in Texas join the northern relatives and friends of these much esteemed young people in wishing them and theirs a long, useful and happy life.—Sabine Pass (Texas) News.

A Leather Medal

indicating supreme excellence in footwear, has been awarded us by th grand jury of shoe buyers. The mercury is not more sensitive to changes of temperature than the feet are to their surroundings. It hurts them to have more room than they require or to be pinched into a smaller space than they should occupy. Exact fits in soft, easy, yielding shoes are absolutely essential to comfort. Our footwear combines all the fine points at prices as pleasant as sun-shine after a storm. Our men's Bull-Dog toe and Opera toe Russia calf shoe meet all these requirments. Still Alarm of Fire.

A still alarm of fire was sent into headquarters yesterday afternoon from G. J. Tobin's plumbing shop on North avenue. The cause was the blowing out of a plug in a gas pipe and the igniting of the gas. For a few minutes the flames burned fiercely and the floor and beams were quite badly damaged by fire. The pipes are in the cellar and a little difficult to reach. Chief T. O. Doane and Assistant James Martin, together with some of the firemen, succeeded in extinguishing the fire with the aid of hand extinguishers.

Silk Sale.

Edward White will commence tomorrow the most important sale of black silks ever held in Plainfield The silks were sold in the auction room by order of the importers, Schwarzenbach, Huber & Co Mr. White was a most liberal buyer as the silks were sold way below their real value. They consist of Satin Rhadames, Faille Francaise, Bengaline and black satin Luxors. All are well worthy of your attention as they will be sold at remarkably low prices.

Stole The Ice Cream.

A contemptible act was perpetrated by three young men in the German Reformed church last night. About 10 o'clock they entered the basement of the church where the ice cream was kept, and carried off freezer, can and all. The can contained about three quarts of cream. They were seen, and in all probability their names will be made public as the best way to punish them.

True Band Music.

The concert given in Music Hall last night by the Chicago Marine Band, under the leadership of Conductor Brooke, attracted a critical audience. The fact that every selection was vigourously applauded and that encores were frequent, testifies to the popularity of the music. The programme was varied enough to suit the musical tastes of all.

"Need no Rubbers Kind."

Doane & Edsall will put on sale tomorrow a new lot of hand bags, telescope cases and trunks direct from the factory to be sold cheap. They also call special attention to a new invoice of Viscol water proof shoes for children, misses and women. The "need no rubbers kind." See their new ad for special low prices.

TAPPED A CIDER SPIGOT

FARMER HAYES CHASED BY HIRED MAN WITH AN AXE.

The Latter Left His Work and Got Drunk—Where the Agriculturist Scolded Him He Tried to Kill the Farmer.

Wm. B. Hayes is one of the prosperous farmers of Piscataway township, and like all good tillers of New Jersey soil he always has a barrel of hard cider reposing in the depths of his cellar. That barrel of cider came near causing the untimely death of Farmer Hayes yesterday. It happened this way: Last week the agriculturist was obliged to hire another man and so he went to an employment agency in New York and there secured the services of an Englishman recently arrived in this country. Yesterday Farmer Hayes had occasion to go to New York on business and he left the hired man studiously engaged in guiding a plowshare over a field of wheat stubble. Subsequent events, however, proved that the hired man had spied the barrel of hard cider and perchance tasted of its contents. At any rate when Farmer Hayes returned from the metropolis he was astounded to find his new employe lounging about the barnyard in a leary state.

"My goodness, man," exclaimed the farmer, "what's the matter with you?"

"Nossing, old mansh, Ise 's happish 's can be. Betcherlife that's fine cider youse got in the cellar," hilariously explained the drunken farm hand.

The farmer's solicitude for the hired man turned into anger when he found he had forsaken his work in the field to linger around the seductive bunghole of the cider barrel. He turned on the inebriated man and gave him a worded chastisement that resulted in the good humor of the censured man turning to indignity and finally to infuriation. The hired man staggered to the woodshed close at hand and grabbed an axe and started after the farmer. The farmer ran for his life, but the drunken Englishman pursued in a way to bring terror to the former.

The chase about the yard was becoming too exciting for the farmer, when he sprinted out of the gate and down the road towards New Market. Almost out of breath he appeared before Justice Storms and made a complaint of atrocious assault against the hired man. A warrant was issued and put in the hands of Constable Robert Pierce. The latter returned to Farmer Hayes' place and found the hired man peacefully sleeping on a pile of hay on the barn floor. He aroused the inebriated man and carried him off to the Justice's court. There he was arraigned before the Dogberry and Farmer Hayes told of his narrow escape from being chopped into mince meat. The hired man's memory about the charges seemed to be slightly indistinct. The Justice decided that the culprit was not a good man to have in a community where cider barrels abound, and so he committed him to the Middlesex county jail to await the action of the Grand Jury for atrocious assault.

A POPULAR COURSE.

Commercial Educational Advantages in Great Demand in Y. M. C. A.

One of the most popular courses in the Y. M. C. A. educational department is the commercial course, which gives the pupil a knowledge of the things of most vital importance to one anxious to advance himself in business. The arithmetic taken up consists of profit and loss, interest, discount and partial payments, which are taken up in the order named. In penmanship the method employed is to take up a letter or the principal of a letter every week, the students handing in a certain amount of work each meeting night. Considerable time is devoted to the rules of punctuation, rules of grammer and abbreviations. Afterward each pupil is required to write a letter giving the substance of certain facts in his own words, and obeying the rules previously learned. In the bookkeeping couse Coleman's textbook is used, and on each meeting night the work done since last meeting is carefully gone over and criticised. The enrollment in this course for the present year promises to be larger than ever before.

To Aid a Worthy Pastor.

A cake and apron sale will be held shortly at the home of Mrs. John Doul Miller, East Ninth street, to aid in furnishing the new home of Rev. Louis Walz, who is now located in North Carolina. Next Monday the women will meet at the residence of Mrs. Walter E. Stewart, 526 West Seventh street, to prepare for the sale.

Elected a Vice-President.

A meeting of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association was held yesterday afternoon. Rhey T. Snodgrass was elected to the office of vice-president.

EIGHT YEARS AS RED MEN

ANNIVERSARY OF MIANTONOMOH TRIBE CELEBRATED LAST NIGHT.

The Occasion Marked by the Attendance of State Officers—Dancing Was the Chief Amusement—Sketch of the Tribe.

The eighth anniversary of Miantonomoh Tribe, I. O. R. M., was held last evening in their hall on West Front street.

A feature of the occasion was the presence of the State officers including Great Sachem D. B. Peterson, of Camden; Great Senior Sagamore W. J. Smyth, Great Junior Sagamore Arthur Smyth, of Long Branch; Great Chief of Records D. M. Stevens; Past Great Sachem Aaron Hand, of Camden. These officers were cordially received and enjoyed the festivities. The members of Iona Council, Degree of Pocohontas, were also present and assisted in the celebration.

The programme consisted chiefly of dancing, music for which was furnished by Guttman.

Miantonomoh Tribe was instituted October 12th, eight years ago, with sixty members, in the Exempt Firemen's Hall. It was through the efforts of N. C. Mague and George McInnis that the tribe was organized. At that time the officers were: Prophet, James Clarkson; sachem, N. C. Mague; senior sagamore, Benjamin Allaband; junior sagamore, Edward Wolverton. Of the above officers Benjamin Allaband is the only one lost by death The past officers of the tribe to date are as follows: N. C. Mague, Edward Wolverton, R. E. Seaman, Eli Odam, William Rogers, Andrew Stiglitz, W. A. Westphal, C. L. Holstein, D. C. Allen, Joseph Newman, Michael Leahy, G. S. McInnis, William Newcorn and David Morning. The tribe has sent one Great Representative to the Great Council of the United States, which was held one year at Des Moines and another year at Binghamton, N. Y. N. C. Mague was the representative.

The following members have represented the tribe at the Great Council of New Jersey: N. C. Mague, Benjamin Allaband, R. E. Seaman, Eli Odam, Andrew Stiglitz, C. L. Holstein, D. C. Allen and Wm. Newcorn. The tribe has also had three district deputies, N. C. Mague, Andrew Stiglitz, and Wm. Newcorn.

During the past three months there has been more accensions to the tribe than during the past three years. The following members have died since the organization: R. Pullen, John Richter, Joseph Bolsterli, Fred Westphal, Benjamin Allaband. The tribe was organized three years before a member died.

When the new tribe was instituted in Plainfield the following members left the old tribe: James Clarkson, Charles Conover, Eli Odam, J. H. Carney, John Barrett, William Kline and "Ted" Flannery.

Four years ago Iona Council, Degree of Pocohontas, was instituted while Andrew Stiglitz was sachem of the tribe. W. A. Westphal and Wm. Newcorn was the committee who started the council on December 12th, 1893, with thirty members, and now the membership is 70. At that time the officers of the council were: Past Pocohontas, Mrs. Wm. Newcorn; Pocohontas, Mrs. W. A. Westphal; Wenonah, Mrs Geo. Richter; Pohaton, J. H. Carney. Of the above officers Mrs. Newcorn has since died.

The present membership of the tribe is 130 and the roll is constantly increasing, notwithstanding the hard times, through which the tribe passed most successfully.

The committee in charge of the affair last evening consisted of C. L. Holstein, W. A. Westphal, D. C. Allen and Robert Hangleighter.

BROWN OWNED UP AT LAST.

But He Caused the Police a Lot of Trouble and Was Severely Punished.

The trouble between Tom Marley, the "growler" of beer and the unknown colored man is over. Over, that is, as far as the city court is concerned. Marley said that the obnoxious negro was William Brown. William Brown said that it was not he. So the police went to work, secured the necessary witnesses and prepared to proceed against William Brown, this morning, with some weighty evidence.

When Brown appeared in court this morning he told the Judge that he had decided to plead guilty, and admitted having tried to push Marley off the sidewalk, and that the latter was justified in swinging the growler over his head. The witnesses were dismissed and City Judge DeMeza, after administering a long lecture to the prisoner on the folly of causing the police so much trouble, sentenced him to go to jail for forty days if he could not put up $15 in cash.

VERBAL ECHOES OF TWO GREAT CHRISTIAN MEETINGS.

The State Convention of the Christian Endeavorers—International Convention of Epworth League.

An echo meeting of the convention of Epworth Leaguers, which was held at Toronto, Can., July 15th to 18th, 1897, was held at Vincent chapel last evening, when James Stafford, one of the delegates from Chapter No. 1, presented his report of the big convention. Miss Angleman, one of the vice-presidents of the chapter, had charge of the meeting, and after the singing of a hymn, prayer was offered by Rev. W. C. Snodgrass, the pastor of the church. Miss Angleman then introduced Mr. Stafford, who gave his report. The report was a synopsis in detail of the great gathering of Epworthians and was listened to with pleasure by all present. Mr. Stafford stated that there were 30,000 delegates present, and he spoke especially of the genuine hospitality of the people of Toronto. He described the trip going to Toronto and spoke of the many interesting sights seen on the way to the convention. He mentioned the fact that Rev. Mr. Mitchell, formerly of Plainfield, received a cordial reception when he appeared at one of the meetings, and one woman, who was taking notes, wrote as an introduction to Mr. Mitchell's remarks, "Very Fine Appearance," which proved that he made a favorable impression.

Following Mr. Stafford's report, Miss Angleman spoke a few words in which she laid particular stress on the hospitality shown by the people of Toronto. In conclusion, Rev. Mr. Snodgrass made a few remarks concerning the members of the chapter assisting at the Sunday services of the church, and he urged all to do what they can toward making the services what they should be in every particular.

At the close of the meeting nearly all remained to look at some pictures of Toronto which Mr. Stafford brought home with him. In the party of Plainfielders who went to the convention were Miss Angleman, Miss Cory, J. V. Rittenhouse and James Stafford, and all testified to having had a most enjoyable time.

The Christian Endeavorers of the Park Avenue Baptist church, who were unable to go to the recent State convention at Paterson, heard the story of the convention as told by their delegates at the "Convention Echo" meeting last evening.

The leader of the meeting was Miss Florence G. Hawkins, secretary of the local union and one of the most enthusiastic of the delegates.

After the usual opening exercises in charge of the leader, Miss May D. Thompson, the first of the delegates, was introduced.

Miss Thompson told of the sessions of Wednesday afternoon and evening, the most prominent features of which were the address by Rev. Dr. David J. Burrell on "Sabbath Observance," and the convention sermon by Rev. Dr. Wayland Hoyt.

The happenings of Thursday morning and afternoon were described by Miss Myra Runyon. In the morning came the committee conferences and the denominational rallies, and in the afternoon the junior rally with a very interesting chalk talk to the children by Miss Struble.

Joseph M. Hawkins talked on the Thursday evening session with the wonderful address of Father Endeavor Clark. He told of William Carey's hammer which was afterwards touched by the delegates. The doings of Friday morning, which were described by Miss Alice Spangenberg, included the reports of the press, correspondence and missionary departments. There was also and eloquent missionary address by Rev. Dr. Fred J. Stanley.

Miss Emma V. Fish described the Friday afternoon session with the report of the evangelistic department by Rev. Frank B. Everitt, closing with an appeal for more active work. He also recommended the first week in December to be devoted to special Bible study for evangelistic work. There was also an address by Dr. Clark on the "Secret of Success."

Miss Hawkins was the last of the delegates and she told of the address by Dr. Merrill E. Gates on "Making the Most of Life," and the final consecration meeting led by Rev. A. W. Spooner in which, instead of roll call by counties, the members testified individually. All the delegates were greatly impressed by the wonderful convention and told their hearers of it very graphically. E. E Anthony closed with a few general impressions of the convention.

TO BOTH ATTRACT AND ENTERTAIN.

Excursion Rates to be Given by Central for the Spielkartenfest.

Arrangements have been made with the Central Railroad to give excursion rates to persons living in Cranford, Westfield, Fanwood, Dunellen, Bound Brook and Somerville, who wish to attend the Speilkartenfest to be held at the Cycle Academy, November 8th to 13th.

At the Cycle Academy active measures are being taken to secure comfort and safety for the patrons of this entertainmnnt. An inclined approach is being laid in the hallway that will make the entrance without the steps as formerly. In a crowd this is precaution that is necessary.

All exits are to be designated by conspicicus signs and watchmen will be in attendance at all times. Long before the performances take place all arrangements will be made, and every step taken to secure all accommodations.

Each dance is now being rehearsed at frequent intervals, and the names of the dances will be given when each one is complete.

MILITARY SPIRIT STIRRED.

Interest in the Proposed Infantry Company is at Top Notch.

Since The Daily Press made the announcement of the intention of several Plainfield young men to form a company of State militia in this city, it has stirred the enthusiasm of a number of other young men who are anxious to join. This interest has been increased by the fact that Mr. Starks, of Sandford avenue, formerly a sergeant of the 23d Regiment of New York, has decided to join the company of young men. Mr. Starks is a valuable man to have in such an organization and his influence will no doubt count for much. Young men between the ages of 18 and 30 years can make application for membership, and the State will furnish all equipments after the company is formed. They allow each member a uniform and all other necessary equipments, and also $500 a year for the maintenance of an armory. It is confidently believed that there are a large number of suitable young men in Plainfield who can be induced to join the company, giving the city something to be proud of.

Suit Against the City.

The suit of Mrs. Elias Milliken, of Plainfield, against that city for maintaining a nuisance in the form of sewer beds near her home, is about to be commenced. Mrs. Milliken has collected very nearly enough money from residents of Plainfield to prosecute the case. The result will be watched with interest.—Dunellen Call.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES.

Delegates Chosen to Attend the County Convention Next Week.

The Democratic primaries for the election of delegates to the county convention, to be held in Elizabeth next week, were held in three of the four wards last night. Those held resulted as follows:

FIRST WARD.

The primary in this ward had for its chairman M. J. DeCourcy, and John Rafferty was the secretary. The following delegates were elected: John Angleman, James Buckley, Thomas Callahan and George McCusker. The member of the county executive committee elected was John Rafferty.

SECOND WARD.

The Second ward primary was presided over by Hezekiah Hand. Gilbert S. Martin was secretary. The delegates chosen were Frank Vosseller and Gilbert S. Martin. Frank Vosseller was made a member of the county executive committee.

FOURTH WARD.

The Fourth ward primary organized with Michael Flynn as chairman and E D. Moffett as secretary. The delegates chosen for the county convention were E. D. Moffett, A. T. Gallup, James H. Searing, John Bowman, Ira Hulburt, Edward McCue, and for member of the county executive committee E. D. Moffett was named.

A Card Party.

Miss Adelaide Graybiel Ball, of Myrtle avenue, gave a delightful little card party Friday afternoon in honor of Miss Barlow. The house was prettily decorated with scarlet flowers and autumn leaves. The guests were: Miss Barlow, Mrs. Frederick O. Ball, Miss Alice Barlow, Miss Rushmore Miss Henderson, Miss Long, Miss Hull, Miss Sara Long, Miss Warman, Miss VanDeventer, Miss Laura Long, Miss Phillips, Miss Bertha Warman, Miss Overton, Miss Mary Hull, Miss Miller, Miss Hallah Van Deventer and Miss Wilson. Mrs. Frederick Ossian Ball and Miss Wilson won the prizes.

To Confer the Order of Red Cross.

At the regular conclave of Trinity Commandery, next Monday evening, the working corps of St. John's Commandry, of Elizabeth, will be present and confer the Order of the Red Cross on five candidates, and there will be a large attendance.

GAS DROVE OUT BEES.

UNWELCOME VISITORS IN A CHURCH MADE TO GET OUT.

Janitor Brokaw Yesterday Afternoon Successfully Solved the Problem of How to Rid the Edifice of the Apairian Subjects.

Sextons of churches are expected to be endowed with an extra splash of patience in order to amicably take the aggravating things as they come, but Edgar S. Brokaw, the caretaker of the Park Avenue Baptist church, has had his equanimity of mind and demeanor sorely tried during the last few days. But now he smiles complacently as he enters the church auditorium and hears not the buzz-z-z-z of bees.

Ever since last Sunday Janitor Brokaw has been in a plight. As told in yesterday's Press he started a fire in the furnace on that day to take the chill off the atmosphere in the auditorium so as to make it comfortable for the Sunday worshippers. In doing so he literally counted without his host. It seems that a swarm of honey bees had taken refuge in an upper portion of the church where the heat circulated with such intensity that the apairian subjects hastily evacuated. Instead of going outside the edifice to cool off they went further inside and made things a trifle hotter for the sexton than even the stoking of the furnace could do.

In a word, through one of the ventilating shafts the insects poured out into the auditorium in great hordes, huming their merry, and yet terrifying, buzz-z-z as they darted to and fro. The result upon the congregation has already been told in The Press.

The most important consideration accompanying their unwelcome visit was how to get rid of them. Sexton Brokaw taxed his mind with all sorts of schemes, but none proved effectual until yesterday. Then he went all through the auditorium and closed every window tight as could be, leaving one of the ventilators invitingly open. He followed this up by turning on every gas jet full force and let the oppressive stuff flow unignited for a straight half hour. For a few minutes the honey-makers didn't seem to mind the smell, but as the gas gradually permeated every nook and canny of the auditorium, the bees showed signs of great discomfort. It was not a great while, the sexton says, before the winged visitors were flying out of the open ventilator with a great deal more agility than they flew in. It was a caution, indeed, the way they went out.

After the place had been cleared of the bees the sexton opened all the windows and air shafts and finally the fresh air offset the gas and made it possible for the sexton to enter without running the danger of being made a victim to his own devices.

It will be a matter of satisfaction to those who attend divine service at that church to know that they hear the sermons of Rev. Mr. Richardson tomorrow without being put to the painful necessity of dividing their attention between dodging the bees and hearing the words of Scripture.

BOROUGH DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES.

Delegates Elected to the County Convention to be Held in Somerville.

Last evening in the basement of the North Plainfield Public School were held the Democratic primaries for the two districts of the borough. At the first meeting James H. Trewin was chairman and William H. Pangborn secretary. The delegates chosen to attend the county convention to be held at Somerville on Monday were John Emmons and W. J. Conroy. At the meeting of the Second district the chairman was D. D. Smalley, and the secretary Bert Bodine. The delegates selected were G. W. Bird and A E. Kenney. The delegates will go to the convention unpledged. From all appearances the chances are that the convention will be a lively one, for it is understood that some are in favor of endorsing the Chicago platform while others are in favor of the platform of the gold Democrats.

Charged With Wife Beating

Two weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carr, a young colored couple living on Plainfield avenue, fell out of their happy state of matrimony and the trouble began. Finally the indignant wife lodged a complaint against Carr and he was arrested on the charge of disorderly conduct and beating his wife. This offending husband pleaded guilty and was sentenced to pay a fine of $3.

WANTS $1,000 FOR DOG

REV. S. P. SIMPSON TO SUE THE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY.

His Valuable St. Bernard Struck By a Trolley Car at Intersection of Two Streets When No Warning Bell Rang.

The Plainfield Street Railway is now to be called to answer in the Union County Courts for the death of a valuable St. Bernard dog, the property of Rev. S. P. Simpson, rector of St. Stephens church, who resides on Putnam avenue, which the latter claims was caused by gross negligence and carelessness in running too fast and failing to give the signal of warning with the bell.

Rev. Mr. Simpson owns, or rather did own until last evening, a St. Bernard dog. The animal was worth considerable and had long lived in the family and was a household pet. Last evening soon after 6 o'clock the dog chased a cat down the street. It was just 6:25 when the dog returned homeward and started to cross the trolley tracks on Putnam avenue, just beyond Webster place. A car was coming from the direction of Richmond street.

Rev. Mr. Simpson is very positive that no warning bell was rung as the car approached Webster place nor when it crossed that street. Neither was the dumb animal given any warning to get out of the way of the approaching car. The fender struck the dog and he rolled partially under it and was dragged, it is claimed, fully fifty feet. The canine's back was broken and his ribs crushed in and he was left in horrible agony in the path of the flying car in front of his home. His master hurried to his aid and finding the dog beyond human assistance, ended his sufferings with a bullet through the brain.

Rev. Mr. Simpson is very positive about the absence of any warning and also states that the car was going at a rate of twenty miles an hour at the time of the accident.

Mr. Simpson has placed the case in the hands of the Corporation Counsel with the instructions to bring suit against the company for $1,000. He says that he will push the matter to an end. To a Press reporter this morning he said that he had watched the other cars last evening as they approached Webster place and it was seldom, indeed, that any warning was given with the bell. He says that it is criminal negligence and had there been a little child instead of a dumb animal crossing the street at that time the result would have been the same.

BURGLAR STILL AT WORK.

Entered M. S. Ackerman's Barn and Ransacked the Coachman's Room.

Plainfield's burglar is an intrepid fellow. Last night he continued his labors and visited the stable of Marion S. Ackerman, of Crescent avenue. Mr. Ackerman's coachman lives in the rooms above the stable and thither the burglar went. He forced an entrance into the coachman's room and searched high and low among his possessions to find his valuables. Failing in this the marauder appropriated some of the best clothing of the coachman and departed without leaving a clew behind as to his identity. When the coachman returned to his rooms at eleven o'clock he found them in a state of chaos and on investigation discovered that the burglar had already been at work there. The rooms had been left at 7 o'clock and it was between these two hours that the entrance was forced.

The matter was reported to the police at once but they have no clew to work with and the burglary is added to the steadily growing list of those that have occurred in this city without detection.

A GREAT THINKER AND WORKER.

Dr. James Martineau to Be the Subject of a Sermon by Rev. Mr. Nickerson.

Dr. James Martineau, of whom Rev. Mr. Nickerson is to preach in All Souls church tomorrow, is one of the most powerful and widely-known thinkers and writers in Great Britain. Dr. Lyman Abbott sought him out in his trip abroad a year ago. There is probably no man more respected in the religious world. He was for many years president of Manchester College, now located at Oxford. He has long been known as the author of a widely read volume of sermons called "Endeavors After the Christian Life," and more recently by two volumes of discourses entitled "Hours of Thought on Sacred Things." But his great and crowning works are "The Seat of Authority in Religion," "Types of Ethical Theory," and "A Study of Religion," the last two found at our Public Library, all three being the fruit of his ripest thought and experience. Dr. Martineau is now in his ninety-third year. He is a brother of the late authoress and traveler, Harriet Martineau.

THEATRE CEILING FALLS

Many Killed and Injured in the Crash and Panic.

THE PERFORMANCE WAS ON

Interior of Robinson's Opera House in Cincinnati Collapses—At Least Three Dead and More than Thirty Badly Hurt.

Cincinnati, Oct. 16.—About 8.30 o'clock last evening, shortly after the curtain rose at Robinson's Opera House, part of the ceiling and the framework of the huge dome fell upon the occupants of the orchestra chairs and parquet seats.

Most of the lights were extinguished by the accident. A light was turned on the audience from the stage, and this caused the alarm of fire to add to the horror of the situation. Many of the audience were injured seriously by the falling ceiling, but many more were crushed and trampled under foot during the rush for the doors.

When it fell the ends struck both sides of the gallery, crushing it and scattering timbers in every direction and finally landing in the centre of the parquet.

Three persons are known to be dead and several are not expected to live. It is said that a dozen may be hurt fatally.

Scarcely anybody was hurt in the balcony or dress circle, and there were few in the gallery at the time. Many were struck among those who had not yet escaped from the parquet.

Later reports place the number of probably fatally injured at twelve and the more or less severely hurt at from thirty to forty. Strangely enough, the play that was booked for next week is called "Under the Dome. The theatre will not be opened again for some time.

ENGLAND TO CONFER.

Will Hold a Sealing Conference With the United States.

London, England, Oct. 16.—The British Foreign Office has intimated to the United States Ambassador, Col. John Hay, that a meeting of sealing experts of Great Britain and the United States will occur, as agreed upon by Lord Salisbury.

It is learned that Prof. Darcy Thompson, the seal expert of the British Foreign Office, starts for the United States immediately.

The Review of Reviews says that Editor W. T. Stead, wnile in Washington recently, discovered that unless the sealing question is speedily settled the United States Government will order the destruction next season of the entire herd of seals on the whole of the Pribyloff Islands.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—The State Department has not yet been advised of the acceptance by the British Government of the alternative proposition submitted by it after the rejection of the invitation to come into the international conference, to have a meeting of British, Canadian and United States experts on the seal question. It is hoped that the news is true, but it is believed that Ambassador Hay will advise the department as soon as an agreement has actually been reached.

GIRL ABDUCTED BY NEGROES.

The Daughter of Farmer Clum Carried Off During His Absence.

Kingston, Oct. 16.—At an early hour yesterday morning Katie Clum, the pretty 17-year-old daughter of Henry Clum, a well-to-do farmer of Prattsville, Grene County, was abducted from her home by three negroes, Henry, Frank and Mary Door.

Miss Clum's parents were absent from home Thursday night, leaving at the farm house Miss Clum, a younger brother and sister, and C. C. Moore. Near morning Moore was awakened by a stifled scream, which seemed to come from Miss Clum's room. He burst open her door and in the dim light saw a negro climb out of the rear window, and go down a ladder that had been placed at the side of the house. When he reached the ground he was joined by two companions, and they carried the limp form of the girl, who had fainted or been drugged, toward a clump of woods some distance away.

Moore hastily dressed and ran from the house in pursuit of the abductors, but did not find any trace of them. Then he returned home, summoned the neighboring farmers, and a search was instituted for the missing girl.

It was thought Henry Door, one of the negroes, had abducted the girl to be revenged on her father, who some time ago discharged him.

Early yesterday afternoon it was ascertained that the negroes and the girl had boarded an Ulster and Delaware train at Roxbury for this city. The police here were telegraphed to and asked to arrest them, but they had flown.

Purchasing tickets for Haverstraw, the negroes took an afternoon West Shore train, saying they were going to Teaneck. Last night the aged father of Miss Clum was at Haverstraw searching for his daughter. The old man swears that he will kill the negroes if his daughter is harmed.

Appointments by the President.

Washington, Oct. 16.—The President yesterday made the following appointments:

Consuls—John A. Burnes, of Illinois, at Cologne, Germany, and Leonard E. Smith, of Maine, at Curacoa, West Indies.

William F. Sands, of the District of Columbia, to be Secretary of the United States Legation at Seoul, Korea.

Thomas B. Needles, of Illinois, to be Commissioner to negotiate with the Indians of the Cherokee, Choctaw, Chickasaw, Muscogee and Seminole nations, vice Alexander B. Montgomery, resigned.

A Farmer Tortured and Killed.

La Porte, Ind., Oct. 16.—Adam Huffman, a wealthy farmer living near Brimfield, was bound, gagged and tortured at an early hour yesterday morning, to make him reveal the hiding-place of a supposed large sum of money. Failing in this the men then murdered him. Huffman lived with a hired man, who was also tortured, and whose injuries will prove fatal.

DUN'S TRADE REVIEW.

A Rainbow of Promise Seems to Span the Business Horizon.

New York, Oct. 16.—The weekly trade bulletin of R. G. Dun & Co., issued today, says:

"Foreign trade in September, the heavy increase in iron production and consumption, and the largest payments through clearing houses ever known in October, are indications which outweigh hesitation in some markets. The increase in employment of labor has continued, with further accounts daily of works opening, increasing force of hands, or raising wages, and at every point where actual production can be tested it appears greater than ever before. Exports of the chief products in September amounted to $70,062,411 in value, against $52,693,403 last year and $32,052,269 in 1895, and indicate that all exports that month exceeded imports of merchandise by about $55,000,000. October returns so far indicate an excess about as large. Efforts by the Bank of England have delayed further gold exports, but with a cotton movement rising, large shipments to this side are deemed certain and not distant. More gold, however, means less just now than more iron.

The output of pig iron Oct.1 was 200,128 tons weekly, against 185,506 Sept. 1, 112,782 a year ago, and the increase since July 1 having been 22 per cent.

The movement of boots and shoes from Eastern factories surpasses all records for October, exceeding that of 1892 by 8 per cent. New orders are still deferred as far as possible, but the many demands for speedy delivery show heavy distribution of stocks. The cotton mills are producing largely as cheap cotton invites, and with moderate demand print cloths are lower at 2.44 cents, and some grades of other goods are slightly reduced. Sales of wool for speculation have greatly decreased, but manufacturers do not yet find that current prices are warranted by their market for goods, though it is strong and advancing.

Wheat has been fairly steady, but moving more largely than last year from the farms and from the country. September exports of wheat surpass all records, amounting to 25,868,838 bushels, against 17,646,815 last year, owing to high prices the value being over 100 per cent. larger for all breadstuffs. The price of wheat has declined three-quarters of a cent, and corn one cent, with the Government report of a yield exceeding eighteen hundred million bushels.

Railroad earnings for the first week of October were 9.2 per cent. larger than last year, and .9 per cent. larger than in 1892, and more than half the entire mileage earned in September 14.8 per cent. more than last year, and 2 per cent. more than in 1896.

The volume of payments through clearing houses continues larger than in the last year of prosperity, for the second week of October 12.1 per cent. larger than in 1892. Collections are remarkably good throughout most of the country, and Western and Central cities are bidding in this market for paper, cutting down commercial loans of New York banks, though the aggregate placed is not lessened. Failures for the first week of October were $2,035,557, manufacturing $978,597 and trading $953,060, in all branches smaller than for the same week in any previous year. Failures for the week have been 223 in the United States, against 328 last year, and 36 in Canada, against 40 last year.

BIG ROUND-UP OF THIEVES.

Chicago Police Recover $25,000 Worth of Stolen Jewelry.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Chief of Detectives Collerain has succeeded in capturing four of the most notorious diamond thieves, safe blowers and ex-convicts in this country. The gang is locked up in the Central Police Station, and $25,000 worth of diamonds and jewelry, the proceeds of burglaries from San Francisco to New York, is in the hands of the police. The prisoners are "Harry" Rogers, alias "Dip;" "Joe" Williams, James Flaherty and "Sheeny" Joe Rubenstein.

Part of the plunder found in their possession has been identified as good: stolen from San Francisco, New York, Salt Lake City, Rome, N. Y.; Albany, Colorado Springs, Omaha, Sioux City, Davenport, Sandusky, Ohio; Cleveland, Columbus, Dunkirk, N. Y., and Buffalo.

The arrest was made on Wednesday afternoon in a room on Market street near Fifth avenue, after a struggle, in which Detective Collerain was forced to fire several shots.

Cures Talk

"Cures talk" in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, as for no other medicine. Its great cures recorded in truthful, convincing language of grateful men and women, constitute its most effective advertising. Many of these cures are marvelous. They have won the confidence of the people; have given Hood's Sarsaparilla the largest sales in the world, and have made necessary for its manufacture the greatest laboratory on earth. Hood's Sarsaparilla is known by the cures it has made—cures of scrofula, salt rheum and eczema, cures of rheumatism, neuralgia and weak nerves, cures of dyspepsia, liver and kidney troubles, catarrh and malaria.

Such Cures as This Prove Merit.

"My little nephew was a plump and healthy baby until a year and a half old, then sores broke out behind his ears and spread rapidly over his head, hands and body. A physician said the trouble was scrofula humor in the blood. The child became one complete sore. We had to restrain his hands to keep him from scratching the sores. We were induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and in a short time he had more life. He improved rapidly, his skin became entirely clear of sores and he is now a healthy child." MRS. FLORENCE ANDREWS, Clearfield, Iowa.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The young people of the Seventh-Day Baptist church will go to Mount Pleasant this evening to attend a chestnut roast.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent Cough Remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form.—The Banner of Liberty, Libertytown, Maryland. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Mrs. Robert Dryden, of Watchung avenue, has returned from Mt. Minsi, Pa., where she has been spending several days.

Those who believe chronic diarrhœa to be incurable should read what Mr. P. E. Grisham, of Gaars Mills, La., has to say on the subject, viz.: "I have been a sufferer from chronic diarrhœa ever since the war and have tried all kinds of medicines for it. At last I found a remedy that effected a cure and that was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy." This medicine can always be depended upon for colic, cholera morbus, dysentery and diarrhœa. It is pleasant to take and never fails to affect a cure. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

John Whiton and his bride are expected to arrive at their home, 821 Central avenue, this afternoon, after a pleasant honeymoon spent at Lake Champlain and in the White Mountains. Two reception days will be held at an early date.

Croup Quickly Cured.

MOUNTAIN GLEN, Ark.—Our children were suffering with croup when we received a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It afforded almost instant relief.—F. A. Thornton. This celebrated remedy is for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

William Sangston, of New York, called on friends in town yesterday.

A pain in the chest is nature's warning that pheumonia is threatened. Dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind over the seat of pain, and another on the back between the shoulders, and prompt relief will follow. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

George Davenport, of Somerville, one of the old time West End ball-players, was in town yesterday calling on friends.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by L. W. Randolph.

Miss Edna VanCleef, of East Millstone, who has been visiting Plainfield relatives, left for Jersey City yesterday where she will remain for a short time with relatives.

Electric Bitters

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

—There will be a special service in the Congregational church Sunday evening. The subject of the address will be "Haps and Mishaps of a Yankee in China."

Stands at the Head.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits.' Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and to-day stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

CUBA SOON TO BE FREE

Spain Willing to Give Up the Island on Payment of Indemnity.

THE PRESIDENT'S POLICY

Instructions to Woodford—Warning Given That It Would Be Impossible for the President to Control Congressional Action.

New York, Oct. 16.—The Herald has come into possession of important facts which lay bare the diplomatic relations between this country and Spain with reference to Cuba. They also explain the real situation in Spain—why there was a change of Ministry and what the policy of the new Cabinet will be toward this country and in the prosecution of the war in the colonies.

The exact nature of Minister Woodford's instructions from President McKinley to the Spanish Queen has never been published, and it should be understood in order that the real character of the situation in Spain may be appreciated. The real essence of this message is embodied in the statement that, however anxious the President might be to maintain kindly relations between the United States and Spain, he cannot regulate the actions of Congress, which seems bound to take definite steps at its next session to settle the controversy over Cuba, in one way or another.

By this he apparently means that the jingoism that characterized the last session of Congress will break out more violently than ever, and the situation will be beyond his control. The instructions to Minister Woodford were substantially as follows:

None but the most kindly relations exist between the present Administration and Spain, and so far as lies in the power of the Administration they will continue. The belligerency resolutions which passed the Senate at the last session of Congress merely bore evidence of the tremendous popular feeling throughout the country in favor of Cuba. The House, to be sure, voted down the resolutions passed by the Senate, but this was with a view to postponing the issue and not doing anything for the moment that could be construed as hostile to Spain. The House, like the Senate, is strongly in sympathy with Cuba. This feeling of sympathy throughout the United States will undoubtedly take shape as soon as Congress convenes, and it will be necessary for the President to communicate to Congress such recommendations as he deems best to make in regard to Cuban affairs.

Under these circumstances the Government of the United States tenders its best offices to mediate between Spain and Cuba, and it offers to mediate so as to bring war to an end on such terms as will be honorable to both parties. This Government expresses the hope that Spain will reply by the end of October, so as to give the President a chance to report to Congress by the time it convenes.

The information that has reached New York by way of banking circles, and Washington through diplomatic connections, is that the Queen and Premier Sagasta, while their policy at first will be to delay matters so as to satisfy public sentiment in Spain, intend to yield as gracefully as possible consistent with Spanish pride and honor, and grant Cuba virtually all that she asks.

This course will not be from choice, according to the information received in New York, but because there is no other way out of it. It may come after pressure has been brought to bear either from the President or from Congress, but nothing short of a miracle can prevent it.

Senor Sagasta has promised President McKinley an answer by Oct. 25, and the President will then frame his message to Congress accordingly. It is not unlikely that the President will convey another message to Spain in the meantime, or that he will take steps recognizing the belligerency of Cuba.

As heretofore mentioned in the Herald, the President is understood to be partial to the granting of freedom to Cuba, upon the payment of an indemnity of say $150,000,000, as partial recompense to Spain for the surrender of sovereignty and the millions that she has lost in the rebellion.

The President is of the opinion that this indemnity can be paid in Cuban bonds, to be secured by customs revenues, the collection of which shall be supervised and be applied by representatives of the United States.

He is hoping that the initiative will come from Spain, who, when she sees that she cannot burden herself with any more bond issues for carrying on the war in Cuba, may invite the United States to participate in a settlement.

New Klondike Found.

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 16.—John Spurgeon and Robert Henning, of Cincinnati, bring news that they have discovered another Klondike in the east side of the Rocky Mountains, about opposite the Klondike region. In two months this Summer they took out $10,000 each.

Gold was found from the surface down, and six feet below the surface nuggets were plentiful. The locality described by Henning is north of the Peace River country, where a few miners have been taking out gold for years.

Maher Wants to Fight Corbett.

Pittsburg, Oct. 16.—Peter Maher, the Irish pugilist, has sent out, through his manager Buck Connelly, the following challenge:

"I challenge James J. Corbett to a contest for the pugilistic championship of the world. The challenge is issued because Fitzsimmons has declared that he has retired from the ring and has left the title to be fought for by those who want it. As we cannot doubt the intentions of Fitzsimmons this challenge is made direct to Corbett, as the man who has definitely offered to fight Fitzsimmons for the title."

Pleaded Guilty to Manslaughter.

Hudson, N. Y., Oct. 16.—Charles H. Acker, indicted for murder in the first degree, yesterday pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the first degree. The plea was accepted by the Court. Acker, in a passion of jealousy, killed Jennie Hallenbeck by stabbing her with a knife. The woman was a dissolute character. Sentence was deferred until Monday.

ABOUT BONFIRES.

Now that the season of bonfires is at hand, a few facts concerning the city ordinances regarding the same are not out of place. There are two city ordinances regarding the bonfires, but only one of them seems to be in force. One says that no bonfires shall be made between sundown and sunrise under penalty of a fine not exceeding $5. The other ordinance says that they shall not be made on any public highway at any time, except on July 4th, under penalty of $20 fine. It is understood, however, that they are not to be made after sunset as they frighten horses and are frequently mistaken for fires that ought not to be.

The Plainfield Press deserves credit for its enterprise in securing a full report of the Republican convention at Somerville, on Wednesday, and having its paper on the streets within a remarkably short time after the nomination had been made. The news of Mr. Spencer's success was of special interest to North Plainfield readers of The Press, who were doubtless well pleased to get such an accurate account so promptly.—Bound Brook Democrat.

A FAREWELL RECEPTION.

Miss Lucile Rockwell Entertained Her Young Friends Pleasantly.

Miss Lucile Rockwell gave a farewell reception to her friends last evening, before her departure to New York for the winter. The affair was given at her spacious home on East Front street. She was assisted in receiving by her sister, Miss Nora Rockwell. Most of the evening was spent in dancing, while an elaborate collation was served late in the evening. The music was furnished by Rogers.

Among the guests were the Misses Mildred Cone, Grace Day, Charlotte Cave, Eleanor Williams, Karolyn Kampman, Marie Kampman, Clara Woodward, Florence Serrell, Florence Cahoone, Marion Woodcock and Miss Sandford, Miss Cahoone and Miss Angie Kuhl and Miss Mary Poole, of Somerville, Henry W. Brower, Carroll L. Runyon, Herbert H. Moore, William A. DeLong, Jr., William L. McClure, Lindley M. Hillman, George Procter Smith, Orville Waring, Vincent Rockwell, William Rockwell, Bert Rockwell, Bert Runyon and Mr. Fleming, of New York.

A RECOGNITION SERVICE.

Christian Endeavor Officers Called and Charged With Their Duties.

After the "Convention Echo" meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church last evening, the Christian Endeavor Society of the church held a recognition service of the officers and chairmen of committees recently elected. The service was something new for the society. It was conducted by the retiring president, Miss Emma V. Fish.

The new officers were called to the desk one after another and charged with new duties. The chairmen were called and received their charge. The officers and chairmen were asked to repeat their duties and then all the society was charged to do their share of the individual work, for the work of the leaders would be valueless if they did not assist.

Autuffin's Admonition.

The melancholy days are near, we mean of course to those Who do not heed the hint that from enfeebling vision flows,
And acting thereupon at Collier's make a timely call
Where expert counsel how to save the sight is free to all.

Ex-Councilman V. L. Frazee and wife, of West End Park, have been entertaining company from Brooklyn.

A GOSPEL WAGON BUILT

ODD VEHICLE FROM WHICH THE GOSPEL WILL BE PREACHED.

The Enterprise of a Southerner Who Has Been Making His Home in Scotch Plains—Soon to Go On the Road.

The people of the staid village of Scotch Plains were treated to strange sight on the second day of last July. There was a barking of the village dogs at an early hour in the morning, and the small boy paused in his antics to gaze at the object of the commotion. Drawn by a pair of dusty mules and bearing the marks of a long journey upon it, a canvas covered wagon, of the fashion used by the pioneers of 1849 in their journeys across the plains, hove in sight and passed slowly through the village streets. The farm hands in the fields paused to take a look, and the women came out of the houses and gazed after the strange outfit.

"It's a prairie schooner, sure enough!" they said in wonderment, and fell to speculating upon its purpose and destination.

Upon the seat sat a kindly faced man of middle age, rather slightly built. This face was covered with a brown beard, and he had the look of a man used to roughing it. When the "schooner" reached the house of Charles N. Flanders, in the heart of the village, it stopped, and the occupants were entertained while the team was cared for in the stable. The curious townspeople soon learned that the outfit had come to stay for the summer. Its driver was W. N. Flanders, and with his colored man servant had driven from his home in Greenville, S. C., taking five weeks to make the journey and camping in the wagon on the route.

During his stay in Scotch Plains as the guest of his uncle, Mr. Flanders has taken an interest in church affairs and town matters, and has made numerous friends among the old inhabitants.

Soon after his arrival he began to rebuild his "schooner," and the new craft, upon which he is just putting the finishing touches, is a marvel in its line. The body of the wagon is 14 feet long, 6 feet wide and 7 feet high It is covered all over with water proof oiled canvas and has small windows of glass. Inside are two bunks, an oil stove, twenty feet of closet space for di hes and provisions. Under the seats are lockers for blankets, clothing and other neces saries, and upon the walls are mirrors, lamps, a thermometer and all the conveniences one would expect to find in a well furnished house. The canvas covers can be rolled up when not needed, giving free access of air and sunshine to the interior.

When necessary, the coverings can be securely buckled fast on the inside, so that none can gain an entrance to the wagon. In the event of the storm high board partitions can be raised at the front and back, to shield off the rain. The front partition is provided with a window and a small opening for the reins to pass through, so that the driver can set snugly inside in wet weather.

The wagon is provided with the best springs and with a brake to prevent accident.

On the outside, under the body, are three additional closets, with padlocks, for tools, medicine, and literature. At the back of the wagon, raised only a slight distance from the ground is a dog kennel, where a watch dog will be kept chained. The top of the kennel forms a convenient platform from which the owner of the wagon can make an address. The value of this platform can be understood when it is explained that Mr. Flanders is a worker in religious matters, and takes advantage of any opportunity that offers while on his journeys, to say a few words upon the subject or distribute a few tracts. One of the lockers underneath the wagon is kept filled with tracts.

Mr. Flanders expects to leave for his home in North Carolina on the 25th, returning by way of the Shenandoah Valley. From there he will probably go to Texas to spend the winter.

GAVE A MAD DOG MEDICINE.

Basking Ridge People at the Pasteur Institute for Fear of Hydrophobia.

Joseph Faulkner and his twelve year-old son Vincent, of Basking Ridge, who are taking treatment at the Pasteur Institute, in New York city, are getding along nicely.

Their pet dog was bitten several months ago by a strange animal. Their dog became sick about a week ago. In giving him medicine they both put their hands, on which there were sores, in his mouth. When the dog became mad a few days ago, they feared that they were in danger of hydrophobia. All danger of the disease is now past, it is said, and they expect to return home soon.

$15,000 worth of the finest

FALL AND WINTER

-CLOTHING-

-: FOR :-

MEN, BOYS AND CHILDREN.

One of the leading wholesale manufacturers in New York has failed and their entire stock was sent to us to be sold at less than forty cents on the dollar they cost to manufacture. The house was noted in New York, and only the very best and choicest lines were handled by them. Recollect these will be sacrifice prices and will last but three weeks. A great opportunity for money-saving clothing buyers.

The very finest tailor-made clothing in the world will be sold at retail for less than half the prices that other stores ask for inferior goods. As this is such a rare occurrence, we respectfully invite all intending purchasers of clothing to give their personal attention and call early, as the choicest goods will most naturally go first. The sheriff must be paid in cash and this elegant stock of fine clothing will consequently be sacrificed at an enormous loss. We will sell you fine fall and winter suits, fall and winter overcoats, ulsters, heavy-weight trousers, coats and vests, handsomely and elegantly made, equal to the best merchant tailor's work, for less than the actual cost of the labor in making these fine garments. Here is your opportunity to purchase a suit or overcoat for what the lining would cost at any tailoring establishment in the city. A few prices will tell the whole facts. Means a saving of 60 per cent. on every dollar spent. We deal only in reliable clothing, and will not undertake to sell one dollar's worth of clothing unless we know that what we sell will give the buyers as good wear as if he paid us what the garment was worth. Men's winter all-wool suits, sizes from 33 to 44, that are sold all over Plainfield at $7.50 and $8.00, are sold here at $3.75; if not satisfied with this suit in any way, bring it back and get your money. Men's fine clay-diagonal heavy-weight suits, silk-lined, worth $22.00, at $7.50. Men's satin lined dress suits in cutaway, worth $22.75, at $8.50. We offer 600 dark colored good suits in mixed cheviots and cassimers at $3.50, $4 50, $5.00 and $5.25, worth easily from $8.00 to $12.00. All wool men's pants at 85c. Heavy cheviots and cassimere pants at 95c, $1.10, $1.25 and $1.50, worth double. Fine double breasted heavy black cheviot suit handsomely made, at $5.25, that other stores ask $15.00 for. Elegant Prince Albert dress suits, very fine imported cloth, wholesale price $18.00 to $25.00, sale price $9.50, Extra fine dress pants, over one hundred styles in stripes and silk mixtures, neat checks and cords. $1.25, $1.50, $1.65, $1 90 and $2.25, worth from $3.75 to $5.50.

Bring this with you and if not shown everything here as advertised we will pay your car fare. Boys' neat double-breasted suits, all wool warranted, with double knee and double seat, $1,00, 1 25, 1.50, 1.75 and 2.24, worth three times as much. Men's fine covert cloth fall overcoats, in light and dark shades, silk-lined, worth $16.00, at $5.00, latest styles. Men's heavy diagonal fall overcoat, fine finish, worth 12.00 to 15.00, at $5.50. Men's fine black melton overcoat, blue or black, elegantly made, at $6.50, worth 12.00. Men's imported kersey overcoats silk lined, French facing, worth 22.00, at $8.25. Men's dress overcoats at $3.25, worth 10.00. Buy your overcoat now and you will save sixty cents on every dollar. Men's ulsters, dark blue, all wool, waterproof cloth, worth 18.00, at $6.50. Very fine ulsters at $5.50 and $6.50, worth double. A good ulster for drivers at $2 50 and $3.00, worth from 6.00 to 8.00. Extra fine dress suit for young men and boys, long pants, actually valued at 12 00 to 15 00, sale price at $4.50. Young men's single or double-breasted blue or black cheviot suit at $3.50, regular price 10.00. A good youth's suit at $2.50, worth 7 50. Bring anything back within fifteen days, that is not entirely satisfactory. Men's exta fine brown plaid suits at $3.50, $4.50 and $5.00, worth from $9.00 to 15 00. Men's winter bicycle suits at $2 00, $2 50 and $3, worth from 5.00 to 12.00. Remember, no other store in Plainfield can sell you such fine clothing for any less than three times these prices. We have over three thousand suits to choose from. All wool clay diagonal sack suit at $5.90, worth from 12 00 to 15.00. Over one thousand woolen knee pants from 15c to 60c. Everybody living within tweny-five miles of Plainfield should visit this great sheriff sale.

Ross was re-elected to the county executive committee, and the primary then adjourned, having been in session just eight minutes.

The closing night of the fair held for the benefit of Holy Trinity Roman Catholic church, in Etta Hall, on Thursday night, was very successful in every respect. The attendance was as large as the hall could accommodate, and much interest was taken in the various features of the fair, especially in the guessing matches for prizes. When the grains of corn had been counted in the various jars it was found that James Fogerty had secured the barrel of flour. E. C. Winter the ton of coal and Mr. Cawfield the barrel of potatoes. Late in the evening all the goods which remained unsold upon the various tables were sold at auction, all bringing fair prices. The dancing, with music by Prof. O'Reilly, of Plainfield, was a popular part of the evening's amusement. The proceeds of the fair were about $200.

It Reflects Our Methods.

There are two notable points about the sale of

that are worth notice. First, we guarantee it. If it fails to give satisfaction in any respect your money will be cheerfully refunded. Second, it is a remedy that can be guaranteed; it would be folly to sell an inferior remedy that way.

The price is 25 cents. It cures bruises, strains, backache or deep seated pains anywhere.

Our proposition on this remedy applies to all the preparations we make. Our aim is to make satisfaction the basis of every transaction. We believe that such methods appeal to thinking people more than plausible promises of something for nothing; more than the use of schemes which in the end must prove a delusion.

THEATRICAL.

New York has a new favorite. It is Sol Smith Russell, the comedian, who has been visiting New York for years, but never until the present time made anything more than a passing impression upon the theatregoers. Now, however, he is in the second month of a triumphant, crowd-attracting engagement at the Garden Theatre, and is so much in demand that Charles Frohman, under whose direction he is playing, is doing his best to cancel all the comedian's out-of-town contracts with a view to keeping him indefinitely at the Garden. The comedy in which Mr. Russell appears is "A Bachelor's Romance," and it is from the pen of Miss Martha Morton. It tells a pretty and interesting human-hearted story of which the hero is a literary man, who, engrossed all his life in books, knows little of the wiles and ways of the world, and who therefore when he comes to feel the first touches of the tender passion presents a droll and charmingly awkward as well as comical picture. The part fits Mr. Russell's quaint and unctious methods to a nicety and he imparts his own delightful personality to it.

An Opportunity.

Having bought at their own terms early in the summer nearly one hundred pianos from various makers, outside of their regular lines, the Lauter Company, of Newark, mean to give their patrons throughout the month of October the advantage of these purchases. They announce that they will sell good new pianos at the previously unheard of price of $170 cash, or $190 on easy time payments of a few dollars a month. This should cause families that need pianos to invest at once. As a further inducement to those who prefer them, they have also marked down the prices of their splendid regular makes and the reduction holds good for this month only. The prospective piano buyer can save a deal of money by buying now. The Lauter Company enjoy such an enviable reputation for enterprise and straight business methods that this decision on their part will no doubt cause a large influx of piano buyers during October.

Their Sixth Anniversary.

The sixth anniversary of Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., will be held one week from next Monday evening, and a full attendance of the members is urged at the meeting of the lodge next Monday evening when the invitations for the anniversary will be given out.

Mrs. P. Bogert, of Somerset street, is visiting her parents in Brooklyn.

Mr. Dryden, of West Seventh street, left this morning for Baltimore, where he will remain over Sunday.

Mrs. W. R. Codington and family, of Sandford avenue, have returned from a pleasant stay at Mt. Minsi, Pa.

E. C. Perkins and family, of Central avenue, have returned from their summer outing spent in the Adirondack Mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Hughes, who are now enjoying their honeymoon at Old Point Comfort, Va., are expected home next Thursday.

YOUNG SHAW ARRESTED.

Important Developments Regarding Camden's Double Crime.

Camden, N. J., Oct. 16.—Eli Shaw, the son of Mrs. Mary J. Shaw and the grandson of Mrs. Emma Zane, the two women found murdered at 242 Line street on Tuesday morning, was arrested at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and formally charged with the crime. He was found at the house of Foster Zane, a relative, where he had been under surveillance of the authorities since the day of the tragedy. He is 23 years old. He was taken to the City Hall, and after a long conference with Prosecutor of the Pleas Jenkins, during which he is believed to have made a statement, he was locked in a cell.

The circumstance which led to his arrest was the discovery by the Coroner's jury of bloody tracks on the carpet of the third-story room occupied by Mrs. Shaw. According to the statements of Eli Shaw, the tragedy had occurred on the second floor, whither his mother followed him when he left his room to look for supposed burglars. There is nothing in his statements that would account for these tracks. The discovery threw an entirely new light on the case.

The police, on their examination of the room yesterday, noticed also that the covering of a stovepipe hole in the chimney had been removed. This was disclosed by chimney soot on the carpet. Following out this clue, they made an examination of the chimney, and at the bottom of it, on the ground floor, they found a five-chambered revolver, apparently new, from which two charges had been fired.

THORN'S TRIAL POSTPONED.

Chance to Prove that Guldensuppe Is Alive in Germany.

New York, Oct. 16.—In the Queens County Court of Oyer and Terminer, in Long Island City, lawyers for Martin Thorn, jointly indicted with Mrs. Augusta Nack for the alleged murder of William Guldensuppe in a house at Woodside, appeared and submitted affidavits in support of an application to postpone Thorn's trial, which was set down to begin next Monday.

In the affidavits it was set forth that the attorneys for Thorn had recently learned that a number of persons, including a man named Petersen, had seen Guldensuppe alive in Germany after June 25 last, the day on which he is alleged to have been murdered in the Woodside house.

Counsel claimed that it would not be possible to present this newly discovered evidence in Thorn's favor if the trial proceeded next week.

Aftr some argument between counsel for the defense and District Attorney Youngs it was agreed to postpone Thorn's trial until Nov. 8. Judge Smith had an order entered to that effect.

TO FIGHT CONTRACTORS.

Militia May Be Called Out in California Against Workers.

San Francisco, Oct. 16.—There will be a lively fight on the North Beach water front if Warren & Malloy, contractors for the Fair estate, adhere to their resolution to oppose the State Harbor Commission in the removal of obstructions that now block the entrance to the Fillmore street wharf. The contractors have driven piles and thrown in rock on water lots which, they contend, are not under State jurisdiction, but in this work they have obstructed the channel, twenty-three feet deep, to the wharf.

When the agent of the Harbor Commission tried to remove the piles the contractors ran scows into his tug and nearly sank her. They have now 100 armed men roosting on the piles who are instructed to shoot any one who interferes with them. Gov. Budd swears he will call out the militia if necessary, and he has given the contractors until to-day to remove the obstructions. If they refuse, he proposes to move immediately upon the works.

Marlborough Baptism To-day.

London, Oct. 16.—The baptism of the infant son of the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, which is to take place to-day in the Chapel Royal, St. James' Palace, is to be a big society event. As soon as it was known that the Prince of Wales would be present there was a great rush of the smart set to procure invitations. As a result all the places in the chapel that will not be occupied by relatives were allotted by ticket days ago. None of the general public will be able to witness the ceremony. An elaborate chloral service is being prepared for the baptism.

Denies that She Had Quadruplets.

Troy, Oct. 16.—Mrs. William J. Olmstead, wife of Motorman Olmstead, of the Troy City Railway, indignantly denies that she had given birth to two girls and two boys recently. "There's no truth in the story that some of the papers published," she said, "and I can't understand how such a report could get out. It is true that I have four children, but they were not born on the same day, nor have I an infant." Mr. Olmstead was equally indignant. He thinks some of his friends tried to play a joke on him.

Will Maintain the Gold Standard.

London, Oct. 16.—The Globe, which has close relations with the Cabinet Ministers, reiterates that the Government may be depended upon to maintain the gold standard inviolate, and adds:

"The views of individuals, whether in the Ministry or in a bank parlor count for next to nothing."

Tammany Candidate Dead.

New York, Oct. 16.—Dr. James P. Daly, Tammany candidate for Coroner in the Borough of the Bronx, died at 5.30 o'clock yesterday morning at his home, at 563 East 150th street. Dr. Daly, who was unmarried, was 35 years of age. For several years he has been one of the best known physicians north of the Harlem River.

A Doctor Sued for $10,000 Damages.

Lyons, N. Y., Oct. 16.—Gilbert T Archer, of Waterloo, has sued Dr. W. Louis Hartman, of Clyde, to recover $10,000 damages for malpractice. Archer had the two bones of his left leg broken in an accident at Clyde in December. Dr. Hartman reduced the fracture, but it later became necessary for another physician to amputate the foot.

Gen. Weyler has pardoned forty-six more political prisoners in Cuba.

The Tables Turned.
We have almost solved the servant girl problem.
Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.
The tables are turned, and we have turned them.
We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.
Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,
Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "
What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

Capsuloids.

Dr. Campbell's Wonderful Method of Restoring Natural Iron to the Blood, and Thus Curing Disease, Successfully Introduced in America.

Capsuloids, the great medicine which has cured thousands in London, England, and which is endorsed and prescribed by the most eminent English physicians, has come to America. It is not a patent or secret medicine. Capsuloids are little, soft pointed globes of pure gelatine filled with the only natural iron yet discovered. This iron is exactly the same as the iron in your blood when healthy, and is not like the iron in any pills or mixtures that you have ever taken. The well-known London physician, Dr. Campbell, found that iron medicine disagreed with almost every person, and after a series of experiments discovered that the iron in human blood, which is called Hæmoglobin, is identical with the iron in the blood of cows and bullocks. A means of extracting this natural iron or Hæmoglobin from the blood of healthy bullocks was discovered. It was re-dissolved, enclosed in a covering of pure gelatine in the form of a small pointed globe, known to physicians as Capsuloids. Many experiments made by Dr. Campbell and other London physicians demonstrated that when a Capsuloid was swallowed, the gelatine covering melted in a minute, and the dissolved iron or Hæmoglobin passed directly into the blood vessels, and within a few minutes was giving richness and color to the fluid of life, renewing the strength of all the nerves and tissues of the body.

Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids are sold by all leading druggists at 50 cents per large box, six boxes for $2.50, or sent direct at the same price from the office of The Capsuloid Company, Downing Building, 108 Fulton Street, New York City.

FOOD FOR DAWSON CITY.

A Big Expedition Starting Out with Provisions and Beef on the Hoof.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 16.—The Yukon expedition of Pierre Humbert & Co., of Boston, started from here for the Klondike yesterday. Col. Aberger and E. E. Russell, of San Francisco, are taking fifty men, 250 horses and 150 cattle and ten trains of dogs, with upward of one hundred tons of provisions to Pyramid Harbor, over the Dalton trail, and thence toward the Macmillan River, where the establishment of a central post for mining and trading purposes is contemplated.

"On arrival at Fort Selkirk," said General Manager James Smith, who is in charge of the expedition, "if I find that the reports true of actual starvation at Dawson I am instructed to force my way down the river with all the supplies at any cost. To quote the language of Pierre Humboldt, Jr., the head and front of the enterprise, "no lives shall be lost by famine as long as Boston has a pound of flour or a dollar of money left. The ultimate object is not only to establish a great mining and supply depot, but it comprehends also the construction of a railway and telegraph line into the Yukon, and as an earnest of the company's intention in this direction another and independent expedition will take the field immediately. The main expedition, it is intended, shall be followed up every sixty days by similar expeditions, continually increasing in size, until everything is accomplished. The expedition now in hand will travel comparatively light, with 250 horses, carefully selected, well shod, and in admirable condition. We also have 150 head of cattle, well fed and in good condition. These, on our arrival at Dawson, will be converted into beef, and will augment the general food supply. Six to seven trains of dogs, carpenters, blacksmiths and other skilled labor are to be in our expedition."

FOUR KILLED IN A MINE.

Explosion of Gas in a Colliery in Results Fatally.

Reading, Pa., Oct. 16.—A terrific explosion of mine gas took place in the East Northdale gangway of Kaska William colliery, Schuylkill County, yesterday. Men and mules were hurled to the ground. Four men were killed at once and three were burned badly. They were also thrown against the hard sides of the gangway. The killed are Patrick Sweeney, aged 45; John Boner, 27; Anthony Wright, 31; Charles Miknis, 24. The injured are Peter Paul, Patrick Doyle and William Rice. Sweeney's death was caused by a broken neck, having plunged eighty feet down the chute in order to escape the gas.

The dead miners were found in the heading where the explosion occurred. This colliery has always been noted for the development of gas. Great excitement prevailed at the mouth of the shaft when the dead and injured were brought up. Mine Inspector McGuire arrived here and is now investigating the matter. It is supposed that one of the men accidentally ignited a body of gas with his naked lamp. The concussion was terrific.

MYSTERY OF A POSTAL PACKAGE.

Contained $14,000 and Is Lost. Traced to Council Bluffs.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 16.—The registered postal package containing $14,000, which was missed on Tuesday, has been traced to Council Bluffs. It disappeared either at the transfer depot in Council Bluffs, or very soon after leaving there. The package was placed in the register pouch at Chicago for a Salt Lake bank, and reached Council Bluffs on Thursday afternoon of last week on the Burlington fast mail. The pouch was in the especial care of Postal Agent Thomas Pheney.

He delivered it to the postal clerk on the Union Pacific, G. H. B. Brill. For some reason that has not yet been explained this postal clerk neglected to enter the number and usual descriptive marks of the pouch on his book, and he has nothing to show that it ever came into his possession. The postal authorities think that a sneak thief got the package.

Football Season Opens.

New York, Oct. 16.—The first really important football games of the season will be played to-day. Princeton will meet the Carlisle Indians at Old Nassau's field, Harvard will tackle the West Point cadets at West Point, and Lafayette will play Cornell at Easton, Pa. All of these contests will afford lines upon which to estimate the strength of the big elevens.

There is already an unusual demand for tickets for the Harvard-Yale game, to be played at Cambridge on Nov. 13. Manager Twitchell, of Yale, says that there will probably be seating accommodations for more than twenty thousand, and that the tickets will be distributed by the usual allotment system.

John L. Sullivan in Trouble.

New York, Oct. 16.—John L. Sullivan, the ex-pugilist, actor, orator and politician, is likely to make a much longer stay in Providence than he bargained for when he brought his theatrical company to that town.

Three writs, aggregating $9,600, have been served upon him during the past few days. The first was for $5,000 damages for an assault committed upon his manager, F. V. Dunn, and the second for $2,000 for alleged debt to Dunn. These were followed by another writ of $2,000 for alleged trover and conversion. Sullivan managed to secure bail after a short sojourn in jail.

Maher Challenges Corbett.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 16.—M. J. Connelly, on behalf of Peter Maher, last night issued a challenge to James J. Corbett to fight for the heavy-weight championship of the world and a side bet of $5,000, to take place before the club offering the largest purse.

If Corbett does not accept the challenge it is open to any man in the world.

Freshman Outwit the Sophomores.

Easton, Oct. 16.—Unwritten laws of Lafayette College forbid freshmen to have their class group photographed before Thanksgiving. The sophomores are looked to for the enforcement of this edict. The present freshmen class stole a march upon the sophomores, and at the east end of Pardee Hall, before 6 o'clock yesterday morning, had the class photographed.

Coughs and colds need not be endured; they can be cured, and that quickly.

Many mixtures are temporary in effect, but Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites is a permanent remedy.

The oil feeds the blood and warms the body; the hypophosphites tone up the nerves; the glycerine soothes the inflamed throat and lungs.

The combination cures. This may prevent serious lung troubles.

CABINET MAY BE RECAST

It is Understood That McKenna Will Succeed Justice Field.

NEW ATTORNEY GENERAL

The President Has Not Yet Selected the New Cabinet Officers, and May Eventually Decide to Recast the Whole Slate.

Washington, Oct. 16.—No definite information is obtainable here at present as to President McKinley's intentions regarding the appointment of a new Attorney-General in case Mr. McKenna is promoted to the Supreme Court. There seems to be little doubt that the promotion has been determined upon, and, indeed, it is more than likely that Mr. McKenna was intended for the place when the Cabinet slate was arranged.

President McKinley was officially informed by Justice Field several months ago that he would retire in December, but even before March 4 the President knew unofficially that there would be a Supreme Court vacancy during the first year of his administration. It was asserted at the time of Mr. McKenna's appointment to the Cabinet that he would ultimately go upon the bench, and the programme will undoubtedly be carried out unless opposition to Mr. McKenna should cause the President to change his mind.

The California Republicans will not give Mr. McKenna united support. But it will require strong pressure to change the President's determination, and the chances are all in favor of Mr. McKenna's appointment as Justice Field's successor promptly upon the meeting of Congress.

The new Attorney-General will be named at the same time, and according to those who have talked with the President on the subject he has not yet selected the new Cabinet officer, and, indeed, has not decided whether to fill the vacancy from outside the Cabinet or to recast the whole slate.

The general opinion in Washington is that Judge Day, the First Assistant Secretary of State, will either be made Attorney-General and a new Assistant Secretary selected, or that Sherman will retire, Day be appointed to succeed him and other changes and promotions made to fit the circumstances. So far as can be learned, however, the President has no intention of asking Mr. Sherman to resign, and the Secretary said yesterday that he had never given the idea a moment's thought and that he would remain to the end.

The talk of Sherman's probable retirement and Day's promotion is due largely to the well-known intimacy between the President and Judge Day, who attends to all the important work of the State Department, receives the foreign Ministers even when the Secretary is present, and is at the White House in private consultation almost hourly day and night. If the President intends to promote the Assistant Secretary, however, he could hardly overlook Judge Richards, of Ohio, his old Attorney-General, who is the solicitor of the United States, the highest law officer of the Government next to the Attorney-General.

Judge Richards would no doubt like to be Attorney-General as well as Judge Day would like to be Secretary of State. The ambitions of both cannot be realized, however, and it is probable that the President will go outside of the Administration altogether for his new Attorney-General. In that case it is not unlikely that he will appoint Col. John J. McCook, of New York.

It is understood, however, that he will not reach a decision in the matter until he returns from the Ohio election and knows whether Hanna is to remain in power in Ohio politics and whether Greater New York is to be turned over to Tammany. The result in both Ohio and New York will have a direct influence on the President's action in reconstructing his Cabinet.

MILLION DOLLARS FOR HIS SIGHT.

Blind Millionaire Merchant Made to See by a Doctor from India.

New York, Oct. 16.—Dr. Guelph Normann, a physician from faraway India, says he will restore sight to the eyes of Charles Broadway Rouss, the multi-millionaire merchant, within four weeks. By his efforts the millionaire says he can already faintly see an object held within sixteen inches of his eyes.

The fact that Mr. Rouss offers $1,000,000 or more to be able to see as other folks do reached Dr. Normann in his home in India. He is an Englishman, but has lived in India for many years.

He is not an M. D. according to Western medical ideas, but he is skilled in arts of optical cures, which are almost as old as civilization, and the one now employed on Mr. Rouss is said to date back as far as the Vedas, the book of sacred and heroic writings, embracing the ancient philosophy of the Aryans. But Dr. Normann says he does not care for money, but will cure Mr. Rouss for the honor it will bring.

The pouring into the eyes once daily of a colorless liquid brought from India and the massaging of the eyelids and temples for ten minutes every day by the doctor himself, and then afterward by any one else, completes the treatment that Dr. Normann has come so far to give.

Already Mr. Rouss can see objects dimly, and Dr. Normann has made good his promises thus far. His promise to restore sight entirely within four weeks is doubted by many, but others believe that the doctor will do all he says he will.

For a General Strike.

London, Oct. 16.—James Keir Hardie, chairman of the Independent Labor party and editor of the Labor Leader, proposes, with a view to assisting the striking engineers, to pool all the funds of the trades unions as a fighting fund, and then proclaim a general strike, thus bringing the trade of the nation to a standstill.

Bernstein the Winner.

New York, Oct. 16.—After twenty rounds of the fastest boxing that has been witnessed in this vicinity for some time, "Joe" Bernstein, of this city, received the decision over "Billy" O'Donnell, of Memphis, last night at the Greenpoint Sporting Club. "Joe" Ward, of Brooklyn, was referee.

ALL SORTS OF REFORM.

WIDESPREAD RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE W. C. T. U.

Would Banish Beer from Ellis Island; Bar College Class Pipe; Abolish Canteen, Vitascope, Century Run, Sunday Trips

The annual State convention of the New Jersey Woman's Christian Temperance Union ended yesterday. Resolutions were adopted covering subjects discussed during the four days' sessions. They call upon the National Government to establish without further delay at Ellis Island, or other landing place for immigrants, a coffee-house or kitchen; denounce as an outrage on the practically defenceless foreigners the practice of selling beer at the immigration station, while no provision is made for supplying milk, tea or coffee, and protest against the Government granting a license for the express purpose of degrading the prospective citizens of this country.

A declaration is made in favor of pushing more vigorously the crusade against the use of cigarettes by boys and urging the enforcement of the laws against their sale to minors; "also that we present to college faculties the inconsistent practice of allowing students to smoke a class pipe in this day of intelligence and knowledge of the effects of narcotics on the bodies and minds of students."

Protest is made against the introduction of the "canteen system" into the soldiers' home at Kearney; an effort should be made to induce railroad companies to keep their stations open and well lighted at night until all trains have passed, for the protection of women who find it necessary to take late trains; the vitascope exhibitions of prize fights now being given in different parts of the State are condemned, and warfare against them is to be continued.

The eighth resolution deplores the ignominy of New Jersey being the only State in the Union in which the Governor holds a regular liquor license. This is a reference to the fact that the license for the Sea Girt camp grounds is made out in the name of Gov. Griggs as President of the State Rifle Association, which owns the clubhouse at Sea Girt.

The growing custom of bicycling for pleasure is condemned and opposition is declared to century runs and excursion trains on Sundays; military drills in the public schools, and boys' brigades in the churches are condemned, "the first as teaching a false idea of patriotism, and the second a false idea of Christian service." The gymnasium is recommended as superior to the military drill under all circumstances. The use of alcohol in medicines is condemned unqualifiedly, the loss of the woman's school suffrage amendment is deplored, and the women living in rural districts are urged to attend all school meetings and exercise all the rights and privileges now given by law. Demands are made for an equal standard of purity for men and women—"a white life for two."

The use of screens in the doors and windows of saloons is opposed, and Sunday-school teachers are urged to give some attention to the fact that their scholars patronize candy stores on Sundays.

—The catch basins and surface sewer on West Front street, near Rock avenue, are nearly completed. The ground at that point is very low and is invariably flooded in heavy rains.

—One week from tomorrow the corner stone of the new Catholic church at Roselle will be laid with imposing ceremonies. All of the Catholic Clubs in this vicinity have been invited to participate in the exercises, and a large delegation will probably go from Plainfield.

HAPPENINGS AMONG THE LOCAL FOOTBALL PLAYERS.

Games That are to be Played and Points About Teams and Individual Players That May Prove Interesting to Cranks.

An exciting football game will be played this afternoon between the elevens of the Plainfield A. A. and the Long Branch A. C.

The Plainfield A. A. eleven met for practice last evening. Most of the team was out and the practice proved a lively one. The time was mostly spent in accustoming the backs to the signals for today's game with the Long Branch A. C.

The North Plainfield Junior football team defeated the Norwood Athletic Club team Thursday afternoon in an exciting game. Only one-half was played on account of an injury to one of the players, there being no substitute to take his place. The score was 4 to 0 in favor of the North Plainfield boys.

AT THE TRAPS.

An enthuaiastic shooting match was held yesterday afternoon at the Independent Club grounds at live birds and targets. The seore of live birds was as follows; Coddington, 3 Reed, 7; Goff, 8; Lister, 7; Haurand, 6; Beerbower. 5; Terry, 8 Afterwards Coddington, Reed and Beerbower shot at five birds each and killed three. The first event at targets resulted in Swody being first: Coddington and Goff, second; Lister and Haurand, third. The second event resulted in Lister being first; Swody and VanDyke, second; Haurand, third.

CYCLING COMMENT.

John Dickson left this morning with a tandem for Philadelphia, where he and a friend will enjoy the day riding about the city and suburbs.

Jay Eaton is still indoor king. He defeated Eddie Bald Thursday night in two of three heats at Atlanta, Ga. Betting was two to one and five to three on Bald.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The bowling faction of the Plainfield Catholic Club is practicing most every night in preparation for the series of games to be played this winter in the Dioscean League.

An Old House to Be Made Up-to-Date

"Cedar Brook," the Martine homestead on Watchung avenue, is now being fitted for steam heat. When this improvement is completed the historic place will embody the building ideas of two centuries, since the house was built in the year 1707, long before steam was ever thought of even as a motive power, and its builders in their wildest flights of imagination could never have anticipated such an improvement as this.

A Teacher Resigns.

Miss Kirley, of the North Plainfield Public School, has resigned on account of continuing ill health. Her place has been supplied by Miss Mary Eby, of Marietta, Pa., who begins work Monday morning. On Monday, also, the new primary class, which goes into the German church on Craig place, is to be formed with Miss Hetfield, of Dunellen, as teacher.

—There is a large horse sale at Round Top stock farm, Bernardsville, today and a number of horsemen from this city are present.

JOE NOEL IN CUSTODY.

He Told the Story of His Escapade to the Brooklyn Police.

One week ago tonight Joseph Noel, who was at that time in the employ of S. Scheuer & Co., the West Front street grocers, departed for parts unknown, leaving his horse and wagon uncared for in the barn. He did not appear Monday morning for work, and after an examination of accounts it was discovered that there was a shortage of about $39. His whereabouts could not be learned until yesterday, when Chief Grant received word from the First Precinct Police Station of Brooklyn that Mr. Noel was in their custody. Chief Grant sent Constable Rockafellow to Brooklyn this morning and brought Noel to Plainfield for examination.

Mr. Noel was found wandering about the streets of Brooklyn, and was picked up by the police. To them he gave his full name and address and related what had led to his departure from Plainfield. It was this information that led the Brooklyn police to inform Chief Grant of their capture.

A Daily Press representative called on Mr. Schloss this morning, and enquired as to what course the firm would pursue. Mr. Schloss said that he was inclined to let Mr. Noel go, but at the same time he felt as though the man should be punished for his crime.

Noel was finally arraigned before Justice Newcorn and held for the Grand Jury. He was then committed to the county jail in default of bail.

Gave a Dime Sociable.

The Sunday-school class of Miss Ella R. Fenner gave a dime sociable at the residence of Mrs. B. M. Richards, 127 East Fifth street, last evening for the benefit of the building fund of Trinity Reformed church. The chief feature of the evening was a recitation and dialogue, entitled "A Changed Housewife," in which the principal parts were taken by Miss Martha Anthony, Miss Nettie Young, Samuel W. Fenner, Raymond Poole and Walter Emmons. After the entertainment programme, games were played and refreshments were served. During the evening those present were much annoyed by the misbehavior of a number of street urchins, who gathered about the house and hurled stones and did considerable damage to vines and flowers in the yard.

A Party of Jolly Young People.

A party of jolly young people from Springfield came to Plainfield last evening in a wagon and stopped at Stephenson's restaurant on North avenue for refreshments. In the party were the Misses Compton, Allen, Terry, Clark, King, Bock, Hillberg, Howard, and Messrs. George Gough, Paul Gough, Theodore Squier, Henry Quinzel, Harry Lyon, Frank Meizel, Charles Bock, Frank Stiles and Edward Stockle. George Parsell was the genial man who brought the party to Plainfield and took them home.

Another Batch of Contract Cases.

Murphy and Blatz have just started another batch of suits for their clients. Suits have been started as follows in Mattison's court: Plainfield Beef Company against Gilbert H. VanNest, Plainfield Beef Company against Richard Warnock, J. A. Blatz against George Rilling. The following suits were started in Justice Nash's court: Plainfield Beef Company against David S. Vail and Schwed Brothers against George Scribner.

Death of Mrs. A. E. Faber.

The death of Mrs. Alexander Faber occurred at her home, 38 Rockview avenue, this morning, from pneumonia. Mrs. Faber was an active woman in social circles and the news of her death will be received with regret by her numerous friends. Notice of funeral will be given hereafter.

T. J. Carey enjoyed a bicycle run to Lebanon, yesterday.

Burglar Suspect Let Go.

Chief Grant was absolutely certain in his own mind that Thomas O'Toole was the man who broke into the house on West Front street, Thursday night. But there was a positive lack of evidence that would not admit the holding of the man. There was nothing with which to prove to the Grand Jury that the man had committed burglary or attempted to. The only clew was that he had a tool in his set of moulder's tools that seemed to fit in the holes made by the burglar's jimmy. O'Toole was brought before the Judge this morning and sentence was suspended. He left town at once.

Dora's Friends to Her Rescue.

With a farewell wave of the hand, the former belle of Paradise alley, Miss Dora Parsons, departed from the city jail this morning and took her way across the tracks with a rapidity that astonished the beholders. Her trial was adjourned and someone had suggested that she await trial in Elizabeth. The Judge held her under bonds which were furnished by her friends as she tripped along the tracks.

FREIGHT TRAINS IN COLLISION.

Jersey Central Engine Strikes a Reading Railroad Train.

A disastrous collision occurred on the Hackensack meadows last night. As a freight train on the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad was passing from one eastbound track to another a freight train on the Long Branch division of the Jersey Central road crashed into it.

Seven cars were wrecked and their contents strewed along the track for 500 feet. While no one was injured, the engineer of the colliding freight had an escape that was considered almost miraculous.

The accident occurred at 3 o'clock this morning near the Claremont avenue station of the Jersey Central Railroad.

Republican Primaries Monday Night.

The Republican primaries in this city, at which delegates to the county convention of the G. O. P. at Elizabeth will be elected, are to be held at the regular meeting places on Monday night instead of Tuesday night as the News stated. They are called for 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Thomas Drew, of Brooklyn, is the guest of Mrs. J. E. Townsend, of Craig place.

PARTY TO OLD SCHOOL FRIEND.

Mr and Mrs. Fred Bach Entertained Friends From Liberty Corner.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bach, of Summit avenue, gave a pleasant party to a number of their old school friends from Liberty Corner last evening. The guests came to this city in a stage and soon took merry possession of the house of their host and hostess. The time was passed pleasantly with music, singing and dancing, and refreshments were served at a late hour. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. King, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beekman, Miss May VanNest, Miss Luella Scomp, Miss Ida Allen, Miss Annie Allen, Miss Ella Trimmer, Miss Eliza Happe, Miss Agnes Happe, Miss Sadie Doughty, Miss Ida Doughty, Harry Acker, Wm. Acker, Samuel Boyle, John Happe, Daniel Flammer, Arthur Beekman, Bert and Alfred Duval, Bert Trimmer, David Wright and Fred Bennett, of Liberty Corner, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Winn and Miss Annie Baker, of this city.

—The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ashley Grace, of West Front street, died yesterday afternoon, and was interred this morning in the Baptist cemetery. Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards officiated at the grave.

GAME WITHOUT A GOAL.

Hard Fought Football Game With Zero Score for Both.

BOTH TEAMS WERE EVENLY MATCHED

The Contest Witnessed by a Big Crowd of Enthusiasts—Average Weight of Visitors Was More Than That of the Plainfield Team—The Latter Team Played a Far Better Game Together, Though—Line Up.

It would be difficult to find two more evenly matched teams than those of the Plainfield Athletic Association and the Long Branch Athletic Club that lined up on Martine's common Saturday afternoon before several hundred football enthusiasts. After a hard-fought, clean game of two twenty-minute halves, neither side was able to carry the ball across the goal line of their oppenents and the score stood 0 to 0. It was altogether one of the best football games that has ever been played in this city.

The eleven of the Long Branch Athletic Club were far different from the team that lined up against the Plainfield boys the week before. The team was composed of men who averaged five or ten pounds more per man than the Plainfield players. They understood the game thoroughly and played from start to finish with a vim and earnestness that greatly pleased the crowd. Then there was an absence of fooling that made a far different impression from that of the Murray Hills. The visitors came straight to the field, acquitted themselves like men and returned without attempting to own the town or any portion of it. They were altogether very satisfactory to all concerned.

While the visitors had the advantage of weight, the local team had had more practice and played better together. Both sides fumbled considerably in the first half, but as the excitement grew they both improved. Both sides were handicapped by the loss of several of their regular team, but the contest was an even one and the ball moved up and down the field threatening but never crossing the line. Most of the fight was in Long Branch's territory, and what advantage there was the Plainfield boys seemed to have.

At the start the teams lined up as follows:

Plainfield A. A.		Long Branch.
Serrell	right end	Hunt
Hallock	right tackle	Lynch
Brown	right guard	Meyer
Cuming	centre	Nicholas
Phillips	quarterback	Slocum
Freeman	right halfback	Beale
Darling	fullback	Jas. Hennessey

Score—Plainfield A. A., 0; Long Branch A. C., 0. Touchdowns—0 Goals—0. Referee—A. B. Meredith, of Plainfield. Umpire—Marion S. Ackerman, of Plainfield. Timekeeper—Nathan Titsworth, of Plainfield. Linesmen—A. Willis West and Laurens H. VanBuren, of Plainfield.

Long Branch had the kick off and the ball went to Lovell who fumbled and a Long Rranch forward fell on the ball. The ball soon changed hands on a fumble and then Freeman and Cathcart were each sent around the opposite ends for twenty yards. In each case they passed all their opponents but the full back who stopped them. Long Branch recovered the ball on her twenty-five yard line and after three unsuccessful attempts to gain Hennessey kicked out of bounds and Beal fell on the ball which Rider missed.

The visitors were again unsuccessful in their attempts to break through the Plainfield line and Plainfield took the ball on four downs. Darling kicked to Hennessey who fumbled and Cuming fell on the ball at the twenty yard line. Four failures to gain gave the ball to the visitors but they lost it soon after when Hallock broke through the line and fell on the ball. Then the Plainfield backs were sent through tackle for small gains and hammered the opposing line terribly. Gradually the ball was carried toward Long Branch's goal. Darling bucked the line for repeated gains but in one attempt he was temporarily disabled and McClure took his place. Cathcart went through tackle for a gain of two yards and then time was called with the ball on Long Branch's three yard line. Score, Plainfield, 0; Long Branch, 0.

In the second half, Lovell and Hallock changed positions and Smith took Darling's place at fullback. The Plainfield backs had continued to hammer at the left-tackle until the Long Branch man had to have the quarterback and one of the halfbacks to support him.

Plainfield had the kick-off. Long Branch then began to force the ball into Plainfield's territory and passed the centre only to lose the ball on four downs. Lovell dropped back and punted to Long Branch's twenty-yard line. Hennessey fumbled and was thrown by Serrell. Rider missed his chance to fall on the ball and Beal fell on it. Then the ball continued to move up and down between centre

FOOTPADS WERE FOILED.

AN ATTEMPT TO HOLDUP YOUNG PEOPLE IN CITY LIMITS.

Frank Nelson and a Party of New Market Friends Accosted by Bold and Bad Looking Men—Whipped Horse and Escaped.

Another holdup was reported to the Plainfield police from the Netherwood district. Luckily, the schemes of the would-be highwaymen were foiled by the quickness of their intended victim.

Frank Nelson and another young man from New Market with two young ladies, were out riding last evening in a two seated phaeton. They came to this city and drove out along the county road. It was nearly 9 o'clock as they approached Netherwood station on the return. The night was a dark one, broken only by the light of the electric lamps along South avenue. The horse had just walked up the hill to Netherwood and the occupants had thrown aside any thoughts of a holdup that they might of entertained.

Right by the station on South avenue the tracks of the Plainfield street railway begin. Several large evergreen trees are grouped in the Park in front of the station at that point. There was no car in sight when the carriage load of young people approached the spot. Nelson was driving. The horse started off on a trot, when suddenly, without warning, a short, stout man, whose face was hidden by a black slouch hat, sprang out of the bushes and seized the horse by the bridle.

"Hold on there," he said in a gruff tone, and another figure appeared from the darkness behind the evergreen trees. The electric light nearby was shining brightly, but the hat and the shadow from the horse made it impossible for Nelson to see who the man was.

As the man spoke, Nelson seized the whip and brought it down on the horse's back with a resounding whack. The horse sprang forward and the stranger, taken unawares, released his hold on the bridle and fell backward to escape the carriage wheels.

The horse dashed down the hill and carried the excited party to Plainfield. The matter was reported to Sergeant Kiely and he and Roundsman Flynn accompanied the young men to the scene of their escape, but no trace could be found of the highwaymen. Patrolman Saffron was on duty at Netherwood at the time of the holdup, but was covering that part of his beat that lies away from the station.

LAND OF THE GREAT WALL.

A MISSION TALK ABOUT CHINA.

Foreign Missionary Sunday at Congregational Church Marked by Appropriate Services.

Yesterday was Foreign Missionary Sunday at the Congregational church. In the morning came the annual collection for foreign missions and an address by Rev. John C. Roberts, of China, on "In the Land of the Great Wall." He told in an interesting manner something of the peculiarities of the Chinese and then talked on the history of the Great Wall and ancient China. He told about his experiences in the vicinity of that Wall and how a missionary lived and what strange ideas the Chinese had of his home. He had a bright humorous way of telling about his trials in that country that was very entertaining but still his audience was able to see that he had passed through many hardships in his work for Christ in that foreign land.

In the evening, he addressed the Christian Endeavor Society on "Haps and Mishaps of a Yankee in China." He first told something of the strange customs in vogue there and the funny ways that the visitors had to remember or offend their hosts. He told of his own exciting experiences travelling through the country before he had learned the language and gave an interesting description of the crude methods of conveyance there. Rev. Mr. Roberts was in China during the time of the China-Japanese war and he told of some of the thrilling experiences he had to pass through during that time. The lecture room, where the service was held, was crowded and all listened with interest to the very able address.

Besides Wallace and his friends there were several other offenders to come before the City Judge this morning. George Monckton was arraigned for being drunk and disorderly. Sentence was suspended. The same charge was made against James Emmons and sentence was suspended on him. Charles Cashin was drunk, was thrown out of a saloon and fell over a baby carriage. He was fined $3. Patrolman Cash arrested him.

THE SOMERSET DEMOCRATS ENDORSE BRYANISM

Lively Fight in the Convention Today—Somerville Gold Men Are Unseated in Favor of Bryanites.

(By a member of the staff.)

Somerville, N. J., October 18th.—Alas and alack for all the trustful hopes of harmony and unification in the disordered ranks of the Somerset Democracy of a year ago, the silver and gold issue has loomed up ominously in the gathering of the clans at the county convention in session in Somerset Hall here today. And in truth the discordance does not bide well for the peaceful serenity that was hoped would prevail for the ultimate success of the candidates to be put to the fore in opposition to the G. O. P. standard bearers.

But a cursory view of the disposition of the delegates seems to indicate that devotion to Bryan and what he stands for is still the paramount consideration among the majority. Precedent has established the rule that county conventions should endorse National platforms. And to be in entire accord with the eternal fitness of things the sentiment of the congregated hosts seems to argue that though the party ranks were cut asunder last year, the breach—though inoculated with defeat—shall not be healed at the cost of ignoring the principles for which the majority of delegates fought for a year ago.

But to the story as it is.

The convention was called to order in Somerset hall shortly after 10 o'clock by William J. Logan, of Bridgewater, chairman of the county executive committee.

Dr. S. O. B. Taylor, of Millstone, was made temporary chairman, and Lewis S. DeFour, of Franklin, temporary secretary.

The North Plainfield borough delegates are George W. Bird, W. J. Conroy, John Emmons and William N. Pangborn—the latter serving as a proxy for A. E. Kenney. At the opening of the convention, however, Chas. Lyman was Mr. Kenney's proxy, but he was unexpectedly called away and he has relinquished the honor in favor of Mr. Pangborn. Mr. Lymar, as will be seen by subsequent events, plays a stellar part in the day's procedings.

North Plainfield township is represented by William Demler and Theodore Bartel.

The committee appointments fell to the Plafnfielders as follows: Organization, Mr. Bird; resolutions, Mr. Lyman; credentials, Mr. Conroy; rules, Mr. Emmons.

The appointment of the committees ended the preliminary organization and an adjournment was taken till 1:30 o'clock.

Soon after the adjournment the committee on resolutions met to consider what should be enunciated as the sense of the party assembled in county convention. With this committee, of course, lays the power to determine, to a large degree, the stand that the convention will take towards the gold and silver question—whether Bryan and his ideas shall be endorsed enthusiastically or whether the Chicago platform and candidates shall be passed over in silence.

In the committee meetings it was found that the delegates were in favor of endorsing the Chicago platform and candidates in words that would leave no doubt about the sincerity of continued adherance to the tenets fought for a year ago. Such a set of resolutions were drawn up and presented for approval.

Every member of the committe, except Mr. Lyman, approved of them. Mr. Lyman, though a year ago one of the most ardent Bryanites in Somerset county, dissented—just for what reason is not known. He wanted a set of resolutions adopted in which no reference was to be made to the question which disrupted and scattered the forces of the party a year ago. He could not be prevailed on to accept the resolutions of the majority and announced his intention to present a

WHIRLIGIG OF POLITICS IN UNION AND MIDDLESEX.

In Union Rival Candidates are Urging Recognition—In Middlesex the Republican Factional Fight Said to Have Been Settled.

Democratic primaries were held Friday night throughout Union county, and now speculation is rife as to who will be the nominees, says the World. The convention has been called for tomorrow afternoon at Turn Hall, Elizabeth.

Former County Clerk Crowell, of Rahway, seems to have the call for the Surrogate nomination, but it is possible that a dark horse may be sprung on the convention. Mr. Crowell will have the solid support of the Rahway delegation, but those from Elizabeth are unpledged, and whatever way they vote will tell the story.

There are likely to be two contesting delegations from the Eleventh ward, Elizabeth, where the young Democracy beat the old-timers at the primary. The losers are angry, and claim the primary was not fairly held. They threaten to carry the fight to the convention.

The candidates so far in the field for Assembly are from Elizabeth Lawyer Samuel Schleimer, Benjamin L. Lawrence, School Commissioner William D. Wolfskiel, who is also a member of the State committee; Alderman John J. Gardner, Freeholder William H. Swain, of Summit, and Freeholder John Isenman, of Cranford

The indications are that the ticket will be Swain, Lawrence and Wolfskiel.

The only thing that is absolutely certain in Union county politics is that Surrogate George T. Parrot will be renominated for a third term by the Republican covention, Thursday, and the problem how to defeat him is a pretty hard one for the Democrats, as Surrogate Parrot is one of the most popular Republicans in the county.

Who the Republican Assembly nominees will be is a matter for conjecture, although it is on the cards to have Roger Murray, of Plainfield, as one, Former Freeholder Robert Houston, of Elizabethport, as another, while the question is whether J. Martin Roll, the trolley king, will be able to secure a nomination for a third term.

There is strong opposition to Mr. Roll on account of his fondness for championing the cause of corporations, and it is said that an effort will be made to defeat him at the convention.

Jas. Ferguson, of Cranford; Former Alderman George A. Squire and Alderman Patterson, of Elizabeth, are all spoken of as candidates against the trolley king.

After a year of bitter factional fighting, the outcome of the unfortunate defeat in the Shrievalty contest in Middlesex county last fall, the leaders of the Republican party in that county have apparently buried the hatchet and got together for the purpose of waging a successful campaign this year. The unifying and harmonizing force in accomplishing this result has been Benjamin F. Howell, the present representive from the Third district of New Jersey.

The several factions in the Republican party were fighting bitterly for the ascendancy less than a week ago. As the primaries approached the fight was waged even more vigorously, until it looked as though the factional discord would rend the party asunder and give the Democrats a walkover. Much of the bitterness engendered was due to the prominent part taken in the local political affairs by Robert Carson, of New Brunswick. Because of his connection with the unfortunate nomination and subsequent defeat of Andrew S. Church for Sheriff, he was looked upon as a disturbing element in the party by many of the lesser political lights throughout the county.

It was realized that with the forces of the party divided all ideas of success at the polls must be abandoned unless something could be done to harmonize the various factions. Representative Howell undertook this task. He called a conference of the several leaders, and after mutual concessions, it was agreed that all would be subject to his wishes, and he would practically become the head of the party. Every leader of any account agreed to the new order of things except Theodore Strong. For some reason he was not disposed to accept the offers of peace and harmony, and now he stands outside the breastworks He is far from being repentant, however, if reports be true, for it is alleged that he has threatened to stir up strife anew.

The slate, as prepared at the conference, is that the nomination for State Senator shall go to Frank H. Pownall, of Jamesburg, a member of the County Board of Freeholders, and at one time the director of the board. The Surrogate will be Edward W. Hicks, of New Brunswick, who served two terms very acceptably in the Assembly. The three Assemblymen, A. C. Litterest, of Menlo Park; J. H. Whitfield, of New Brunswick and James Fountain, of Old Bridge, will be renominated.

PASTOR FELL IN A FAINT

REV. J. W. RICHARDSON STRICKEN WHILE PREACHING A SERMON.

Stopped in the Middle of a Sentence and Was Unable to Finish—Staggered From the Pulpit to Fall Unconscious in Hall.

The evening service at the Park Avenue church ended unexpectedly last evening. The regular opening exercises were conducted by Rev. J. W. Richardson, the pastor, as usual, and then he began on his sermon, "The Stupendous Injustice of Licensing Saloons." The subject was one in which he was greatly interested and he had prepared a powerful sermon. He had preached about a third of it when he suddenly swayed in the pulpit and had to catch hold of it for support. After repeating a few more phrases, he told the congregation that they would have to leave as he was ill.

He then began to sway to and fro, but with great effort he walked from the pulpit platform through a side door to the hall which leads to his study. He had scarcely reached the hall when he fell to the floor in a dead faint. In the meantime Deacon Haynes and Theodore Runyon hastened to the hallway and found Pastor Richardson lying on the floor. Sexton Edward Brokaw secured a pitcher of water, which was used, and Dr. Berg was sent for at once. When he arrived Mr. Richardson was just coming too and was very weak. The doctor prescribed for him, after which he was carried to his home in a chair.

All day yesterday Mr. Richardson suffered intensely from a headache and during the afternon he took two powders to relieve the pain. In the opinion of the doctor the two powders were too much for him and they affected his stomach as well as his head. This morning Dr. Richardson is feeling much better and he will probably be out very soon He is very nervous generally and the death of his wife's sister, which occurred about a week ago, no doubt has had something to do with this spell.

The congregation was large last evening and all were much interested in the discourse. It was about 8:30 when the audience was dismissed.

WESTFIELD FACTIONS WAR.

THE POSTMASTERSHIP CHANCES.

A. C. Fitch and L. M. Whitaker the Contestants—Leader Codding Remains Neutral.

The clouds of war are lowering ominously over the G. O. P. camp in Westfield, and the factions are preparing for a fight to the finish at the primary tonight. The struggle for the postmastership is at the bottom of the trouble, and the result of the primary will be regarded as pretty conclusive evidence of the strength of the rival candidates, Assistant Postmaster A. C. Fitch and ex Postmaster L. M. Whitaker.

Shortly after the Presidential election last fall Mr. Fitch announced that he was a candidate for the postmastership, and a petition favoring his aspirations was circulated among the voters. The plans of Mr. Fitch had not progressed far, however, before it was evident that he had a rival for the place in Mr. Whitaker, who is a machine man and a lieutenant of Former Assemblyman Charles N. Codding. Mr. Fitch's friends, after securing a majority of the Republican voters of the town as signers to his petition, went to Mr. Codding and asked for his endorsement. The former Assemblyman refused this, stating that he would remain neutral in the matter. This action of Mr. Codding has placed the Fitch men on their mettle, and they will make a fight tonight to defeat Mr. Whitaker's aspirations for a place upon the county executive committee. The candidate whom they will run in opposition is James A. Simpson. Mr. Codding's name is on both tickets, and his election to the committee is, therefore, assured.

The result of the fight between the Fitch men and the Whitaker men remains very much in doubt, as the machine which Mr. Whitaker represents was turned down by the Republican voters at the town election last spring. Mr. Fitch's friends will also make a fight for members of the township executive committee.

A Piano Forte Recital.

William K. Bassfort, of New York, who stands very high in musical circles in this country, will give a piano forte recital at the New Jersey Military Academy on Prospect place, Thursday evening, October 21st. Those who will be given an opportunity to hear this celebrated musician will certainly enjoy a rare treat.

LARRY WALLACE THE CHIEF CULPRIT.

Took Possession of a Horse and Buggy and With Two Companions Lashed the Steed Into a Frantic Gallop on a Crowded Thoroughfare—Collision and Arrest Followed—Sentenced By Judge DeMeza.

A single horse, attached to a buggy, which contained three men, came down West Front street on a dead gallop Saturday night Pedestrians who happened to be crossing the street, scattered in every direction. Women screamed and men rushed at the horse to try to stop it.

The men in the buggy were Lawrence Wallace, Joseph Doyle and George Shea, of Scotch Plains. Wallace is a notorious character.

Fred Brittlestratter, of Cushing road, had driven up to the North Avenue station with his horse and buggy. There were four cases of beer in the buggy. While Brittlestratter was away from the rig, Wallace and his comrades came along, all having already partaken of the wicked "Jersey lightning," took possession of the rig and drove away. Brittlestratter claims that they did not have his permission. They had driven around town, sampled some of the beer and came down Front street with the horse at full speed.

There were many bicycles and wagons on the street as the horse came galloping along but they managed to evade the flying horse and buggy which cleared the car tracks and started up West Front street. John Utzinger's wagon stood in front of J. A. Smith's grocery with the little son of Mr. Utzinger sitting on the front seat. The two vehicles came together with a terrible crash, upsetting Utzinger's rig on the sidewalk. The lad escaped injury.

Chief Grant and Patrolman Cash were standing in the crowd close by and they sprang to the fore. Grant took the horse by the head while Cash started for the occupants of the buggy. Doyle jumped out and began inquiring as to the cause of the trouble when he saw the officer and fled through the crowd.

Meanwhile the crowd had gathered and completely blocked the street. Shea was intoxicated but reached the ground and gave himself up to Chief Grant. Wallace refused to get out. Cash ordered and threatened him, but in vain. The crowd looked on and laughed. Then Patrolman Saunders pushed his way through the crowd and ordered Wallace to get out. When he refused the long arms of the colored officer reached forward and lifted Wallace out of the buggy as if he had been a child. Then Wallace was started on his way to the lockup. At Park avenue and Second street he refused to walk. Saunders secured a good grip on his collar and the seat of his trousers and with the assistance of Patrolman Myers carried him along. The position was uncomfortable for the prisoner and he finally agreed to walk.

Doyle was arrested later in the evening by Patrolman Myers and locked up with the other two.

This morning the three men were arraigned before City Judge DeMeza on the charge of being drunk and disorderly and for reckless driving. They pleaded guilty and the Judge sentenced them to pay a fine of $100 and go to jail for 90 days

With a smile on his face Wallace heard his sentence and sarcastically thanked the Judge. He bowed a smiling farewell to the reporters and went back to his cell while his old gray-haired mother also ironically thanked the Judge in her shrill, penetrating voice. Then she went to say good bye to her boy. The other two prisoners looked worried.

Delegate to World's Convention.

Miss Mary E. Green, of Honolulu, who has been visiting Mrs. Penfield and Mrs. Struthers, left this city this morning, en route for Toronto, Canada as a delegate to the World's W. C. T. Union convention as a representative of the Hawaiian Islands W. C. T. Union. She is the daughter of a missionary native, and in full command of the language of the Islands.

A Successful Closing.

The fair at the German Reformed church closed Saturday night with an auction when everything was disposed of at good prices. The attendance was large and the receipts will no doubt be gratifying to the women of the church who arranged the event.

BIG DISASTER AT SEA

Ship Transporting Spanish Soldiers and Civilians Lost.

TWO HUNDRED DROWNED

Wrecked Off the Northern Coast of Cuba During a Violent Storm, and Torn to Pieces Eight Miles from Shore—Only Two Men Escape.

Havana, Oct. 18.—It is believed that nearly two hundred persons perished in the coasting steamer Triton, from Havana to Bahia Honda, Province of Pinar del Rio. The vessel went ashore Saturday morning during heavy weather, grounding about eight miles from the coast.

The purser and one of the passengers have arrived at Madrid. They say they have no knowledge regarding the fate of the captain, the passengers, composed of soldiers and civilians, and the thirty members of the crew of the Triton. The missing passengers include several well-known merchants.

The Spanish gunboat Maria Cristina and the tug Louise have left this port for the scene of the wreck.

It is stated upon inquiry that the Triton had on board two hundred passengers, and it is feared that they have all perished, in addition to the thirty composing the steamer's crew.

No details of the wreck, however, have yet been received here.

Owing to the heavy sea that was running, the gunboat Cristina found it impossible to reach the scene of the disaster until night. Among those who were lost were two navy and two army officers, a commissary official and seventy-seven privates. On board the Triton was $31,660 in silver, to be used for the payment of the Spanish military and naval forces. The Triton, it is stated, was overloaded. She carried a large quantity of groceries and ammunition, and had on board ninety-three rifles for the Government troops.

Madrid, Oct. 18.—A dispatch to the Imparcial from Havana gives some further details of the loss of the coasting steamer Triton, which was wrecked yesterday.

The Triton sailed from Havana on Friday night, having on board, in addition to 100 civilian passengers, several military officers and seventy soldiers. She carried as cargo a large quantity of arms and ammunition for the troops in Pinar del Rio, and she also had on board $30,000 in cash.

It is thought that the disaster was due to the steamer being overloaded, or to her cargo shifting, which caused her to capsize, for although the weather was stormy, it was not bad enough to wreck such a vessel as the Triton. Prior to starting on the voyage the weather was threatening, and the captain of the steamer visited the Jesuit observatory, where he was assured that he would run no risk in leaving port in face of the approaching storm.

Of all those on board the steamer, passengers and crew, only two are known to have escaped. These are Julian Alonso, the purser, and Daniel Martinez, a merchant, but it is hoped that the gunboat Maria Christina and the lifeboats which were sent to the vicinity of the wreck have found some survivors.

HANDLING OF THE MAILS.

Report of the Second Assistant Postmaster-General.

Washington, Oct. 18.—A mass of interesting information concerning the handling of matter is contained in the annual report of W. S. Shallenberger, the Second Assistant Postmaster-General, just submitted to Postmaster-General Wilson. It is shown by the report that the total annual inland mail service has increased to 420,850,479 miles traveled, at a cost of 11.84 cents a mile, or an annual expenditure of $49,862,074. The foreign mail service cost $1,791,170 additional. The 21,517 star routes have an aggregate length of 265,598 miles, mail messenger routes 173,475 miles, and railway Postoffice car routes 39,493 miles. These are the three principal services. There was considerable reduction in the cost of transmitting the mails during the year, but the star services was increased 5,330,749 miles.

Contracts have been made by the Postoffice Department for extending the pneumatic tube service, which was successfully tried in New York City this month, in Philadelphia, New York, Brooklyn and Boston. Each carrier tube will have a capacity of 600 letters, and when the service has been extended it will be possible to transmit through the tubes in all places 360,000 letters an hour.

New York, Oct. 18.—The big seven-story warehouse at the northeast corner of Hudson and Spring streets, was destroyed by fire yesterday. As nearly as the damage can be estimated it will aggregate about three hundred thousand dollars, $150,000 by the destruction of the building, and the same amount by the loss of the stock.

The building has a frontage of sixty feet on Hudson street and 160 feet on Spring street. J. Fitzpatrick & Co., importers of French plate and colored glass, occupied the Hudson street front of the ground floor and the whole second floor. The remaining space was occupied by the Bradley & Currier Company, dealers in mantels, woodwork, etc., which owns the building.

POLITICS IN NEW YORK

Two Weeks of Fight Yet and It Is Anyone's Victory.

TAMMANY IN THE LEAD

However, the George Democrats May Yet Ruin Tammany's Chance of Victory—Independent Vote Likely to Resent McKinley's Interference.

New York, Oct. 18.—Only two weeks remain before election day, yet there is no certainty as to the result of the Greater New York election. The general opinion slightly favors Van Wyck because the Democrats have a normal majority in the city, and because the Tammany leaders, active under Croker's orders, have been insisting that there can be no doubt of Van Wyck's success.

The Tammany campaign has only just begun, and that of Henry George did not begin until Saturday night, when he made two speeches in the Harlem district. Tammany's chance of victory may yet be ruined for her by the George Democrats.

Tracy and Low are fighting desperately for the anti-Tammany vote. Mr. Low's campaign is now in McCook's competent hands, and he himself is working hard to win.

His managers estimate that he will get more than half the regular Republican vote in New York County, and more than half in Kings County. What with the Germans and the independents who are supporting him, they believe he can win should the Democratic vote be divided by George and Dayton in their campaign against Croker.

The Republicans, while claiming everything, are by no means so certain as they would like to be. This is shown by the appeals which they have made to Washington and to Albany for help, and also by the fact that within a few days they have sought to bring about union with Low as the candidate for Mayor and the rest of the ticket Platt-Republicans. The Citizens' Union would not consent.

Secretary of the Interior Bliss, who was in the city Saturday to register, called at Republican headquarters and talked with Chairman Quigg. He scoffed at the idea that there could be any reason to resent the interference of the Administration in the fight, saying that the contest was of national importance, and that the party leaders were deeply interested in it.

Secretary Bliss unquestionably voices the sentiments of President McKinley, and the Republicans are making the most of it.

"The question is," said Mr. Bliss: "Shall the verdict of last Fall be sustained, or shall the forces of repudiation and disorder triumph? There is but one thing for Republicans to do, and that is to vote for Tracy."

The independent vote, however, is likely to resent forcibly the interference of the Administration. Many Republicans are also angry with Gov. Black for promising to speak in New York, and threats are freely made to oppose his renomination next year.

There are indications of a party split which will extend through the State as soon as the election is over, if it shall appear that Tracy's candidacy defeated Low.

The surprisingly heavy registration of Saturday, greater than that of the third of last year, is regarded as favorable to Low and George. The machines always get their full vote registered, and all the votes over and above the normal machine strength this year are likely to be cast against the straight party candidates.

Women are taking an active interest in the campaign, and various organizations are working for Low, Tracy and George. Van Wyck and Tammany do not find favor with them, apparently, for they have no organized support among them.

Archbishop Corrigan has issued a letter to the Catholic clergy of this archdiocese, which was read in the churches yesterday. A recent circular was sent broadcast through New York, intimating that the Pope had instructed the hierarchy to support certain candidates in the struggle for the Mayoralty. The Archbishop says:

"Danger to the Republic can never come from Catholics while they remain faithful to their religion, which, in the language of St. Paul, teaches obedience to constituted authorities. The signs of the times show danger signals in the fast-rising flood of Socialism and Anarchy, and thinking men the world over find the greatest bulwark against these dangers in the conservative principles and doctrines of the Catholic Church."

E. B. Talcott seems to have an unlimited amount of capital on hand to place on the result of the election, and he is accepting everything that comes his way on Van Wyck. He has announced that he has $100,000 to wager for a customer at odds of 2 to 1 on Van Wyck. One of his bets was that of $3,000 to $1,000 that Low would not be elected.

Judging from the manner in which the wagers are going on the Stock Exchange floor, Tracy and George are regarded as being entirely out of the race. W. B. Oliver offered to bet $500 that Low would beat Tracy, but could find no takers. David Johnson wagered $100 against $60 with Thomas Thorne on Van Wyck's success. Mr. Thorne accepted $500 at these odds. M. C. Bouvier offered $100 to $500 against Tracy, but found no one to accept the proposition. J. Edgar Graff & Co. wagered $5,000 to $3,000 that Van Wyck would be elected Mayor. They have $30,000 to wager on Van Wyck at 10 to 7

HORNBY'S STEAM COOKED OATMEAL.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The juniors of Leal's school entertained about twenty-five friends in a pleasant manner Friday afternoon in the school building.

Those who believe chronic diarrhœa to be incurable should read what Mr. P. E. Grisham, of Gaars Mills, La., has to say on the subject, viz.: "I have been a sufferer from chronic diarrhœa ever since the war and have tried all kinds of medicines for it. At last I found a remedy that effected a cure and that was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy." This medicine can always be depended upon for colic, cholera morbus, dysentery and diarrhœa. It is pleasant to take and never fails to affect a cure. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Priscilla Beatrice Emmons, of Prospect place, has gone to Long Branch to spend a few days with her aunt.

Croup Quickly Cured.

MOUNTAIN GLEN, Ark.—Our children were suffering with croup when we received a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It afforded almost instant relief.—F. A. Thornton. This celebrated remedy is for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Miss Emma Oakley, of Rutherford, is a guest of Miss Delphine Bowers, of Franklin place.

A pain in the chest is nature's warning that pneumonia is threatened. Dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind over the seat of pain, and another on the back between the shoulders, and prompt relief will follow. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Miss Angie Kuhl and Miss Mary Poole, of Somerville, have been visiting Plainfield friends.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by L. W. Randolph.

Benjamin Strong and family, of Norwood avenue, have gone to New York to spend the winter.

The Grandest Remedy.

Mr. R. B. Greeve, merchant, of Chilhowie, Va., certifies that he had consumption, was given up to die, sought all medical treatment that money could procure, tried all cough remedies he could hear of, but got no relief; spent many nights sitting up in a chair; was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery, and was cured by use of two bottles. For past three years has been attending to business, and says Dr. King's New Discovery is the grandest remedy ever made, as it has done so much for him and also for others in his community. Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed for Coughs, Colds and Consumption. It don't fail. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00.

—Mrs. Henry VanMiddlesworth, of 515 West Front street, has been elected president of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian church, Grove street.

Something to Know.

It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centres in the stomach, gently stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50c or $1.00 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

CHARLES A. DANA DEAD.

Editor of the Sun Dies in His Long Island Home.

New York, Oct. 18.—Charles A. Dana, editor of the Sun, died at 1.20 o'clock yesterday afternoon at his home near Glen Cove, L. I. His death had been expected from last Thursday, when heart failure added itself to the ailments which had kept him from his office and from all work since June 9. His family had spent the Summer in the island home, Dosoris, largely that they might be near him in his illness.

Mr. Dana, from the June day when he bade farewell to some of his associates on the Sun, never had hope that he would return to the office. He severed that day all connection he had with any duty and prepared himself for the end. His complaint was a wasting away, and there was to him an acute realization that he had entered the twilight and that beyond the narrowing horizon was the night.

Only his family and the dearest of friends were admitted to see him. He had cut himself off from the world, and apparently cared little, if at all, for it. He saw no newspapers and asked for none. He was waiting, and he suffered while he waited.

On Thursday night he had an attack of heart failure, and his family was summoned to his bedside. He rallied a little, but on Friday still was weak. On Saturday he continued to sink, and about noon he asked to be carried through his house that he might look again upon the rooms, every one of which, in design or adornment, recalled something he had learned or purchased in his travels through many lands.

Yesterday morning his death was expected momentarily. Mrs. Dana, his son Paul and his daughters, Mrs. Draper, Mrs. Underhill and Mrs. Branpan, were with him. He awakened from a stupor about 1 o'clock, seemd to recognize his family, though he did not speak, and then closed his eyes forever. At 1.20 he died.

Mr. Dana was born in Hinsdale, New Hampshire, and was 76 years of age. The funeral will be held in Glen Cove next Wednesday.

With the life that has gone out there has passed away the last of that quartet of American editors who builded into their papers their own personality: The elder Bennett, the thunderous Greeley, the polished Raymond and now, the greatest of them all—Dana. Almost ten years more than the three score and ten allotted to men did this man live, and the last ten years were the fullest and most active of them all. He had been editor of the Sun since 1868.

WINDSOR, N. S., WIPED OUT.

Four Hundred Houses Burned and 2,500 Persons Made Homeless.

Halifax, Oct. 18.—The town of Windsor, the birthplace of Haliburton (Sam Slick), was wiped out by fire yesterday. Four hundred houses were burned and 2,500 people rendered homeless. The day was bitterly cold and a high wind was raging. Some drunken roughs are said to have caused the fire, which originated in a barn in the northern part of the town and swept over an area one mile long by a half mile wide. The flames spread with intense rapidity, so that many were glad to abandon everything to the devouring element and escape to the fields with their lives.

On the first news of the great loss Mayor Stephen, of Halifax, communicated with the general commanding the forces at Halifax, and by their joint cooperation a heavy provision train was made up and 150 soldiers went to Windsor.

At this time the destitute have been housed and provided for. The loss is about $1,500,000.

INDIANA MINERS WANT MORE PAY.

Business Is So Brisk They Are Asking for Four Cents More a Ton.

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 18.—The Indiana miners want some of the advance in the selling price of coal. The block coal men, 4,000 strong, have asked for four cents more a ton than they accepted at the end of the strike. The operators are to give an answer tomorrow, and if the block men receive the advance the 6,000 bituminous miners will ask for a like advance. The Indiana operators refused at the time the recent strike came to a close to sign a contract to run until Jan. 1, and now the men say the law of supply and demand should prevail.

Indiana operators cannot meet all their orders, and are trying to get more men at work. One operator has announced that although he did not want to be considered as raising the price for mining, hereafter on each pay day he would give his men four cents extra on a ton as their share in the profits of the business.

DYING OF STARVATION

Conditions in Havana City Are Almost Past Belief.

DISEASE RUNS RAMPANT

Havana Is a Constant Menace to the Health of the United States—Fourteen Persons Expire Through Lack of Food in the City.

Washington, Oct. 18.—The horrors of starvation in Cuba are shown in a report just received by the Surgeon-General of Marine Hospital Service from United States Sanitary Inspector Brunner at Havana. In addition to the hundreds dying from intestinal diseases caused by poor food, he notes fourteen deaths directly attributable to starvation in that city. If such things can happen in the chief city of the island the condition in the desolated interior can be imagined.

Dr. Brunner says that just opposite his office "A wholesale grocery firm gives a small pittance of rice to all who apply for it twice a week. Hundreds of thin, emaciated people drag themselves there to partake of the bounty, and it is a gruesome sight to observe the condition, or rather lack of physical condition of the crowd."

The cause of the yellow fever outbreak in the Southern States is clearly shown by Dr. Brunner. He says: "In spite of the heavy rains which deluge the streets, running over the sidewalks in many places, the city appears to contain more filth than ever. It is impossible to properly describe the absolute want of sanitary measures, the absolute disregard of health laws.

"The waters of the bay are reeking with the filth poured into it from the city, and every vessel leaving here for the United States should be regarded with suspicion when said vessel has remained over twenty-four hours in this harbor.

"I am more convinced than ever that this city is a constant menace to the health of the United States, and will remain so until modern science shall be employed to remedy the evils that have existed here for nearly two centuries."

Dr. Brunner declares there is more than twice as much yellow fever in Havana than reported by the authorities, most of it being in the hospitals across the bay from the city. Smallpox is on the increase, principally among the country people, who have been driven into town by Weyler's orders.

BIGGEST GUN IN THE WORLD.

It Will Protect New York and Shoot Sixteen Miles.

Bethlehem, Pa., Oct. 18.—The largest gun ever built in the world is now being constructed at the Bethlehem Iron Works for the defense of New York Harbor. This enormous piece of ordnance will weigh, when completed, 126 tons. It will exceed by six tons weight the monster gun which Krupp, of Germany, exhibited at the World's Fair in Chicago, and in length it will be nearly five feet longer than the German gun.

The intention of the War Department, it is announced, is to mount the great piece on a specially built foundation on Romer Shoals. From its position it will have a full sweep of the channels leading into New York Harbor. There is not, it is declared, a vessel afloat to-day with armor of sufficient strength to resist its shot.

The calibre of the new gun will be sixteen inches. The length, from breech to muzzle, will be forty-nine feet two inches. The powder charge will weigh nearly one thousand pounds. Provided extreme elevation for range could be obtained, a shot from the New York Harbor gun would be able to travel more than sixteen miles.

The building of the new 16-inch gun is an expensive undertaking. The gun itself will cost about one hundred and twenty thousand dollars. The cost of the gun carriage and turret will bring the cost up to as much again as the weapon, while the cost for foundation will, it is estimated, round out a grand total of at least three hundred thousand dollars. The foundation for the gun will require a depth, it is said, of fifty feet, if earth be the basis. This foundation must be constructed of concrete.

Presidential Appointments.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 18.—The appointment of Mr. Frank M. Brundage as Consul of the United States to Aix-la-Chapelle is pleasing to Pennsylvania Republicans. He was strongly indorsed by Senator Penrose and other Pennsylvania Republicans. He is said to be a Quay man.

Other Presidential appointments announced Saturday were as follows:

Consuls of the United States—James Franklin Darnall, Indiana, at Nogales, Mexico; John E. Kehl, Ohio, at Stettin, Germany; Julian Phelps, Iowa, Crefield, Germany; Charles P. Snyder, West Virginia, Ciudad Porfirio Diaz, Mexico; Henry S. Culver, Ohio, London, Ontario. David H. Budlong, of Idaho, to be register of the Land Office at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho; John M. Hill, of Washington, to be register of the Land Office at Walla Walla, Washington.

Georgia's Big Cotton Crop.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 18.—Owing to the increased acreage it is estimated that the cotton crop in Georgia this year will exceed that of 1896 by 10 per cent. The crop is full and the only complaints are of the low prices. Nearly all of the yield has been picked and warehoused. Plans are under consideration all over the State to curtail the crop next year, and others include a farmers' trust for holding of cotton and a species of boycott against planters and business men who will not joint the movement to hoard the crop for better prices.

X-Rays in the Navy.

Washington, Oct. 18.—The X-rays are to be used in the navy to examine sailors to determine their condition in health and disease. This will secure strong and physically perfect men for the service.

According to the annual report of Acting Surgeon Gen. Boyd, it is proposed to establish a hospital corps in the navy similar to that in the army, and Congress is asked to authorize the construction of ambulance ships to attend squadrons in action.

There are some people who think a newspaper should never publish news about such a crime as murder. Here is something for those people to consider. Camden has just been the scene of a murder reeking with horrible details. The Camden Courier has published the details as fully as possible. The Courier's regular circulation, as quoted in a newspaper directory, is about 5,000. On one of the days when the Courier published several columns of murder news its circulation jumped to 15,000. 'Nough said.

Indian summer may be pleasant for some people at this time of the year, but the kind that we like is the good old genuine fall weather. Seasonable weather is always good for business.

A New Brunswick girl is reported to be an heiress to $25,000,000. The next consideration is how much the girl will get after the lawyers have had a hand in the settlement.

REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES.

To be Held This Evening to Elect Delegates to County Convention.

The Republican primaries for the election of delegates to the Union County convention will be held in the various wards tonight at 8 o'clock as follows:

First ward—Republican Association rooms, 130 East Front street, and is entitled to 10 delegates.

Second ward—At the Bryant school building, on East Sixth street, and is entitled to 11 delegates.

Third ward—At the Casino, on West Seventh street, and is entitled to 10 delegates.

Fourth ward—At Reform Hall reading room, Central avenue, and is entitled to 15 delegates.

CHURCHMEN TO MEET.

MINISTERS AND LAY DELEGATES TO GATHER IN THE SYNOD.

The Session to be Opened in the Crescent Avenue Church Tomorrow Afternoon—Programme for the Three Days' Session.

The Synod of the Presbyterian churches of New Jersey will hold its seventy-fifth annual meeting in the Crescent Avenue church of this city, tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday. The ministers and lay delegates will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock and listen to the moderator's sermon. The ceremony of the Lord's Supper will then be celebrated and a moderator will be elected for the coming year, to succeed Rev. Benjamin S. Everitt, D. D., the present moderator. Officers will also be elected to succeed Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, vice moderator; Rev. Walter A. Brooks, D. D., stated clerk; Rev. Benjamin S. Everitt, D. D., permanent clerk; Rev. John T. Kerr, recording clerk; Rev. Eben B. Cobb, D. D., treasurer; Hon. Wm. M. Lanning, treasurer of synodical home missions. At 7:45 o'clock there will be a popular meeting in the interests of missions, with addresses by Rev. A. J. Brown, D. D., secretary of the board of foreign missions, and Rev. C. L. Thompson, pastor of the Madison Avenue church, of New York city.

The contributions of the synod last year for the various missionary and benevolent agencies were as follows: Home missions, $114,327; foreign missions, $85,586; education, $13 878; Sunday-school work, $10,839; church erection, $13,428; ministerial relief, $10,360; freedmen, $9,942; synodical home missions, $15,461; aid for colleges, $7,979. The total benevolent offerings last year were $280,600 as against $275,527 for the previous year.

The synod's business will commence at 9 a. m. on Wednesday morning and will continue through the morning and the afternoon. An interesting feature of the Wednesday morning meeting will be the annual report of the committee on synodical home missions. In the evening there will be a popular meeting at which the committee on systematic beneficence will make a report, and addresses upon that subject will be delivered by Rev. Dr. G. T. Purvis, of Princeton, and others. It is of interest to note in this connection that as to the total benevolent contributions, in 1896, the Synod of New Jersey stood third in the United States, with New York first and Pennsylvania second. As to per capita gifts in the same year this State stood second, with a gift of $410 per member.

On Thursday morning the business session will be resumed at 9 o'clock, and will continue until all the business before the synod is finished. It is thought that it will not be found necessary to continue the sessions later than Thursday evening, as there is no special business, such as questions of discipline, to come up for consideration.

The delegates will consist of the pastors of all the Presbyterian churches in the State, and each church can also send one lay delegate. The fall synod consists of over 800 delegates, but the attendance will probably not exceed 300 at any session.

FRIENDS OPPOSED TO LICENSE.

Resolutions Adopted Urging People to Vote No on the New Proposition.

The following resolution has been adopted by the Plainfield Monthly of the religious Society of Friends:

Whereas, It is proposed by the Common Council of the city of Plainfield to submit at the next municipal election the question of the continuance, or otherwise, of the licensing of the sale of spirituous and fermented liquors in this city, the monthly meeting of the religious Society of Friends hereby expresses its approval of this action of the Council, and urges all Friends who are qualified voters to vote for the discontinuance of all licenses for the sale of alcoholic beverages. It also earnestly appeals to all good citizens of Plainfield, members of churches and others, to effectively improve the present opportunity to indicate their preference that the legalized traffic in alcoholic beverages shall hereafter be abolished within its borders

The following were appointed a committee empowered to take action on the subject and to co-operate with similar committees which may be appointed by other churches: Aaron M. Powell, Edward P. Williams, Cornelia A. Gavett, Marietta V. Adams, Jos. M. Harper, Clara S. Rushmore, Anna R. Powell.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent Cough Remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form.—The Banner of Liberty, Libertytown, Maryland. Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O, contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by druggists, price 75c per bottle.

and Long Branch's twenty five-yard line, seldom going into Plainfield's territory. There were no long runs in either side, but both depended on line-bucking for their gains. At last Plainfield had the ball on their opponent's twenty-five-yard line and lost it. Then the visitors braced up and began to make gains on every down. They tried the ends for small gains and were within five yards of the middle of the field when the referee's whistle blew and the game was over.

Had the Plainfield team played faster than they did they might have scored a touchdown in the first half, but the game was a hard one and the players were not in condition for a fast game under those conditions. Phillips made a careful quarter and showed good judgment in giving signals. He made a number of fine tackles.

Miss Imogene Smith and Miss Minnie Hunt rode their wheels to Stelton Saturday and called on friends.

Tomorrow evening the members of Wm. G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will hold an important meeting.

The Building and Loan Association will meet this evening. Another meeting will be held on Thursday evening.

Mrs. A. C. Dickson and family are expected home this week from the country where they have been visiting relatives.

Mrs. F. W. Barker, of Nyach-on-the-Hudson, has returned home after a pleasant visit with Miss Jessie Haines, of New Market.

A neat and attractive money order window has been placed in the post-office and the office now looks very much up to-date.

Messrs. Bogardus, W. H. Terry and W. L. Terry, trustees of the Presbyterian church, spent Saturday painting a portion of the church. Each man furnished his own brushes and they performed a creditable job.

Two young women from Bound Brook in a carriage on their way home Saturday afternoon met with an accident while crossing the trolley tracks on Front street. One wheel was dished and the fall was sudden and exciting. One of Capt. Hand's trucks from Plainfield was passing and the driver very kindly assisted the woman by taking their wagon to Stites' blacksmith shop where the wheel was repaired. The women went home by train and secured the wagon later.

Front street last evening was very dark; not an electric light was burning.

Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company meets in the company's rooms this evening.

It is expected that the Baptist Sunday-school will send a large delegation to the State Sunday-school convention to be held at New Market tomorrow. George Hall, the superintendent of this Sunday-school is the State president. It is expected that arrangements will be made for the church stage to meet the evening trains after the convention is over, to carry those attending from the station over to the village.

Mrs. Hinchman, of Fanwood, had a narrow escape from serious injury while carriage riding in Westfield, Saturday afternoon. The horse took fright and ran away, breaking the shafts of the carriage. Mrs. Hinchman clung pluckily to the reins, and guided the plunging animal into North avenue. At the railway station a number of the hackmen caught the horse and brought it to a standstill. The rig was left at a livery stable and Mrs. Hinchman returned home by train, none the worse except for a severe fright.

Two Kinds of Stores.

There probably always will be two kinds of stores One kind is conducted in the belief that the way to win trade is to make the store the best one for people to come to. In the other kind of store all attention is given to specious methods of drawing trade and little concern given to the interests of customers when they come.

The First Kind is Our Kind.

We do not believe that any drug store can offer any worthy inducements other than excellence of service and fairness of prices. Such an inducement has built our trade and will continue to build it.

WRIT OF ATTACHMENT VACATED.

R. F. M. Chase's Horse and Wagon Must be Returned to Him.

The horse and carriage that were taken from the barn of R. F. M. Chase, of North Plainfield, two weeks ago on a writ of attachment issued by Justice Huntington S. Thomas, will have to be returned. Such is the decision of that Justice. The writ was served at the request of John Cronin, who claimed that Chase owed him $98 for services rendered. The writ was served by Constable Van Horn, who was accompanied by Lawyers William Newcorn and Harry C. Runyon.

City Judge DeMeza was the legal representative for Chase. He made a motion in Thomas' court that the writ be quashed, claiming that suit should have been started by the serving of summons and conducted in the regular way. Today the Judge has decided that DeMeza is right and that the horse and carriage will have to be returned, while Cronin and his lawyers will have to stand the costs and pay for the keep of the horse.

ARMENIAN HARDSHIPS.

A Speaker From Asia Minor Called for Enlistment of American Sympathy.

Last evening at the First Baptist church, Rev. Samuel Yahn, of Asia Minor, delivered a most interesting and instructive discourse concerning the Armenians and Turks. He told of the intense hardships through which the Armenians are called to pass and how it has been so during the past twenty years. He called for an enlistment of sympathy and help on the part of the American people. Mr. Yahn is a young man and is the son of an official in one of the Turkish courts. He speaks intelligently and describes vividly the general condition of the people from this country.

Every woman in this town has more or less dry goods money to spend—you want to spend it to the very best advantage. Now here is a store filled with fresh, reliable merchandise, bought right and sold right to your entire satisfaction. We tell of many good values in these columns, but not half of the good things get a word We want you to investigate.

Millinery.

Type or word cannot do justice to this department—to appreciate the worthiness of our millinery we ask you to see others, then see ours—there will be no question about who gets the order.

TO SPITE THE MAJOR.

BY GWENDOLEN OVERTON.

Army wives generally have unmarried sisters. These sisters always come out to visit them, and the rest goes by itself.

Mrs. Lorrilard had an unmarried sister. She was very attractive. She was far more attractive than Mrs Lorrilard ever could have been. The girl's name was Spencer—May Spencer She was eighteen years old, if you took her word for it; and she was blonde and pink and white and plump. She came from some place in Ohio, and she visited the Lorrilards at Stanton—which is in New Mexico, one hundred miles from the railroad across Dead Man's valley (there is always a Dead Man's valley) and some steep hills and a lava bed a mile wide. If you have never seen a lava bed, you cannot appreciate that. You might try to imagine the ocean lashed into fury by a simoon, then fancy its great waves and billows and swells changed suddenly to dark gray-brown stone at the height of the storm, and you may form a vague idea of what the lava bed between Fort Stanton and the railroad is like.

It frightened Miss Spencer badly. The ambulance went slipping and sliding and coasting and thumping and bounding over the one passable part, in a way that only an ambulance conducted by a driver who has spent his life on Arizona and New Mexico roads could possibly stand.

Miss Spencer was not accustomed to that sort of thing. She stood it as long as she could, and then she told Major Roche—in whose charge she was travelling—that she meant to get out and walk. She had bothered the major a good deal already, and he was getting tired, so he did not say anything, but simply told the driver to "slow up" and let Miss Spencer get out by herself.

She, fell behind after a moment and the ambulance went relentlessly on, creaking, flapping its canvas, clanking its chains, its brake screeching shrilly. And as it disappeared, sometimes lost to sight in a great hollow, sometimes toiling up a smooth face of lava. Miss Spencer felt herself abandoned, indeed in a New Mexico desert, under that terrible midsummer sun. The heat was fiery, scorching, parching. The sky was like hot blueglass. She wondered why, when the lava was hot enough to burn her feet through the soles of her shoes, it did not melt or grow soft. She kept on walking because she was afraid to stop.

She reached the end of the huge rock river at last and found the ambulance waiting. The driver was asleep and the major was drinking water. He offered her some, and when she had drunk it she held out her broad little foot.

"My shoes are all cut to pieces, and they were new and awfully heavy."

"You should have kept still," he answered.

Now Miss Spencer wanted sympathy, and when she didn't get it she took a dislike to the major; and because she disliked him she eventually made him sorry.

For the first fortnight of her visit she was not pretty. She was sun burned from her passage of the lava sea. Her face was red and swollen, then blotchy and lastly peely. After that she returned to the normal pink and white. She was the only girl at the post, and there was a bachelor, a brevet-bachelor, a young contract surgeon, and Major Roche's son. The bachelor officer was studious

He had no time for young women. He paid his one call and retired. The brevet-bachelor is peculiar to the service. His wife is back East, visiting her family. He differs from the real article only in that he is inelligible. He was devoted to Miss Spencer, but he did not count. There was also the contract surgeon. Of course he was only a contract surgeon. Still he was tall and blonde and had a beguiling drawl. He fell in love with Miss Spencer.

But the exciting part of the story hinges on Major Roche's son. He was twenty, and he was no use on earth. He was just a boy and never would be anything more. He had failed in everything he had ever undertaken, He couldn't even dance, and he was afraid of a three-foot acequia when he rode. He depended upon his papa for everything, and he thought he knew women through and through. Probably Providence sent Miss Spencer to show him that he didn't—but the ways of Providence are inscrutable, and I can't be sure.

Well, the contract surgeon fell in love with Miss Spencer, but, like Viola, he never told his love. His name was Randolph—Curtis Randolph, to match his nice blue eyes and his charming drawl. His courtship was of the eternally-on-hand sort. The life of a garrison offers even greater advantages for this than that of a southern town. He was with Miss Spencer from guard-mounting until long after taps. But Miss Spencer pined to see more of him.

"Mr. Randolph, I believe you're lazy."

"Oh! now—Miss May—why? That isn't kind." He gazed at the flag on the flag-staff tenderly and dwelt musically on each word.

"Because."

"It is the privilege of a lady to give that reason." His eyes sought the tennis court in tender, blue abstractedness.

"Well, I know you are."

"Won't you have pity on me and tell me why?"

"Because you never are up until almost guard-mount."

"Oh, dear! yes I am. I go over to the hospital at sick-call, you know."

"Why don't I ever see you, then?"

"Perhaps you haven't risen yourself."

"I'm always up at reveille."

"No! Goodness; why on earth do you do that?"

"I believe you go over to the hospital the back way and aren't half awake and don't even have a collar on."

"Now, Miss May—how unkind."

"Isn't it true?"

"I always have my collar on." He told a future truth. After this he would wear a collar.

"I hate lazy people."

"Oh! Miss May—how unkind. You don't hate me, I hope." His eyes were on the pink ribbon that fluttered from her belt; he took hold of it and wound it around his finger, getting graudually nearer to her.

"I do, if you are lazy."

"How can I prove to you that I am not?"

"That's easy enough."

"Do tell me how?"

"Just prove it."

"By rising early and letting you see me?"

"Well—yes."

"I shall do so to-morrow."

"But I always go for a ride before breakfast."

"May I not join you?"

"If you like. I don't care." Which is feminine for caring very much indeed.

So Dr. Randolph rode with Miss Spencer the next morning, and he breakfasted at the Lorrilard's, and he sat on the Lorrilard's porch to watch guard-mounting, and then he played tennis with Miss Spencer, and when it was too hot to do that any longer, they sat together on the porch again, shaded by the crowsfoot and morning-glory vines and read aloud by turns. They parted for luncheon, but immediately afterward they met again in the Lorrilard's sitting-room to practice the mandolin and guitar. Randolph dined with the Lorrilards, and then he and Miss Spencer walked up and down the line until taps, and after taps they sat on the porch once more and talked in undertones.

Occasionally the Roche boy made a third, and though he was far from welcome, he never guessed it.

Now it may seem incredible, but it is true, that though this went on without a pause for ten solid months, Randolph still modestly doubted if he were loved and dared not voice his passion. Mrs. Lorrilard began to think that she had done quite all that the family could expect of her, and she grew hopeless and weary, moreover, of boarding two hungry young people. She told Miss Spencer as gently as possible that she might go the next time the ambulance went over to Carthage, which was the railroad station. Miss Spencer told Randolph she was going—and wept. And Randolph consoled her from afar, and actually thought she was weeping at leaving her little nephew and niece and her sister. There are men like that.

The ambulance went a week later to carry Major Roche and Teddy Roche to the railroad. Teddy was offered a position at Tucson and was going to take it; the major had government business at Carthage. The Carthage road is a branch; it joins the main line of the A. T. and S. F. at a station called San Antonio. The major would chaperon the young woman to Carthage; thence she would go to the main line and East and Teddy to the main line and West. Only Teddy and May compromised. They both went to Socorro, which is on the main line, a very little northeast of San Antonio.

The contract doctor and Miss Spencer had a harrowing parting. The latter lost her temper over his procrastination and burst into tears. It nearly broke his heart and entirely silenced his tongue.

After she was gone, hopelessly gone, he determined to reveal the secret of his heart by letter. But he put off doing it. Instead, he swung in his hammock all day and thought of her blue eyes and pretty face and guileless smile and regretted his erstwhile constant companion. The ambulance would return, empty of its lovely load, in five days. He knew that. He would write when it returned.

So, on the afternoon of the fifth day, he sat, still swinging in the hammock and smoking a pipe, the ashes whereof besprinkled his coat, when the four mules and the ambulance rattled into the post. They stopped at the major's quarters in a cloud of dust, and two men and a woman alighted. There was no doubt about who the woman was. In his delight Randolph lost his head. He strode down the broad walk to the Roches'.

Miss Spencer was still standing by the ambulance, hunting—with the driver's help—for something under one of the seats. The major and Teddy had gone indoors.

"Why, Miss May!" said Randolph, and this time there was no drawl—"how delightful! What brings you back?"

"Oh, my husband. Teddy and I got married in Socorro and joined the dear old major again in Carthage the same day.

"How delightful," Randolph repeated, weakly.

"Well, Teddy seems to think so, but the dear, sweet old major didn't. Any way you know, he was so horrid about my shoes on the bad-lands that day."

She smiled demurely.

And that was all any one ever knew about it.—The Argonaut.

Oh, the future sky is the bluest sky,
With never a cloud in view;
But the sky to-day is the truest sky,
And that is the sky for you!

The Tables Turned.
We have almost solved the servant girl problem.
Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.
The tables are turned, and we have turned them.
We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.
Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,
Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "
What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

SHAW'S TRYING ORDEAL.

Kneels by His Murdered Mother's Coffin and Protests His Innocence.

Camden, N. J., Oct. 18.—Standing over the lifeless forms of his mother and grandmother, as they lay side by side in their coffins, Eli Shaw again protested his innocence of the dual murder which startled Camden last Tuesday, and called upon God to attest that he is blameless. It has not been the fate of many to witness a more harrowing or dramatic scene than that which preceded the funerals of the two women last Friday afternoon, when young Shaw was taken from his cell to bid a last adieu to the forms of the two helpless women, for shedding whose blood he has been held to answer. Distressing as was the scene, it had no effect in wringing a confession from the prisoner, as was expected, but although it materially contributed to the wreck of his nervous system, it only strengthened his declarations that the blood of his mother and grandmother was not upon his hands.

The young man held out against every attempt to force an admission from him, but this has not shaken the conviction of the police and the county prosecutor that he alone is responsible for the crime. Their ground for this belief apparently rests in the discrepancy between the prisoner's account of the details of the tragedy and the finding of the revolver in the chimney, and the tracks of blood on the third floor.

Shaw said his mother was shot on the second floor, but the tracks of blood on the carpet indicate that some part of the tragedy was enacted on the third floor. Whoever last had the revolver that was found with two empty shells and three loaded ones, disposed of it by throwing it into the chimney from the stovepipe flue on the third floor. Of that there is indisputable evidence. Yet Shaw stoutly persists that he had no knowledge of the pistol at the bottom of the chimney.

A dramatic sequel of the crime occurred at the funeral of the victims. Both mother and daughter were laid at rest in a little cemetery on the outskirts of Camden. Services were held in the parlor of the little dwelling on Line street.

At the head of the coffin was a pillow of immortelles, with the inscription, "Mother and Grandmother," the last tribute of the son and grandson now accused of the double murder. In the company of mourners at the house was Eli Shaw, in charge of two officers of the law. He gazed upon the upturned faces in the coffin and called aloud upon God to witness his innocence. Finally, falling upon his knees beside his mother's casket, he said in a broken and almost stifled voice:

"Mother! mother! Tell them that I am innocent!"

While the police are still hunting for further incidents of the crime that may fasten the guilt upon him, his relatives believe that he is innocent.

JUSTICE FIELD'S SUCCESSOR.

Opposition to the Appointment of Attorney-General McKenna.

Washington, Oct. 18.—The retirement of Justice Field and the prospective appointment of Attorney-General McKenna to the Supreme Court, is being discussed in Administration circles. There is a movement in opposition to the appointment of the Attorney-General to the Supreme Court, and while it may not be strong enough to prevent his nomination next Winter by the President, it may prevent his confirmation by the United States Senate. It is apparent that there is a widespread opposition to his appointment coming from the Pacific coast, based upon his course with reference to the sale of the Union Pacific Railroad. How far this feeling of opposition will extend remains to be seen.

In the event of the failure of the Senate to confirm Mr. McKenna in the event of his nomination by the President, it is the belief of many friends of the Administration that the President may go outside of the circuit for the selection of Justice Field's successor. If the President should decide to go outside of the circuit to find a Supreme Court Justice he would have a wide field to select from, and there will doubtless be many candidates for the appointment.

Much interest is felt in the matter of the change in the Cabinet which will take place upon the retirement of Justice Field and the appointment of the Attorney-General to the Supreme Court bench. There is no difference of opinion in regard to the fact that Judge Goff, of West Virginia, could go into the Cabinet if he desired, but the unanimous belief is that he will decline the honor. In this event it is likely that the people of the Pacific coast will make a big fight for the appointment. Judge McKenna is the first representative to sit in the Cabinet from the Pacific coast, and the present political feeling in the West would seem to demand that his successor should be chosen from California.

Republicans from the Pacific coast say that the only way in which the State of California can be kept in the Republican column in the next Congressional elections is by retaining for the Pacific coast representation in the Cabinet.

SALISBURY WANTS TO RESIGN.

He Is in Poor Health—A Reconstruction of the Cabinet Probable.

(Cable Dispatch to the New York Sun.)

London, Oct. 18.—The Chronicle says that Lord Salisbury's health is not equal to the strain imposed on it by his work as Prime Minister and Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and that he desires to resign.

The paper adds that an early reconstruction of the Cabinet is probable. The Queen is unwilling to make any changes, but in view of Lord Salisbury's ill health his resignation is likely to be accepted.

Durant Is Weakening

San Francisco, Oct. 18.—The nerve of Theodore Durant, the convicted murderer of Minnie Williams and Blanche Dement, is leaving him. He is in San Quentin Prison, and has been in a solitary cell since the appeal in his case was taken to the United States Supreme Court. He is let out for an hour each day for exercise, an event which Durant has always heretofore been eager for.

The guards believe that if the decision of the Supreme Court be against him Durant will collapse completely.

MISS CISNEROS HONORED.

New York, Oct. 18.—The popular reception to Miss Evangelina Cisneros in Madison Square Saturday night was an unqualified success. Fully fifty thousand people, probably one-third of them well-dressed women, crowded the upper half of the square and filled Broadway and Firth avenue, and waited patiently for the speeches to be finished and the appearnace of the heroine of the daring Spanish prison delivery.

J. Lincoln De Zayas was speaking when the carriage containing Miss Cisneros and Karl Decker, her rescuer, appeared at the stand. The little woman, attired in white satin and enveloped in a huge fur-caped cloak, mounted the steep, narrow steps to the platform, bowing and smiling to the people. Once on the platform Mr. Decker led his charge down the aisle between the musicians to the front of the platform.

Miss Cisneros' appearance was the signal for a tremendous demonstration by the great crowd, which stretched out for one hundred yards before her. The men yelled and waved their hats, the women waved their handkerchiefs, and the band played a Cuban battle song.

With a huge bouquet in her right hand and a pleased but diffident expression on her face, Miss Cisneros bowed to her audience, for hers it was, then turned to Mr. Decker, indicating that she wanted him to understand that the applause was as much for him as for her.

For several moments the two stood forth while the cheering continued, then Miss Cisneros was led back to the rear of the platform, where she bowed and smiled to the crowd on that side of the platform.

The crowds pressed closely around her when the fair Cuban was led to her carriage. They were all eager to shake hands with her and with Decker, and the police were compelled to do some lively work to keep them from overturning the carriage. The carriage was driven around the square and back to Delmonico's, where the reception there was continued.

JOHN BULL FOR GOLD.

Cabinet Decides Against the Maintenance of Silver Reserve.

London, Oct. 18.—The Cabinet meeting which was held at the Foreign Office on Saturday lasted two hours. After the meeting it was unofficially announced that the Cabinet had decided in favor of the Bank of England maintaining its full gold standard.

It is understood that the Cabinet decided to refuse to reopen the Indian mints to the free coinage of silver. A full reply to the proposals made by Senator Wolcott will be sent to him next week.

The decision has been expected for some time. When the bank intimated its willingness to hold one-fifth of its reserve in silver such a storm of protest was raised by business men all over Great Britain that the scheme was quickly abandoned.

PRESIDENT DIAZ'S THANKS.

Mexico's Chief Executive Congratulates This Country.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 18.—When the National Mexican Veteran Association closed its annual reunion at Nashville last month the secretary, Col. William R. Smith, of this city, wrote, on behalf of the veterans, a letter to President Diaz, of Mexico, congratulating him upon his escape from the assassin. Col. Smith has just received this reply in the handwriting of the Mexican President:

"I accept as a proof of your consideration for me the generous congratulations which you have sent me, and return to you this testimony of my sincere acknowledgment. Your obedient servant, PORFERIO DIAZ."

Seven Klondikers Perish.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 18.—A party of seven Klondike prospectors, including A. C. Wright, of Seattle, and Harry T. Newman and William J. Schwartz, of San Francisco, have perished on the Taku River.

William J. Schwartz was about 37 years old. He came from Philadelphia originally, and has no relatives on the Coast. Harry T. Newman is about 42 years old, and has a wife and child. The party was either massacred by Indians or drowned in the river.

Weyler Hangs On.

Havana, via Key West, Oct. 18.—Gen. Weyler refuses to give up the Captain-Generalcy of Cuba until his successor arrives. He has ordered Gen. Jimenez Castellanos, to whom the Government instructed Weyler to resign his powers, to remain in Puerto Principe province.

According to dispatches from Madrid the prominent Cuban Autonomist, Don Jose Bruzon, has refused to accept the office of Secretary of the Government in Cuba, offered to him by the Minister of the Colonies.

England's Great Strike.

London, Oct. 18.—Seventy-eight thousand engineers this week received strike pay to the amount of £40,0 0. The appeal that was issued by the engineers' unions to the public for funds to aid the strikers having proved a failure, several of the important trades have decided to let the engineers fight out their battles by themselves, despite the fact that the leaders of the strike assert that the present contest is the greatest fight of the century in behalf of labor.

Gold Ore Worth $10 a Barrel.

Pottstown, Pa., Oct. 18.—Gold ore worth $10.26 a barrel has been found on the farm, near Sassamansville, owned by B. M. Yost, of Boyertown. The discovery was made by John W. Bauman, who was digging a well on the property. Dashler Brothers, of Belvidere, N. J., have secured a twenty-five years' lease on the property and are erecting buildings and machinery.

A Royal Marriage.

Paris, Oct. 18.—According to a dispatch to the Rappel from Berlin it is rumored in German Court circles that the ex-Empress Frederick, mother of Emperor William, intends to marry Count von Sickendorf, the Court Marshal.

The Rappel is a Boulevard paper and no credence is given to the report.

GOLF.

Last Saturday afternoon the golf team from the Morristown Field Club came to Plainfield to play a return match with the team from the Hillside Golf Club. The first game at Morristown was won by the team from that place, and Saturday's contest was a lively one for second honors. The Plainfield team won by a good score, 32 to 11. Below will be found the scores:

Plainfield.		Morristown.
Wadsworth, W.	3	Grannis	0
Wharton, J. H. P.	9	Duyckinck	0
Richards	2	Coghill	0
Walz, F. W.	3	Brinley	0

CYCLING COMMENT.

There has been considerable interest among the wheeling fraternity regarding the location of the Columbia agency in Plainfield next year. As has already been exclusively stated in The Press, the Columbia will be exhibited in the window of the grocery store of George W. Rockfellow, on Park avenue, this winter. Mr. Rockfellow will continue to represent the Columbia until spring and will then probably continue as the Columbia agent.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Lawyer Charles McNabb entertained relatives from out of town over Sunday.

Douglass Drake, of Duer street, has entered the New Jersey Military Academy.

Miss Frances Lister, of Philadelphia, is visiting Plainfield relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Waters, of Mariners avenue, entertained company from out of town over Sunday.

William Rockwell and family, of East Front street, leave soon to spend the winter in New York.

Miss Edith Horton and Miss Luella Crowther, of Sandford avenue, spent Sunday with friends in Bound Brook.

Annie Fenner, of New York city, will reside with her uncle, H. Van-Middlesworth, of 515 West Front street, after today.

The marriage of Miss Maggie Flanagan, of West Fifth street, and Michael Whelan, will take place Wednesday at St. Mary's R. C. church.

Dr. McKane and wife, of the Christian church, Grove street, will be tendered a reception after their return from the National convention now in session at Indianapolis.

Mrs. C. P. Leggett and daughter, Margaret, of Madison avenue, are visiting Mrs. Leggett's sister, Mrs. Edward O. Chickering, at Albany. Mrs. Chickering's husband has a temporary charge at the above place, where he is preaching for a time.

BRYANISM ENDORSED.

minority report.

Leaving matters in this shape the committee adjourned to await the reopening of the convention, when the battle will be decisively fought.

The convention reconvened at 2 o'clock and the temporary officers were made permanent.

The committee on credentials reported a contest in the fourth district of Bridgewater (Somerville) between James J. Bergen and Autin Moore, Palmer and Buckner delegates, and Edgar W. Farley and George Norton, Bryan delegates. At the first session the first two had taken seats. The committee recommended that they be unseated. Their action was approved by the convention.

[A report of the trouble in the fourth district is given in another column.—EDITOR.]

After a speech by William Pangborn in favor of the minority report, the two reports were submitted to a viva voice vote. The one endorsing the Chicago platform was endorsed by a three-fourths vote. Mr. Pangborn wanted it decided by ballot but he was over ruled.

The convention is now proceeding to nominate.

FIGHT IN A PRIMARY.

Gold and Silver Men Violently Clash in Somerville.

The Democratic primary in Somerville for the election of delegates to the Somerset county convention, was the scene of an exciting contest between discordant elements. The New York Journal published the following account of it this morning:

In the Somerville district harsh words and blows were the result of an attempted fraud on the part of the gold men. Alvah A. Clark, the one-time Democratic boss of the county, selected as his delegates to the convention ex Speaker James J. Bergen and Austin Moore, who holds a position under Mr. Clark in the postoffice. The silver leader, James J. Meehan, slated for delegates George P. Morton and Edward Farley, both Bryan men.

When Austin Moore passed by the tellers and cast his ballot Counselor John Frech grabbed him by the arm and shouted:

"Hold on there, Austin, you threw four ballots into the box."

"You're a liar," retorted Moore, angrily.

"No, he is not a liar; I saw you throw four ballots into the box," furiously exclaimed Michael W. Scully.

The chairman, to settle the controversy, ordered a count of the ballots already cast, to compare them with the number of names registered, it being the custom to register each vote cast. The count showed three more votes in the box than there were names on the registry list.

When this result was announced, Scully leaned over the table toward Moore, and hotly exclaimed: "Now, am I a liar?"

Moore replied by striking Scully a terrific blow in the face, which caused him to stagger.

At this violent attack there were cries of indignation and much confusion ensued, but Moore was restrained and Scully was led away.

The chairman of the caucus declared Bergen and Moore elected.

—George Egel, of Somerset street, proprietor of the Grandview Meat Market, is at his place of business again, after an attack of the grip.

Mrs. Dunham, of Central avenue, is detained at home with a severe illness.

—Jaquett's great slaughter sale is still going on. The price as well as the quality of the goods is what attracts.

HOME, SWEET HOME FIRST SUNG.

Over the Grave of an Indian Who Died to Join Wife and Child.

When the boundary line between Tennessee and Georgia was established, it passed half a mile south of the spring Tuck-a-lee-chee-chee, among the foothills of the Unakas, and as it crossed one of the principal Indian trails, it became a place of much importance. There had already grown up a strong rivalry between the Tennessee tribes, headed by Chief Ross, and the Georgia tribes, headed by Major Ridge, both half-breeds and men of extraordinary ability as leaders. The establishment of a new boundary line, fixed the limits of their respective territories, and to try and harmonize as far as possible the contending factions the government established a trading post there. John Howard Payne appeared upon the scene, and was accused of inciting the Indians to insubordination. He was placed under arrest as an incendiary and carried to the council house.

While Payne was held there one of the first bands arrived, and among the Indians was the chief, Oo-chee, or Rattling Gourd, a broken-hearted man. He was moody and abstracted, and refused all invitations to the council house and would partake of no festive enjoyments whatever, but spent the most of his time at the graves of his wife and child farther up the valley. One morning he was missed. Weltering in his own blood, his body was found between the little mounds that covered his squaw and papoose. In some way, he had secreted a bayonet, fell upon the point of it and died on the spot where he had often expressed a desire to be laid for his last long sleep. A grave was dug on the spot where he lay, and the chief was buried by the soldiers, one of the Moravian missionaries officiating. After the services were over, John Howard Payne, who had been a silent witness of the pathetic scene, began singing softly to himself the song which has since been echoed through every land on the earth. Gen. Bishop, who had kept a close scrutiny on his actions, heard the song and called Payne to him.

"Young man," said the stern old Indian fighter, "where did you learn that song?"

"I wrote that song myself," replied Payne.

"And where did you get the tune?"

"I composed that also."

"Would you let me have a copy of it?"

"Certainly I will.

"Well, a man who can sing and write like that is no incendiary. Appearances may be against you, but I am going to set you free. I shall write out your discharge immediately, and pass you anywhere you choose through the nation."

Payne had been housed at the home of a family living nearby, and on his return there he exhibited his pass and related the circumstances. That was the first time that "Home, Sweet Home," had ever been sung in public. —Atlanta Constitution.

SOMERSET DEMOCRATS NAME CANDIDATES AFTER ENDORSING THE BRYAN PLATFORM.

GEORGE VOSSELLER, OF SOMERVILLE, FOR SURROGATE.

Several Candidates for Surrogate, But Vosseller Was the Final Choice—John A. Layton to Contest With VanDoren for the Assembly.

The action of Somerset county Democratic convention in unhesitatingly endorsing the Chicago platform and the ideas of its standard bearers, in face of the protests of an element of the party who were drawn into the enemies camp a year ago by reason of the promulgation of such tenets, is regarded by some as bad politics. However the sentiment may result remains to be seen. The projection of such an issue into the convention, at least, made it lively where otherwise it might have been merely perfunctory.

After the question of the currency platform of the Chicago convention had been satisfactorily settled at the Democratic convention of Somerset county, held at Somerset Hall, Somerville, yesterday, the delegates had a little contest over the choice of candidates who are to stand for them in the race for the surrogateship and Assemblymanship.

There was considerable feeling shown in the contest about the financial plank in the resolutions. It has been the custom for the county conventions to adopt a resolution indorsing the platform of the last National convention. This year, to take such action meant to support the silver plank of the platform. There were Democrats in the convention who thought that the question of gold or silver was not one that should trouble the county convention but rather should be ignored and that the State issues should take the prominent place in the campaign that is to be inaugurated in the county.

Now it happened that Charles H. Lyman, the delegate by proxy for A. E. Kenney, from North Plainfield, was one of the believers in that theory. He was appointed on the committee on resolutions with ten other men from other parts of the county. The chairman of the committee was George S. Corle, of Hillsboro, who afterwards unsuccessfully ran for the nomination of surrogate. Lyman was the only objector in the committee against placing the doctrines of Bryan in the county platform. Corle was to present the set of resolutions of which he was the father, indorsing the Chicago platform and it was generally understood that the minority of one would also make its report. Mr. Lyman was called to Plainfield, however, and William H. Pangborn took his place.

It was in the afternoon session that the reports of the committees came up. Mr. Corle read his resolutions and the one referring to the Chicago platform was received with applause. He had just sat down when Mr. Pangborn jumped up and offered the minority report. In it he expressed a belief in the Democratic doctrines and principles and condemned the action of the Republican Legislature and the Republicans who were in charge of local affairs. As he sat down, a delegate jumped up and moved that the minority report be adopted. The motion was seconded.

The report and a few remarks following it were received with applause and it is probable that the chairman did not hear the motion, at any rate he ignored it, and Mr. Corle moved that his report be adopted. Fatal indecision on the part of the chairman then brought on the war of words that showed the gap between the clans of gold and silver had not closed. Mr. Pangborn and Mr. Corle took the leading part in the argument, while several others joined in on both sides. The chairman did not seem to know what to do, but at last put the motion of Mr. Corle when considerable pressure was brought to bear. The vote was clearly in favor of the majority report, but Mr. Pangborn demanded a vote by ballot. Then arose another verbal storm which the chairman did not quell or even attempt to.

Most of the delegates, now that the question had been put to vote, demanded that it be laid one side and tried to drown the remarks of the speakers with handclapping. At last, someone moved that they proceed with the nominations and on the motion being carried by an overwhelming majority, both sides retired to glare at each other.

There was a feeling among a number of the delegates that the endorsing of the Chicago platform will injure the cause of Democracy in the county. Mr. Pangborn said that it would cost the Democratic ticket many votes in North Plainfield. He was a Democrat, he said, but he wanted to see them win and not injure their cause by an action that was by no means necessary and very injurious to the welfare of the party under the present conditions.

The candidates for the nomination for Surrogate were Dr. Fred Sutphen, of Bernards; George S. Corle, of Hillsboro; George S. Vosseller, of Somerville, and George Anderson, of Somerville. Vosseller finally received the nomination on the fourth ballot. The result of the ballots were as follows:

	1st.	2d.	3d.	4th.
Vosseller	17	23	28	34
Anderson	16	18	18	28
Corle	18	15	16	—
Sutphen	10	6	—	—

The contest for the nomination for Assemblyman came next and J. L. M. DuFour, of South Bound Brook, and John A. Layton, of Bernards, were named. Layton received the nomination on the first ballot receiving 34 votes to DuFour's 28.

After appointing the county executive committee the convention adjourned. North Plainfield's representatives on it were: First district, John Emmons; Second district, Elston M. French; township, Francis Bartles.

YEAR TO THEIR TEENS.

TWELFTH ANNIVERSARY OF TRINITY CHURCH ENDEAVORERS.

No Special Exercises Marked the Occasion, But the Meeting Was Spirtually Helpful—The Standing Committees Announced.

The twelfth anniversary of the Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church was held last evening in the small hall at the Y. M. C. A. building. It was a little unfortunate that the date came just at a time when the affair could not be held in the church, but when improvements are completed at the church there will be another proper recognition of the notable event.

There was a goodly number of the members of the society in attendance last evening and the event was marked with all the pleasantries one could desire. The newly-elected president, H. J. Martin, presided and conducted the interesting exercises which were opened with the singing of "The Light of the World is Jesus." This was particularly appropriate as the lights in the hall went out just at the time. Following this the twenty-third Psalm was repeated in unison, after which F. E. Smith offered prayer. The report of retiring secretary, Miss G. Berg, showed that two members had died during the year, and the membership is about the same as one year ago. The society is, however, in a good healthy spiritual condition and the prospects for the coming year are bright. Fred Ross, retiring treasurer, reported $23 77 in the general fund and $24.63 in the missionary fund. It was reported that the Junior Society now has a membership of sixty and is still growing.

At this point President Martin announced the standing committees as follows: Lookout, Miss Lillie Remson, Miss Ella Fenner, Miss Helen Bogert, William Oliver, J. J. Hewitt; prayer meeting, Mrs. Josie M. Tier, Miss Olive Wikoff, Miss Nettie Kreitling, Miss Mary Berkaw, Howard Wikoff; Sunday-school. Miss Mabelle Wilson, Alfred K. Willett, Miss Nellie Backer, Fred VanHorn, Miss Lizzie Mobus; social, Mrs. H. J. Martin, Mrs. J. E. Townsend, Mrs. Bertha Richards, Miss Corinna Young, Miss Jennie Ross; missionary, Miss Jennie Wyman, Miss Viola Huff, Miss Laura Holder, Miss Bessie Martin, Julius Williams; temperance and good citizenship, Henry Seader, Harry Crawford, Miss L. Bolsterli, Miss Anna Searing. Miss Louise Williams; flower, Miss Maude VanDyke, Miss Martha Anthony, Miss Minnie Berg, Miss Nettie Young, Fred Ross; reception, Samuel Fenner, J. E. Townsend, A. L Force, Miss Grace Berg, Miss May Sheppard; music, Mrs. L. Rosensteihl, Miss Jennie Quick, Miss Cora Dunlap, Miss Cora Laire, Miss Martha Cook. The first one named on each of the above committees, serves as the chairman of the committee. The new officers are: President, H. J. Martin; first vice-president, H W. Marshall; second vice-president, Mrs. F. C. Adams; secretary, Miss Emma Gillem; corresponding secretary, Miss Mabelle Woodruff; treasurer, Charles Dolliver.

A pleasing feature was the charge given to the new officers and committees by the pastor, Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph.D., who spoke words of encouragement and wisdom to those who will guide the affairs of the society during the coming months. His words were listened to attentively. Following the talk given by the pastor, E. E. Anthony, president of the local union, was called upon and he gave a short and interesting address. After the singing of a hymn, the social committee took charge and served all with seasonable refreshments, while sociability reigned supreme among all present. The celebration certainly marks the beginning of a bright and prosperous new year for this society.

Operation On An Eye.

Sometime ago David J. Sisk, engineer at the Walter Scott Printing Machine Works, caught a cinder in his eye, and as time passed on he suffered intensely. Finally a cataract formed on the eye and Mr. Sisk was fearful lest he lose the sight in the eye. He called on Dr. Ard yesterday, and the latter performed an operation, removing the foreign substances. The eye is still very sore and it is necessary to keep it bandaged for the present. Mr. Sisk hopes to go to work in a short time. At present he and his wife are visiting relatives in Brooklyn.

Got a Black Eye While Nutting.

Vincent Meaney, a lad of ten years, and a Daily Press carrier, went after chestnuts yesterday at the Netherwood Farms, and he is now carrying a black eye, the result of a large club falling from the tree and striking him in the face. The injured member is very sore and necessarily has to be bandaged.

BID ADIEU AS A MISS.

RECEPTION TO MISS BARLOW IN HONOR OF APPROACHING MARRIAGE.

Delightful Event in Washington Park Social Circles Given by Mr. and Mrs. William Barlow—Names of Guests Present

A delightful event in the social circles of Washington Park was held last evening at the residence of William Barlow, of Prospect place, when Mr. and Mrs. Barlow gave a reception to their daughter, Miss Grace D. Barlow, in honor of her approaching marriage to Charles Stillman. Mr. Stillman was also welcomed back by his friends after his long absence in the south.

The house was beautifully decorated throughout. The prevailing color of the decorations in the parlor was pink. Pink ribbons decorated with flowers were festooned from the chandelier to the sides of the room and to the windows, forming an enormous fan The library was in scarlet. The fireplace was banked with scarlet sage tied up with scarlet ribbon while an arch of scarlet leaves was arranged over the door. The dining room was decorated in green, which color was also prominent in the handsome table decorations.

Mrs. William Barlow, Miss Grace D. Barlow and Miss Alice A. Barlow received the guests. Mrs. J. O. Osgood and Mrs. Charles Matthews presided over the table in the dining room and were assisted in serving the guests by a number of the friends of the Misses Barlow, among whom were the Misses Alice Thompson, Marion Henderson, Edith Clapp, Adelaide Ball, Mabel VanDeventer, Halla VanDeventer, Elsie Horne, Katheryn Overton, Laura Long, Sarah Long, Elizabeth Hull, Mary Hull, May Wilson, Alice Rushmore and Helen Phillips.

The music for the occasion was furnished by Rogers.

Among those present were: Frank Thompson, Miss Marion Henderson, Miss Ida Cook, Charles Cook, Raymond Cook, of Trenton; Howard Turrill, Percy Long, the Misses Phillips, Albert Sprowl, Henry C. Wells, Miss Edith Clapp, Miss Blanch Miller, the Misses Hull, the Misses Hattie and May Shreve, John Brower, the Misses Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Fred O. Ball, Miss Elsie Horne, Harry L. A YOUNG MAN MISSING.

His Relatives Are Much Exercised Over His Unaccounted for Absence.

The relatives and friends of Charles Jennings are much exercised over the mysterious disappearance of the young man, who has not been seen or heard from since yesterday morning about nine o'clock. Jennings, who is seventeen years of age, lives with his mother, brother and sister at 323 Watchung avenue. He has always been a well-behaved young man and has helped his mother, taking whatever employment he could secure During the summer he was employed at William Tier's ice cream parlors, on Park avenue, but was dismissed about four weeks ago, when the business became slack.

Since that time Jennings has spent his time looking for work, but has failed to secure any. Yesterday morning, after eating breakfast as usual, he left the house saying that he was going to look for work. He seemed in good spirits. When night came he failed to return, and Mrs. Jennings became anxious at his absence. Nothing has since been heard from him. There had been no disagreement between him and his mother, and she is at a loss to account for his disappearance except upon the theory that he met with foul play, or has become mentally deranged and has wandered away, not knowing where he is.

Delegates to Confer.

This evening at the Republican Association rooms on East Front street there will be a meeting of all the delegates to the county convention which were elected last evening in the various wards.

D.O.Tiffany, of Crescent avenue, has entirely recovered from an attack of typhoid fever and is able to attend to business again.

REPUBLICAN HOSTS MET TO MAKE COUNTY DELEGATES WITHOUT A CLASH.

ALL WARDS PLEDGE SUPPORT TO ROGER F. MURRAY.

George T. Parrot the Choice for the Surrogateship—Bytalk in Some Wards Indicated That in the Future There May be a Conflict.

The Republican primaries in the various wards last night to elect delegates to the county convention to be held in Elizabeth next Friday were marked by a unanimity quite remarkable. Not a clash of conflicting forces was noticed in any of the meetings, though among the attendants in some of the bailiwicks there was bytalk of what might in the future make trouble. The delegates elected are all enthusiastically for Roger F. Murray, of the Third ward, for an Assembly candidate, and for George T. Parrot, of Elizabeth, for Surrogate.

FIRST WARD.

Those who attended the First ward primary were not as speedy as the other wards in transacting the business before them, and it was after 8:30 when the business was concluded. Assemblyman W. R. Codington was chosen chairman of the meeting, while J. B. Coward was the secretary. William Addis was judge and Dr. O. L. Jenkins was the inspector. The following Roger Murray ticket was selected for delegates to the county convention: D. S. Dunavan, J. F. Buckle, R. I. Tolles, C. H. Herring, J. E. Flannery, William Douglas, Fred. Stack, Joseph Neil, H. C. VanEmburgh and Fred Beekman. For members of the county committee Charles J. Newman and L. M. Dunavan were elected J. Fred. MacDonald was nominated for a position on the latter committee but failed to receive a sufficient number of votes. There was very little opposition to the regular ticket, which went through easy. The delegates were empowered to fill vacancies, after which the meeting adjourned.

SECOND WARD.

The Second ward primary was held in the Bryant School building and was called to order by Councilman Wm. N. Runyon, as a member of the county executive committee. Henry B. Newhall was made chairman and Edwin B. Frost secretary. The other officers were: Judge of election, Andrew Vanderbeek; tellers, N. Runyon and S. Cahoone.

The following delegates were elected without opposition: M. S. Ackerman, John B. Dumont, J. Hervey Doane, Charles Smith, Robt. Guttridge, Wm. H Drayton, John E. Keeley, Lewis Croom, Edwin B. Frost, William N. Runyon, Joseph. H. Robinson.

After the delegates had been chosen two members of the county executive committee were called for. Wm. N. Runyon, Geo. D. Patton and Vincent W. Nash were nominated. The vote showed that Runyon received 38; Patton, 36, and Nash, 5. The first two were declared elected. After empowering the delegates to fill vacancies the primary adjourned. The delegates favor Roger F. Murray for Assembly and George T. Parrot for Surrogate.

THIRD WARD.

A solid delegation to support the candidacy of Roger F. Murray for the position of Republican Assembly nominee was chosen without opposition at the Third ward primary, last evening, held in the Casino. The meeting was called to order by Roger F. Murray, of the county committee. Mayor Charles J. Fisk was chosen chairman of the meeting and Joseph Sandford secretary. Andrew Gavett was appointed Judge of election, J. W. Murray inspector and Rev. C. L. Goodrich clerk. The selection of delegates to the county convention came next and the following ten men were chosen without opposition: W. T. Kaufman, Ernest R. Ackerman, A. I Littell, J. W. Murray, Jr., Spencer Conway, F. E. Marsh, B. Frank Coriell, G. J. Tobin, J. Frank Hubbard and W. A. Pinto. The delegation was empowered to fill vacancies in its ranks. Roger F. Murray and William T. Kirk were elected members of the county executive committee.

FOURTH WARD.

At the Fourth Ward Primary the largest attendance was recorded and the basement of Reform Hall was packed to suffocation. It was a quiet and orderly crowd and there was no opposition shown to the pre-arranged plan of the leaders. The meeting was called by Councilman W. A. Westphal, after which he was made chairman, and Lawyer W. S. Angleman was selected as secretary. William Claassen made a motion that the members of the county committee and the delegates to the convention be chosen together and the motion prevailed. The following ticket was then nominated and elected by the secretary casting the ballot:

For county committee—James Stewart, Alonzo Ayers; delegates to county convention—George W. DeMeza, Harry C. Runyon, Albert W. Demarest, James H. Stewart, Willam A. Westphal, Albert H. Leivers, Daniel J. Galbraith, Joseph Chapot, William Newcorn, Edward McCray, Robert Lee, Alonzo T. Ayers, John Kavanaugh, Arthur Venable and Frank Nelson.

The delegates were given the power to fill any vacancies on the committee The committee throughout is solid for Roger Murray for the Assembly nomination. F. C. Lounsbury was judge of election, and James Huntington was the inspector.

FANWOOD.

The Republican voters of Fanwood township held their primary in the Knights of Pythias Hall last evening. John Robison was made chairman and E. L. Hand secretary; and Geo. Ball, Wm. Turton, John Robison and Frank Allen were chosen as delegates to the county convention. E. L. Hand and L. W. Miller were named for members of the county executive committee. Thirty-eight votes were cast in the primary.

TOO CANDID FOR OWN GOOD.

CHARGED WITH HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

Theodore Trendle Mistook Strangers for Friends and Playfully Grabbed Their Horse in the Road.

The following introductory paragraph to a story written early this morning shows that things are not always what they seem:

The mystery of the Netherwood holdup of Sunday evening has been solved and happily, too.

Then followed this sentence:

It was a case of mistaken identity.

The rest of the story follows, the last paragraph, added at noon, being a contradiction to the introductory paragraph originally prepared:

The supposed highwayman was no other than Theodore Trendle, of East Front street, a respectable young man with no inclinations toward highway robbery. He was expecting several friends who were coming from the direction of Fanwood in a carriage and so he took the trolley down to Netherwood and decided to wait there in the terrace until his friends showed up and then ride to Plainfield with them.

The reception he received was a genuine surprise. When the driver brought the whip down on the horse's back, he saw the occupants of the carriage were not those that he had been waiting for and so releas d his hold on the bridle and departed from the neighborhood at once.

When he saw the article in The Press last evening, he went to Chief Grant and explained the whole matter and the two had a hearty laugh over Nelson's fright.

Although the city officials are satisfied that Trendle was not a highway man, a complaint was made against him by Sergeant Kiely and the matter will be investigated thoroughly. He was brought before the City Judge and released on $200 bail.

TO AID THE SPEIEKARTENFEST.

St. Joseph's Holy Name Society Pledge Their Aid to the Event

The Holy Name Society, of North Plainfield, held its regular monthly meeting in the society's meeting rooms in the basement of St. Joseph's church on Sunday last. Resolutions were adopted stating that the members would give all the aid in their power to promote the interests of the entertainment to be given in aid of Muhlenberg Hospital, and that the members would attend the performances of the Speiekartenfest during its progress.

A very interesting account was given by J. L. Anderson of his travels through Japan and China Five new members were admitted.

Has Ridden 6,400 Miles.

Peter B. Matthews has returned from a wheeling trip to Philadelphia. He spent several days there with relatives and rode over the famous roads in that vicinity. His trip home was a delightful one and he found the roads in excellent condition. His mileage is now 6,400 miles, which still keeps him in the lead in the mileage contest of the New York Athletic Club. The next highest man is three hundred miles behind.

Chose a New Delegate.

The executive committee of the Woman's Parliamentary Club met Monday afternoon and elected Mrs. Carmon Parse as delegate to the annual meeting of the State Federation of Woman's Clubs, in place of Mrs. Krom, who had been previously elected as delegate by the Town Improvement Association.

SUED FOR $5,000; GOT $62.50.

Street Car Motorman Wanted Heavy Damages for Being Hurt in a Collision.

John J. Foreman, the motorman in the employ of the Plainfield Street Railway who was injured by a collision with one of William O. Baldwin's hay wagons last March, brought suit against Baldwin for damages amounting to $5,000 and yesterday the case came up for trial in the Circuit Court at Elizabeth before Judge Van Sickle and a jury of twelve men.

Foreman is now living in New Brunswick and was represented by Howard McSherry, of that city. Codington & Swackhamer were the counsel for the defence. Foreman tried to prove that his car came to a standstill before the accident and that Baldwin's man ran the heavy pole of the wagon into the headlight of the car, smashing it and striking Foreman on the side confining him to his bed for several weeks and permanently injuring him. The defence tried to show that the car must have been moving to show the horse and mule attached to the places were they were found. They also presented evidence to show that Foreman had been to a dance not long after the accident and was not so badly injured but that he could dance until 2 o'clock in the morning. After being out three hours the jury brought in a verdict of $62 50 for the plaintiff.

Bridge Iron Arrives

The iron for the Sycamore avenue bridge arrived today and will be placed in position at once. On the Watchung avenue bridge the iron work is almost completed.

REV. P. S. GIBSON ARRESTED

CHARGED WITH A SERIOUS OFFENSE.

Complaint Made By the Overseer of the Poor and He is Held Under Bonds For Trial Saturday.

The trouble that has been brewing about Rev. P. S. Gibson, the colored minister of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, has reached a crisis. This morning, Rev. Mr. Gibson was placed under arrest by Chief Grant on the complaint of the overseer of the poor, charged with a serious crime against Lucy Swalm, a young colored woman of this city.

This morning Rev. Mr. Gibson was brought before City Judge DeMeza and held under $200 bonds for trial on Saturday morning. It is understood that the trial will be adjourned until a later day, however.

One of her strongest bits of evidence, Miss Swalm claims, was a package of five letters that she had received from the defendant in which he is alleged to have incriminated himself. Now, however, she cannot produce them, and tells the strange story that they were taken from her by false pretences. Several days ago, she claims, a man dressed in blue like a policeman came and demanded the letters saying that he was a policeman and that the City Judge wanted them. She claims to have given the letters to him.

Codington & Swackhamer are the counsel for Rev. Mr. Gibson. Corporation Counsel will represent the city in the trial.

Wm. L. Smalley, Jr., of Somerset street, is in Somerville on business.

HOLDS LUETGERT'S FATE

The Case of the Chicago Sausage Man in the Jury's Hands.

UPROAR IN THE STREETS

Police Clubs Stop It—The Court House Besieged—An Immense Crowd Eager to Learn the Verdict in the Famous Case.

Chicago, Oct. 19. — The Luetgert wife-murder case is in the hands of the jury, with a good prospect of a disagreement. Up to 11.30 o'clock last night there had been nothing heard from the jury to indicate whether there was a possibility of a verdict before morning. As the jury has been out nearly seven hours, it appears that an agreement is not likely. In betting a disagreement is favored at odds of 2 to 1.

Thousands of persons blocked the streets around the Criminal Court room to-night waiting for the verdict. Men, women and children lined the pavements and street in front of the Madison street entrance until late, and the crowd extended to Dearborn avenue on the east and North Clark on the west.

Deputy sheriffs guarded the entrance to the court, and denied admission except to a few. Sheriff Pease late in the evening issued an order to keep the crowd out of the building, as a demonstration was feared when the verdict was reached. Enough persons got in, however, completely to fill the court room. Only three women were present.

About 9.30 o'clock the crowds in Michigan street were augmented by a score of men from the neighborhood of Luetgert's sausage factory. They were unruly and demanded admission to the court building. This was refused them, but they were so persistent that word was sent upstairs. The deputies at the door, fearing a rush for admission, telephoned to the East Chicago Avenue Police Station for more officers. The struggle drew a crowd which the police on duty were entirely incapable of handling. Capt. Hoffman sent a patrol wagon filled with officers to the scene, and they drew their clubs, and, aided by a score of deputy sheriffs, drove the crowd back.

The friends of Luetgert had by this time been reinforced by about two hundred other persons, but they retreated after a few vigorous applications of the clubs. The mob took up a stand near the middle of the street and jeered the police, while small boys with tin horns added to the discord which swelled from the would-be rioters, who loudly proclaimed their right to enter the courtroom.

BRYAN SPEAKS FOR GEORGE.

Says He Has a Splendid Chance of Being Elected Mayor.

New York, Oct. 19.—An interview with William J. Bryan, printed in the Evansville (Ind.) Courier, was given out at the George headquarters yesterday. It was dated Oct. 8. The interview was as follows:

"Do you think Henry George will be elected Mayor of Greater New York?"

"I think he has a splendid chance of being the next Mayor of New York. He is well known to the people of New York city. The masses believe in him and will support him at the polls. I do not think national issues will cut much figure in the New York election. The fight is on local issues. Personally Mr. George is a magnetic man and has fine executive ability. He will make an excellent Mayor and will inaugurate many reforms in New York city."

SEIZED A SCHOONER..

Treasury Department Holds Her at Norfolk on Suspicion.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 19.—The three-masted schooner Donna T. Briggs, Capt. Gurney, arrived here yesterday morning from the Delaware Breakwater and was boarded by an officer from the Custom House, who, acting under orders from Secretary Gage, of the Treasury Department, took possession of the vessel. She is tied up here now with a customs official aboard awaiting further action on the part of the Washington authorities.

The schooner is suspected of carrying a cargo of ammunition to the Cuban insurgents from Punta Gorda, Fla., some time ago. She was searched at Lewes, Del., and again here, but nothing was found to convict her of filibustering. She is here ostensibly to load with oyster shells for Buzzard's Bay. Capt. Gurney is indignant over the detention of his vessel, and threatens to proceed against the Government for damages. He and his crew are at liberty.

Presidential Appointments.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19.—Appointments made by the President yesterday were as follows: Frank C. Partridge, of Vermont, Consul at Tangier, Morocco; Chester W. Martin, of Michigan, Consul at Amherstburg, Ontario, and Joseph I. Brittain, of Ohio, Consul at Nantes, France.

Mr. Partridge, who was appointed as Consul at Tangier, Morocco, is well known in diplomatic circles, having represented this country during the Harrison Administration as Minister to Venezuela. He is said to be suffering considerably from ill health, which accounts for his going to Tangier, as he hopes the change may be of benefit to him.

Attorney to Prosecute Reeder.

Easton, Pa., Oct. 19.—The request of District-Attorney James W. Fox that he be allowed to have a Deputy District-Attorney in the conspiracy case against Gen. Reeder, Assemblyman Weiss and M. C. Luckenbach has been granted by Judge Scott. Mr. Fox has named W. E. Doster, of Bethlehem, one of the most conspicuous lawyers at the bar and a man of wide experience. The selection has been approved by the court.

Palmer the Victor.

London, Oct. 19.—The fight between "Peddler" Palmer, bantam-weight champion of England, and "Dave" Sullivan, of Boston, for a purse of $3,500, a side bet of $1,000 and the championship took place last night at the National Sporting Club. Palmer won in twenty rounds.

REAR ADMIRAL WORDEN DEAD.

Celebrated Commander of the Monitor Passes Away in Washington.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Rear-Admiral John Lorimer Worden, retired, U. S. N., died in this city yesterday. He was retired in 1886 with the thanks of Congress.

John Lorimer Worden was born in Westchester County, New York, on March 12, 1818. He entered the navy as a midshipman on Jan. 12, 1835. He served on various vessels until the war broke out. In April, 1861, he carried the orders of the Secretary of the Navy which saved Fort Pickens, and while returning to the North overland was captured and held a prisoner by the Confederates for seven months. On his exchange he was ordered to New York to superintend the completion of Ericsson's Monitor and to take command of her. He took the vessel to Hampton Roads, where the ironclad Merrimac had been wreaking havoc with the Federal fleet. Early in the morning of March 9, 1862, the two vessels met. It was the first battle of ironclads the world had ever seen.

Worden was wounded by the explosion of a shell in the pilot house at 11 o'clock, and Lieut. Greene took his place. The battle was drawn, but the United States fleet was rescued, and the plans of the Confederates to wreak further havoc with the Merrimac were destroyed. Congress gave Worden a vote of thanks for his gallant services. He was commissioned commander and subsequently became a captain. During the remainder of the war he was in active service in the blockading squadrons.

In 1866-67 he commanded the Pensacola on the Pacific station. He was promoted to commodore on May 27, 1868, and rear-admiral on Nov. 20, 1872.

VICTIM OF THE KLONDIKE.

Henry B. Tucker, of Troy, Dies on His Way to the Gold Fields.

Troy, Oct. 19.—Henry B. Tucker, son of Henry O'Reilly Tucker, proprietor of the Troy Press, is a victim of the Klondike fever. Word was received in this city yesterday of Mr Tucker's death on Sept. 11 at Minooc Creek, Alaska. While following the trail near Rampart City with several companions Mr. Tucker was taken ill. The little party spent two nights and days in the woods, and then turned back towards Rampart City. They had not gone far before Mr. Tucker fell from exhaustion. When picked up by his companions a few moments later he was dead. Tucker was only 25 years old, and was one of the best-known and most popular young men in Troy. He was graduated from Yale College in the class of '94, and soon afterward became assistant to his father in the conduct of the Troy Press. When the news of the Klondike gold discoveries reached Troy he was fired with an ambition to try his fortune in that region, and on July 27 left for the West. On Aug. 5 he sailed for Alaska, and on Aug. 18 he sailed up the Yukon on the steamer St. Michael, purchased by him and sixty others.

It is believed by his many friends here that Mr. Tucker was murdered for his money. He carried a large sum with him, and it is supposed that he excited the cupidity of the desperately hard-up miners, who attacked and killed him for gain. The remains will be brought here for burial.

THE LOSS OF THE TRITON.

Estimated that Not Less Than 150 Were Drowned.

Havana, Cuba, Oct. 19.—With the return of the gunboat Maria Cristina and a tug, bringing forty-two survivors of the wreck of the coasting steamer Triton, which sank on Saturday morning between Dominica and Mariel, the following details of the disaster are made known:

The Triton struck the rock during a heavy rainstorm. Her cargo shifted, and fifteen minutes later she sank in 120 fathoms of water. The first boat that was lowered was overturned immediately, and all its occupants were drowned. The next was struck by a wave and turned over, drowning twenty; but the craft righted again, and eight, who had been thrown out, regained it.

It is impossible to give the exact number of those who were lost, but it is estimated that they were not less than 150. No passenger list has been found.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The Woman's Home Mission Society of Grace M. E. church will meet at the home of Mrs. Stevens, on Grandview avenue, Thursday afternoon, for the purpose of quilting.

—Miss Marion Short, reciter and impersonator, who is to appear at the entertainment of the Plainfield Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar Club in the Monroe Avenue Baptist church, is very highly spoken of wherever she has appeared as an artist of rare ability.

Those who believe chronic diarrhœa to be incurable should read what Mr. P. E. Crisham, of Gaars Mills, La., has to say on the subject, viz.: "I have been a sufferer from chronic diarrhœa ever since the war and have tried all kinds of medicines for it. At last I found a remedy that effected a cure and that was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy." This medicine can always be depended upon for colic, cholera morbus, dysentery and diarrhœa. It is pleasant to take and never fails to affect a cure. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Edward F. Randolph, of West Front street, is severely ill at his home.

Miss Lissa Livezey, of Prospect avenue, is visiting friends at Pottsville, Pa.

Samuel Hull, of Madison avenue, has returned from a short visit with out-of-town friends.

Croup Quickly Cured.

MOUNTAIN GLEN, Ark.—Our children were suffering with croup when we received a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It afforded almost instant relief.—F. A. Thornton. This celebrated remedy is for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Fred Bettman, of Washington Park, has accepted a position in New York city.

A pain in the chest is nature's warning that pneumonia is threatened. Dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind over the seat of pain, and another on the back between the shoulders, and prompt relief will follow. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Miss Jessie Saxton, of East Fourth street, is enjoying a visit with friends at Yonkers, N. Y.

Richard Randolph, of West Eighth street, spent Sunday with relatives at Stelton.

The Grandest Remedy.

Mr. R. B. Greeve, merchant, of Chilhowie, Va., certifies that he had consumption, was given up to die, sought all medical treatment that money could procure, tried all cough remedies he could hear of, but got no relief; spent many nights sitting up in a chair; was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery, and was cured by use of two bottles. For past three years has been attending to business, and says Dr. King's New Discovery is the grandest remedy ever made, as it has done so much for him and also for others in his community. Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed for Coughs, Colds and Consumption. It don't fail. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00.

Councilman William A. Westphal was in Trenton yesterday on business.

Something to Know.

It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centres in the stomach, gently stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50c or $1.00 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

SUPREME COURT DECISION.

The Government Recovers 700,000 Acres of Land.

Washington, Oct. 19.—The long-pending controversy between the United States and the Southern Pacific Railway Company over 700,000 acres in land in Southern California was decided yesterday in the Supreme Court in favor of the United States, Mr. Justice Harlan announcing the opinion. The land was embraced in the grant made to the Atlantic & Pacific Railway Company and identified by its map of definite location, filed and accepted by the Interior Department in 1872. The land was also included within the limits of the grant made to the Southern Pacific Company, the two roads overlapping at that point. The Southern Pacific Company claimed that the maps filed by the Atlantic & Pacific Company, were maps of general route, not of definite location; therefore that the forfeiture act of 1886 did not reach, and that they became embraced within the Southern Pacific grant by the failure of the Atlantic & Pacific to perfect its title by building the road. All these contentions, Justice Harlan said, had been adjudicated and settled in favor of the government by previous litigation between the parties, and the title of the government to the land was broadly sustained. As to the lands of the 280 individual defendants who had purchased in good faith from the railway company of lands already patented by the Interior Department, the Supreme Court gave the United States the right to go into the court below and prosecute its claims to a final decree.

REFUSED TO EXTRADITE GUERRA.

Secretary Sherman Says Offences He Is Accused of Are Political.

Washington, Oct. 19.—The attempt of Galixio Garza to overthrow the Diaz Government in 1892 was recalled yesterday by the refusal of Secretary Sherman to grant the request of the Mexican authorities for the extradition of Jesus Guerra, one of Garza's men. Guerra was arrested in this country in the year of the insurrectionary movement and confined in San Antonio. He was accused of crimes other than political, and held to await the action of the Federal authorities. A United States District Court released him on a writ of habeas corpus, whereupon the Mexican Government took the case to the United States Supreme Court and secured a reversal of the proceedings on the ground that they were irregular. The case then went back to the original jurisdiction, and Guerra was again held on the action of the State Department. Secretary Sherman's refusal was based on the ground that the offences of which Guerra were alleged to be guilty were political, and that there was not sufficient evidence to support the non-political charges.

KILLED BY AN APPLE.

Was in a Cyclist's Pocket When He Was Thrown.

Bridgeport, Ct., Oct. 19.—George Hall, one of the best-known cyclists in the city, is lying dead at his home here today. His death is a terrible warning against the danger of carrying any hard substance in one's pocket when wheeling or taking any other violent exercise.

Hall was killed by an apple which he carried in his breast pocket. He fell from his wheel. The apple struck his heart and he died almost instantly.

His death is the strangest ever known here. Every one is talking about it and wondering at it, except the doctors. They are fully aware of the dangers of carrying hard objects about the body in close proximity to a vital part. Medical works record many cases of death through such objects, the majority, as in Hall's case, being the result of falls.

The danger is especially great in the case of wheelmen, who are apt to tumble heavily to the ground at any moment. A lead pencil in the vest pocket is one of the most dangerous things that can be carried. If one falls on it at a certain angle it is almost sure to pierce the heart or lungs, inflicting a fatal wound. It is as dangerous when carried in the trousers pocket.

Hall's family are in great grief over the accident. Hall was only 18 years old.

AMERICAN INSOLENCE.

Bismarck Reported as Saying that the Monroe Doctrine Is an Outrage.

(Cable Dispatch to the New York Sun.)

Leipzig, Oct. 19.—The Neuesten Nachrichten, in an article which purports to have been written by Prince Bismarck, incidentally attacks the Monroe doctrine as a piece of exceptional insolence to the remainder of the world and an outrage on the other American nations and European nations with interests on the American continent. It adds:

"It would be analogous to this instance of American presumption if Russia asserted in Europe or Great Britain in Asia similar pretensions on those continents."

Big Increase in Wages.

Providence, R. I., Oct. 19.—The managers of the Riverside, Weybosset Manton and Lymansville mills announced yesterday that they would increase the wages of their operatives on Dec. 1 to the basis of the schedule of 1893. This step was taken without any demand from the operatives, but was expected after it was known that the big National mills had decided to go back to the 1893 schedule. The other big woolen mills also are expected to fall into line. In some instances the advance will be between 20 and 30 per cent.

ANNEXATION PROPOSED

Desire of the Conservative Business Men of Cuba.

TO PETITION WASHINGTON

Think Life and Property Will Be More Secure Under the Stars and Stripes than in an Island Republic—Sagasta's Plan.

Matanzas, Cuba, via Key West, Fla., Oct. 19.—The business element here, in Havana and elsewhere seem to have concluded that the Madrid Government cannot end the war by granting autonomy to Cuba, as among the autonomists who are loyalists there are not sufficient persons to hold public office. At least, that is the claim the conservative Spaniards make. In addition, the latter say that the autonomists, even if they were placed in power, would not be able to preserve peace and protect life and property from the lawless elements.

In view of this state of affairs, a number of important merchants and sugar planters of Spanish origin, in conjunction with several Cubans of prominence, have been holding secret meetings, and have been corresponding with people in various parts of the island with the object of ascertaining the views of the commercial and planting community in Pinar del Rio, Havana, Matanzas and Santa Clara as to the future for Cuba, most likely to further their interests and those of the island in general. It is expected that the majority of the replies received will be favorable to annexation to the United States, as the Washington Government alone apparently is able to guarantee peace and the protection of life and property. As soon as it is ascertained that the sentiment of the persons appealed to is in favor of annexation a committee will be sent to the United States with instructions to lay the case of Cuba before business men of prominence and ask the latter to unite with the business men of Cuba in a petition to the Washington Government for annexation. The failure of the conservatives to suppress the insurrection by force of arms, and the impossibility of the liberals ending the war by establishing an autonomous form of government will be pointed out.

The plan of Premier Sagasta to give autonomy to Cuba, far from giving satisfaction here, has greatly increased the feeling of discontent. The autonomist party, it is pointed out, exists only in name, the actual majority of the autonomists being in the insurgent ranks, and, with the exception possibly of Senor Montoro and a few others, the masses of that party are in sympathy with the insurgents. Consequently the Spanish Government, which has consulted Senor Montoro on the subject, is finding great difficulty in obtaining even the suggestion of names of autonomists to fill offices. It would be imprudent, it is added, to give such offices to the party known as reformists, as the more influential Spaniards hate them, and the adoption of such a policy would mean rioting and even worse; besides, the masses of the resident Spaniards are strongly anti-autonomists, and there is little or no prospect of making them change their minds.

Recognizing the difficulty of the task before Senor Sagasta, it is not regarded as astonishing that the business community in Cuba is exchanging views on the subject of annexation to the United States, especially as a general uprising of the Spanish elements is feared if the Spanish Government persists in pushing its autonomist policy, business men believing that autonomy is only the first step towards independence, and the feeling of the commercial classes being that annexation and the consequent safeguards to life and property is far preferable to the establishment of a new republic in Cuba.

SURGEON-GENERAL DEAD.

President's Family Physician Just Appointed to Succeed Tryon.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Medical Director Newton L. Bates, who was the private physician of the President and who was two weeks ago appointed Surgeon-General of the Navy, died at 9.15 o'clock yesterday morning. He had been ill for some time and took the oath of office while in his bed.

A fatal termination of his illness was not expected. His indisposition was such, however, as to prevent him from entering on the exercise of official duties. Dr. Bates attended Mr McKinley when he was in the House of Representatives, and when he entered the White House the physician was assigned to duty there. When the President and Mrs. McKinley heard of the sudden death of Dr. Bates they sent a large bunch of roses to the house and the President sent a note of sympathy to Mrs. Bates.

It is practically assured that the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Bates will be filled by the appointment of Medical Director Rufus Tryon. Dr. Tryon was Surgeon-General for four years prior to the appointment of Dr. Bates.

KILLED IN A PRIZE FIGHT.

Frank Kozewski Knocked Out Near Buffalo by Edward Voll.

Buffalo, Oct. 19.—A blow over the heart, delivered by Edward Voll in a prize fight, has resulted in the death of Frank Kozewski. The fight between the men took place Saturday night at Homestead Park, Depew, just beyond the Buffalo city line.

Kozewski was knocked out in the twelfth round. He was carried unconscious to his dressing room and died at 8 o'clock Sunday morning. Voll was arrested.

His death makes another in the growing list of those killed in prize fights. The most prominent case was that of "Con" Riordan, whom the retired champion, Fitzsimmons, killed at Syracuse. Another fatality was that which followed a bout at the Broadway Athletic Club.

Lord Salisbury Will Stay.

London, Oct. 19.—Lord Salisbury telegraphs from Hatfield House denying the report that he desires to resign the offices of Prime Minister and Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs. He declares that there is no truth whatever in the statement.

It was rumored that Lord Salisbury was tired of the exactions of the work and its effect upon his health.

IS GOLF A SPORT OR NOT?

The question whether golf is a private amusement in the same category with cards and checkers, or a sport, as cycling and baseball are understood to be, is discussed by members of the Essex Country Club, and pending the final decision the golf committee of the club has issued orders that the scores of all players who participate in the monthly club tournaments at Hutton Park links are to be protected from publicity, and that the custodians of the links are to watch for reporters with the same vigilance that they would for a mole burrowing in one of the new putting greens. The Essex Club ought not to be so foolish.

The Middlesex Democratic county convention will be held in New Brunswick on Thurrday. There is some talk that D. C. Chase, of South Amboy, will be the nominee for State Senator. In that event it is thought that William C. Jaques, the President of the Board of Aldermen, of New Brunswick, will be the candidate for Surrogate. The present incumbent, Andrew H. Furman, it is understood, will not run again in the event of the nomination of Mr. Chase for State Senator, as they both are from the same town.

AUTUMNAL NUPTIAL EVENT.

Marriage of Lawyer Williams and Miss Lottie E. Coriell.

A happy autumnal nuptial event was celebrated at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius B. Coriell, 63 Somerset street, when their daughter, Miss Lottie E., was joined in wedlock to W. Gordon Williams, Esq. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. C. O'Donnell in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties.

The house was prettily decorated for the occasion, the marriage taking place in a corner of the parlor. The bride was attired in a handsome green traveling dress. She carried a bouquet of roses. After congratulations had been extended the guests sat down to a wedding dinner.

The couple will leave this afternoon to spend two weeks in Maine. On their return they will reside with the bride's parents.

Mr. Williams is one of the rising young lawyers of the city, and though he has been established a comparatively short time, his practice is already quite large.

The bride is a popular young woman in the social circles in which she moves.

Larger Letter Boxes.

Seven large and improved letter boxes have arrived at the postoffice and will be placed between Grove street and Watchung avenue, on Front street, to take the place of the smaller boxes which will be erected in the outlying districts. The only thing that causes the delay in putting the boxes up is the failure in having the posts for them erected. One box will be stationed on the corner by the City National Bank, another one at the corner of Front and Somerset streets, and another at the corner of Watchung avenue and Front street. The others will be changed so that they will be convenient.

Miss Winton, daughter of Senator Winton, of Paterson, will be a guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Anthony, of West Front street, on Wednesday of this week, and her many friends in Plainfield will try to induce her to stay a week at least. Miss Winton is an active worker in the Christian Endeavor Society of the State.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent Cough Remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form.—The Banner of Liberty, Libertytown, Maryland. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

FIRE IN A LETTER BOX.

Discovered by Carrier Bauersachs—Probably the Work of Boys.

It is a serious thing to fool with letter boxes and when offenders are caught the penalty is usually severe. The first case of this kind was reported by Carrier Bauersachs yesterday afternoon after he had made a collection from the box at the corner of Grandview avenue and Somerset street. Mr. Bauersachs found the box full of ashes and paper mixed with the regular mail matter. An examination proved that the mail in the box was not damaged. The work was evidently that of boys who were playing about the place burning leaves and paper.

The matter was reported to Superintendent of Carriers J. B. Whitenack, and an investigation will be made. If the offenders are caught they will no doubt be severely punished by the postal authorities.

Smalley Sells to Smalley.

The meat business on Somerset street conducted by N. B. Smalley, has been purchased by Jedediah M. Smalley. The latter will give up his market on Park avenue and devote his entire time to the Somerset street market.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by druggists, price 75c per bottle.

DRUM CORPS HOLD A FAIR

THE ATTRACTIONS ARE NUMEROUS.

Young Lady Friends are Able Assistants at the Various Tables—Those That Are Actively in Charge.

The attraction at Washington Hall this week is the fair being held under the auspices of the Independent Fife and Drum Corps for their benefit. It opened last evening under favorable circumstances. The boys have worked hard to arrange the hall in an attractive manner and they have succeeded admirably. The committee in charge consists of J. V. Beekman, chairman; H G. Adams, secretary; Isaac Squiers, treasurer; Frank Manchester, J. H. Adams, Lambert Bodine, Daniel Force, W. C. Force, Frank Blatz and David Bodine, while the whole corps acts as a committee of one in assisting. One side of the hall is well taken up with a long table artistically arranged with fancy articles of every description, which is in charge of Miss Maggie Sheppard, Miss Carrie Weaver, Miss Amy Hyer, Miss Bolsterli. The candy table is presided over by Mrs. Frank Manchester and Miss Hoffman.

On the other side of the room is an attraction in the form of throwing the rings to capture the canes. This is in charge of W. Force, while Frank Manchester looks after the collection of babies, at which the merry crowd throw baseballs. The shooting gallery is well taken care of by Jas. Stryker. John Rolsterli, Lambert Bodine and Samuel Terry, Jr., make a good committee behind the soft drink counter. During the evening there is dancing, music for which is furnished by O'Reilly. The committee in charge of the floor for dancing consists of Daniel Force and Isaac Squiers.

The attendance last evening was excellent, considering it was the first night. Other attractions will be offered during the rest of the week, and all who attend will find no trouble in passing a very pleasant time.

—Tickets for the coming entertainment of the Plainfield Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar Club, which will be given in the Monroe Avenue church, can be obtained from members of the Young Men's Association of the church, or from Adam Neuman.

Open till nine Saturday evening.

"Have You a Piano?"

Ask the question of any home owner, and if the answer is "No" it will almost surely be followed by "But we're thinking of getting one."

Scarcely anybody who doesn't mean to get a Piano some time. At least half a dozen of our buyers during the last ten days have been 'thinking of geting one" for some years past. Been to our warerooms lots of times, but this great October Piano Sale did it.

"Save $50" means a lot to most people It has meant a PIANO to many so far this month; it will yet mean that to many more.

WESTFIELD

VICTORY FOR MACHINE.

REGULAR TICKET WINS EASILY AT G. O. P. PRIMARY.

L. M. Whitaker Elected to County Committee—Presbyterian Mission Band's Entertainment—Other Items of Interest.

The Republican primary was held in Etta Hall last night, and the result was a victory for the machine ticket, which was elected by a majority of fifty-three votes. The attendance was large, as the leaders of both factions made an extra effort to get out the votes. The primary was called to order by Charles B. Peddie, chairman of the township executive committee. The call for the primary was read by Clerk Morehouse. The two tickets were read and the polls were opened. The vote resulted in 187 ballots for the regular ticket and 124 for the opposition. Howard Manning, George W. Peek and Charles Denman acted as tellers. The following were elected: For members of the county executive committee, Charles N. Codding and Luther M. Whitaker; for delegates to the county convention, Wellington Morehouse, Dr. R R. Sinclair, J. A. Simpson, A. K. Gale, Appleton Morgan, F. C. Decker, Hiram L. Fink, J. J. Coger, Ezra Bloodgood, Arthur S. Flagg, Wallace and A. Kaylor; and for members of township executive committee, Charles B. Peddie, Isaac Seeley, J. T. Pierson, W. J. Bogert, C. C. Dilts, Martin Welles, G. E. Gilmore, T. M. K. Mills, C. H. Denman, H. C. Cook, Freeman Bloodgood, C. A. Smith, C. G. Endicott, C. P. Wilcox and R. P. Grant.

A large audience gathered in the lecture rooms of the Presbyterian church last night to witness the entertainment given by Miss Anna D. Cooper under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Mission Band. Tennyson's story of "Guinevere" was given in tableaux with readings from the poem by Miss Anna D. Cooper. The little song, "Late, Too Late!" by Miss Carrie L. Dawes, was well received. Miss Anna Louise Harrison next gave a recitation, "The Romance of the Ganges," a poem by Elizabeth Barrett Browning, was illustrated by tableaux, while Miss Cooper gave readings of selected parts of the poem. A male quartette sang, "Way Down Yenda in de Cornfield." A laughable piece, entitled "Looking Backward," was sung by Miss Minnie Reger and Roland Randolph. Those who took part in the tableaux were the Misses Minnie Lynde, Sophie Condit, Belle Morrow, Susie Titus, Emma Reed, Bessie French, Jane Goodwin and Carrie Dawes.

Two Kinds of Stores.

There probably always will be two kinds of stores. One kind is conducted in the belief that the way to win trade is to make the store the best one for people to come to. In the other kind of store all attention is given to specious methods of drawing trade and little concern given to the interests of customers when they come.

The First Kind is Our Kind.

We do not believe that any drug store can offer any worthy inducements other than excellence of service and fairness of prices. Such an inducement has built our trade and will continue to build it.

TALE OF LOVE IN TABLEAUX.

CHARMING EXPLOITATION OF "EMMA"

Miss Luckey Read the Story as the Tableaux Were Presented by Appropriately Costumed Young Women.

A quaint, old fashioned love story was the foundation of a delightful entertainment that was given in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church last evening by the Young Ladies' Mission Band of the Presbyterian church. It consisted of readings and tableaux from Jane Austen's story, "Emma."

The story, somewhat shortened to suit the evening, was read by Miss Mary A. Luckey, while a series of twenty-four tableaux were given to illustrate the different situations. Miss Luckey read the story in an intelligent and pleasing manner. The characters in the narrative were represented in the tableaux by the following:

Emma Woodhouse	Miss Harriet Gardner
Jane Fairfax	Miss Gertrude Hazeltine
Miss Bates	Miss Harriet Goddard
Mrs. Bates	Miss Matie Stiles
Mrs. Goddard	Miss Laura Lovell
Mrs. Elton	Miss Constance Patton
Harriet Smith	Miss Ellen Vanderwort
Mr. Woodhouse	John F. Harman
Mr. Knightley	W. T. Kaufman
Frank Churchill	Frank Frost
Mr. Elton	D. M. VanVliet

The story went back a century in the life of England. The action was quiet, but sufficient to hold the interest of the audience. The story was that of a fair would-be match-maker, "Emma," who after the usual mistakes, suddenly found herself in love with Mr. Knightley, when her protege, Harriet Smith, had confided to her that she, (Harriet), was in love with him and was sure he would return the affection. That only came toward the last, but the audience could see what was coming for some time previous. Of course, it all came out right in the end, and the story closed with a charming tableau in the Woodhouse's garden.

Miss Emily Tracy was chairman of the committee in charge of the entertainment, while Mrs. I. W. Travell was in charge of the stage.

A sale of candy and cake followed, the committee in charge of which consisted of the Misses Lillian Oakley, chairman; Bessie Blair, Ethel Holmes, Josephine Petrie, Lulu Patton, Mabel Bonnell, Helen Boice and Mary Brunson.

GOT IN THROUGH THE CELLAR.

Daring Robbery Committed in Park Avenue Last Night.

Burglars last night entered the bicycle store of Mrs. Rosa Frucht, at 152 Park avenue, corner of Second street, and carried off a quantity of stock. The invaders gained an entrance to the store by opening the iron cellar doors in front of the store of A. B. Contrelli, next door on Park avenue. They then descended into the cellar and by means of a connecting door, which was open, they reached the cellar of the Frucht establishment. The door leading from the cellar to the store was nailed, and the burglars were obliged to force it open, which they easily did.

Once inside the store, they made for the money drawer, and, finding it locked, they broke it open with a jimmy. No cash had been left in the drawer, however, and the intruders were compelled to look over the stock and select something which they could make use of. A hasty examination of the store, which Mr. Frucht made on discovering the burglary, revealed the fact that a number of revolvers and some bicycle sundries had been taken. The stock in the store is very large, so that it is difficult to ascertain exactly what goods are missing. A lighted lantern was found in the cellar by Mr. Frucht, which the burglars had evidently been using in their operations.

BEET SUGAR BOOM.

THE NEW TARIFF WILL HELP AMERICAN PRODUCERS.

All the Raw Sugar Used by American Refineries May in time be Raised by Our Farmers—Hot, Arid Districts the Best for Beet Growing.

The men interested in the beet sugar industry believe that the new tariff will boom that industry, and that ultimately all the raw sugar refined in this country will be produced here. This means great profits for the farmers and the upbuilding of a great industry.

Experience has shown that by far the most favorable localities in the United States for the industry are in the arid regions where the weather s not too cold, where the land is suitable, where there is a long period of sunshine each year, and where there is water for irrigation. There is no doubt that the ideal place for carrying on this industry successfully is in the irrigated valleys of the arid region. There is always water to give the plants when they need it, and the ripening and harvesting seasons in the fall are dry and the winter is mild, so that the beets can be worked up n the factories without the great expense of protecting them in pits. For these reasons the factories in New Mexico, for instance, can run from 140 to 150 days in the year with more safety than the factories in France and Germany and in other parts of Europe or the northern parts of the United States can run 90 days. The average length of the campaign, as it is called in Europe and Nebraska, is about eighty-five to ninety days. In California, owing to climatic condtions, the length of the campaign is about 120 days.

In that part of the arid region most suitable for the cultivation of sugar beets there are at least 300 clear days in the year. Even two or three days of fog will take much sugar out of the beets. Sugar is principally carbon and oxygen. The leaves of the beets absorb these things and store them up in the beet.

Beet sugar factories are at present established in Nebraska, and have been fairly successful. One has been established by the Mormons in Utah. This has been running six years, and has been very successful. There are two in California, not very far from San Francisco, which have been running several years, and have done well. The largest of these is owned by Mr. Spreckels and his friends, and it has been very profitable. It produces raw or unrefined sugar which it sells to the American Sugar Refining Company in San Francisco. At Clino, Cal., there is a very large plant capable of working 1,000 tons of beets daily. There is a factory in Pecos Valley, N. M., which was completed in November, 1896, and has been very successful for a first year.

Sugar beets cannot be raised by careless farming. The proper seed must be provided. The land must be of the proper quality and all the work must be done with the greatest care. It usually requires two or three years for the intelligent cultivator to produce a maximum crop, but after the farmer gets used to it there is no trouble in producing the right kind of beets under proper natural conditions. It will be only a short time before our farmers are as well able to do it properly as they are able in France and Germany.

So far as the profits of the business are concerned the fundamental thing is to get beets rich in sugar and not contaminated with deleterious salts, which ruinously interfere with the manufacture of raw sugar. For instance, a factory capable of working 100,000 tons of beets in a season or campaign and using beets running 16 per cent. in sugar, could make a profit of 20 per cent. on the investment, where the same factory working on 14 per cent. beets would make nothing. The factory working on 16 per cent. beets would get 2,000 tons more sugar than it would working on 14 per cent. beets, and at practically the same cost. The 2,000 extra tons of sugar would be worth at least $160,000.

The cultivation of sugar beets in the proper localities is extremely profitable to the farmer in the Pecos valley. They receive $4 a ton for beets running 14 per cent. in sugar, and 25 cents a ton more for each extra 1 per cent., so that a farmer raising 16 per cent. beets would get $4.50 a ton with no extra expense to himself. After two or three years' experience a farmer can safely count on growing twelve tons an acre, which at $4.50 a ton, would be $54 an acre. The total expense, including fair wages for himself, would not exceed $30 an acre for the beets delivered at the place of payment. The crop is always contracted for by the factories before it is raised, so that the farmer knows exactly what he will get and he knows he will get it in money without any discounts or commission.—New York Sun.

NOTES OF INTEREST.

All birds when perched on trees or bushes serve as weathercocks, as they invariably arrange themselves with their heads to the wind.

In certain parts of China the young women wear their hair in a long, single plait, with which is intertwined a strand of bright scarlet thread, which denotes them to be marriageable.

It has often puzzled the uninitiated why musicians tune their instruments in public, and not before they enter the orchestra. If they manipulated them before entering the theatre or concert-room, they might find the temperature different in the place of performance, and the instruments would not be in tune.

Happy Lives.

Are Lives of Happy Living, and Thus 'Tis Well That You Should Know How This Can be.

In Plainfield there is many a happy home. Perhaps you know of some, or better still, it may be that you rest your head at night in one yourself. Then again there is many an unhappy fellow creature in your midst. 'Tis not surprising that this should be the case, when one thinks of the burdens some backs are forced to bear. If yours is not the back that bears the burden, still we think you should be glad to lend a helping hand to lighten another. Let us show you how it can be done, and at the same time tell a story of Plainfield life that will prove this aid can easily be given.

Mrs. Valentine Utzinger, of 75 Grandview avenue, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for the last six years. I doctored and used various kinds of medicines with little or no result. I had almost a constant sharp, darting pain across my back and if I over exerted myself or took cold I suffered severely. I always felt it most when the weather was damp. There was also a kidney weakness which was very distressing and inconvenient. While in this condition I saw Doan's Kidney Pills recommended highly and I was induced to try them. My son brought me home a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. I started to use them at once, following directions closely. They helped the pain in my back and relieved my other difficulty. I give all the credit for this relief to Doan's Kidney Pills for they are beyond a doubt a grand medicine for kidney trouble. I have recommended them to a number of my friends and will continue to do so."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

The Tables Turned.
We have almost solved the servant girl problem.
Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.
The tables are turned, and we have turned them.
We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.
Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,
Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "
What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

Better Read Our Carpet Ad.
—while all our "store news" aims to interest you, not in fancy words, but in prices that tell values, this carpet story is rare indeed.
A 37 years' experience tells us how to buy popular patterns in reliable weaves—enormous purchases before tariff rise lets us put prices lower than they've ever been before—and the two floors given over to floor coverings mean a big stock for you to pick from.

OUT OF HER TRANCE.

For Four Days a Connecticut Girl Was Unconscious.

Waterbury, Ct., Oct. 19.—After remaining in a state of suspended animation for four and a half days, Elizabeth Callahan was awakened at midnight on Sunday night.

The young woman is the daughter of James F. Callahan. When 10 years old she was stricken with typhoid fever, and since then she has shown a very pronounced nervousness, which has increased.

The girl, who is 22 years old and very pretty, was employed under her uncle, superintendent of the Welch Hosiery Mills, at Waterville. She is a member of Ivy Temple, the woman's branch of the local Knights of Pythias. She was placed in charge of the "degree team."

She drilled the "team" on Wednesday night, and arrived home at 11.30 completely exhausted. When her mother went to awaken her the next morning she got no response. A second time she went to the room, and found her daughter unconscious, and summoned Dr. H. G. Anderson.

He pronounced the case nervous hysteria. Although the patient was insensible to any sound, the slightest touch of a finger even on the back of her hand caused a convulsive movement of all the muscles of the body. A touch on the foot or on any sensitive portion of the body produced more pronounced convulsions.

During the coma the girl's appearance was that of a dead person. The skin was shrunken and absolutely colorless. The limbs were rigid, the only sign of life being a convulsive catching of the breath at long intervals.

A PHYSICAL WRECK.

An Actress and Former Society Belle in a New York Hospital.

New York, Oct. 19.—Bettina Gerard, the actress, is in Bellevue Hospital. She is registered on the books as Betty Schuyler. She is a physical wreck, and the attending physicians have grave doubts as to her recovery.

Betty Gerard's father, Gen. Albert Ordway, of Washington, is connected with the Ordnance Department. Miss Ordway made her social debut in Washington. Since then her career has been marked with several marriages and divorces. She became a member of the Conreid Opera Company, and later appeared as a jockey in the play entitled "In Old Kentucky."

Lehmann Will Coach Harvard.

Cambridge, Oct. 19.—Two new athletic announcements of importance are just now interesting the student body. The first is that Coach Lehmann is expected here on Nov. 3. He will be accompanied by Henry Willis, a well-known oarsman, who rowed in the Eton eight when at school and has rowed No. 3 in the Leander crew for two years.

The other item of news is the fact that it has been definitely decided to send the baseball nine on a Southern trip during the Spring vacation next April. This is done in order to give the men experience and training at a time when the weather does not permit advantageous out-door practice here.

Hanna Confident of Success.

Cleveland, Oct. 19.—Two weeks from to-day the Ohio campaign will be over. Republican managers here are confident of the election of the State ticket and the control of the General Assembly, thus insuring the election of Chairman M. A. Hanna to a seat in the United States Senate. A number of big gatherings have been planned before the day of election. Senator Hanna is back from his four-weeks tour of the State, and is cheerful and confident. He will be busy making speeches until November.

Put Out the Fire with Milk.

New Haven, Ct., Oct. 19.—Farmer George I. Platt of Milford held back a fire in the cellar of his colonial house early yesterday morning by pouring several big cans of milk on it. If the milk had not been handy the farmhouse would have burned down. The well rope had been broken, and no water could be got. About one hundred and fifty quarts of milk put out the flames.

Soldiers Growing Saving.

Washington, Oct. 19.—The report of the Paymaster-General of the Army shows that the enlisted men are growing more disposed to save money, their deposits for the last year having increased 27 per cent., and the number of depositors having doubled. Nearly eighteen thousand soldiers have now over half a million dollars to divide.

It cost about thirteen million dollars last year to pay the army.

Three Thousand Ragpickers Strike.

New York, Oct. 19.—Three thousand ragpickers in this city are on strike. Two thousand of them are men and 1,000 are women.

They do not call themselves ragpickers, but that is what they are. They style themselves officially as "clip sorters," and have formed an organization known as Clip Sorters' Union No. 1.

A Klondike Millionaire.

Youngstown, Ohio, Oct. 19.—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lippy, who went to the Klondike in the Spring of 1896, locating in the Eldorado, have returned with $65,000 in gold, and have located claims valued at $1,000,000, which they will develop on their return next March.

Lippy says that no one who has not made the trip can form any estimate of the hardships in getting in and away from the gold fields. He erected a cabin, and says that the day he moved in the mercury was 70 degrees below zero.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

AWAITING THE DECISION

Monetary Commissioners Convinced It is Against Them.

NO OFFICIAL INFORMATION

Private Advices, However, Are That the British Cabinet Will Do Nothing for Silver—The Bank of England's Position.

London, Eng., Oct. 19.—The United States Monetary Commissioners have received no official information regarding the action by the British Cabinet on Saturday last. Private advices, however, convince them that the Cabinet has dealt the deathblow to their mission. It is expected the Commissioners will shortly be informed that Her Majesty's Government regrets being unable to accede to their proposals, but is willing to listen to any other plan they may suggest. But both parties to the conference know that no other practical scheme can be advanced.

In the event of the expected reply being received the United States Commissioners will return to the United States.

It is learned that the only thing the Cabinet officially discussed in connection with the currency question on Saturday was Sir James Westland's report. Sir James is head of the Financial Department of India, and his voluminous report took the strongest grounds against reopening the mints.

The afternoon papers yesterday echo the opinions of the morning newspapers in congratulating the Government upon "finally disposing of the bimetallic scare" and expressing regret that it should "ever even have seemed to receive support in high quarters."

Mr. Hugh C. Smith, governor of the Bank of England, said yesterday:

"The bank is a private company, without any Government control, and is not responsible to the Government except in the terms of its charter. The Government cannot issue any orders relative to the bank's reserves. At the same time, the Government is the bank's best customer, and the Court of Governors, being composed of law-abiding citizens, whenever the Government makes a request we do our best to comply. The Government must be presumed to know what is best for the country.

"The press has been filled with misstatements. The Government wrote asking if the bank was willing to renew its offer, made at the Paris monetary conference in 1881, regarding its reserve. I replied in the same tenor as the memorandum which the bank sent to that conference, though more guardedly. That is all that happened. The statement that the bank has been coquetting with the American commissioners is pure rubbish. Excepting what I have read in the papers, I have never heard of those gentlemen."

The United States Commissioners believe their failure means that no further effort in behalf of bimetallism will be made for many years to come. They attribute the failure to the opposition of the bankers and of the London Times. Until these forces were aroused all signs pointed to the co-operation of the British Government.

FIANCEE WILL DEFEND HIM.

Ready to Spend $10,000 to Prove Eli Shaw Innocent.

Camden, N. J., Oct. 19.—Whether young Eli Shaw is guilty or innocent of the murder of his mother and grandmother, at all events his fiancee's money will defend him from the awful charge. Assemblyman Henry S. Scovel has stepped into the case as Shaw's counsel. From a friend of his fiancee's family comes this information:

"The Neilsons are ready to spend $10,000 to prove Shaw's innocence."

The young woman whom Shaw had expected to marry next month was Miss Maibelle Neilson, of Woodbury, worth $8,000 or more in her own right. Her mother, too, was left in comfortable circumstances.

Mr. Scovel is a son of Col. Scovel, who has cleared no less than three men accused of murder in the first degree.

The police have declared that Eli wanted to get his mother's share of his grandmother's estate, with which to begin housekeeping. From the Neilsons it was learned that Miss Neilson's mother had given the young people a pretty house in Carteret street and was furnishing it completely. Eli got $18 a week.

Popular sentiment is drifting Eli's way. Shaw refused to-day to talk to any one. He did not ask the policeman who is watching him yesterday: "Did mother make any statement at all before she died?" This is reparded as significant.

Dr. Handley is Shaw's spiritual adviser, and to him Shaw has positively declared himself guiltless.

WAR SHIP TO GUATEMALA.

The Detroit, Now in Florida Waters, Ordered to Livingstone.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19.—The State Department has received a cablegram from the United States Charge d'Affaires at Guatemala City, stating that owing to the extension of the present revolutionary movement into the eastern portion of Guatemala, American interests in that section and American citizens are endangered, and the presence of a warship is desirable.

Accordingly, the Secretary of the Navy has sent orders to the U. S. S. Detroit, now in Florida, to proceed at once to Livingstone, on the gulf coast of Guatemala, to protect American interests.

The Montgomery, now at Staten Island, has been ordered to relieve the Detroit of the work of looking after filibusters, in which she has been engaged.

BAPTIST WORKERS MEET

CONFERENCE OF EAST NEW JERSEY SUNDAY-SCHOOL ASSOCIATION.

It Opened at New Market This Morning and Will Continue This Afternoon and Evening—The Proceedings.

The forty-seventh annual conference of the East New Jersey Baptist Sunday-school Association is today in session in the Baptist church, of New Market. The opening session began at 10 o'clock this morning, and the conference will continue through the afternoon and evening.

The Baptist church presented a very pleasant and homelike appearance at the opening of the morning session. The platform was a mass of cut flowers and potted plants, and the delegates soon crowded the pews. Devotional exercises, led by Rev. J. C. Allen, of Jersey City, opened the session, after which the pastor of the New Market church, Rev. Frank Fletcher, welcomed the visitors in a few bright words of greeting. The response was made by G. E. Hall, of Fanwood, president of the association. After the singing of "Blest be the tie that binds," the roll of schools in the association was called by the secretary, S. D. Turton, of Newark, the delegates from each school rising.

"Fifty minutes for general discussion of practical topics," was next announced by the programme, the following questions were offered for discussion:

1. Is a vacation a benefit or damage to a Sunday-school?
2. Should the superintendent supplement the teachers by remarks on the day's lesson?
3. How often should teachers' meetings be held?
4. What should be done with quarterly reviews?
5. Should any part of the weekly collection be used for the expenses of the school?

6 Describe some of the methods used in your school for its advancement.

With regard to the first question, the opinion seemed to be that a summer vacation was a damage to a school, causing a serious falling off in the attendance after reopening.

The second question was answered in various ways, some speakers saying that the superintendent should emphasize the practical lessons others that he should teach Scripture geography; others that the question depended entirely upon the superintendent. As to teachers' meetings it was urged that a meeting for the study of the lesson be held each week. All the speakers agreed that the children themselves should have as large a part as possible in the review service. It was also urged that the lesson of each Sunday be reviewed the week following. Opinion with regard to the fifth question was divided. The time for discussion being already exceeded, the last question was necessarily omitted.

The names of those on the various committees, nominations, resolutions, etc., were read, then the president introduced Rev. L. D. Stultz, State Home Department Secretary. His short but pithy address contained many practical thoughts.

The morning session was closed with the benediction by Rev. A. I. Martine, of Dunellen.

The music at the conference is under the direction of A. Baylis, precentor, and Benjamin J. Allen, cornetist; the committee of arrangements consists of G. E. Hall, of Fanwood; S. D. Turton, of Newark; Rev. Frank Fletcher, of New Market, and E. M. Albray, of Newark.

A. E. LaPorte, mail clerk at the post office, started on his fifteen days' vacation today.

HAPPENINGS AMONG THE LOCAL FOOTBALL PLAYERS.

Games That are to be Played and Points About Teams and Individual Players That May Prove Interesting to Cranks.

William Lawrence, of Sherman avenue, who was injured some time ago while playing football, expects to be able to go out this week with the aid of crutches.

The Crescent football eleven of this city played its third game in the Journal League, Saturday afternoon, and met with another defeat. The game was played on the Giraud avenue grounds, North Plainfield. The visiting team was from the Cranford Atheletic Club. The score at the close of the game was 10 to 4 in favor of the Cranfords.

FLAG PRESENTATION.

Saengerbund Society Receive a Handsome Gift From Women.

A notable event took place last evening in Saenger and Turner Hall on Somerset street when a handsome silk flag was presented to the Independent Scheutzen Corps by the women's society of the organization. They were received by President Henry Haurand and the officers of the Saengerbund.

The flag was presented by Miss Yaeger, on behalf of the donors, in a neat speech. It was received by President Haurand, who made a few appropriate remarks, and then turned it over to Captain J. A. Blatz, of the corps. The members of the Gesang and Turn Verein present acted as a godfather to the flag. Martin Huebner, in a short speech, also presented the corps with a handsome streamer which will be placed over the flag. A feature was the reading of an original poem by President Haurand, which was written and read in German. It was composed in honor of the presentation of the flag.

Presentation speeches were made by Mrs J. A. Blatz, Mrs. Menseubach and Mrs Sutterlein.

Business Change.

Yesterday, October 18th, I bought from N. B. Smalley the meat market, 94 Somerset street, which was formerly owned by W. L. and J. M. Smalley. I do not care to have two places and will be obliged to close the one, 405 Park avenue. I want to thank the people for their patronage, and to say that if they will allow me to look after their orders, either by coming to the market or allowing my wagon to call for the orders, such wagons will be driven by first-class butchers, and I will guarantee satisfaction in every respect.

Respectfully yours,
Jed M. Smalley.

High Jinks Occurring at Dunellen.

The peaceful community of Dunellen actually sent a prisoner to the county jail yesterday. This was John A. Manning, who threatened to cut William B. Hayes in two with an axe. Manning was committed for ninety days.—New Brunswick Fredonian.

Dr. Tuttle Improving.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Tuttle, of Newark, formerly of this city, who was severely injured while out bicycling Monday, is slowly improving. He suffers from scarcely any fever, and the contusion on his right leg is giving much less trouble and pain than at first.

Mrs. J. H. VanWinkle, of Duer street, is much improved from her recent illness.

TROLLEY STOPPED AGAIN.

Writ of Certiorari Obtained by Mrs. Catharine Oliver, of Bound Brook.

A writ of certiorari, issued by Justice of the Supreme Court Magie, of Elizabeth, on the petition of Mrs. Catharine Oliver, of Bound Brook, was served on W. P. Voorhees, counsel for the Brunswick Traction Company, on Saturday. The writ will put a stop to the work on the Bound Brook portion of the road.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Addie Weaver, of West End Park, is visiting friends at Bay Side, L. I.

Charles VanMiddlesworth, of Brooklyn, has returned after a pleasant visit of a few days in Plainfield.

Mrs. L. K. Prescott, of Brooklyn, is visiting her mother, Miss Mary L. Force, at 201 Watchung avenue.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—It will require about ten days to complete the vestibules on the cars of the Plainfield Street Railway Company. On some of the cars old motors are being replaced by new ones.

—At White's they have a full assortment of tinsel chiffons, tarletons, fancy satins, gilt braids, trimmings etc,.for the custumes for the Spielkartenfest. If there is anything wanted that they haven't in stock they will get it for you.

Trocha's Flimsy Forts.

So fearful have Weyler's soldiers become of raids by the insurgent forces that they resort to almost silly devices to secure themselves from danger. An example of this is shown by the accompanying illustration from a photograph of a flimsy fortification erected around the house occupied by officers stationed at the Trocha in Santa Clara province.

That such a feeble protection would save the Spaniards from a well organized raid by the insurgents seems the height of military absurdity, but it is, the Spanish reliance on just such affairs as these that gives the patriots the free run of the island, notwithstanding the presence of 300,000 Spanish soldiers.

MASSACRED BY REBELS.

Fourteen Thousand Persons Killed and Wounded in Chica.

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 19.—The city of Kuang Yang, in Huan Province, has been captured and its inhabitants massacred by a band of rebels forming a part of a rebel army which is devastating Huan and Kuank provinces, in Southern China.

The invaders scaled the walls of the city with the intention of capturing the provincial prison and releasing three of their members there imprisoned. One band tore down the prison, setting free several hundred murderers, thieves and imprisoned debtors.

Another band attacked the central part of the city, first murdering the magistrate, who had sent three bandits to prison. His entire family, numbering thirty-two, including servants, were killed.

The entire night was spent in slaying and plundering. All mandarins and every civil and military officer of the city were beaten.

The number killed and injured exceeded 14,000. The insurgents numbered 15,000, half of them armed. Their avowed object is to destroy the existing government in Southern China. The Government is greatly alarmed, but has no adequate means of suppressing the insurrection.

Yellow Fever Doctors Appointed.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Thirty-four physicians were yesterday appointed by Secretary Gage to serve as acting assistant surgeons of the Marine Hospital service until the yellow fever has entirely disappeared from the infected districts in the South. Each commission specifies that the service shall be for not more than three months.

Garfield's Valet Dead.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Daniel Sprague, an old colored employe of the White House and the body servant of President Garfield, died yesterday, aged 60 years. He came to Washington with Garfield from Ohio in 1881, and attended him during his last illness. After Garfield's death Sprague was retained as a servant at the White House.

A Physician Accused of Murder.

Toronto, Oct. 19.—Quite a sensation was created here yesterday in professional circles by the arrest of Dr. W. E. Bessey, a well-known physician here, on a charge of murder. He attended Mrs. Jennie C. C. Thomas, a widow of 35, in May, on whom, it is alleged, a criminal operation was performed. Mrs. Thomas died from the effects of blood poisoning, but while ill two other doctors were called in, and to them she told the story of her trouble.

THE SYNOD IN SESSION.

Large Gathering of the Presbyterian Leaders in New Jersey.

CONVENED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

A New Moderator Chosen—Rev. W. R. Richards, of This City, Elected Vice-Moderator—Committees Appointed—Business Session Commenced This Morning—What Is Being Said and Done.

The seventy-fifth annual meeting of the Synod of Presbyterian churches of New Jersey met in the Crescent Avenue church yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. About 250 pastors and lay delegates from every part of the State were present.

The moderator, Rev. Benjamin S. Everitt, D. D., of the Presbytery of Monmouth, was present, although apparently very feeble and in poor voice. He made a brief opening prayer, and Rev. Dr. George Swayze, of Allentown, read a selection from St. John's gospel. The sermon to the Synod which is ordinarily preached by the Moderator, was delivered by Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, the vice moderator, of the Presbytery of West Jersey. The discourse was based upon Matthew XIV, 19:

"And he gave the loaves to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude."

The Lord had always kept the miraculous in the background, and had magnified natural means, the speaker said. God seeks everywhere co operation; he calls his disciples, that is the church, to service. When Jesus first gave the church its commission, there was much that was supernatural, but the church human. The disciples were to take the bread and hand it to the multitudes. If we expect miraculous aid now we are mistaken: Christ has done his work: his word is left with us and we must carry it out. We can distingnish in the World's history three kinds of civilization, the oriental, the Graeco-roman and the Christian. The first and the second have woefully failed, and the last will succeed if we recognize that one of its foundation stones must be the brotherhood of man, the life of service. In this respect Christianity differs from all other civilizations. Before Christianity, men stood alone, like pillars; there was no such thing known as a consideration of human rights. Rapine and violence ruled everywhere. By Christianity all men are brothers. Christ taught us that greatness is service; the Gospel in its essence is service. And if we are not continually doing good the world will not believe our message. The meaning of election is, that we are chosen not merely to die and be saved, but to minister unto others and to lead them to salvation. When the battle of life is all finished we shall find that we have missed the crown of life, and some other will occupy our seat at the great round table of the King, if in this life we have sought to be disciples without seeking to serve."

The ceremony of the Lord's supper was next celebrated. Rev. Dr. Albert A. Erdmann, of Morristown, broke the bread, and Rev. Dr. George Swayze of Allentown, handed the wine. The following elders handed the elements about: William P. Thompson and F. H. Andrews, of the Presbytery of Elizabeth; G. W. DeMott, of the Presbytery of Jersey City; Horace Churchman and Wm. T. Smock, of the Presbytery of Monmouth; Levi Farrow, M. D., of the Presbytery of Morris and Orange; George D. Baldwin, of Newark; C. F. Quick, and Cornelius Shepheard, of the Presbytery of New Brunswick; Joseph Ketcham and David R. Hull, of the Presbytery of Newton, and Richard Stevenson, of the Presbytery of West Jersey.

The Synod was next constituted by prayer and the stated clerk, Dr. Walter A. Brooks, of Trenton, completed the roll call. The election of a moderator for the coming year was next entered upon, and Rev. John A. Liggett, D. D., of the Second Presbyterian church, of Rahway, was named by acclamation to fill the office. The committee on arrangements, through its chairman, Rev. Wm. R. Richards, of this city, next rendered its report, which was adopted. The report of the stated clerk, Dr. Brooks, was also presented and adopted. The treasurer's report, which was read by that officer, Rev. Eben B. Cobb, D. D., of Elizabeth, showed a year's receipts to be $1,046 01, with a balance on hand of $597.75. After transacting a few matters of routine business and establishing the order of business for subsequent business sessions, the afternoon session adjourned.

The sessions of the Synod of New Jersey were continued last evening when a popular service was held in the interest of missions, foreign and home. Rev. Dr. Liggett, the moderator, presided and the service was opened with devotional exercises, including an anthem by the choir.

Rev. Dr. Thompson, pastor of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church, New York, was the first speaker, and he devoted his energies to a discussion of home missions. He admonished the people in the home land for not being more aggressive in the cause of home missions and contended that the Anglo-Saxon language and literature is the power that is to disseminate the Gospel of Christ to all parts of the globe as well as to every portion of this country. He spoke especially of the work being done among the Indians, and stated that last year $121,000 was the share of the Presbyterian church contributed toward uplifting the American Indian to civilization and Christianity, and he thought the money well spent. Dr. Thompson impressed his audience very much when he read a letter from two missionaries who are located at "Point Barrow," the remotest mission field on the globe. It is a place from which only one letter can be received a year. In the letter the missionaries said that the attendance at the first service held there was 120, and the last service held, just before the letter was written, was attended by 160. At the last service a Christian Endeavor Society was formed and 114 persons signed the pledge at the first meeting. This, Dr. Thompson held, was a wonderful revelation of the power of God.

After an effective solo was rendered by Charles S. Lewis, of the choir, the Moderator introduced Dr. Arthur Brown, secretary of the Foreign Board of Missions, and this speaker gave one of the most instructive and helpful discourses on the subject of foreign missions ever listened to. He said in part:

"We are now about entering upon the twentieth century and the cry is 'Watchman, What of the Night?' To be sure there are some lands that are inaccessible, but there are other fields opened as never before and far greater than can be taken care of by your Board of Missions. There are at present 10,200 missionaries in the field preaching the Gospel. There are 7,000 Sunday-schools where the Gospel is being taught to children, and 1,000,000 churches where the preached Word is delivered. In 6,801 colleges students are being taught the Gospel of Christ, and 19,920 stations occupied by missionaries. The Bible is translated into 400 different languages and it is accessible to nine tenths of the people, while 6,000,000 copies of the Bible are being distributed every year. I believe that we are on the eve of a mighty revival that will cover the earth and the Holy Ghost is the executive of that work.

"At the home the prospects are not so bright, and one can hardly be expected to take an optimistic view of the situation when it is considered that $968,000 was received from the members of our churches last year, being about 74 cents per member. Five per cent is the total contributed to the Presbyterian Board, while ninety-five per cent went to various causes at home. It has been said that we ought to storm the General Assembly, and we are going to do it. In New Jersey there were 74 churches that did not contribute one penny last year to foreign missions and 192 Sunday-schools. Our foreign missionaries wanted an appropriation of $1,000,000 this year, but we were only able to pledge $800,000. This means a closing of schools, mission stations, and the sending of missionaries home, and it shows that we are out of sympathy with Christ. Inquiry reveals the fact that twenty-two mission boards of various denominations are complaining of the self-same condition, and it shows a low spiritual state in our churches. Only one fourth of our membership is fighting, and we must get every member into line. I cannot do it, neither can the mission boards. It is the duty of your pastor; in fact we must have more missionary pastors at home. It is about time that we bring the church up to the limitless measure of the world, and belt the globe with prayer. We have all the machinery needed, but we want to use the machinery. The trolley car may be fully equipped and the passengers may be in the car waiting to go to their destination, but if there is no power the car is useless. We must have power. We have, we believe, the best machinery, but we must get it a-going."

Following the above address, Dr. W. R. Richards offered prayer, and after the singing of a hymn, the benediction was pronounced by Dr. Thompson, of New York.

Just before the close of the evening service the secretary read the names of the following persons who have been appointed on the several committees of the Synod:

Bills and Overtures—Rev. B. S. Everitt, D. D., Jamesburg; Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, Bridgeton; Rev

SUNDAY-SCHOOL IDEAS.

CONCLUDING SESSIONS OF THE CONVENTION AT NEW MARKET.

J. B. Applegate, of Jersey City, Chosen President of The Association—Papers Read on Different Classes of Work.

The afternoon session of the Convention of the East New Jersey Sunday-School Association, which opened yesterday morning in the Baptist church of New Market, began at 2 o'clock, with the usual devotional exercises, led by Rev. J. B. Crane, of Plainfield.

The first address of the afternoon was led by C. B. Parsons, of Red Bank, on the subject, "How shall the finances of the Sunday-school be managed?" He advocated having the children trained to give and suggested that each department of the Sunday-school work have its own account in order that the scholars should know just for what the money was spent, and take an interest in it.

The second address was by C. Edgar Sutphen, of Newark, whose subject was "How shall we hold our young men in the Sunday-school?" He strongly advocated graded schools, in which the young men have their own place as truly as the little ones. He also urged teachers to enter into sympathetic and prayerful friendship with their scholars, as they could thus get such a personal hold on them that they would naturally remain in the school.

The treasurer's report was then read by S. D. Turton, of Newark, showing the total receipts for the year to have been $103.82; expenses for printing $10.75 and $54.90; for stenographic report of the last convention $12.40; for stationery, etc., $7 91, leaving on hand a balance of $17.76.

The Primary Hour, under the direction of Miss Nettie J. Beeching, of Washingtonville, president of the Plainfield Primary Union, was a very delightful part of the session. Mrs. Francis H. VanCise, of Newark, gave a very bright and entertaining account of the summer school for primary workers held at Asbury Park during the summer, after which Miss Beeching gave an interesting report of the work of the Plainfield Primary Union, telling of their helpful meetings and their fellowship in the work, and invited all her hearers to attend the annual Institute to be held by the union in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, Plainfield, next Monday.

Various resolutions were offered by the committee on resolutions, the place of meeting for next year was announced to be Roselle, and the committee on nominations recommended as officers for the coming year G. E. Hall, of Fanwood, for president; C. F. Dayton, of New Market, for vice-president, and S. D. Turton, of Newark, for secretary and treasurer.

After the transaction of a few minor matters of business the convention adjourned for supper.

The evening session opened with a devotional service conducted by Rev. J. Braker, of Scotch Plains, after which the question box was opened and the questions answered, this exercise being led by Rev. T. E. Vassar, D. D., of Lyons Farms. The questions were on practical Sunday-school topics, such as "How shall we interest boys of fourteen?" and "Should the officers of a school be changed every few years?" Dr. Vassar's answers were brief and to the point.

It was announced that G. E. Hall had declined a re election to the presidency of the association, and J. B. Applegate, of the Bergen church, Jersey City, was elected in his place.

Rev. E. Morris Furgusson, State secretary of Sunday school work, then delivered a strong and helpful address on "Means of Progress." He advocated as useful methods separate rooms for primary classes; the work of the Home Department; the careful training of teachers, and a better supervision of the work of the school on the part of pastor and superintendent.

Another very practical address was delivered by Rev. W. C. P. Rhodes, of Brooklyn, on the subject, "Hindrances and Helps in Sunday-school Work." Among the hindrances which he noted were the lack of trained teachers and the short time allowed for the lesson. Some of the mechanical helps for work mentioned were a good Bible; concordance; Bible text-book and Bible dictionary, but the greatest helps must always be the Spirit of God and the training received in the church of God.

After a few closing thoughts by G. E. Hall, president of the convention, Rev. Frank Fletcher, pastor of the convention church, singing and the benediction closed the service and the forty-seventh annual convention of the East New Jersey Baptist Sunday-school Association stood adjourned.

FUGITIVE FROM JUSTICE

A POLANDER HIDING IN SWAMP LAND AROUND DOG CORNERS.

Said to be an Heir to a Fortune—Accused of Opening a Letter Not Addressed to Him—Didn't Defend Himself in Court.

Bottomery Brobonoski, said to be the son of a distinguished and wealthy Polish official, is now in hiding in the swamps back of Dog Corners, a fugitive from justice. He is charged with opening letters belonging to other people and a United States marshal and a constable are now hunting for him.

Brobonoski came to this country some time ago for political reasons. His father held a high place in official circles, and his influence in the Russian court made him the recipient of many gifts of value. Not long ago the father died, leaving his vast fortune to his son. The officials through whose hands it had to pass plundered it without reserve, there was plenty of wealth to come to the young Polander on this side of the water. It has not yet arrived, but Brobonoski confidently expected it and so did others who knew him here.

Brobonoski came here without funds and had to work to earn his daily bread. His family were with him and they all lived in a little house near Dog Corners. While well educated in his native language, he is only able to speak broken English.

In Plainfield there live other Polanders who knew of Brobonoski's position at home and of the expected fortune. Some of them, it is claimed, formed a plot to ruin the young man unless he paid them blood money. The trouble in which Brobonoski now figures is said to be a result of it.

Last July Mrs. Lizzie Collusiko, who lives in Netherwood, appeared before United States Commissioner Whitehead at Newark and made a complaint against Brobonoski for opening a letter addressed to her. Brobonoski was arrested by United States Marshal Kieb and brought before the commissioner who held him under $250 bail for his appearance on July 30th.

Brobonoski claimed that the letter had come addressed to him and contained a slip of paper asking that it be handed to Mrs. Collusiko. He appeared on the day set for the hearing and was represented by McNabb & Clark of this city. There was no evidence to prove that the letter had been mailed at all and the commissioner set the further hearing down for August 4th and allowed the prisoner to go without renewing the bail.

On August 4th, Mr. McNabb appeared, but his client did not. The testimony of the sender of the letter was heard and the Commissioner held Brobonoski for the Grand Jury under $500 bail. Neither Brobonoski nor the bail has appeared but he was indicted and a bench warrant issued for his apprehension. It was given to Marshal Kieb to serve.

Last Sunday night, Kieb secured Constable George Rockafellow to help him and the two went over to Dog Corners. After various exiting experiences they went to the hotel at Dog Corners.

A search revealed Brobonoski hidden in one of the upper rooms of the hotel and he was arrested.

The trio started for town. The prisoner started off at a rapid walk and said that he wanted to stop a moment at his house to say good-bye to his wife. He was ten feet ahead of his captors when he broke into a run and dashed into the woods at the side of the road. Constable Rockafellow drew his revolver and opened fire on the fleeing man, but in the excitement his aim was poor and the Polander escaped into the woods.

Monday night the marshal and the constable spent the night in the neighborhood of the home of the prisoner, but he did not appear. They have announced their intention of waiting there for him until he does come back, and will search all the neighboring thickets and swamps where it is supposed he is lying in hiding.

WAGON STRUCK BY A CAR.

The Owner Claims That the Motorman Did Not Give Warning of His Approach.

Yesterday afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock on Somerset street near C. Frank French's feed store a trolley car, in charge of Motorman Edward Kreug and Conductor Cornelius Ackerman, ran into a wagon owned by Russell Howell, the North avenue grocer. Mr. Howell and a friend was in the wagon at the time and they were just ahead of the car. The motorman did not ring his bell, Mr. Howell says. Mr. Howell was crossing the trolley tracks and was trying to get out of the way when the car struck the wagon. One wheel was wrecked and the shafts were broken. This morning Superintendent Adleman, of the street railway company, called on Mr. Howell and gave him to understand that the trouble would be amicably adjusted.

$5,000 FOR BRUISED HEART.

SOME OF THE LOVE LETTERS READ.

Miss Joanna Murphy's Suit Against Former Assemblyman Tumulty Resulted Favorably for the Plaintiff.

Fixing the damages of a bruised heart at $10,000, Miss Joanna Murphy, of Summit, yesterday appeared at Elizabeth as the plaintiff in a breach of promise case against former Assemblyman Philip Tumulty, of Jersey City. Tumulty is wealthy, and is said to have an income of $8,000 a year.

Miss Murphy made a striking figure in court. She was dressed in the latest style, and appeared very much broken up over the affair. She admitted being thirty-nine years old. The defendant is fifty-five. Late last night the jury gave Miss Murphy a verdict of $5,000.

According to the story of Miss Murphy, Tumulty and she met soon after his wife died last year, and, she said, he asked permission to call.

Soon after his first visit, she asserted, he became very loving and wanted her to marry him, saying his children were in need of a caretaker, and she was just the woman to rule his household. She consented to marry him and plans were laid to live in elegant style.

Last Hallowe'en night was his last call, and thereafter his love grew cold and he never called nor even sent her an explanation.

Former Senator Marsh represented Tumulty, and Judge McCormick Miss Murphy. Both lawyers had stacks of letters, which were read. They were of a most gushing nature.

Tumulty acknowledged calling on Miss Murphy, and said he did think considerable of her, but he soon realized that she was after his property and not him, so he ended the romance by breaking off.

Miss Murphy said the first she knew was when his letters began to show a change in feeling, and then he soon transferred all of his property and charged her with wanting to get hold of it.

ON NEW JERSEY SOIL AGAIN.

CHARLES B. BROWN RETURNS EAST.

Is Now General Secretary of the Jersey City Y. M. C. A. and Will Devote His Best Efforts to it

The many friends of Charles B. Brown, formerly of this city, will be pleased to learn that he is once more engaged in good work on Jersey soil. He has accepted the General Secretaryship of the Jersey City Y. M. C. A. to succeed William C. Pawley, resigned. A Jersey City exchange says:

"Mr. Brown, the new secretary, comes highly recommended as a progressive and aggressive worker, and for many years has engaged in practical Christian work in the interests of young men. He was born in New York city, but passed the most of his time in New Jersey.

"His first identification with Y. M. C. A. work was in Plainfield, this State, where he served faithfully and successfully as a volunteer committeeman and in the branch mission work at Mount Pleasant and Washingtonville. In 1890 he was elected lay assistant pastor of the First Baptist church at Plainfield. He served in this position two years and organized a Bible class, which in one year grew from a membership of four to ninety, and a year later consisted of 150 men, a majority of whom were formerly non church goers.

"The prominence of Mr. Brown's work in this line led to his being called to Minneapolis. He began work in that city early in 1893, as membership secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

"For the past six months Mr. Brown has in connection with his other work been acting pastor of the Bethesda Baptist church of Minneapolis. He was on a vacation trip to his former home in New Jersey when his name was presented to the directors of the Y. M. C. A. of this city, as a possible candidate for the vacant general secrerarysbip.

"Mr. Brown has accepted the position conditionally. The Board of Directors has promised him every facility and assistance in conducting the work, and the Board hopes that every pastor in the city, as well as young men of Jersey City, will do everything in their power to assist the new secretary in his efforts to build up the association."

Party For a Little Girl.

Mrs. F. W. Butler, of 202 East Ninth street, is giving a party this afternoon in honor of the fourth anniversary of the birth of her daughter. A few of the intimate friends of the young hostess are present and assisting in making the event a memorable one.

IN HARMONY THEY MET.

But One Discordant Voice in the Democratic Convention.

JOHN L. CROWELL FOR SURROGATE.

Resolutions Confined Entirely to State and Local Issues—James E. Martin's Speech Nominating Dr. Jackson for the Assembly Stirred up a Springfield Delegate—The Results Follow.

There seemed to be only one man in the Democratic county convention at Elizabeth yesterday who wanted to spell harmony with a small h, and as anomolous as it may seem that man took exceptions to the nomination of one whose name is the quintesence of all that is considered Democratic—Thomas Jefferson Jackson. The delegate who jumped up and objected to the nomination of the man honored with such a cumulative series of cognomens of Democratic import was the only one, however, who essayed to ruffle the otherwise peaceful serenity of the convention. The reception which this man's protests received were so chilly and emphatically unpopular that he was quelched forcibly by the realization of his own magnificent minority, and he retained a discretionary silence thereafter.

The convention was well attended by delegates, James E. Martine and Thomas F. Lane taking the lead in formulating the business transacted. It was called to order by John L. Crowell, of Rahway, chairman of the county committee. Peter Egenolf, of Elizabeth, was chosen chairman and John Lane, of Summit, secretary of both temporary and permanent organization.

Committees were appointed as follows:

Credentials—Dr. E. B. Silvers, of Rahway; J. Pheasant, of Springfield; B. Frank Denniston and W. J. Lansley, of Elizabeth, and A. B. Cook, of Rahway.

Permanent Organization—E. B. Kelly, of Summit; N. K. Thompson and Nicholas Keimig, of Elizabeth; John M. C. Marsh, of Westfield.

Resolutions—Hon. Thomas F. Lane, of Summit; Capt. D. F. Collins and George A. Ford, of Elizabeth; Elmore D. Moffett, of Plainfield; Hon. John T. Dunn, of Elizabeth.

A recess of a half hour was taken to prepare the resolutions, and when the convention was reconvened the resolutions were presented and adopted as follows, no reference being made to the Chicago platform:

We, the Democrats of Union county, reaffirm our allegiance to the fundamental principles of the Democratic party, and pledge the nominees of this convention to the policy of equal rights for all citizens, and to opposition to the selfish greed of corporations that, through the Republican party, seek the subjugation of taxpayers of the State.

Resolved, That we condemn the action of the recent Republican Legislature in endeavoring to make courts of this State the playthings of partisan politics.

We denounce the Republican party for the inefficiency and stupidity of its legislators, as shown in the bungling manner in which the recent laws have been framed, and the open defiance of the State Constitution that was indicated in the number of statutes declared void by the courts.

We charge that to subserve its corporation masters, the Republican party has passed a law limiting the time for the personal actions of servants and other persons injured by their greed and consequent negligence from four years to two, and that by that act the poor and unfriended servants of corporations, as well as the public to whom they owe service, are measurably deprived of their remedies.

Resolved, That this convention, representing the Democrats of Union county, declares itself in favor of a railroad grade-crossing commission in the State of New Jersey, and that the candidates for the Legislature of the Democratic party in Union county be pledged to support all reasonable legislation looking toward the creation of such a commission.

Whereas, The taxpayers of Union county having at great expense constructed a system of county roads, and have thereby added greatly to the upbuilding of the various townships of this county, and have provided smooth and comfortable roads that are valuable alike for cycle and driving;

Resolved, That we are opposed to the building of trolley lines on our county roads as now constructed.

James E. Martine offered the following:

Resolved, That the Democrats of Union county take this occasion to express their sincere regret at the death of John R. McPherson. We feel that the country has lost a statesman and our State a grand citizen; his friends a loyal and warm supporter. We tender our warmest sympathy to his widow in this her hour of bereavement.

The resolution was adopted by a rising vote, and an engrossed copy will be sent to Mrs. McPherson.

The nomination of a Surrogate was then called for and John L. Crowell, of Rahway, was unanimously chosen.

Then came the Assembly nominations and the only breeze of the gathering. The following nominations were made:

Benjamin F. Heard, of Springfield; John Idam, of Cranford; William B. Wolfskiel, George King and Benjamin Lawrence, of Elizabeth; Thomas Jefferson Jackson, of Springfield; Charles R Corbett, of Linden.

GEO. M. PULLMAN DEAD

Millionaire Palace Car Man Suddenly Expires in Chicago.

HEART DISEASE THE CAUSE

A Man Who from a Salary of Forty Dollar a Year Amassed Millions—A Native of Chautauqua County, New York—His Eventful Career.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—All the stocks in which George M. Pullman was intimately interested were depressed several points when the news of his sudden death yesterday became known on the exchanges.

No one was present when the palace car magnate passed away. It was not even known he was ill.

There is some mystery as to the cause of his death.

It is supposed that he was stricken either by heart disease or apoplexy.

Mr. Pullman retired to his room at the usual hour at night, not complaining of any ailment.

Rev. Dr. Eaton of New York city, who was staying at the home of Mr. Pullman heard him moving at 4.50 in the morning. Going to Mr. Pullman's room he found him dead.

Dr. Billings was called in the hope of restoring consciousness, but it was of no avail.

Began Life with $50.

George M. Pullman began life with $50, and ended it with a fortune estimated at $50,000,000. He made the bulk of his great fortune by building palace and sleeping cars, which were a monument to American enterprise and skill, having been awarded prizes at expositions in Austria, France and London.

He was born in Brockton, Chautauqua County, N. Y., in 1831. He lived there until he was 14 years old, when he removed to Albion, N. Y. There he met Senator Ben Field, a State Senator in 1854 and 1856, from whom he got his first inspiration for the building of sleeping cars.

That became his hobby. He paid 50 cents one night for the privilege of examining a car in which people slept. It was only curiosity, however, as then he had no idea of building one.

The car contained three ordinary bunks, and was regarded then as the best sleeping car that could be found anywhere.

The first Pullman sleeping car was conceived in 1864. It was built in an old shed on the Albion Railroad on the outskirts of Chicago.

The First Palace Car.

This was the handsomest car ever made up to that time. The principal feature was the construction of two berths, one above the other, which would be comfortable and convenient. The disposition of the mattresses was a difficult obstacle, but after many months of thought and hard work, the "Pioneer," with the upper berth hinged to the side of the car near the roof, was finished.

Many car builders inveighed against this, but Mr. Pullman was sure it could be done properly if the car were made larger.

The "Pioneer," as a result, was one foot wider and two and one-half feet higher than any car that has hitherto been built in this country.

The new sleeping car cost $18,000. The old ones cost $4,500 The "Pioneer" became famous as the car used in the funeral train of President Lincoln. It was run from Springfield to Chicago on the Alton road.

The Pullman Works.

The total amount of lumber used annually by the Pullman Company is about 51,000,000 feet total quantity of iron used annually, about 85,000 tons; total number of employes (July 31, 1893), 14,635; total amount of wages earned daily by Pullman employes, $24,965.63.

There are operated by the Pullman Company 2,573 sleeping, parlor and dining cars. Of these 650 are buffet cars and 58 are dining cars. During the year ending July 31, 1893, the number of miles run by Pullman cars was 206,453,796, and there were carried 5,673,129 passengers. About 9,000 meals are served daily in Pullman dining and buffet cars. There are about 33,000,000 pieces of Pullman car linen laundered annually. The mileage of railroads under contract is 126,795. The longest regular unbroken run of any cars in the Pullman service is from Boston to Los Angeles, and is 4,022 miles. The total producing capacity of the construction shops per annum is 12,520 freight cars, 213 sleeping cars, 626 passenger cars and 939 street cars. Coupled together these cars would make a train over 100 miles in length.

The town of Pullman has eight miles of paved streets and 12,000 inhabitants, of whom 6,324 are operatives. Of the 2,246 Pullman employes who live on the borders of the town, about 1,000 own their own homes.

From the first year of its existence the Pullman Company has paid its quarterly dividend with the regularity of a Government loan, and its $30,000,000 capital has a market value of $60,000,000, while its stock is so largely sought as a rock-ribbed security for the investment of the funds of educational and charitable institutions, of women and of trust estates, that out of its 3,246 stockholders 1,800 are of this class, and 1,494 of these 1,800 are women.

SCHARF WAS DISMISSED

Chinese Inspector Did Not Resign From the Service.

HE CHARGED CORRUPTION

High-Handed Methods Led to His Formal Discharge—Failed to Substantiate the Charges Regarding Alleged Corrupt Practices.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Chinese Inspector J. Thomas Scharf was not permitted to resign his office, but was dismissed. Upon the recommendation of the District Attorney at New York, under whose direction Mr. Scharf was performing his duties, he was notified on the 1st instant that his services would not be required after the 15th. On the 6th he wrote a letter to Secretary Gage, protesting against removal, and asserting that he had been hampered in his work by antagonistic railroad influences, which were responsible for the corruption mentioned by him. If the department was determined to dispense with his services he asked permission to resign.

"Ever since I have been here," he wrote, "I have been antagonized by the Canadian Pacific Railroad influence, the smugglers, and their agents and attorneys, because they could neither purchase nor influence me to work at their illegal transactions. The leading officers of the above company have several times threatened to have me dismissed from the service unless I passed into that country the Chinese which their officers had smuggled into this country. The officers of this company and others in their employ are largely engaged in smuggling Chinese, and they have corrupted the service in doing this. Officers who are now in their pay are kept in service, and those who have informed on them have been summarily dismissed. I could startle you with facts about the doings of these men, not only near the border, but right under your own nose."

In response to this a letter was sent telling Mr. Scharf that it was his duty to inform the department of any corrupt practices of which he had knowledge; that no influence, except the recommendation of the District Attorney, was responsible for his removal, and that an application to be permitted to resign would be received. Without the slightest reference to anything contained in this letter of the 6th instant, and totally ignoring the suggestion of the Secretary that he present any facts in his possession regarding alleged corrupt practices, on the 11th instant Scharf formally tendered his resignation, prefacing it with the statement that he had made arrangements to enter upon the practice of the law.

"At the same time," said Mr. Howell, "he advised the newspapers of the fact, and claimed that he voluntarily severed his connection with the Government service because of his inability to secure a proper enforcement of the laws. In view of this action on his part the Secretary of the Treasury decided to give no attention to the request that the inspector be allowed to resign, and the letter of dismissal, therefore, took effect on the 15th instant."

Spiritualists in Convention.

Washington, Oct. 20.—One hundred and fifty men and women, members of the Spiritualists' Annual Association of the United States and Canada, constitute the convention of that body which began a three days' session here yesterday. In his annual report President Barrett cited the National Anti-Spiritualist Association as evidence of the fact that opponents of spiritualism were becoming alarmed at the increase of interest in it. He recommended that a history of spiritualism from 1848 be undertaken by the association, and that the work be placed in the hands of Lyman C. Lowe, of Fredonia, N. Y. The association will put two missionaries in the field to counteract the work of the anti-spiritualist organization.

How Rich Was Killed.

Pittsburg, Oct. 20.—The coroner's jury in the case of Benjamin Rich, halfback of the Tyrone football team, killed in a game on Saturday, has decided that death was caused by internal hemorrhages of the brain, superinduced by over-exertion and a fall while tackling J. H. Miller and striking his head on the ground or a stone.

Six players on both teams gave practically the same testimony that Rich had tackled Miller, and that both had fallen together, Rich underneath. The game was free from slugging.

Fire Among Lunatics.

New York, Oct. 20.—A fire which started early last evening in the boiler room of the electric light station situated in a branch of the women's section of the State Hospital for the Insane on Ward's Island, necessitated the transfer of some of the more violent patients from one part of the building to another, and did $25,000 damage. The fire was put out by the island's fire department without outside aid.

Garfield's Father-in-Law Dying.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 20.—Zebulon Rudolph, 94 years of age, father-in-law of the late President Garfield, is dying at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Garfield, in Mentor. Mr. Rudolph has lived in this State nearly all his life, and for some years has been classed as the oldest living Ohioan. His grandson, "Harry" A. Garfield, said to-day that Mr. Rudolph's trouble was due to old age.

The American Breakfast

Is as distinctively American as French, Italian and Russian dainties are typical of those lands. In America oatmeal attains perfection not reached elsewhere, and is renowned abroad as an "American specialty." This is largely due to the H-O Company, whose cereals have spread the fame of the American breakfast over the civilized world.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—A party of gypsies are encamped at Avon Park. They will be there for several days.

Those who believe chronic diarrhœa to be incurable should read what Mr. P. E. Grisham, of Gaars Mills, La., has to say on the subject, viz.: "I have been a sufferer from chronic diarrhœa ever since the war and have tried all kinds of medicines for it. At last I found a remedy that effected a cure and that was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy." This medicine can always be depended upon for colic, cholera morbus, dysentery and diarrhœa. It is pleasant to take and never fails to affect a cure. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

The Grandest Remedy.

Mr. R. B. Greeve, merchant, of Chilhowie, Va., certifies that he had consumption, was given up to die, sought all medical treatment that money could procure, tried all cough remedies he could hear of, but got no relief; spent many nights sitting up in a chair; was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery, and was cured by use of two bottles. For past three years has been attending to business, and says Dr. King's New Discovery is the grandest remedy ever made, as it has done so much for him and also for others in his community. Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed for Coughs, Colds and Consumption. It don't fail. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00.

Silas Yerkes, of East Sixth street, has about recovered from his long and severe illness.

Something to Know.

It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centres in the stomach, gently stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50c or $1.00 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

POPE LEO'S STRONG WORDS.

His Denunciation of the American "Refractaires."

Washington, Oct. 20.—The arrangements for the meetings of the board of directors of the Catholic University to-day and the Catholic archbishops of the United States on Thursday were perfected yesterday by the investure of Mgr. Conaty, rector of the university, with the purple robes of a monsignor of honorary chamberlain to the Pope. The ceremonies took place in the afternoon in the chapel of Divinity Hall, and were attended by a large number of priests and prelates from all parts of the country.

Among those present were Archbishops Martinelli, Keane, Ryan, Williams, Chapman, Corrigan, Ireland and Riordan; Bishops Maes, Horstmann, Prendergast, Foley, Hogan and Beava, and Mgr. Maginnis, of Jamaica Plains; the Rev. Dr. Lavelle, of New York Cathedral; the Rev. A. P. Doyle and the Rev. Francis M. Howard, of New York, and the Rev. Sylvester Malone and the Rev. Father Conname, of Brooklyn. The ceremonies consisted of a speech by Archbishop Keane, the blessing of the robes by the Cardinal and the profession of faith, and an address by Dr. Conaty.

The speech of Archbishop Keane was especially important because it is believed to reflect the views of Pope Leo regarding the university. He dwelt emphatically on the fact that the university is to be regarded as an American institution. It was the first time Archbishop Keane had spoken in the university since he made his farewell address a year ago. He said:

"When I went to Rome the Holy Father said to me: 'All these whisperings and rumors which have been told me regarding the university are lies, manufactured by men who hate not only the university but me, by refractaires who hate my policy. I will show them by my treatment of you what I think of them and of the university.' The Holy Father has always approved the course and the teachings of the university."

M'KINLEY'S TRIP TO OHIO.

To Visit Cincinnati, Vote in Canton and Speak in Pittsburg.

Washington, Oct. 20.—The details of the President's trip to Cincinnati, Canton and Pittsburg were completed yesterday. He will leave Washington, accompanied by Mrs. McKinley and Secretary Porter on Friday afternoon, Oct. 29, at 3.40 o'clock for Cincinnati, where he will be the guest of J. G. Schmidlapp, an intimate personal friend. On Saturday afternoon an informal public reception will be held by the President in the Chamber of Commerce, and on Saturday night he will be the guest of honor at the annual banquet of the Commercial Club.

Early on Monday morning Mr. McKinley will start for Canton, where he will cast his vote on the following day. He will go on Wednesday to Pittsburg to attend the Founders' Day ceremonies at the Carnegie Library. W. N. Frew, chairman of the Library Committee, and Robert Pitcairn, of the Board of Trustees of the Library, will be the President's hosts while he is in Pittsburg. On Wednesday afternoon Mr. McKinley will deliver a short address at the ceremonies at the library and will hold a public reception. In the evening he will attend a symphony concert and will start on the same night for Washington.

DEBS ON PULLMAN

In a Speech to the Cloakmakers He Refers to the Dead Millionaire.

New York, Oct. 20.—Eugene V. Debs delivered his oft-repeated speech on "Social Democracy" at a mass-meeting of the east side cloakmakers in Everett Hall last night. At its conclusion he said:

"I once sent an open letter to John D. Rockefeller, telling him that I could marshal 50,000 unemployed men on the Chicago lake front. I was ridiculed because I never received an answer, but I did not expect one."

"One of these angels is dead!" shouted a cloakmaker.

"Yes," said Debs; "he is now on the same footing of equality as his former wage slaves. Death is a social Democrat. The time was when Pullman had nothing to arbitrate. Now comes the time when Death has nothing to arbitrate."

Debs then told the cloakmakers that he bore Mr. Pullman no malice.

PLANS OF THE CUBANS

Intend to Make Active Warfare on the Island.

EXPEDITIONS WITH ARMS

With or Without Belligerent Rights the Cubans Claim They Will Be Free by March—What an Officer of the Insurgent Army Says.

St. Louis, Oct. 20.—Three Cuban patriots direct from the island have been in St. Louis the last fourteen days procuring and shipping ammunition for their compatriots. Their work is at last completed and they leave to-day for Cuba.

One of them is authority for the statement that during their stay they have purchased and forwarded to a Texas port $225,000 worth of cartridges, dynamite, rifles, pistols and saddlery intended for the insurgent army. Two expeditions conveying these supplies sailed last night from a Texas port between the city of Bagdad and Port Galveston, and in the Caribbean Sea will meet two other expeditions that Sunday night set sail from New York.

The Cuban agents are Col. George Johnson, of the staff of Gen. Roloff; Col. Eduard Betancourt and Capt. H. A. Smith. During their stay in St. Louis they have stopped at private houses. Col. Johnston said:

"I left Santiago de Cuba the latter part of September. Our mission has been to buy supplies for the Department of the East. Owing to the quarantine we could do nothing at Key West, and came to St. Louis. We have accomplished our mission here by the purchase of $225,000 worth of ammunition and the like."

Col. Johnston continued on the subject of Cuba:

"Autonomy? No! Nothing but absolute freedom. We have 60,000 men under arms in Cuba. Virtually the whole island, except Havana, Matanzas and Cienfugos is in our hands. We could take Havana by means of dynamite, but we would have to notify the foreign Consuls, who, of course, would notify the enemy, else we should blow up our friends."

"At a meeting of representatives of the whole army of the East and West as late as Oct. 4, at Holquin, at which I was present, and which has not yet been mentioned in the papers, it was reiterated that Cuba would accept nothing but absolute freedom. It is a waste of time for the United States to deal with Spain relative to granting autonomy or anything else short of absolute freedom. What we want of the United States is the granting of belligerent rights. With that, in less than seventy-two hours we would have out of the various ports of the United States forty-two vessels flying the Cuban flag.

"Before the American Congress meets again there will be events that we hope will compel Congress to recognize us. We have been on the defensive heretofore. Now we are on the offensive. We begin to retaliate. The armies of the East and West are about to consolidate. They will shortly attack Matanzas. Possibly Havana will be assailed. We are about to show Congress that we mean business, if we have not shown it heretofore.

"With belligerent rights the island will be free before Dec. 31 of this year. Without recognition we shall still be free before March of next year."

SHAW GAINS SYMPATHY.

Alleged Camden Murderer's Counsel Ejected from Private Hearing.

Camden, N. J., Oct. 20.—Public feeling in the case of Eli Shaw, who is suspected of murdering his mother and his grandmother in order to obtain an inheritance that would tend to hasten his marriage to Mabel Neilson, is veering towards the young man today.

An incident in which the young man's attorney, Harry S. Scovel, figured has played an important part in bringing about this result. Scovel was forcibly ejected from Mayor Westcott's office by a policeman, and five of Shaw's friends were held in $1,000 bail each to appear for the State at the trial.

This action was taken because the young men, acting under the lawyer's advice, refused to answer questions at a private hearing.

Attorney Scovel was told to get out, that he wasn't wanted and had no business there. He refused to go and fought to remain until policemen were called in, and Scovel was finally ejected.

Last Honors to Worden.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Services over the body of Rear Admiral John L. Worden, U. S. N., retired, were held at St. John's Episcopal Church this morning at 10.30 o'clock. President McKinley, the members of the Cabinet, and a number of distinguished officers of the army were present. The pall bearers were Secretary John D. Long, Maj.-Gen. Nelson A. Miles, Justice Horace Gray, of the United States Supreme Court; Judge J. C. Bancroft Davis, reporter of the United States Supreme Court; Judge John Davis, of the United States Court of Claims; Col. Archibald Hopkins, clerk of the Court of Claims; Admiral Franklin, and Gen. J. G. Parke. Twelve blue jackets were the body bearers. The body was taken to Pawlings, N. Y.

COMING EVENTS.

October 20—Bookkeeping and commercial course at Y. M. C. A.
October 25—William Blaikie at the Y. M. C. A. "How to Get Strong."
October 26—Entertainment Plainfield Mandolin and Guitar Club at Monroe Avenue church.

James E. Martine, of Plainfield, has been spoken of as a possible candidate for Surrogate on the Democratic ticket, but has authorized the statement that under no circumstances will he become the nominee for Surrogate of the Union county Democrats. This withdrawal takes a very conspicuous campaigner out of the list, and makes the coming campaign less active than it would be with Mr. Martine as a candidate. The difference between Mr. Martine and Mr Crowell, in their conduct of campaigns, is this: Mr. Martine is the campaigner of the hustlings and of the platform; Mr. Crowell does not go after votes with a brass band, but with a quiet demeanor and a Rahway smile.—Elizabeth Journal.

Plainfield has been the meeting place of large conventions of Christian workers many times during the last three years, but it has never before had in its midst a more talented and earnestly engaged gathering than that of the synod of the Presbyterian churches of New Jersey now in session. The synod is made up of the leaders in church efforts, and Plainfield welcomes them as a dignified body who will leave a pronounced moral effect for the better in the lives of those who attend the sessions.

The Union county Democrats, in convention assembled, seemed impressed with the idea of only mentioning such issues in their resolutions as they will deal directly with in the present campaign. The difference between the attitude of the Union and Somerset Democrats in that respect was quite marked.

The Republican county convention will be held in Elizabeth Friday. Roger Murray seems to have the support of nearly the whole county for one of the Assembly nominations.

IN HARMONY THEY MET.

vention was made by Mr. Martine in nominating Thomas Jefferson Jackson. Mr. Martine opened the floodgates of his oratorical powers just a bit and gave the delegates a few minutes talk that had for its climax the nomination of a man whose name is a combination of those words revered in Democratic minds. He was greeted with enthusiastic applause. As the applause died away a delegate—who proved to be Edward Reuban, of Springfield—bobbed up like a spectre of discordance and vehemently declaimed:

"What's the use of naming Jackson, when he can't carry his own township? Give us Benjamin Heard, he's the man we want."

Delegate Reuban sat down amid the derisive howls of the rest of the delegates.

The vote for the nomination resulted as follows:

B. L. Lawrence, 103; Dr. T. J. Jackson, 96; W. D. Wolfeskeil, 66; George King, Elizabeth, 50; John Isenman, Cranford, 19; A. R. Corbet, Linden, 16; A. Hughes, 9; Benjamin Heard, Springfield, 2.

Necessary to a choice, 64. The nominations were then made unanimous.

Dr. Thomas E. Dolan, of Elizabeth, was the unanimous choice for coroner.

The candidates all made stirring speeches.

Today the morning and afternoon sessions of the Synod were devoted to matters of business. At the morning session the attendance of delegates was slightly larger than yesterday. The session opened at 9 o'clock with prayer. After the minutes of yesterday afternoon's session were read and approved, the stated clerk, Dr. Walter A. Brooks, announced that Rev. William R. Richards, D. D., of this city, had been appointed vice moderator. The following standing committee was also announced:

On minutes of the general assembly, Rev. Theodore F. Chambers, Rev. James S. Young, and Elder Josiah Ketcham; on narrative for 1898, Rev. Henry A. MacKibbin, Rev. Samuel J. McClenaghan and Elder John S. Jessup.

Rev. Allen H. Brown, of the Presbytery, of West Jersey, next read the annual financial report of the trustees of the Synod, showing receipts for the year of $98.24, and expenditares of $62.50. Elder Horace Churchman, of Burlington, next presented the report of the Presbyterian Board of Education, explaining the work of the board in aiding candidates for the ministry to gain a college and seminary education. The board during its existence has aided 8,613 young men to secure an education, the maximum sum allowed each man being $150 a year.

Mr. Churchman spoke of the need of the church for ministers, mentioning the fact that there are nearly 1,000 Presbyterian churches in the country without pastors. Over one hundred of the men aided by the board are now doing missionary work in foreign fields, and between 500 and 600 are laboring in the home field. Thirty per cent of the number have been elected college presidents and others have held high positions in the Lord's work. During the ten years from 1886 to 1896 the board gave $751,392 for the education of young men. New Jersey is first in educational work, as over three-fourths of her churches are contributing annually to the fund. The recent death of Dr. Poor, an efficient laborer in the interest of the board, was alluded to by the speaker feelingly.

The report of the committee on narrative was next presented by its chairman, Rev. Thomas Dyac, D. D., of Heightstown.

A discussion was caused by a portion of the report which emphasized the idea that pastors can serve their own congregation as Christ's best evangelists, and that surer and richer fruitage is gathered from the labors of earnest pastors than from the spasmodic efforts of evangeliste. A resolution offered by Rev. C. H. Payson, of Rahway, to adopt the report, with special emphasis and approval upon this paragraph, called a dozen delegates to their feet at once. It was pointed out that such a resolution would be unwise, as it might antagonize evangelists and seem a reflection upon the work of Mr. Moody. After a heated discussion lasting several minutes the Synod voted to lay the matter upon the table. The whole report was then adopted in the regular manner.

The report of the trustees of the synod was read, and the resignation of Rev. Dr. Gosman from the board was accepted with regret and Rev. Dr. Studdiford was elected in his place.

The annual report of the committee on synodical home missions was presented at 10:30 o'clock by Rev. Eben B. Cobb, D. D., of Elizabeth, for the chairman, Rev. Dr. Dixon, of Trenton. The report called special attention to the needs of missionary work in the cities within a radius of 35 miles of New York, in which teeritory there is now a population of over 1,000,000 souls. These people are not American. In many places churches have been organized where preaching was conducted in foreign languages. These peoples are now becoming Americanized in a measure by such forces as the public school. The need of work among these people is very great, and up to-date methods must be employed.

A method of work very much in favor at present is the parochial, so well illustrated in the Crescent Avenue church, of this city, which is cherishing three missions. Another method is to establish and aid a mission until it becomes self-supporting. The Hon. William M. L. Lanning, of the Presbytery of New Brunswick, the treasurer of the Synodical Home Missionary Home Fund, rendered his report, showing receipts for the year from the different Presbyteries of $16,613.89, and total receipts of $26,507.49. The amount appropriated to the different Presbyteries for the year was $16,925, of which $12,290.25 was spent in salaries for ministers of eighty-one weak churches and for the employment of missionaries. The total expenditures for the year were $22,157.77, leaving a balance on hand $4,349.72. A vote of thanks to Mr. Lanning was passed for his excellent administration of the office of treasurer of the fund.

The question of continuing the publication of "The Synod," the paper established last year by the committee, was discussed, and a resolution was passed authorizing its continuance in the discretion of the committee for another year.

The greetings of the Synod were ordered to be sent to the bretheren of Corisco, in Africa. The recommendation at the committee on Synodical Home Missions was next adopted, making assesements upon the different Presbyteries for the coming year to the amount of $17 415.39. The necorological report was rendered at 12 o'clock by Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, of Bridgeton.

The deaths occuring among members of the Synod during the past year are those of Rev. William Luke Cunningham, D. D., aged 50 years, at Point Pleasant on October 5th; Rev. Samuel H. Wallace, D. D., aged 64 at New Egypt on February 2d; Rev. John Lester Wells, aged 51, at Stillwater, N. Y., on August 29th; Rev. Oliver Crane, D. D. L. L. D., aged 75, on November 29th 1896; Rev. Stephen S. Leonard, aged 87, at Orange on February 10th; Rev. David Blumenfeld, aged 38, at Pleasantville, N. Y., on February 16th; Rev. Joshna Hall M'Aloine, D. D., aged 82; Rev. William E. Faulkner, aged 49, on June 9th; Rev. J. Foster Brewster, aged 66, on August 10th, and Rev. Henry B. Voorhees, of North Branch Station, the news of whose death the speaker stated he had just received. After a short devotional meeting an adjournment was taken at 12:30 until 2 o'clock.

Dry Goods Values.

Not ordinary every day lots at ordinary every day prices, but bargains in every sense of the word are the goods that White, the dry goods man, tells about in his advertisement. He says that never in the store history has this store displayed such a lot of fine tempting merchandise and at such remarkably low prices. Every department is at its best and they are going to beat all former records. The ad tells of silks, dress goods, suits, capes, jackets, etc., that are well worth investigating.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent Cough Remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form.—The Banner of Liberty, Libertytown, Maryland. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Two Kinds of Stores.

There probably always will be two kinds of stores. One kind is conducted in the belief that the way to win trade is to make the store the best one for people to come to. In the other kind of store all attention is given to specious methods of drawing trade and little concern given to the interests of customers when they come.

The First Kind is Our Kind.

We do not believe that any drug store can offer any worthy inducements other than excellence of service and fairness of prices. Such an inducement has built our trade and will continue to build it.

ENGLISH STRIKE TO AFFECT US.

Renewed Rumors of Sympathetic Strikes of Machinists in New York.

New York, Oct. 20.—There was more talk here yesterday of a movement in sympathy with the Amalgamated Association of Engineers, whose members are on strike in England. The International Machinists' Union of this country reperesents the same class of workmen as the Amalgamated Engineers of England, and it was said yesterday that Grand Master O'Connell, of the International Machinists' Union, who is third vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, is in communication with President Gompers, of the A. F. of L., with a view to sending financial aid to the strikers in England. There were rumors also that co-operation with the strikers in another way was contemplated.

George H. Warner is the delegate of the local lodges of the Amalgamated Engineers and the International Machinists. He said yesterday:

"If President Gompers and the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor should order a general strike in sympathy with the strikers in England we are ready to obey the command, even to the extent of calling out 50,000 members of our union in this country and Canada. They are now taking a referendum vote regarding a general demand next May for an eight-hour workday. If the vote is in favor of the demand it will be enforced by a general strike if necessary. The strike in England may precipitate matters, as we are all ready to assist our English brethren. The International Machinists' Union takes in machinists, engineers, boiler makers and men of one or two other trades."

ALASKA MILITARY RESERVATION.

It Is to Be a Large Tract, Including St. Michael and Much Mainland.

Washington, Oct. 20.—By direction of the President, an order was issued by the Secretary of War to-day establishing St. Michael, Alaska, and a large part of the near-by territory as a military reservation over which the United States will have exclusive jurisdiction. This step will be taken to permit Federal troops to assume complete charge of the maintenance of law and order at St. Michael. Recent reports from army officers and others have shown that there is a likelihood of trouble at St. Michael this Winter. A company of twenty-five infantrymen from Fort D. A. Russell, Wyoming, left Seattle a short time ago to establish a military post there, and probably have arrived by this time. It is the intention of the President and Secretary Alger to extend still further the boundaries of the reservation.

The Adjutant-General of the army yesterday received a telegram from Capt. P. H. Ray of the Fifth Infantry, who was sent to Alaska some time ago to select a site for an army post at the nearest available place on the American side, to Dawson City. The telegram was dated "Yukon River, Sept. 5," and it said that the steamer Hamilton, on which Capt. Ray was making the trip up the river, had been stopped at Fort Yukon by low water, and that no more supplies could get to the Klondike by that route this Fall. Capt. Ray said he would proceed up the river to Circle City in a whaleboat.

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS INCREASE.

Yesterday $681,423, the Largest in Any One Day Under the Dingley Law.

Washington, Oct. 20.—The customs receipts reported to the Treasury Department yesterday, $681,423, are the largest by more than $100,000 recorded in any one day since the passage of the Dingley bill. For the same day last year the customs receipts were $363,103. Treasury officials are greatly pleased with the outlook for the remainder of the fiscal year, and are more than convinced that after next Jan. 1 the receipts of the Government will be more than sufficient to meet its expenditures, and that the deficiency in the financial operations of the year will not exceed the estimate made at the time the tariff law was under discussion. So far this months the receipts have been $15,269,204, and the expenditures $21,662,000. The deficit for the fiscal year to date is $35,408,751. It is expected that November and December will show a gain of receipts over those of the corresponding months of 1896, and that the deficiency of the year will not exceed $45,000,000.

Fourth-Class Postmasters.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—Fourth-class postmasters were appointed yesterday as follows:

New Jersey — Chadwick, Ocean County, Mrs. Alida Applegate.

New York—Hartford, Cortland, John C. Jones; Fort Gibson, Ontario, Arthur D. Feller; West Branch, Oneida, Henry G. Wyman.

Pennsylvania—Chester Valley, Chester, Edwin Trainer; Gurnee, Tioga, Lewis A. Biles; Kemblesville, Chester, Frederick B. West; Neath, Bradford, Walter Upham; Powell, Bradford, Isaac Secor; Redburn, Lycoming, Herbert M. Browning; Swissvale, Allegheny, E. W. Hazeltine; Ulster, Bradford, John C. Mather; West Freedom, Clarion, Hannah G. Yingling; Yoders, Washington, James C. Kelley.

Cannot Ascend the Yukon.

Fort Yukon, Yukon River, Sept. 1, via Steamer Bertha, Seattle, Wash., Oct. 20.—The steamer Hamilton, which left St. Michaels fifteen days ago with 150 passengers for the Klondike, including a delegation of newspaper correspondents, has been here two days trying to get over the shoals. It has failed, and will probably go into Winter quarters at Munook Creek.

This means that about two thousand tons of provisions, which the people at Dawson and in the Klondike diggings along the upper stretches of the Yukon are depending upon for the Winter, will not get there.

Bayard Coming Home.

London, Oct. 20.—Sir Julian Pauncefote, British Ambassador to the United States, and Thomas F. Bayard, formerly United States Ambassador to Great Britain, will sail for New York on board the American line steamship St. Louis on Saturday.

Weyler's Day to Leave.

Havana, Oct. 20.—Gen. Weyler will sail for Spain on Saturday, Oct. 23, on the steamer Monserrat.

He will be accompanied by the Marquis Ahumada, Gen. [illegible], chief of staff, and several other officers.

Ready for Business

evidently, and the business shou'd be done by all means. Buildings require paint. Of course, a house may be left unpainted and left to become weatherbeaten and a wreck. That doesn't pay, though; it's much cheaper to paint, and our paints in all colors are the best in the market for durability under the most trying conditions. They are well adapted to our exposure and we sell everything in the line of paints and painters' supplies at short prices.

good qualities are easily determined from the poor. The solid chunks that are free from slate is the coal that brings the biggest prices. An Eminent Doctor Talks.

Gives His Experience with Capsuloids.

Dr. Oscar H. Weld, The Lodge, Fairmount Park, London, England, says, "Without iron there can be no color in the cheeks, no brightness or force in the eyes, no strength of pulse, no clearness of brain and no robust health. All doctors have been in the habit of trying many forms of iron. All these were acid preparations of metallic iron. Capsuloids, however, are entirely different, being composed of iron extracted from the blood of bullocks in its natural form. I have demonstrated in my practice that it is suitable for the weakest women and children. I know I have cured seven cases of anæmia of different kinds, and am confident that I will cure many more who are anæmic.

Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids are sold by all leading druggists at 50 cents per large box, six boxes for $2.50, or sent direct at the same price from The Capsuloid Company, Downing Building, 108 Fulton Street, New York.

Trusses! Rupture! Trusses!

Dr. Marcley has opened a branch office at No. 325 West Second street, corner Central avenue, Plainfield, for the treatment of rupture 20 years experience and the most modern appliances warrants satisfactory results. No occasion to go to New York for what you can get better at home. Irreducible, difficult and complicated cases solicited. The treatment of rupture, whether mechanical or otherwise, most properly belongs to a surgeon of long experience in that particular line. No charge for examination or advice. Hours 9-12 a. m., 1-4 p. m. and evenings

The Tables Turned.

We have almost solved the servant girl problem.

Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.

The tables are turned, and we have turned them.

We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.

Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "

What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

Better Read Our Carpet Ad.

—while all our "store news" aims to interest you, not in fancy words, but in prices that tell values, this carpet story is rare indeed.

A 37 years' experience tells us how to buy popular patterns in reliable weaves—enormous purchases before tariff rise lets us put prices lower than they've ever been before—and the two floors given over to floor coverings mean a big stock for you to pick from.

MR. DANA'S FUNERAL.

The New York Press Club Attend His Funeral in a Body.

New York, Oct. 20.—In honor of the memory of Charles A. Dana the officers and members of the New York Press Club attended the funeral in a body. The services were held in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, in Glen Cove, L. I., at 11.15 this morning, and were conducted by Rev. Dr. William R. Huntington, rector of Grace Church, this city, assisted by Rev. John Gamack, rector of St. Paul's, Glen Cove. They were simple in character. The pallbearers were ten of Mr. Dana's closest friends—Theodore Hitchcock, treasurer of the Sun Publishing Company; Prof. Arnold Arboretum of Harvard University, the famous arboriculturist; William M. Laffan, publisher; Mayo W. Hazeltine, literary editor, and E. P. Mitchell and F. P. Church, editorial writers of the Sun; Justice Willard Bartlett, of Brooklyn; Frank Bartlett, Gen. James H. Wilson and Chester S. Lord, managing editor of the Sun.

The absence of more than a brief announcement of Mr. Dana's death in the Sun was due to this request made to his son:

"Paul, when I am gone don't have a long obituary of me printed in the Sun. Simply announce my going away; that is all."

Charles Anderson Dana was born in Hinsdale, N. H., Aug. 8, 1819. He went to Buffalo when he was 14 years old to take a clerkship in his uncle's dry-goods store. Six years later he entered Harvard, but was not graduated. His eyesight had failed him.

He became a member of the Brook Farm Community, combining manual labor and the discussion and study of philosophy. He took his first lessons in journalism there.

Mr. Dana became the friend and coworker on the Tribune with Horace Greeley in 1848. His connection with the Tribune lasted until 1862. Then he accepted a subordinate position under Secretary Stanton in the War Department.

President Lincoln called him the "eyes of the Government at the front."

After the war Mr. Dana returned to journalism. His first venture was the Chicago Republican. It started in 1867. On Jan. 27, 1868, he became chief shareholder in the New York Sun and editor-in-chief. It was Republican at first, but when Greeley ran for President it became a Liberal Democratic paper. Recently it became again avowedly a Republican paper, and this was one of Mr. Dana's last acts in shaping the policy of the paper.

Mr. Dana was a great reader, and found time to write and edit books. He edited the New American Cyclopedia, and made the collection of poems known as the "Household Book of Poetry." With Gen. James Grant Wilson he wrote a "Life of Ulysses S. Grant," and edited with Rossiter Johnson "Fifty Perfect Poems."

IS CORBETT A QUITTER?

No Good Reason Why He Shouldn't Accept Maher's Challenge.

New York, Oct. 20.—"Jim" Corbett should accept Peter Maher's challenge at once and fight him for $5,000 a side and the championship of the world, or else do the same cowardly trick as Fitzsimmons did by retiring from the ring.

Every sporting man in this country, since Maher issued his challenge to fight Corbett, claims that Corbett is supposed to fight Maher just as much as he is shouting that Fitzsimmons should fight him, and unless he does so sooner or later "Pompadour Jim" will be looked upon as a quitter.

There is not a chance on earth of Corbett being able to form an excuse for not fighting Maher. As Maher is not the champion of the world, and furthermore has repeatedly stated that he would not accept it by default, he should therefore show the American public that he is still a genuine fighter, and not a coward, by accepting Maher's challenge and fight him for the championship.

Corbett by meeting Maher would not only make friends all over the world, but he would also be able to make thousands of dollars before the fight was decided.

Platt Urges McKinley.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Congressman Fisher, of New York, was with the President yesterday. It was said that he came as an emissary from Senator Platt to Mr. McKinley, urging that the latter at once make public a letter indorsing Gen. Tracy and the Platt ticket and asking the Republicans of Greater New York to vote for them.

This Mr. Fisher denied, but he admitted that the New York situation was the burden of the conversation.

Jailed for His Dog's Sake.

Paterson, N. J., Oct. 20.—As a result of the efforts of the police to bring delinquent dog owners to time, Thomas O'Hanlon was sent to jail yesterday for ten days for failing to pay his dog license. He said that he could not afford to pay the money, and his children were so attached to the dog that he could not send it away.

Mr. Langtry at Rest.

London, Oct. 20.—The funeral of Edward Langtry, husband of Lily Langtry, who died in the asylum for the insane at Chester Friday night, took place yesterday.

Mrs. Langtry sent a wreath tied with large silk ribbons of turquoise and fawn, representing her racing colors.

Fine Display of Millinery.

Ladies, who have visited the millinary department at Lederer's are well pleased with the exceptionally fine display. Unusual good taste has been shown in the selection of goods, including an almost endless variety of untrimmed hats and bonnets and assortment of beautiful feathers, palms, birds, novelties, etc. Prices are comparatively low for the grade of goods handled. At present the workroom is crowded with orders, which is evidence of the popularity of this department. The designing and trimming is under the supervision of Miss Flanagan, whose ability as a milliner is well known.

A WHEELMAN AT COURT.

Wanted Damages for Injury to Himself and Wheel.

A case of considerable interest to all wheelmen came up for trial in Justice Nash's court, yesterday. It was that of James Babbitt against Lorenzo Paoli, in tort, for $200 damages, alleged to have been caused by Paoli running into Babbitt. The latter is the well-known colored special officer. The trouble occurred on August 3d, when Babbitt was riding down Park avenue at night. Paoli drove in from East Front street and claims that he had to turn in quickly to avoid a trolley car. At any rate they came together and Babbitt was banged up and his wheel smashed.

Babbitt was represented by Francis J. Blatz, of Murphy & Blatz, while Walter L. Hetfield was attorney for the defendant. The case was tried before Justice Nash and a jury of twelve men. After being out for an hour the jury brought in a verdict of six cents damages and costs.

CHARTER MEMBER SUES ORDER.

Mrs. Sadie Jones Claims That Rathbone Sisters Will Not Pay Her Benefits.

Proceedings are to be started at once against Minerva Temple, No. 4, Rathbone Sisters, by Mrs. Sadie Jones, one of its charter members, who claims that she has been defrauded of benefits that accured to her through a six weeks' illness.

She was taken ill last year and was confined to the house for several weeks. She made application for the benefit according to the rules of the organization, but did not get what she claims she was entitled to.

Mrs. Jones claims that when she presented her claim she was told by the officers of the association that there was not sufficient funds in the treasury to pay it with. She placed the matter in the hands of her legal attorneys, Murphy & Blatz.

Then she was told that there was money but that there were previous claims that must be paid first and that she would have to wait her turn.

Now her lawyers will bring suit for $100 in Justice Nash's court against that secret organization.

DISCIPLINE DEMANDED.

ECHO OF FAMOUS SIGNATURES FOR PRINCETON INN LIQUOR LICENSE.

Lively Controversy Aroused in the Presbyterian Synod, But Amicably Settled This Morning—Other Business Transacted.

What portended to be the most serious controversy in the synodical convention in session in the Crescent Avenue church was amicably settled this morning after hanging fire since yesterday afternoon. It was an echo of the excitement caused last May when the liquor license application was signed by a number of promenent men, among them ex-President Cleveland.

The report of the committee on temperance, which was read late in the afternoon by the chairman, Rev. J. DeHart Bruen, caused a sensation by its recommendation that the Synod "enjoin the Presbytery of New Brunswick to examine, if it has not already done so, into the alleged signing of a liquor license by one of its members, and if true to administer such discipline as the case may warrant." The resolution referred to Rev. Charles Woodruff Shields, D. D., LL. D., professor of the harmony of science and revealed religion in Princeton University, who is said to have signed the license application of the Princeton Inn last May.

Members of the Presbytery sprang to their feet to protest against the resolution. The minutes of the Presbytery were read, and showed that the matter had been sidetracked by the committee appointed to investigate it. The excitement was running very high when some member made the happy suggestion that an adjournment of the business session be taken until Thursday morning, which was immediately done.

At 11:30 o'clock today the vice-moderator, Rev. Wm. Richards, D.D., took the chair and the report of the committee on temperance was read, the presentation of which caused such excitement in the Synod yesterday.

The chairman of the committee, Rev. J. DeHart Bruen, stated that it was the desire of his committee to avoid if possible all unpleasant friction in the matter of the Presbytery of New Brunswick, and that it had amended the resolution offered yesterday, to read as follows:

"Resolved, That since the General Assembly has called upon the churches to exclude from membership all persons engaged in the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, and considers as accomplices those who sign liquor licenses, this Synod urges the Presbytery of New Brunswick to press to a speedy conclusion the examination already begun of the alleged signing of liquor licenses by one of the members, and to take such action as the case may warrant."

Rev. J. R. Galloway, of Paterson, made a spirited appeal to the synod to stand by the deliverances of the General Assembly by passing the resolution. He said that the question was a most serious one, as the scandal had gone through the length and breadth of the country, and Christian people everywhere were looking to see what the great Presbyterian church was going to do about it.

The session yesterday afternoon was called to order by Rev. Dr. Richards, the vice-moderator, at 2:05 o'clock. Rev. B. L. Agnew, D. D., of Philadelphia, spoke in explanation of the work of the board of ministerial relief, which is designed to furnish aid to disabled ministers and the widows and orphans of ministers. The speaker stated that the average amount allowed by the board to destitute families is $207 a year, and that in doing this it had incurred a debt of $30,000.

The annual report of the committee on foreign missions was rendered at 2:30 o'clock by Rev.

The gravity of the missionary situation can be understood when it is known that the board's debt of $50,000 of last year has now grown to $100,000.

The report ended with an appeal to the churches not to neglect the work of foreign missions, but to show the workers in the foreign field that their work is appreciated, by a suitable generosity. Rev. Dr. Hunter Corbett, of China, and Rev. J. C. R. Ewing, of India, will continue the committee's campaign of enlightenment, going to all the churches in the State and presenting to them the cause of foreign missions.

The annual report of the committee on work among the foreign population was presented by Rev. Alfred Erdman, D. D., of Morristown. The report called attention to the fact that great foreign populations exist within the State, many of them in need of pastors speaking their own language and familiar with their habits of thought and life. GROOM A STAR STATE MAN

CHARLES D. STILLMAN CAME FROM TEXAS TO TAKE BACK A WIFE.

Miss Grace Darling Barlow the Charming Bride—Nuptial Knot Tied at the Home of Bride's Parents Last Evening.

The weather last evening was not exactly ideal for the occasion of a wedding but it served its purpose in showing the contrast between the chill and darkness outside and the joy and happiness that completely filled the home of William Barlow, at 40 Prospect place, when his eldest daughter, Miss Grace Darling Barlow, was united in marriage to Charles Delette Stillman, formerly of this city, and now a rising young engineer of Texas.

The marriage was a quiet affair and was held at the bride's home last evening at 6:30 o'clock. The immediate family and relatives of the two young people, numbering fifty, were present and attended the wedding supper that followed.

Rev. Dr. E. M. Rodman, of this city, performed the ceremony in the parlor under a bower of pink ribbons and flowers, which radiated from all corners of the room to the chandelier in the centre of the ceiling, under which the bridal couple knelt. The bride wore a gown of white organdie, trimmed with Valencinnes lace, and carried a white prayer book. The maid of honor was the sister of the bride, Miss Alice Adele Barlow, who was charmingly gowned in light green. The bride was attended by her two little sisters, Marion and Kate Barlow, both clad in white, and her small twin cousins, Jeffrey and Thomas Wisner, of Warwick, N. Y. They wore Tuxedo coats and knickerbockers.

The best man was Edwin A. Howell, of Chester, Pa., an old college friend of the groom. The bridal party entered to the strains of the Mendelssohn wedding march played by Rogers orchestra.

After the ceremony, the guests gathered round to congratulate the couple and then all went into the handsomely decorated dining room where the wedding supper was served. The prevailing color of the decorations in the dining room was green. The library was decorated in scarlet.

Although it was a private wedding, the couple were generously remembered by their friends and were the recipients of many handsome and valuable gifts.

Among those present were relatives from Scranton, Brooklyn, Warwick and Brookville.

The newly-married couple were expected to take the 10:17 train for New York from the North Avenue station, but they did not. A party of their friends were at the station to see them off, but when they did not arrive, the friends took the train and went to Fanwood where they welcomed the bridal party with a plentiful shower of rice as they started to board the train there. They had driven there. The party accompanied them to Westfield and then returned by the next train.

They will settle at Sabine Pass, Texas, and will visit some of the principal cities en route. They will winter at the Winsor Hotel, Sabine Pass.

What is Your Crop Product?

The United States Agricultural Department wishes to know the actual number of bushels of wheat, rye and corn, and acreage of each, grown in each county. Will the farmers of Union county kindly send card with such information to Ira C. Lambert, Westfield. If the actual amount is not known, an estimate can be given. Corn must be in shelled bushels.

An Approaching Marriage.

Miss Mary Ann Lewis, daughter of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Lewis, and Benjamin Franklin Langworthy, of Chicago, will be united in marriage at the home of the bride on West Seventh street, on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. A reception will follow at the residence of James S. Kimball, of Park avenue, brother-in-law of the bride.

Queen Esther Band's Contribution.

The members of Queen Esther Band, of Grace M. E. church, has contributed $30 to the church to help pay the interest on the amount due for the purchase of a lot. The band has also contributed $30 toward a home on the Hudson for the education of young girls and have arranged to send some clothing to a young girl at the home whom they are supporting.

Class Officers Chosen.

A meeting of the class of '98 of Leals School has been held and officers elected. Orville T. Waring was chosen president, Willard Wadsworth secretary and Henry W. Leal treasurer. A committee, composed of Lester Glenny, J. P. Wells Taylor and Paul Kimball, was appointed to procure designs for a class pin.

MASTER PLAYS IN WHIST

PARK CLUB WON A HARD FOUGHT BATTLE WITH THE NORTH ENDS.

The Game Was Played in the Park Clubhouse and Was Marked by an Intense Interest—Senator Reed Was Referee—Score.

It was only by the masterly playing of the famous whist four of the Park Club that the handsome silver trophy, offered by that club to the New Jersey Whist Association, now remains in this city. Last evening the Parks had to defend it against their greatest rivals in the State, the North End Club, of Newark. Both teams were playing in championship form but the Parks again demonstrated that they were entitled to the name of champions of the State and won the match after a wonderful finish.

The North End Club's four consisted of Messrs. Cameron, Eagles, Smith and Archer. Messrs. Cameron and Eagles are members of the team that defeated Baltimore's great team for the A. W. L. challenge trophy and there are no better players anywhere. The clubs have met at the whist table many times and the victories have been about evenly divided. The regular four from the Park Club, Messrs. McCutchen, Townsend, Howell and Rogers, was ready to meet them. Senator Charles A. Reed acted as referee.

The first round was carefully played, and the visitors took the lead, 5 tricks to their opponents 2. The second round was a hard struggle. Two sides made a splendid showing, but they were remarkably evenly matched, and when the round was over the score showed 9 tricks for the North Ends and 8 for the Parks. That gave the visitors a lead of four tricks, an extremely hard one to overcome against such a quartette of experts.

When the third and last round began, the Park Club four was divided in its strongest manner, Messrs. McCutchen and Townsend at one table and Messrs. Howell and Rogers at the other. The interest was intense. No sound save the noise of the cards as they were played broke the stillness. The Parks gradually assumed the lead and increased it until the end when the score showed that they had scored 6 tricks to their opponents none, giving them the victory by two tricks. The summarized score was as follows:

	PARKS.	NORTH ENDS.
First round	2	5
Second round	8	9
Third round	6	0
Total	16	14

E. E. ANTHONY A CHAIRMAN.

Committee Appointments in County Endeavor Society.

Frederick Williams, of Rahway, president of the Union County Christian Endeavor Union, has made the following committee appointments:

Evangelistic, E. E. Anthony, chairman, of Plainfield; Simon Lerch, of Elizabeth; E R. Brown, of Rahway; J. M. Hawkins, of Plainfield; B. A. Chamberlain, of Westfield; Bible study, C. C. Pierson, chairman, of Westfield; L. H. Biglow, of Plainfield; E W. T. Faint, of Elizabeth; junior work, Mrs. H. M. Lowry, chairman, of Plainfield; Mrs. Joseph D. Lowden, of Elizabeth; Miss Florence Bogert, of Roselle; Miss Anna Brumgartner, of Rahway; Miss Jennie M. Stiles, of Springfield; Mrs. M. E. Maxson, of Plainfield.

The action of President Williams and Secretary Wilson in sending out addresses in support of the anti-race-track gambling amendment was approved, and the various sections of the county referred to the efforts made by the Endeavorers.

Y. M. C. A. Star Course.

The Y. M. C. A. Star Course of entertainments for 1897-8 will open on Monday evening next, Oct. 25th, with a lecture by William Blaikie, Esq. This will be followed on later dates by "Judge" Wm. B. Green, Lovett's Boston Stars and others, as advertised in another column. The course, taken as a whole, is the best that has ever been offered by the association in the new building. It will be admitted that the price of the course tickets, $1.25, for six such fine entertainments, is very reasonable and affords an opportunity for many to take advantage of.

Ladies Aid Elect Officers.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of Warren chapel was held in the chapel Tuesday afternoon at which time the following were elected as officers of the society: President, Mrs. A. V. D. Honeyman; secretary, Mrs. J. W. Gavet. The treasurer is Mrs. Gillies who is elected for one year and her time was not out. The members decided to hold a social in the chapel two weeks from today.

Directors to Meet.

A meeting of the directors of the Plainfield Building and Loan Association will be held this evening at the office of W. R. Codington.

WHELAN-FLANAGAN MARRIAGE SOLEMNIZED IN ST. MARY'S CHURCH.

The Ceremony Performed by Rev. Father Smyth and Witnessed by a Concourse of Friends—Reception at Bride's Parents

The essence of happiness was observed last evening in the marriage of Miss Margaret Flanagan, second daughter of Patrolman and Mrs. Patrick J. Flanagan, of 522 West Fifth street, and Michael J. Whelan, of 547 West Fifth street, which took place at 5:30 in St. Mary's church. This edifice was filled with admirers of the happy young couple, who are so well known among a large circle of acquaintances. The interior of the edifice about the altar presented a festal appearance, around which was arranged palms and chrysanthemums.

Soon after the church was opened the friends and relatives arrived and were seated by the ushers, D. J. Galbraith, Edward Flynn, Charles Ward and Michael Mack, while Miss Mary Smith, the organist, rendered classical selections appropriate to the occasion.

The bridal party was precisely on time, their arrival being announced by the first notes of the Lohengrin wedding march. The ushers appeared first, followed by the maid of honor, Miss Catherine Millett, cousin of the bride, who wore a becoming gown of organdie, over blue silk, and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Then came the bride, an attractive blonde, exquisitely gowned in white brocaded moire, en traine. A veil was worn, which was caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a prayer book, and entered leaning on the arm of her father, who gave her away.

The groom and best man, John Whelan, brother of the groom, entered from the front of the church, and met the bridal party at the altar, where the beautiful ceremony of the Catholic church was performed by Rev. Father P. E. Smyth, the pastor. Following the ceremony, the Mendelssohn wedding march was rendered as the bride and groom left the church. The party was then taken to the home of the bride's parents, where a reception was held for the relatives of the contracting parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Whelan received their guests in the parlor beneath an arch of smilax and white chrysanthemums, and they were showered with the best wishes of all. The table in the dining room was decorated with the colors of green and white, presenting a very pretty scene. During the reception hours supper was served, after which the young folks enjoyed some dancing and a general good time.

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Whelan left for a ten days' wedding trip, and on their return they will reside at Greenville, where the groom has a home already furnished and awaiting them. The groom is employed as a salesman in a large wholesale shoe house in New York, and is highly thought of. The estimation and popularity of the bride and groom were strongly evidenced in the large collection of costly and useful presents received, including furniture, silverware, cutglass, china, etc.

When they left the house they were very kindly remembered by the guests who were very sure to give them their full allowance of rice, accompanied by their hearty congratulations.

There were guests present from Easton, Newark, New York, Bridgeport, Conn., and Plainfield.

HAPPILY SURPRISED.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Carney's Friends Remember Their Wedding Anniversary.

Last evening Mrs. John H. Carney returned from Grace M. E church to find her home in Craig place in possession of her many friends, congratulating her on her sixteenth wedding anniversary. The surprise was indeed complete. Even Mr. Carney, when he returned from his lodge, was more than surprised to find they had taken possession. The evening was delightfully spent in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Carney many happy days. During the evening Mrs. George Voehl rendered several pleasing solos, accompanied by Mrs. John Kulp. Dancing was enjoyed until midnight, when refreshments were served, after which all returned to their homes wishing Mr. and Mrs. Carney long life and happiness.

BOYS ACCUSED OF THEFT

POLICE BELIEVE THERE IS A BAND OF YOUTHFUL BURGLARS.

Ferdinand Rockafellow and Albert Soper Accused of Breaking Into S. Frucht's Bicycle Store—Admit They are Guilty.

Two arrests have been made as a result of the investigations of the police about the scene of the Frucht robbery, Monday night. The evidence now unearthed points out that an organized gang of young men and boys were the burglars that entered Sigmund Frucht's bicycle establishment and the suspicion rests that they have been prominent in other of the burglaries committed.

The clew that finally led to the arrests was found by the police on investigation. It was an ordinary chisel that had been used as a jimmy to force open the money drawer. The burglars had evidently brought it with them and thrown it away when they had finished. There were several peculiarities about it, however, that led the police to trace its identity and then to locate the young men at whom the evidence pointed very strongly. Sergeant Kiely has been working at the case since it was made known to the police and claims to have a web of evidence that will send the two young men to State prison for the offence.

This morning, Sergeant Kiely captured Ferdinand Rockafellow, sixteen years old, and placed him under arrest. A complaint was made against him by Sigmund Frucht before Justice Newcorn and a warrant issued for his apprehension. It was served at once. Another warrant was issued for Albert Soper, of Central avenue, a lad eighteen years of age, who is employed in the store of the Co-operative Association, and he was arrested. The charge against both of the lads is burglars.

It is alleged that they are members of the gang that invaded the place Monday night and stole the revolvers from Frucht's bicycle store.

When confronted with the evidence the boys made a clean breast of the whole affair and implicated others who are said to be in the gang. More arrests will probably follow.

In connection with the arrest of the boys a man employed on an ice wagon was arrested this afternoon, charged with receiving stolen goods.

TO BE KNOWN AS CRESCENT RINK.

Designation Applied to the Big Structure on Watchung Avenue.

There has been lots of discussion over the real name of the Pierce Cycle Academy, on Watchung avenue, where the Spielkartenfest is to be held November 8-13. The committee in charge has finally announced that it will be called the Crescent Rink, the name by which it is best known to fame, and all the notices, tickets and bills for the Spielkartenfest will be made out with that name. The Crescent Rink is the old name for the place and while it has not been much used of late, it is far better known throughout the city and among the residents of other towns in this vicinity by that name.

Justice Newcorn's Court.

The contract cases of Thompson against Smith and Thompson against Smith et als., were adjourned before Justice Newcorn, yesterday afternoon. The trouble between the strikers at the Berkley Heights brick yards and their employers, Macaroni & Varette, which finally resulted in suits being brought against the employers for wages, were settled yesterday and the cases discontinued, the employers paying the full amount demanded and the costs.

A Young Man Held Up.

Charles Foley, aged 18 years, of East Third street, was held up last Monday evening about 9 o'clock near Thorn's laundry. The two strangers wore dark clothes with slouch hats One was tall and the other short. A small crowd of men standing on the corner of Richmond and Third streets heard the disturbance and gave chase. The highwaymen had too much advantage, however, and escaped toward the gravel pit.

Endowment Policy Paid.

The endowment policy of $1,000 held by the late N. M. Vestergaard, in Court Plainfield, No. 1144, Independent Order of Foresters, has been paid to his brother, M. M. Vestergaard, by Court Deputy Jos. Bird. Only eleven days elapsed from the death of the holder of the policy until the claim was settled in full.

Arrangements for Ball.

Last Monday evening at the meeting of the members of Engine Company No. 2, final arrangements were made for the ball to take place November 12th in Washington Hall. After the meeting supper was served. The honorary guests present included Mayor Fisk, and Councilmen Runyon and Newman.

LARGE CHURCH WEDDING

MARRIAGE OF CHARLES H. HALL AND MISS ELIZABETH TICE.

The Groom is the Well-Known Pharmacist of This City and the Bride a Popular Young Woman of Perth Amboy.

Charles H. Hall, the well-known pharmacist of this city, was wedded to Miss Elizabeth Tice, of Perth Amboy, last evening. Miss Tice is the daughter of Former Assemblyman George Tice. The ceremony was performed at 6 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church, Rev. G. B. Van Dyke officiating, assisted by Rev. J. H. Owens, of Paterson, Mr. Hall's former pastor in Perth Amboy. Miss Tice has been prominent in Perth Amboy society for several years, and the attendance at the wedding was extremely large. The maid of honor was Miss May Burns, of Brooklyn.

The bride's gown was of ivory satin and tulle, with diamond ornaments, and she carried a huge bouquet of white bridal roses. Her mother wore black satin, with diamond ornaments. Miss Burns was in yellow silk and she carried yellow chrysanthemums. The best man was John H. Hall, of Fishkill-on-the-Hudson, a brother of the bridegroom. The ushers were Benjamin Selover, Jr., of Brooklyn; John Powers, of Plainfield, and Harry Conard and E. J. McCormick, of Perth Amboy. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, at High and Market streets. Mr. and Mrs. Hall left last night for their wedding tour, and will then make their home in North Plainfield, at 66 Duer street.

The church, which is one of the largest in Perth Amboy, was filled to the doors, about three hundred guests being present. The platform and pulpit was handsomely decorated with cut flowers, potted plants and palms.

The residence of Mr. Tice, where the reception was held, was also handsomely decorated for the occasion. The wedding supper was served there.

Among those present were Miss Mary K. Jobs. Olaf Sangsted, and others of this city; John C. Ersele and family, of Newark; and Mrs. Julia Hall, mother of the bridegroom, of Fishkill-on-the-Hudson.

CHARGED WITH PERJURY.

Edwin S. Wheeler Arrested by Two United States Marshals.

Edwin S. Wheeler, of West Front street, was arrested about 11 o'clock this morning by two United States Marshals on a charge of perjury. The marshals applied to Chief Grant for assistance in finding the man and he detailed Sergeant Kiely on the case. After a brief search they located the culprit at his home, where his wife is quite ill. Wheeler came here from New York State, but had not yet secured a position.

It is alleged that Wheeler committed perjury by making affidavit that a child was alive that had been dead for five years.

Another Marriage at St. Mary's.

Last evening at St. Mary's R. C. church at 7 o'clock took place the marriage of Miss Caroline Roth, daughter of Martin Roth, of Exchange alley, to Emil Scheidecker, of West Front street. The bride and groom were attended by Miss Anna Burns, as bridesmaid, and Arthur Matthews, both of this city. Rev. Father P. E. Smyth, pastor of the church, officiated. After the ceremony, the bridal party were taken to Vine street, North Plainfield, where Mr. and Mrs. Scheidecker will reside in a house already furnished. This morning they left for Newark where they will enjoy a short wedding trip.

Tea to be Given by Trinity Church Ladies.

The tea to be held this evening at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Tier, of Bank place, under the auspices of the Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church, promises to be a very enjoyable affair, and as the entire proceeds are to be used toward furnishing the auditorium of the church, it is hoped it will be liberally patronized by the friends of the church.

University Extension Lectures.

The University Extension lectures will begin on Tuesday with a lecture by Prof. A. M. Wheeler, who spoke last winter before the Monday Afternoon Club. It will aid the committee if all subscribers will get their tickets at Armstrong's drug store without delay. A few tickets may be obtained by non subscribers at the same place or from I. L. Miller or A. H. Atterbury.

Landmark Torn Down.

The old house on Race street, formerly owned by the late Aaron Allen, was torn down yesterday. This house is one of the oldest in the borough and was a landmark. The dilapidated condition of the building was an eyesore, hence its removal.

NO LUETGERT VERDICT

Jury Discusses the Case in Vain for Sixty Hours.

WILL PROBABLY DISAGREE

"Verdict Impossible in a Hundred Years," Two of the Jurors Declare—Majority Said to Be in Favor of Conviction.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—The jury in the case of Adolph L. Luetgert, the sausage maker, who has been on trial for the murder of his wife, had not reached a verdict at 4.15 this morning.

The jury has been out sixty hours. The case was put in its hands at 4.45 o'clock on Monday afternoon.

Although statements have been published that the jury stands 11 to 1 in favor of conviction, it is known that they are incorrect. Three of the jurors—Harley, Holabird and Behmiller—have stuck out for the prisoner since the beginning, and it is not likely that they will yield soon, if they do at all. At 9 o'clock last night it was given out, unofficially yet authoritatively, that Judge Tuthill would not discharge the jury as long as there was any possibility of a verdict being reached. He will keep the jury out as long as its members can stand the physical strain, and it is not improbable that there will be no final announcement of a verdict or a disagreement within a week.

At 10.35 yesterday morning Judge Tuthill sent word to the jail to have Luetgert brought over to the court, and the prisoner was brought in soon afterward. Shortly after his arrival the jury sent for Judge Tuthill and told him that it could not agree. The Judge told them to deliberate a few hours longer and attempt to reach an agreement. He then left the jury room.

In response to a question from Judge Tuthill as to whether there was any particular point upon which special instruction was desired, the foreman replied that there was not. He said that the jury seemed to be hopelessly divided, and that he saw no possibility of bringing about an agreement.

The jury asked the Judge if it might throw out the evidence of Nicholas Faber, who said that he heard screams issuing from the factory on the night of May 1, and the testimony of the Schimpke girls, who said that they saw Luetgert and his wife enter the factory on that night. The Judge informed them that the matter was entirely in their hands and that they could do as they saw fit. Before the jury resumed its deliberations two jurors said that an agreement could not be reached in a hundred years.

There is a great deal of betting on the result. Even money is offered on acquittal and odds of 1 to 3 on disagreement and 5 to 1 against conviction.

The court room in which the trial was held has been stripped of every portable object by souvenir fiends. Pieces of wood have been cut out of desks, chairs, benches and tables, and even Judge Tuthill's gavel and inkstand have been carried away.

A New $1 Greenback.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Secretary Gage, Assistant Vanderlys and Treasurer Roberts yesterday examined a sketch of the proposed new $1 notes submitted by Superintendent Johnson, of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. It is a radical departure from all previous designs, showing a large space of white paper front and back. An eagle with extended wings hovering over the flag and the capitol is the only illustration on the face, and in the corners 1 in scroll work. The back is very plain, consisting largely of a border in geometrical lathe designs. The officials were greatly pleased with the sketch, and, although no formal conclusion was reached, it will doubtless be adopted. The $1 bill will be a greenback. A scheme is under consideration to vary the colors of the other denominations, as is done in Australia, and is looked upon with favor.

This the Great Steel Country.

London, Oct. 21.—The Pall Mall Gazette yesterday afternoon, in a long article on American competition in the iron and steel industries, said:

"To-day we find the United States not only challenging our supremacy in neutral markets, but even obtaining a foothold in England."

In conclusion the Pall Mall Gazette remarked: "The causes which are giving the United States such a favorable position are permanent, and everything points to the United States remaining the cheapest steel-producing country in the world."

Pullman to Be Buried on Saturday.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—The funeral of Mr. George M. Pullman will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the burial will be at Graceland, this city, instead of at Albion, N. Y., as had been expected. The pallbearers have not been named, but will be chosen from Mr. Pullman's associates and club friends.

WAS HE INNOCENT OF MURDER?

A Man Set Free Who Once Was Saved from the Gallows by a Reporter.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 21.—An interesting case was decided by the Board of Pardons last evening. Silas R. Gray, convicted of murder in Westmoreland County in 1877, sentenced to death, which sentence subsequently was commuted to life imprisonment, will now go free. Mrs. Mary McCready had mysteriously disappeared, and fifteen months later some boys fishing in a stream on the boundaries of Westmoreland County found a skull which the Coroner decided was that of the missing woman, and Gray was brought to trial from the penitentiary after having served a term for horse stealing Just before his trial Smiley Ward was tried for the atrocious murder of the Mean sisters. The jury surprised the community by bringing in a verdict of murder in the second degree, and the people were so incensed that the jurors were threatened with mob vengeance. Under these circumstances Gray was brought to trial with four of the jurors in the Ward case sitting in judgment on his case. He was convicted and sentenced to death.

Fifty-one of the lawyers of Westmoreland County and court officials asked a commutation, but all appeals failed, and the day for Gray's execution was fixed. George H. Welshons, a newspaper man of Pittsburg, happened in Harrisburg, and being a native of Westmoreland County, knew something of the Gray case. While looking over a Harrisburg newspaper Welshons read an item in an obscure part of the paper about a postal card which was received by the editor from an illiterate stranger named Hiram Bowmaster. It was not dated from any place and read:

"It is all wrong to hang Silas Gray, as Jack Pettis confessed to me in the Western penitentiary that he done the deed."

Welshons went to the newspaper office, secured the postal card, had an interview with the railway postal superintendent in this city, got a clew from the almost illegible postmark on the card, and after traveling two days in a snow storm discovered Bowmaster in the foothills of the South Mountains. Pretending that he was counsel for Gray, he obtained from Bowmaster an affidavit concerning the Pettis confession. Returning to Harrisburg as quickly as possible, he had a midnight interview with Gov. Pattison, who commuted the death sentence to life imprisonment. There was barely time to get to Greensburg before the execution, but the official document arrived in time, and Gray, who had watched the carpenters erect his scaffold, was overjoyed at his escape.

Two months before Pettis' sentence expired he hanged himself in his cell because he feared being taken back to Westmoreland County for trial for the McCready murder. His suicide practically established the truth of his confession and confirmed Bowmaster's story. Welshons, the newspaper correspondent, continued his efforts in Gray's behalf, and had the satisfaction of seeing a pardon recommended last night.

KILLED HIS FAMILY.

A Farmer Shoots His Wife and Two Sons, and Then Kills Himself.

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 21.—Domestic and financial troubles, resulting in an unbalanced mind, were the cause of a quadruple murder at Blue Earth City, Minn., this morning.

George Young, a farmer and local politician, residing two miles south of Blue Earth City, in a fit of melancholy murdered his wife and two children, and then blew out his brains.

The details of the tragedy cannot be learned, but about 7 o'clock, while Mrs. Young was busy with her household cares, her husband entered the room in which she was working and fired two shots at her from a revolver.

The first shot entered her left side, three inches from the heart, and the second passed in behind the left ear, lodging in the brain. Young then went upstairs, where his two sons, aged 2 and 4, were sleeping, and sent a bullet through the head of each.

He then placed the revolver against his own head and fired. A hired man heard the shooting, and rushed into the house, finding Mrs. Young and the children dead, while Young still showed signs of life. He died, however, before medical assistance arrived.

SCROFULA

It is Foul Blood's Advertisement

But It is Soon Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Yes, Scrofula, if anything, may be called the advertisement of foul blood. It is the scourge of the world—offensive, painful, debilitating, stubborn and well nigh unendurable.

Outward applications do not cure, they only drive the difficulty to new quarters. Emollients may palliate, they cannot abolish the evil. There is but one sure way out, and that is to eliminate the taint from the blood.

There is one remedy that can effect this, and it is the only one that, so far as we know, has almost invariably succeeded—even where the system has been poisoned by long years of taint, and the ravages to be repaired are tremendous. That remedy is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this:

"My daughter was afflicted with impure blood. There were running sores all over her body and they caused her much suffering. We tried medicines that were recommended as blood purifiers, but could not see that they did any good. A friend told me about Hood's Sarsaparilla and I began giving the girl this medicine. The result was that she was perfectly cured after taking a few bottles. She has had no symptoms of scrofula sores since that time." MARIETTA M. SMITH, South Middleboro, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier. Insist upon Hood's; take no substitute.

Hood's Pills act harmoniously with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The Grandest Remedy.

Mr. R. B. Greeve, merchant, of Chilhowie, Va., certifies that he had consumption, was given up to die, sought all medical treatment that money could procure, tried all cough remedies he could hear of, but got no relief; spent many nights sitting up in a chair; was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery, and was cured by use of two bottles. For past three years has been attending to business, and says Dr. King's New Discovery is the grandest remedy ever made, as it has done so much for him and also for others in his community. Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed for Coughs, Colds and Consumption. It don't fail. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Something to Know.

It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centres in the stomach, gently stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50c or $1.00 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

Edwin A. Howell, of Chester, Pa., is the guest of his aunt, Mrs. A. E Whiting, of East Sixth street.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent Cough Remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form.—The Banner of Liberty, Libertytown, Maryland. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

The Misses Laura and Jessie Capron, of Ogdensberg, N. Y., have returned home after a visit with their cousin, Miss Ernestine Smith, of Madison avenue.

Those who believe chronic diarrhœa to be incurable should read what Mr. P. E. Grisham, of Gaars Mills, La., has to say on the subject, viz.: "I have been a sufferer from chronic diarrhœa ever since the war and have tried all kinds of medicines for it. At last I found a remedy that effected a cure and that was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy." This medicine can always be depended upon for colic, cholera morbus, dysentery and diarrhœa. It is pleasant to take and never fails to affect a cure. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Mrs. W. L. Russell and sons, Paul and Ernest, of Willard, N. Y., are guests at the home of Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, of West Seventh street,

A pain in the chest is nature's warning that pheumonia is threatened. Dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind over the seat of pain, and another on the back between the shoulders, and prompt relief will follow. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

GOLD STANDARD IN HAYTI.

A Plan for the Partial Retirement of Other Currency.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—A communication from the State Department to the Treasury Department, received there yesterday, contains the draft of a law proposed by President Tiresias Augustus Simon Sam, of Hayti, and enacted by the Legislature thereof, for the establishment of the gold standard in that country and the partial retirement of other currency, signed on the 1st inst. The law was proposed by the President, under the provisions of the Constitution of Hayti, conferring on him the right to initiate legislation.

The leading provisions are for a loan of $2,800,000 of United States gold at par, not to exceed 12 per cent. per annum, the proceeds to be applied to the withdrawal of paper money now in circulation at the rate of 50 per cent. a year; establishing a surtax of 25 per cent. on all importations, of which 15 per cent. shall be payable in American gold and 10 per cent. in silver, which shall be withdrawn from circulation as received and demonetized; from the commencement of the withdrawal of the bills American gold coins shall be the legal tender in the republic, and all customs dues and other State revenues shall be collected in that money or in bills with a premium of 50 per cent., with the exception of the 10 per cent. income tax to be collected in silver.

ROOSEVELT ON NAVAL NEEDS.

We Need a Larger Naval Force for the Sake of Protection.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 21.—Theodore Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, was asked yesterday if he thought our navy was large enough for a country the size of this country.

"There is room for great improvement," answered Mr. Roosevelt. "England, France, Russia and Italy are ahead of us as naval powers, and we are about on a par with Germany. We have thousands of miles of coast on the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, and tremendous interests to protect. The United States Navy ought to be much larger in order to successfully cope with what circumstances might come up in the future."

"Ought this country to have the first navy in the world?" was asked.

"I will not say that," answered Mr. Roosevelt, "but I insist that the United States ought to have a much larger force of vessels for the sake of protection."

The Rockefeller Assessments.

Tarrytown, N. Y., Oct. 21.—The case of John D. and William Rockefeller came up before the Assessors of the town of Mount Pleasant yesterday. William Rockefeller testified in his own behalf. He is assessed at $2,500,000. Mr. Rockefeller said he had a legal residence in New York. He paid $150,000 for his property in Mount Pleasant. The land had not been improved much, but he had built a new mansion and stable. The mason and carpenter work on his residence cost, he said, $105,000. He said he employed about one hundred men all the time to keep his place in condition. He was not asked at what figure he valued his place or if he had received an offer of $350,000 for it.

McKinley's Message to Congress.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—President McKinley has not yet begun the preparation of his annual message to Congress, and it is stated at the White House that he will not begin his report until after his return from the Ohio election. Up to the present time he has given but little thought, apparently, to the preparation of the document, but has been at work gathering statistics from the different departments of the Government, upon which his message will be based. It is said at the White House that the President will begin the actual writing of the document, which is eagerly awaited in political circles, shortly after his return from Canton.

Great Britain Is Arming.

London, Oct. 21.—The Government has dispatched a former Under Secretary of State for War, Sir Ralph Wood Thompson, to Australia, with instructions to report to the War Office upon the condition of the defenses of the Australasian colonies, to urge an increase in the colonial forces and to submit proposals for arming the local troops and exchanging battalions from Australia with those of the motherland.

The India Council and the War Office are considering important measures involving the addition of one-third to the strength of the Indian army.

Kentucky and Tennessee Tragedies.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 21.—Four killings were reported from various parts of the State yesterday, although two took place over the Tennessee border. Arch Kingley, the first victim, was shot down in Leslie County by William Moore because, as he was accused, he had whipped Moore's child. George Kennedy was stabbed fatally near Berea by Hiram Hurst, dying a few hours later. Will Epperson and Charles Brewer engaged in a fight over politics in Hancock County, Tenn., just across the line from Middlesborough. Epperson was almost instantly killed in the melee and Brewer injured dangerously.

McKinley Will Keep Hands Off.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—New York Republicans are still endeavoring to get President McKinley to write a letter or to say something to indicate his preference for Gen. Tracy in the present contest. It is not believed that the President will care to mix himself up in New York politics, despite predictions which are being made to the contrary. He is more likely to follow the example of Hon. Thomas B. Reed and keep himself out of dangerous entanglements.

$100 IN TWO POTATOES

Mrs. Thorn Said to Have Sent Greenbacks to Thorn.

USING MONEY TO HELP HIM

Acquittal Would Aid Her, but Lawyers Say She Is in No Danger—The New Witness from Germany Coming.

New York, Oct. 21.—Now they tell a story of greenbacks hidden in hot potatoes. Of course you know who did it. Nobody but Mrs. Nack could have thought of doing it, and nobody but Martin Thorn could have received the valuable potatoes. The bills, too, were crisp, as all such bills are, and the amount was $100. The scene, of course, was the Queens County Jail in Long Island City.

Thorn was practically penniless at the time of his arrest charged with the murder of Bathrubber Guldensuppe. Mrs. Nack had had a good income as a midwife, and had saved money. She owned some lots in Weehawken. She retained the law firm of Friend, House & Grossman to defend her. As Thorn had no money, Judge Newburger assigned Howe & Hummel to his defense, and Queens County will have to pay the bill.

The new witness, Peterson, a resident of Hamburg, Germany, who is coming on the steamer Fuerst Bismarck to testify for Thorn on Nov. 5, was intimately acquainted with Guldensuppe, having seen him constantly from his infancy until he left Germany at the age of 20 to seek his fortune in Central America. He will be accompanied by a man who will swear that he has seen Guldensuppe since the time of the supposed murder. Peterson is not acquainted with Thorn, and many persons wondered if he were sufficiently interested to cross the ocean at his own expense.

Thorn received a letter from Peterson, who expressed a willingness to come to New York if his expenses were paid. Thorn communicated with Mrs. Nack, who obtained the money and sent it to him by a prisoner, inclosed in potatoes. The messenger stopped on his way to trace the woman's letter, and, had he suspected the value of the potatoes, it is not at all sure that Thorn would ever have received them. The letter began by mentioning the food before taking up matters seemingly of greater import.

The value of Mrs. Nack's property is placed at $15,000. She has been assured that, while it will materially assist her if the jury fails to convict Thorn of murder, there is no probability that she will be found guilty of the crime. She is convinced that the worst that could happen to her would be conviction as an accessory after the fact in disposing of the body.

Lawyer Friend says that the story that Mrs. Nack had visited Sing Sing before Guldensuppe's death and had sat in the electrical chair is utterly untrue, despite the published yellow pictures that were made by artists who were not on the spot.

Is This Guldensuppe's Head?

New York, Oct. 21.—Word was received in this city late yesterday afternoon from a man giving the name of R. Chalmers, of Seabright, N. J., that a package supposed to be Guldensuppe's head had been found on the track at Long Branch. The substance in the package was plaster of paris and a piece of old carpet covered it.

Only a few days ago the police learned that the head had been tossed off a fishing boat near Long Branch.

The police cannot understand how the surf could wash a ball of plaster of paris ashore. Several times they have been fooled by reports that the head had been found. They will investigate this last report, however.

STOLE TO GO WEST.

Wild-Eyed Literature Worked the Downfall of Five Boys.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 21.—The police have arrested five youths, all sons of good families and all accused of committing petty burglaries in the southern and western portions of the city. The boys are William Redding, Dennis Conley, Frank Welch and George Sage, all sons of respectable parents, and Loring Fowler, whose father is a conspicuous attorney. The boys are all under 16 years, and if they had not taken it into their heads to go West and become train robbers they probably would not have come into contact with the police.

A week ago the boys broke into Burnham & Black's hardware store and took several revolvers. On the next day they left the city and camped in the woods at Brewerton, on Oneida Lake. They were driven out of the woods by hunger and cold, and they returned to this city, where, with money taken by young Fowler from his father's safe, they purchased new clothes and put them on in the toilet room of the New York Central station, leaving their old suits behind. The clothes were identified and a search was made for the lads.

Starbuck and Michael to Race.

Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—Frank J. Starbuck and "Jimmy" Michaels, the middle-distance bicycle riders, have been matched to race twenty-five miles, paced, at Madison Square Garden, New York, on Thanksgiving night. The pacemaking will be done with tandem teams, the number of which is limited to twelve teams on each side. The terms of the race are that Michael is to get a guarantee of $1,000 and Starbuck gets a guarantee of $800 and 50 per cent. of the gross receipts over that amount.

Hunting for an Heiress.

Washington, Oct. 21.—A legacy in South Africa awaits Josephine Mix, who lives somewhere in New Jersey. It was left to her by her uncle, Shekaniah Joseph Rhodes, a native of New Jersey, who died in Basuttoland on Oct. 24, 1896. The State Department received information about the legacy yesterday from Mr. Roberts, United States Consul at Cape Town.

Government Armor Plant.

Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—William Wharton, one of the largest stockholders of the Bethlehem Iron Company, yesterday confirmed the report that the company had made an informal offer to sell its plant to the Government.

TRULY A HELPMEET.

There is nothing poetic in the name of Dunham Corners, a little hamlet in the agricultural section of Middlesex county, but within its limits lives a woman who, if she does not deserve a gushing sonnet, is at least entitled to a few encomiums for an achievement that stands out in striking contrast to the acts now usually heralded as those of the "new woman." This woman's name is Shork, not a cognomen that a romancer would conjure with, it is true, but what she did commands the attention of every sensible person for its ungarnished pluck and endurance. Her only reward was to be the consciousness that she had been a practical helpmeet to her husband. With no assistance whatever, this woman—Mrs. Morris Shork; she deserves to have her full name emblazoned in big letters—and with four young children, the baby only three months old, to watch and take care of, has husked and stored away 116 bushels of corn. Her husband, to secure a fixed income, worked for another farmer.

DEMOCRATIC ADDRESS

The Democratic State Committee issued a long address to the voters yesterday, in which the Republican party is arraigned with severity for the sins of both commission and mission. The address ends with this appeal:

Upon this arrignment of the Republican party and the issues we present we look to the support of all good citizens to again place the Democratic party in control of their affairs, thus insuring to the people economy, home rule, just taxation, and obedience to the voice of the people in the interest of such reforms as are necessary.

Reckless drivers find no grace in the eyes of Judge DeMeza, of Plainfield, whose recent severity in dealing with a trio of ordinance violators must meet the approval, not only of those who hate disturbances, but of all friends of the horse. He is a mean man who lacks fair consideration for the brute, and a foolish one who imagines that he can make a hippodrome out of the Plainfield boulevards while Judge DeMeza is on the bench.—New York Press.

The New York Sun devoted a line and a half to the death of its editor and a column and a half to his funeral—a complete reversal of the usual course in such an occurrence. The Sun presumes to abhor all that smacks of "new" journalism, but its conduct in relation to such an important news item as the demise of Charles A. Dana, who was the most distingished editor in the country, is an innovation that seems most erratic.

The New York State burglars who, after looting a man's house, left a note cautioning the victimized individual that he was "dead easy" and that they would return again, should consider the possibility that the next time the householder may have a gun which will make the "dead easy" part apply literally to their own fate.

The New Jersey bar loses a distinguished member in the death of Judge John Hopper, of Paterson. He was the most venerable member of New Jersey law circles as well as one whose talents and success were recognized by all.

The whole world knows that George M. Pullman was the inventor of the sleeping car, but it is in blissful ignorance of the man who first wrote a sleeping car joke.

Some there are who think there is too much Bliss in the Greater New York campaign.

Luetgert Jury Disagreed.

The jury in the Luetgert murder trial came out today noon after being locked up for sixty-eight hours. They failed to agree, standing 9 to 3 for conviction. The jury was discharged.

A MUSICAL DEBUT.

Miss Sarah A. Palmer Makes an Exceedingly Favorable Impression.

Miss Sarah A. Palmer, recently of Cleveland, O., who has now settled in this city, made her initial appearance here before a cultured audience of music-loving Plainfield women at the home of Mrs. J. K. Myers, of East Front street. The charming home of Mrs. Myers was crowded and all listened with interest to a paper read by Miss Palmer on "What is a Symphony and What Does it Represent as a Musical Creation." She described the evolution of the sonata, and traced its growth from the early dance form, two centuries ago, up to the present modern symphony. The subject was well and clearly treated, and the audience found Miss Palmer an entertaining talker, with the power of imparting to her hearers what she knew on the subject.

Preceding and following Miss Palmer's paper were a number of solos by Charles L. Lewis, and a violin solo by Mrs. Nellie Udelle Smith. Mrs. Chas. L. Lewis played the accompaniments very intelligently.

After the programme of the afternoon was over an informal reception was held, at which Miss Palmer was introduced personally to her audience.

—The Junior Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian church will meet this afternoon in the chapel of the church at 4 o'clock.

—The new advertisement of S. Scheuer & Co., grocers, tells just why they can sell goods so cheap, and it is an argument that appeals to the economizing spirit of every good housewife. As an evidence of the truth of their statements they quote a few prices that tells the story even more forcibly than can mere words.

—There is to be an exciting contest at the meeting of Plainfield Council, Royal Arcanum, Monday evening. Two of the members will have a gramaphone and a graphaphone at the meeting with which they will give a short entertainment. Then the audience will be called upon to decide which was the better.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by druggists, price 75c per bottle.

SLING-SHOTS IN USE.

Pranks of Small Boys Cause Washingt n Park Folks to Worry.

Some of the small boys of Washington Park have been having lots of fun of late with sling-shots. They venture out at night, armed with these contrivances, and hurl small missles at various objects. Residents in that vicinity are beginning to complain about the crusade that the owners of the sling-shots appear to have started against the windows in the neighborhood. While none of the windows have been broken as yet, each time the small lead shot strike the windows they leave a spot that is impossible to remove.

"Have You a Piano?"

Ask the question of any home owner, and if the answer is "No" it will almost surely be followed by "But we're thinking of getting one."

Scarcely anybody who doesn't mean to get a Piano some time. At least half a dozen of our buyers during the last ten days have been 'thinking of geting one" for some years past. Been to our warerooms lots of times, but this great October Piano Sale did it.

"Save $50" means a lot to most people It has meant a PIANO to many so far this month; it will yet mean that to many more.

THEATRICAL.

For one night only, Tuesday next, Donnelly and Girard will entertain the amusement-seeking public at Music Hall, when they will present for the first time here their new play, (and the very funniest they have ever presented), the spectacular operetta "The Geezer," in three acts, with new and specially built scenery, rich and handsome costumes, elegant electric effects and a cast of forty people, who promise to give the most amusing entertainment that will be presented in Plainfield this season.

The Book of the Royal Blue.

The "Book of the Royal Blue," issued by the passenger department of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, has made its initial appearance with the October number, and is, undoubtedly, the most creditable magazine of its nature published. Aside from being a model example of modern typography, it is most interesting as to its contents. A field for interesting literature is certainly offered by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, because it is the oldest railway in the United States; is foremost in historical prominence, and is rich in magnificent scenery. The latter especially affords an endless scope for illustrations, and the magazine has started on its venture with all these points full in hand. Copies can be obtained by enclosing four (4) cents in stamps to the Advertising Department, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, Baltimore, Md. 10-21-2 bytery of Elizabeth now has under its care three German churches with a total membership of 350.

Rev. Dr. J. S. Johnston, of Chicago, was given the privilege of addressing the Synod in the interest of the board of aid for colleges and academies. He spoke of the enviable record which the board had always heretofore borne, it having never reported a debt to the general assembly, or failed to meet its obligations promptly when due. It was forced now for the first time in its history to come and make an appeal, acknowledging itself in arrears through the defalcation of its treasurer, Mr. Charnley, who was a trusted Chicago business man. The defalcation amounted to $60,000, of which amount $30,000 had been recovered.

A collection was taken for the work of the board, and $724 44 was received, of which $500 was given by one member of the Synod, who wished his name kept a secret.

The annual report of the committee on Sabbath-school work was presented by Rev. George H. Ingram, of Trenton. It stated that the Sunday schools of the State are making progress in the per capita offerings for benevolent work, the average gift per scholar for the past year being 52.6 cents. During the year the board had received $4,085.87 for Sunday-school work. The report commended the plan for enlisting new scholars presented by James A. Worden, D. D., and recommended that the sum of $8,000 be raised during the coming year for Sunday-school missions.

The evening session was a popular one devoted to the subject of systematic beneficiaries. The committee in charge of that work rendered an interesting report through its chairman, Rev. Thomas Long, of Dayton, and addresses were made by Rev. Mr. McCaulay, of Freehold, and Rev. Dr. Purvis, of Newark.

The session of this morning began at 9 o clock with the moderator, Rev. Dr. Liggett, in the chair. A lengthy report upon historical materials was rendered by the chairman of the committee, Rev. Allen H. Brown, of the Presbytery of West Jersey. The resolution offered by the committee was adopted:

"Resolved, That this Synod thankfully recognizes the overruling hand of God in the history of the college of New Jersey and congratulates Princeton University upon its phenomenal growth from the little seed which was planted at Elizabethtown and transplanted to Newark and then to Princeton where it has celebrated most auspiciously its sesqui-centennial."

The report of the committee on Young People's Societies, which was next presented by Rev. Hugh B. MacCauley, of Freehold, showed that the different Young People's Societies of the State contributed during the past year for all benevolent causes the sum of $28,021. The report congratulated the Christian Endeavor Societies upon their large offerings to missions, and suggested that each society make a thanksgiving offering of $3 for the cause of Synodical Home Missions.

Rev. George Swain, D. D., of Allentown, rendered a report for the committee on Sabbath observance, of which he is chairman.

The report included a resolution calling upon the churches, Sunday-schools and young people's societies to use their influence to discourage Sunday bicycle riding and other forms of Sabbath desecration. The committee called upon Rev. George H. Mott, D. D., of Newark, president of the American Sabbath Observance Leagues, who delivered an address upon the subject.

A discussion next arose as to some alleged irregularities in the records of the Presbytery of West Jersey. An effort was made to have the exceptions of the committee of investigation stricken out, but they were sustained.

JOHN R. M'PHERSON'S WILL.

William N. Runyon One of the Witnesses to the Document.

The will of the late John R. McPherson, three times United States Senator from New Jersey, was offered for probate yesterday in the office of James Lillis, surrogate of Hudson county, in the court at Jersey City.

Mrs. Edla J. McPherson, the former senator's widow, is the sole legatee and sole executrix, and she is not required to file any bonds or inventory of the estate or to make any inventory.

The value of the estate can therefore only be guessed at. Those who pretend to know all about it say it is worth $5,000,000. The will was drawn August 7th, 1895, and the witnesses are William E. Wilson, 33 Fifth avenue, New York; George E. Coney, Orange, N. J.; and William N. Runyon, Plainfield, N. J.

The Volunteers Meeting.

Lieutenant and Mrs. James Walton, accompanied by the Bound Brook Post, will be present and lead the meeting at the Volunteers tonight. Mrs. Walton will sing and accompany herself on the guitar. On Friday evening Rev. W. C. O'Donnell, of Monroe Avenue church, will give an address. Subject: "Two Great Battles."

Two Kinds of Stores.

There probably always will be two kinds of stores. One kind is conducted in the belief that the way to win trade is to make the store the best one for people to come to. In the other kind of store all attention is given to specious methods of drawing trade and little concern given to the interests of customers when they come.

The First Kind is Our Kind.

We do not believe that any drug store can offer any worthy inducements other than excellence of service and fairness of prices. Such an inducement has built our trade and will continue to build it.

ON THE FOOTBALL FIELD.

Hot Game at New Haven—Tigers' Big Score.

New Haven, Ct., Oct. 21.—Yale and Brown University met on the football field yesterday. Brown was short her captain and Halfback Fultz, and Yale lacked Abbott, Hine and Ely, who are laid up. Over 2,000 people saw the game, which was the liveliest played here this year.

The game was remarkable because of the heavy men Yale put into the play. It was the heaviest eleven Yale has played in years, several of the men weighing over 200, and a number averaging 185.

Yale kicked off, but within ten minutes Brown scored a touchdown; no goal. Brown, 4; Yale, 0.

Five minutes later Yale scored a touchdown and Cadwalader kicked goal. Brown, 4; Yale, 6.

The half ended with the ball in the centre of the field. Yale, exhausted by the effort of scoring, was unable to keep the ball long, and Brown finished the stronger.

Yale, 6; Brown, 4.

The final score was Yale, 18; Brown, 14.

Tigers' Weak Rivals.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 21.—The Princeton-Franklin and Marshall game yesterday afternoon was played in a disagreeable rain. The Princeton line greatly outweighed the visitors.

The first half ended with the ball near Franklin and Marshall's goal. Princeton, 32; Franklin and Marshall, 0.

The final score was Princeton, 54; Franklin and Marshall, 0.

Lehigh vs. Dickinson.

Bethlehem, Pa., Oct. 21.—It was typical football weather and a big crowd was in attendance at yesterday afternoon's Lehigh-Dickinson game.

Fumbling characterized the playing of the first half, with honors even, neither side scoring. Dickinson had wind in her favor, but all trys at goals from the field failed. The play was hard and fast.

U. of P.—Pennsylvania State.

Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—The University of Pennsylvania football team met the State College yesterday afternoon.

The score at the end of the first half was Pennsylvania, 16; State, 0.

CHAINLESS BICYCLE.

New Style of Wheels Put on Sale To-day.

New York, Oct. 21.—The long-expected chainless bicycle, which, it is expected, will be all the rage in '98, was put on the market to-day. A bicycle manufacturing concern placed them on sale simultaneously at its branches throughout the country. Thousands of the wheels are said to be ready for delivery. The matter has been kept very quiet by the firm manufacturing the wheels. The price of the new wheel is $125.

Here are some of the points of superiority which the firm asserts that the new wheel has over a chain-driven wheel: The manufacturers say that it is much easier to keep clean than the old wheel. Every motion is positive—no back lash. It has no links or teeth to "catch things." The makers declare that it will go faster and further with less effort than the old wheel.

In regard to the matter of speed, the thing above all others considered by those of scorching proclivities, it is pointed out that a chainless wheel secured the twenty-four-hour record on the continent of Europe, and that in August another chainless wheel won a hill-climbing contest in England.

The new machine is handsome and simple in construction. It weighs no more than twenty-four pounds, and appears to balance more perfectly than the chain wheels and to run for a longer time after a single turn of the pedal crank.

AGED COUPLE SEPARATE.

Wife of 93 and Husband of 86 Find Marriage a Failure.

West Chester, Pa., Oct. 21.—After an experience of three years, one of the oldest couples in Chester County yesterday morning came to the conclusion that marriage in their case was a failure and attached their signatures to a mutual agreement of separation.

This venerable couple is Catherine McLane, aged 93 years, and David, her husband, aged 86. When the former began a prosecution on a charge of non-support, David met her with a summons in a divorce suit, and declared his intention of obtaining a legal separation.

Upon being paid a liberal sum of money in cash, Mrs. McLane withdrew the charge of desertion and David withdrew the divorce suit, but an agreement was signed that they should henceforth live apart.

Costly Jersey Kisses.

Elizabeth, N. J., Oct. 21.—This city has learned the legal price of kisses. Miss Joana Murphy, of Summit, has received a verdict for $5,000 against Philip Tumulty, former Assemblyman of Jersey City, for sundry osculations and a promise to marry her.

Miss Murphy's two sisters and a brother testified to the kisses and Mr. Tumulty's statement that he intended to make her his wife.

Elizabeth does not know how many kisses Tumulty got for his $5,000, but evidently they were many, as Miss Murphy sued for $10,000 damages.

Silver Leader Working Hard.

Omaha, Oct. 21.—William J. Bryan has begun the campaign in earnest in this State, and will make two speeches daily from now until election.

Mr. Bryan estimates that the State will repudiate the Democratic opposition by 30,000 votes, an increase of 10,000 over last year.

"We have not lost a single man," declared Bryan, "and we have gained a large number from the opposition."

John G. Carlisle will be in the State next week to help the cause of the gold Democrats.

Baseball Men to Meet.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Western League officials will meet at the Great Northern to-day and wind up the business of the League of 1897. Incidentally they will discuss the subject of drafting players, make suggestions to the committee which will present this matter before the National League in Philadelphia next month, and select a place for the Spring meeting. Kansas City will be chosen, so says President Johnson.

evidently, and the business should be done by all means. Buildings require paint. Of course, a house may be left unpainted and left to become weatherbeaten and a wreck. That doesn't pay, though; it's much cheaper to paint, and our paints in all colors are the best in the market for durability under the most trying conditions. They are well adapted to our exposure and we sell everything in the line of paints and painters' supplies at short prices.

The Tables Turned.

We have almost solved the servant girl problem.

Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.

The tables are turned, and we have turned them.

We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.

Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "

What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

Happy Lives.

Are Lives of Happy Living, and Thus 'Tis Well That You Should Know How This Can be.

In Plainfield there is many a happy home. Perhaps you know of some, or better still, it may be that you rest your head at night in one yourself. Then again there is many an unhappy fellow creature in your midst. 'Tis not surprising that this should be the case, when one thinks of the burdens some backs are forced to bear. If yours is not the back that bears the burden, still we think you should be glad to lend a helping hand to lighten another. Let us show you how it can be done, and at the same time tell a story of Plainfield life that will prove this aid can easily be given.

Mrs. Valentine Utzinger, of 75 Grandview avenue, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for the last six years. I doctored and used various kinds of medicines with little or no result. I had almost a constant sharp, darting pain across my back and if I over exerted myself or took cold I suffered severely. I always felt it most when the weather was damp. There was also a kidney weakness which was very distressing and inconvenient. While in this condition I saw Doan's Kidney Pills recommended highly and I was induced to try them. My son brought me home a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. I started to use them at once, following directions closely. They helped the pain in my back and relieved my other difficulty. I give all the credit for this relief to Doan's Kidney Pills for they are beyond a doubt a grand medicine for kidney trouble. I have recommended them to a number of my friends and will continue to do so."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

MGR. SCHROEDER DEFIANT.

He Refuses to Be Removed from the Catholic University.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Mgr. Schroeder, Professor of Dogmatic Theology at the Catholic University, whose removal seemed to be assured yesterday, defied the faculty, rector and the Board of Directors to remove him. When his case came up before the Board of Directors he played a trump card that created a sensation. He produced his letter from Rome, saying that the Pope did not want the directors to remove him. The letter came from Cardinal Steinhuber, S. J. A cablegram from Rome, signed "Rampolla," the Papal Secretary of State, certifying that the letter represented the views of the Holy Father, was also presented.

Weyler's Boast.

Havana, via Key West, Oct. 21.—Gen. Weyler is banqueting with the principal leaders of the volunteers in Havana. He assures them that with the aid only of the volunteers, acting independently of the Spanish Government, he could crush the revolution. This attitude of the Captain-General is regarded with uneasiness by friends of the Central Government. It is feared that before Weyler's departure the volunteers may create some disorder.

ENGLAND AND SILVER

Formal Rejection of Commissioner Wolcott's Schemes.

HIS PROPOSALS INDEFINITE

Monetary Commissioners Informed that Great Britain Would Send Representatives to a Conference, but Will Not Open Indian Mints.

London, Oct. 21.—The reply of the Government to the proposals made by United States Senator Wolcott and his colleagues of the American Monetary Commission was sent to the Senator last night.

The answer, which has been substantially foreshadowed by the unofficial reports of the decision of the British Cabinet at its meeting last Saturday, will express regret at the inability of the Government to accede to the proposals of the Commissioners, but will convey the assurance that the Government, while refusing to reopen the Indian mints to the free coinage of silver, is willing to consider any definite proposal emanating from the Government of the United States. It will also say in substance that the Government would be glad to send representatives to another monetary conference organized on the basis of the conference held at Brussels.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Chancellor of the Exchequer, has replied to the letter addressed to him by the city bankers on Sept. 22 protesting against the Bank of England holding any proportion whatsoever of silver as reserve against its note issue.

The Chancellor says that papers will shortly be published fully explaining the proposals made in regard to the holding of one-fifth of the Bank's reserve in silver, and also defining the position taken by Great Britain with reference to the currency proposals made by the special envoys from the United States.

In accordance with a resolution adopted by the meeting of bankers on Sept. 22, letters similar to the one addressed to the Chancellor of the Exchequer were also sent to Mr. A. J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury, and Mr. Hugh C. Smith, Governor of the Bank of England.

SECRETARY GAGE'S PLAN.

Much Amusement at the Alleged Summaries of It Published.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—The Secretary of the Treasury and the other financial officers of the Government are much amused at the various reports that are being sent out from Washington about the financial plan which the Secretary will submit to Congress. They are especially amused over the latest "authentic" outline of the message, which was published in a New York newspaper. The summary which the paper claims to be a "substantial and correct statement of the plan," is repudiated most positively by Secretary Gage, who says that it is the furthest from being correct of any alleged summary yet published.

The claim that he contemplates the establishment of a separate bureau in the Treasury to be devoted to "issue and redemption" and the depositing of a fund of $325,000,000 of gold in this bureau to redeem outstanding paper money when offered, but to disburse none of this paper money except in exchange for gold, is but a sample of the falsity of the whole statement. No such plan was ever contemplated. The Secretary states that he is now busy on his message, and that no outline of it has been published or will be published before it is sent to Congress.

The dispatch referred to is characterized as "a dream." Part of it was made up out of an old interview with the Secretary, published before he became a member of the Cabinet, and containing Mr. Gage's ideas held then as to what should be done on the money question. It can be stated that the President and the Secretary are working in harmony on the financial plan, and both are devoting much time to the subject.

Dingley Law Barbarous.

Paris, Oct. 21.—In the course of a speech at a banquet given by the School of Commerce at Nancy, M. Raucher, Minister of Commerce, declared that the United States Government had given its sanction to a barbarous measure in the imposition of a duty upon personal effects valued at more than $100.

Negotiations had been opened between France and the United States upon the subject and there was no reason to doubt, he said, that the Washington Government would withdraw its sanction and modify or abolish the measure.

Spanish Paper's Wrath.

Madrid, Oct. 21.—The Imparcial made a violent attack yesterday on the United States, basing its remarks on the alleged departure recently of filibustering expeditions from American ports, bound for Cuba, and urges the Spanish Government to ask explanations of the Government of the United States.

"It is impossible," says the Imparcial, "for us to submit to such humiliations. We must act with energy towards Washington."

The Army Chaplain Cleared.

Washington, Oct. 21.—The Rev. David H. Shields, of Shippensburg, Pa., a Methodist clergyman, has satisfactorily explained the allegations brought against his character when he was appointed a chaplain in the army a short time ago, and the War Department will issue an order assigning him to a military fort.

The Bishops of the Methodist Church have indorsed Chaplain Shields highly, and have informed the Secretary of War that no mistake will be made in continuing him.

Senator Tillman's Illness.

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 21.—Senator Tillman was able to go to his home in Trenton this evening, but was admonished by his physician to take no part in politics for some time. It is asserted that the Senator has catarrh of the stomach.

Guatemala's Revolution Ends.

Washington, Oct. 21.—The Legation of Guatemala has received the following official dispatch: "Revolution subdued; order restored all over the country."

A SUCCESSFUL SALE.

Women of the Church of the Heavenly Rest Conducted It.

A successful sale was held yesterday afternoon and evening in the parish house of the Church of the Heavenly Rest under the auspices of the women of the church. There was on sale ice cream, cake, fancy articles and canned fruit, and tables were attractively arranged about the room, while the decorations were very pretty. Those in charge of the sale were William Moore, Mrs. F. Moore, Mrs. Charles Graves, Mrs. A. H. Leivers, Miss Morgan, Miss Bertha Wenzel, Miss Jennie Wenzel, the Misses Alice Ashworth, Alice Dennick, Lona Beekman and Elizabeth Beekman.

The attendance during the afternoon and evening was quite largely considering the weather, and the sales were good. It will be continued this afternoon and evening.

Park Club Committees.

The following standing committees have been appointed by President C. A. Reed, of the Park Club: House, Edwin T. Douglass, Walter McGee and George D. Hallock; membership, George Worth, Benjamin M. Day and Samuel Townsend; billiard, Elston French, Charles A. Lee and David Lenox; whist, George T. Rogers, Joseph Howell, Wm. Worth, Walter Freeman and Samuel Townsend; bowling, F. O. Ball; tennis, Samuel Townsend; junior entertainment, Fred Taylor and Charles Cook.

Trolley Hearing Adjourned.

Mr. Vail, chairman of the committee of eleven appointed to inquire into the matter of widening Westfield avenue and constructing a street railroad upon it by the county, says that the committee will probably not be ready to report tonight, the day to which the meeting adjourned, but will be ready to report within two or three weeks. The meeting will not be held today, but another date will be fixed and public notice given as soon as the committee is ready to report.

Third Regiment at Somerville.

The Independent Fife and Drum Corps went to Somerville today to take part in the annual field day exercises of the Third Regiment. It is expected that Gen. Sewell and staff will be present. This morning a parade and drill was held on the fair grounds and this afternoon other festivities are on the programme.

An Illustrated Lecture.

Rev. H. K. Samuelian, of Constantinople, will give an illustrated lecture, under the patronage of the ministers and leading citizens of Plainfield, at the Y. M. C. A. hall this evening. Some of the views were made by the ex-Sultan. About 350 tickets disposed of already for the lecture.

The Chainless Wheel.

The F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company, Park avenue, request the cycling public of Plainfield and vicinity to look over the Cleveland and Crescent chainless wheels, which are soon to be put on the market, ere they select their mount for the coming year.

Cypress Commandery to Hold a Ball.

This evening at the Pierce Cycle Academy, Cypress Commandery, colored Masons, will hold a grand reception and ball. A large number of visitors are expected from all over the State and New York.

Miss Jessie Little, of East Ninth street, has gone to Brooklyn to visit relatives.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The bowling season is at hand and the movement looking toward the reorganization of the Central Journal Bowling League will be started shortly by a meeting at the Journal office in Elizabeth when the representatives of the clubs will meet, elect officers and arrange a schedule. The Park Club has already stated its intention to the Journal of taking part in the contest. The other clubs that will probably join are the Elizabeth A. C., the New Jersey A. C., the Westfield Club, the Cranford Country Club and the Roselle Casinos. The Bayonne Rowing Association made such a poor showing last year that it is probable that they will withdraw from the contest this year.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

A good programme of races is to be held at the Gentlemen's Driving Park on Saturday afternoon. The matches will be the same as those at Woodbridge, the same horses starting, and as those furnished exciting finishes, there is a strong probability of some good sport for the Plainfield horsemen.

Didn't Pay His Board Bill.

Frank Hale, of this city, was arrested last evening on the complaint of a boarding house keeper who charges that Hale boarded at his house and represented himself as being employed by Wyman & Haberle. Hale got behind in his board and made promises that he would pay up. This he failed to do, hence his arrest. He will be given a hearing on Saturday before Justice Mosher, who issued the warrant.

PROVED THEIR CAPABILITIES.

How a Colorado Man and Wife Secured Political Jobs.

Ex-Gov. Thatcher of Colorado, tells this: "I had been in charge of my office but a few days when I received one day a large bear that had been recently killed, accompanied by a note telling me that it was 'mighty fine b'ar meat.' This note did not give the name of the giver. A few days later a dozen wild turkeys arrived at the executive mansion. The next gift was a large box of fine mountain trout, along with some fresh berries. By this time I was a little curious, but had no way of learning who they came from. One day I received an extra large box. There was a large cake, some pies, bread, jams, and jelly, with small pieces of different meats finely cooked. This time the note informed me the unknown would call on me in a few days. I was anxious to see the person, and when one Saturday a long-haired man from the mountains came in I was somewhat surprised. 'Well, Governor, what do you think of my ability as a hunter and of my wife as a cook?' asked the stranger. Without any more talk he said he wanted the job of furnishing my household with fresh meats and his wife wanted the position of cook. As they had shown their abilities, I gave them the positions at once. He never failed to keep a good supply of meats on hand, and his wife furnished good home cooking. If all the office seekers were like that man a Government official's life would be a happy one."—Omaha Bee.

ENGLISH PUBLIC DOCUMENTS.

The British Government More Economical Than Our's.

The British Government sells all its publications. It gives nothing away. If you want a copy of a bill that has been introduced into the House of Commons, or a report that has been presented to the House of Lords, or any public matter in the London County Council or the Board of Aldermen of the city, you have to pay postage if it is sent through the mails. In our country nearly all official documents of this kind are given away, and are sent free through the mails under a frank. The British plan seems to be the more sensible. It saves millions of dollars every year that are wasted in the United States to furnish public documents to people who do not care anything for them, and who throw them into the waste-paper basket as soon as they are received. The charge for official publications is only sufficient to pay the cost and a small margin for wastage. Thus the Government Printing Office is self-supporting and the postal service pays a profit of $10,000,000 of $12,000,000 annually into the Treasury. On the contrary, on our side of the Atlantic, it costs $5,000,000 or more to pay for printing for which no one is the wiser, and our Post Office Department declares an Irish dividend of $9,000,000 or $10,000,000 every year, much of it is due to the transportation of "pub. docs." —Chicago Record.

An Unfair Advantage.

Dr. Lasker, the great chessplayer, when in London, is in the habit of occasionally visiting a certain restaurant in the city well known to many chess devotees. On one of these occasions just prior to his departure for St. Peterburg, to play Dr. Steinitz for the championship, a fussy old gentleman offered to play him for a box of cigars if he would concede him the odds of a queen.

The offer was good-naturedly accepted; and on Lasker's winning he became the recipient of a box of doubtful-looking cigars, which, however, the donor averred were of good quality.

On visiting the same restaurant, after easily defeating Steinetz, Lasker happened to meet his late opponent, who asked him what he had thought of the cigars.

"First-rate!" replied the champion; "in fact, I might almost say they won me the match."

"Indeed! I am delighted to hear it!" returned the old gentleman, much pleased.

"Yes," continued Lasker, with a merry twinkle in his eye, "I gave them all to Steinitz!"—From Answers.

Alaska Steamship Arrives.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 21.—The steamship Bertha has arrived here from St. Michael's, Alaska, which place she left on Oct. 5. Fourteen passengers came down, with about $30,000 in gold, most of this being in the possession of Arthur W. Pope and Harry Wright. The Bertha brought no late news from Dawson, her passengers coming from Minonk and Circle City.

Four Hundred Natives Perished.

(Cable Dispatch to The New York Sun.)

Madrid, Oct. 21.—A dispatch from Manila says that a cyclone and tidal wave have devastated a part of the island of Leyte, one of the Philippine group. The towns of Tacloban and Hernani and several villages were destroyed, and it is estimated that 400 natives perished.

THE DAILY PRESS.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1897. TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR.

PLAINFIELD GOT ONE PLUM FROM REPUBLICANS.

Roger F. Murray Nominated For Assembly Without Opposition in the County Convention.

Except for the Dissatisfaction of the Summit Delegation the Convention Was Harmonious—A Set of Resolutions Adopted Praising Republicans All Along the Line—Participation of the Plainfield Delegates.

A "happy family" of Republicans went down to Elizabeth yesterday afternoon to attend the county convention of the party. They gathered in the wished-for plum, the Assembly nomination for Roger F. Murray, without opposition and returned home ready for an active campaign. Altogether the convention was a very harmonious affair, except for a sulkiness shown on the part of some of the Summit delgates, who felt rather sore because their town was not remembered in the distribution of the Assembly plums.

It was understood from the start that Plainfield ought to have one of the Assembly nominations. She had the Sheriff last election, but her big Republican majority entitled her to something else. For the last two terms W. R. Codington has had the nomination without much opposition. This year he did not withdraw until two weeks before the convention and left the nomination for Roger F. Murray, one of the most active workers in the Republican party in Plainfield. It was then conceded through the county that Murray ought to have it, and the Elizabeth politicians agreed to back him for the nomination. The Elizabethians were gunning after the other two Assembly nominations, however. Robert G. Houston and George A. Squire were prominently mentioned and had the support of the all-powerful ones.

There were all sorts of rumors flying about to the effect that J. Martin Roll, one of the present Assemblymen, was going to try for renomination. That promised a fight, as neither faction was willing to allow their candidate to be crowded out, but Roll, at the last, declared that he would not run under any circumstances, and an unpleasant feature was removed from the path of the rest.

There were two booms that for a time threatened the harmony of the party. The friends of John A. Hicks, of Summit, demanded that he be given a chance to run for the Assembly. They met with no enccurragement, however, from Elizabeth, Plainfield and Rahway, and so the boom gradually collapsed. Clarence D. Ward, of Rahway, was also mentioned prominently, but the Rahway delegation would not give him their united support, and Rahway decided that she only wanted the Coroner.

The Plainfield delegation held a caucus in the Board of Freeholders room before the convention and decided to support the slate composed of Parrott for Surrogate, and Murray, Houston and Squire for the Assembly unitedly and the chairman of the delegation, Mayor Charles J. Fisk, was given the power to cast the votes of the forty-six delegates in a bunch.

The convention convened at the Lyceum Theatre half an hour late, by which time all the inopportune booms had been thoroughly extinguished. Several of the Plainfield delegates, led by Councilman William N. Runyon, entertained the rest with a verse of "A Hot Time in the Old Time Tonight," while they waited for the meeting to open. The convention was called to order by Hon. Charles N. Codding, of Westfield, chairman of the county committee. S Rusling Ryno, of Rahway, was made secretary and R R Sinclair, of Westfield, George Ball, of Fanwood, and George W. Little, of Cranford, assistant secretaries. Senator Foster M. Voorhees was named as chairmain and was escorted to the platform by George Wilcox, of New Providence, and Dr. Harris, of Springfield, amid great applause.

Senator Voorhees made a brief speech in which, although he mentioned no names, he put in a good word for the present Surrogate. He also criticized the Democratic State platform. After the reading of the call, the committees were announced by the chairman as follows:

Committee on rules—James W. [illegible] chairman, Roselle; Moline W. Halsey, Elizabeth; John Robinson, Fanwood.

Committee on credentials—Eugene W. Austin, chairman, Cranford; Charles E. Reed, Rahway; Thomas M. Belknap, Elizabeth.

Committee on resolutions—Hon. Joseph Cross, chairman, Elizabeth; Francis S. Phraner, Summit; Wellington B. Morehouse, Westfield.

A call by wards showed no contested delegations and so the committee on credentials had really nothing to do. The reports of the committees, which had been prepared long before the convention, were then called for. The report of the committee on rules was adopted and then Judge Cross read the following resolutions which were received and adopted:

The representatives of the Republican party of Union county, assembled in convention, congratulate the people on the return of prosperity, due to the decisive declaration of the voters last November in favor of sound money and the return to the Republican policy of protection to American industry.

We point with satisfaction to the fact that the pledges made by the Republicans of this State upon their return to power have been fulfilled. We are pleased to notice in a recent utterance of the New Jersey division of the Chicago Democracy that a healthy public sentiment has invaded that body and won its approval of the adoption of the amendment to the Constitution against gambling and its condemnation of the gambling dens still maintained in Hudson county under the protection of the same old gang.

We approve the conservative administration of Governor Griggs and commend his policy of appointing citizens of high character and capacity to responsible offices.

It is a fully recognized and serious fact that the benefits derived by the people from our municipal governments fall short of what we have a right to expect from the amount of taxes levied each year. Our municipal laws have become pitfalls, instead of guides. Officials with the best intentions are not able under existing conditions to render efficient public service. We therefore call upon our Republican fellow-citizens and other well-disposed people throughout the State to take up the problem of municipal government with sufficient energy to secure substantial success. The true limits of municipal duties should be clearly defined, and the laws relating to local governments made plain and strong, to the end that public service may be more efficient and the money raised by taxation wisely expended.

We favor legislation providing for the abolition of grade crossings at the earliest practicable moment, and hereby pledge the nominees of this convention to every reasonable endeavor to accomplish that result.

We commend the nominees of this convention to the voters, and if elected we charge them to remember at all times that their first and highest duty is to work for the interest of Union county.

John Farrell, of Rahway; Augustus K. Gale, of Westfield, and J Phraner, of Summit, were empowered to fill any vacancies in the ticket if any should occur.

The call for nominations for Surrogate was then made and Mayor Fisk wanted a chance to be given at once for the nomination of the one man that all wanted, but the chairman overruled him and, according to the rules, a call was made by wards and townships. The First ward of Elizabeth waived its right in favor of the Twelfth and Hon. Joseph Cross nominated George T. Parrot in an eloqent speech. The remainder of the delegations seconded the nomination and Mayor Fisk moved that the secretary cast a ballot, which motion was promptly carried.

Then came the nominations for Assemblymen. John D. Barr, of Elizabeth, named Robert G. Houston. Dr. Mack, of Elizabeth, seconded it and named Geo. A. Squire. Then Col. Morrell, of Elizabeth, seconded them both and added the name of Roger F. Murray, of Plainfield. Mayor Fisk, however, made the regular nomination of Murray. William Newcorn, of Plainfield, moved to cast a ballot for the three, but the disappointed one from Summit objected. The roll was then called and all the delegates voted for the three candidates, except three of the Summit delegates who refused to vote at all. The candidates received 232 votes and were declared nominated.

HOSTS IN FULL UNIFORM

THE EIGHTH ANNUAL RECEPTION OF CYPRESS COMMANDERY.

Given in the Crescent Rink and Attended by Sir Knights From Many Other Towns—Finely Executed Military Drill Given.

The eighth annual reception of Cypress Commandery, No. 6, K. T., was held in the cycle academy last evening. The elite of the colored people were present. The Commandery was present in full uniform and at 12 o'clock the members, together with the visiting guests, gave an exhibition on the floor, which was followed with an exhibition drill by Cypress Commandery, in charge of Past Grand Commander William Douglass, of the State of New Jersey. Past Eminent Commander Brown and Captain General Gibson acted as escorts in arranging the members for the drill. They marched with a military precision. Frequently during the drill the large number of people present showed their appreciation by hearty applause.

The members of St. John Commandery, of New York, together with the other visitors, occupied a place of honor on the large stage. The music for the drill and dancing was furnished by Prof. Vanderveer, of Elizabeth. There were lady members of the Eastern Star Lodge, of Newark and New York, present, and they also occupied seats of honor. Eminent Commander William Jones, of Cypress Commandery, received the visitors in the name of the Commandery.

A feature of the evening was the presence of Most Puisant Sovereign Grand Commander Milton F. Fields, of St. Louis, Mo., who represents the eastern and western consistory of the United States. He made a short speech which was greatly enjoyed. In conversation, Mr. Fields gave the information that the Grand Lodge of Missouri is the largest lodge of colored Masons in the United States, and that the members of the Star of the western consistory is the largest body of Scottish Rite Masons in the United States. J. H. Pelham is the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge.

Among the visitors from St. John's Commandery, New York, present were: Lieutenant Commander August Goss; Richard Jenkins, T. P. Williams, George Bell and Henry Johnson. Lincoln Lodge, of Elizabeth, and Bethlehem Lodge, of Newark, were also represented. After the drill dancing was continued until 3 o'clock this morning, and everyone had a thoroughly good time. The floor managers were Walter Benn and William Fisher. The other committees were as follows:

Committee of arrangements, William H. Jones, Charles Barber, Burril Gibson, William Wright, James H. Walker, A. W. Brown, Arthur Venable, Nelson Batts, James Long, John Reed, Louis Randolph, Grant Cannon and Joseph Dunham.

Reception committee, William J. Douglass, James Connet, George W. Thompson, Benjamin Siles, Benjamin E. Johnson, Levi P. Williams, John Smuthers and Henry Johmer.

EVENING OF CLASSICAL MUSIC.

Finely Executed Piano Selections by William K. Bassford.

An evening of classical music, rendered by one whose ability as a pianist was unquestioned, was enjoyed by a large audience that crowded the parlors of the New Jersey Military Academy last evening. The recital was given by William K. Bassford, the well-known composer, who has recently come to this city. His touch was light and yet very expressive, and all his selections showed a thorough knowledge of technique. In Chopin he found a composer whose spirit he seemed to interpret with wonderful skill, and a number of his selections were by that famous composer. He also played from Mendelssohn, Gottschalk and Liszt. Two of his selections were of his own composition and they were particularly well received.

The audience also had a chance to see the interior of the Military Academy and found it a charming place. The parlors were handsomely decorated, while palms and other potted plants gave a finish to the rooms and hall.

Women's Society Elect Officers.

The Women's Society for Christian Work of the Seventh-Day Baptist church held a meeting on Wednesday afternoon in the church parlors when the officers for the ensuing year were elected. The election resulted as follows: President, Mrs. George H. Babcock; vice president, Mrs. J. D. Titsworth; secretary, Mrs. A. T. Maxson; treasurer, Mrs. F. A. Dunham. The committees will be appointed at another meeting to be held next week.

THE SYNOD ADJOURNED.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE LAST SESSION YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Resolutions of the Temperance Committee Amended Several Times and Finally Adopted—Meet at Paterson Next Year.

The Synod of New Jersey continued its sessions in the Crescent Avenue church yesterday afternoon with the vice-moderator, Rev. W. R. Richards, D. D., in the chair. The question of enjoining the Presbytery of New Brunswick to discipline Rev. Charles Woodruff Shields, D. D., professor of the harmony of science and revealed religion, for signing the license application of the Princeton Inn, on May 1st, had not yet been settled, and the members began to wear anxious faces as if they feared that something serious would result from the controversy. Rev. Dr. Hollifield, of Newark, offered a resolution in which the Synod called upon all its Presbyteries in a general way to note the utterances of the General Assembly upon the temperance question, and to deal with all offenders in accordance with the law of the church. This resolution met the fate of nearly all compromises; it failed to satisfy either side. Members of the Presbytery insisted that notwithstanding the fact that the resolution did not specifically mention their Presbytery, that it was nevertheless a reflection upon it, and an insinuation that it had neglected to discharge its duty. Several members were upon their feet at once striving to gain the recognition of the chair, and the situation was for a time perplexing. Rev. Mr. MacMillen, of Paterson, caused a stir by stating that he was not in favor of any such wholesale restriction of personal liberty as the resolutions of the temperance committee called for. He had never had a liquor seller in his church and he had never been called upon to deal with the signer of a liquor license among his church members, but he could conceive circumstances under which it might be advisable and right for every member of his session to sign a license. Murmurs of disapproval of this remark were heard on all sides. It remained for Rev. P. W. Lyon, of Bridgeton, to solve the predicament in which the Synod seemed to have fallen. A resolution proposed by him as a substitute for the committee's resolution was passed by a vote of 72 to 12. This resolution, which ended the discussion, was as follows:

"The Synod of New Jersey finds occasion to reiterate the judgment often expressed by the General Assembly and the Synod, that the renting of property for the sale of intoxicants, and the signing of applications for licenses to sell intoxicating beverages is inconsistant with Christian character and harmful to the cause of religion, and calls the attention of all Presbyterian sessions teachers and its church members to the matter."

The report of the committee on unemployed ministers and vacant churches was submitted by Rev. Henry Reeves, D. D., of Gloucester City. The report recommended that the committee be discontinued as there was no longer any need for its services. The report was approved and the committee discontinued.

The following resolution was next adopted:

"Resolved, That the Synod shall place upon its records its keen appreciation of the fact that the questions connected with the stability of the institutions of modern society find their solution only in the application of the ethical principles and the humanitarian ideas inculcated by the Divine One of Nazereth, and that it becomes the ministry of the word to inform themselves concerning these pressing questions to the end that they may become competent guides and sympathetic counselors in the application of the social teachings of Christ."

The committee on election laws, before the Legislature, reported through its chairman, Rev. J. DeHart Bruen. The roll was called by the stated clerk and absences recorded. The number of delegates present was 258.

Before the reading of the final minutes by the recording clerk, Rev. J. T. Kerr, of Elizabeth, the following vote of thanks was passed:

"Resolved, That the thanks of the Synod are hereby tendered to the committee of arrangements for the very ample and delightful provision made by them for our entertainment, to the session and trustees of the Crescent Avenue church for the use of their buildings, to the Presbyterian people of this beautiful city for their generous hospitality, to the choir of the church, to the newspaper press for the interest displayed in our meetings and the space devoted to the reports of our proceedings."

The Synod will meet next year in the Third Presbyterian church of Paterson, of which Rev. J. B. Galloway is pastor.

FANCY STEPS TO BE SEEN

SOME OF THE DANCES ARRANGED FOR THE SPIELKARTENFEST.

This Year's Affair Will be Somewhat Like the Kirmess, Only Some of the Dances Will be More Novel in Their Appearance

The monster benefit for the Muhlenberg Hospital, which is to be known as the Spielkartenfest, is already attracting much attention. Many of the young people of the city are now spending several evenings a week rehearsing for the different dances that are to form the principal part of the affair to be held in the Crescent Rink next month. Everybody remembers the Kirmess of two years ago with great pleasure and it has been generally understood that the Spielkartenfest is drawn on the same lines as the Kirmess. Such is the truth, except that the attraction of this year is to include something of a novel character beside the many beautiful dances of the same order as those of the Kirmess. The new feature is a game of "living whist," which has already been mentioned in these columns.

The success of the dances two years ago resulted in the request that many of them be repeated but Miss Lila Agnew Stewart, who successfully conducted the Kirmess and has complete charge this year, has decided that the Plainfield audiences shall be treated to an entire programme of dances. Not that the old ones were not worth repeating but there are so many good ones that have not been seen on a Plainfield stage.

The game of living whist will introduce a series of dances by itself. The fifty-two cards all participate in dances before the game begins and they are all as delightful as the rest. The court cards take part in a charming dance appropriate to their rank. With slow and stately measure, the courtly knights and ladies move through the intricate maze of the dance, then comes the famous arch of steel and all is over. Miss Schipper and Mrs. A. C Vail are chaperones of this dance. The four aces form a pleasing quartette in another dance, under the chaperonage of Mrs. W. L. Saunders.

The rank and file of the rest of the cards are divided into the black and red cards, each class of which has its own dance. The black cards have an attractive dance. The youths come with mandolins and offer flowers to the maidens. They dance together and the music is soft and enticing and with it the swaying motion of the waltz. Far different is the dance of the red cards. It possesses intense life and action and has the stateliness of the minuet. Mrs. James T. Scott chaperones the black cards and Mrs F. H. Andrews the red cards.

Then the little pages, they are bound to be favorites with all. They are chaperoned by Mrs. W. J. Roome.

One of the prettiest of the other dances is called the mirror dance, with Mrs. F. S. Green as chaperone. The solo dance will be something out of the ordinary and will explain whence comes the name. The Spanish Cachuca, danced only by the young ladies, is full of fire and excitement. As its name implies, the dancers are the merry senoritas of sunny Spain. Mrs. August Kleineck is the chaperone. Bright in the colors of the chrysanthemum, a merry group of fair maidens will dance the chrysanthemum dance under the chaperonage of Mrs. George Randell and Mrs. L. H. Biglow.

The wild and brilliant gypsies appear in the tambourine dance of which Mrs. M. S. Ackerman is the chaperone. One of the most artistic effects of the Spielkartenfest will be produced in the Tyrolean peasant dance, of which Mrs. H. A. McGee and Mrs. J. C. Peck are the chaperones. The costumes are simple, but the dance is one of the prettiest of the evenings.

The Hornpipe, chaperoned by Miss Rose Verdon, tells of itself. It is sure to be popular The last in the list of the evening dances is the Jockey Club dance, of which Mrs. M. B. Long is chaperone. The music is bright and catchy, while the movement is light and free.

Interest in State Militia.

Sergeant Dickerson, of Westfield, and Seargeant Johnson, formerly of Hackettstown, of the State militia, have placed their names to the list now being prepared to form a company in this city. Mr. Johnson is now a resident of Plainfield. The interest in the company does not diminish, and each day new names are added to the list.

The First Connections.

A. M. Griffin, of this city, yesterday made the first connections with the pipes of the Middlesex Water Company, at Metuchen. Dr. A C. Hunt, State Inspector of the Board of Health, was the first to have his residence connected with the mains. The second was Geo. Greasom, and third was John Leahlein, all of Metuchen.

THEIR IDENTITY KNOWN.

POLICE SAID TO BE AWARE OF THOSE IN ALLEGED BURGLARIOUS GANG.

Rockafellow, Soper and Ralph Held to Await an Examination—First-named is Said to Have Made a Clean Breast of It.

The identity of the gang that raided Frucht's bicycle establishment, at the corner of Park avenue and Second street, Monday night, seems no longer in doubt. The sixteen-year-old lad who was arrested yesterday morning, as told in The Press, on the charge of being one of the burglars, has admitted that he was on the scene and knows about the whole affair, but claims that he waited outside while his companions forced their way into the cellar of the store next door and then up the rear stairs to the bicycle store itself.

Ferdinand Rockafellow made a complete confession to the effect of what has already been stated.

Albert Soper, who was arrested yesterday morning, was not charged with being one of the burglars, but for receiving stolen goods. It is claimed that the burglars sold him a watch, a pair of opera glasses and a pin for a small sum, he knowing that the goods were stolen. Then, it is claimed, when he learned that the police were after the burglars and were in a fair way to catch them, he gave the articles in question to Watson Ralph, a young man who is employed on one of Tier's ice wagons. It is claimed that Ralph knew that the goods were stolen but kept them for Soper. Ralph was arrested yesterday afternoon on the same charge of receiving stolen goods.

This morning was the time set down for the examination of the prisoners before Justice Newcorn. All three were arraigned before the Justice at the city court room in the lock-up at 10 o'clock. Rockafellow was represented by Senator Charles A. Reed, and Ralph by City Judge DeMeza. Soper had no lawyer.

Rockafellow confessed that he was at the scene of the burglary but his counsel explained that he was on the outside and so entered a plea of non-vult. He wanted an examination but as the witnesses for the State were not present, the hearing was adjourned for a week. Meanwhile Rockafellow was committed to the county jail to have his bail fixed by the court at Elizabeth.

Ralph did not have much to say and his examination was also adjourned for a week. He was held under $150 bail.

Soper was instructed by the Justice regarding his rights but he did not know what to do. The Justice advised him to ask for an adjournment with the rest of the cases and so held him under $250 bail for examination next week.

Now that Frucht has had time to make an inventory he can give some idea of what was stolen. The principal articles were two Morgan & Wright tires, three watches, six revolvers, opera glasses and other small sundries.

CELEBRATED BY BEING A HOST.

Miss Edna Lewis Gave a Party on Her Twelfth Birthday.

Miss Edna Lewis, of Somerset street, celebrated her twelfth birthday yesterday afternoon and evening by giving a party to a number of her young friends at her home. The time was spent in playing games. Supper was served to the guests. Among those present were Francis Montford, Grace Linbarger, Emma Powers, Minnie Nischwitz, Ursula Krewson, May Fairchild, Eva Higgins, Laura Linbarger, Viola Linbarger, Mildred Linbarger, May Fritz, Emma Fritz, Bertha Miles, Hattie MacLaughlin, Lillie VanWinckle, May Wyckoff, Ethel Wyckoff, Grace Powers, Marian Englehardt, Mabel Farlee, Mary Woolston, Edna Lewis, Willie Higgins, Edwin Loomis, Arthur Morrison, Earnest Powlison, Leslie Powlison, Leslie Ireland, Harry Hedden, Harry Josephs, Malcom Krewson, Charlie Powell, David Fairchild, Arthur Humble and Willie Nischwitz.

LODGE FRIENDS CAME.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Whitely Agreeably Surprised Last Evening.

Last evening Mr. and Mrs. Francis Whitely, of Steiner place, were agreeably surprised by the members of Friendship Lodge, No. 4, Daughters of Rebekah. The host and hostess were wholly unaware of the surprise, but proved themselves equal to the occasion. Sociability was the feature of the evening, during which a bountiful supper was served. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Barbour, Miss Barbour, Mr. and Mrs. Peter VanFleet, Mrs. Jacob Kriney, Mrs. John Kriney, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kittering, Mrs. Ford, Mrs. Charles Young, Mrs. Benjamin Moore, William E. Barbour, Mrs. Alexander Sargent, Mr. and Mrs. Walch.

THE REPLY OF SPAIN

Madrid Cabinet to Consider Their Note to the United States.

A DIVISION AMONG THEM

It Is Said the Answer Will Include a Formal Protest Against Filibustering Expeditions—Officers Wish to Leave Cuba.

Madrid, Oct. 22.—The Government's answer to United States Minister Woodford's recent note in regard to Cuba will be drafted by the Cabinet to-day. The reply will include a formal protest on the part of Spain against the many Cuban filibustering expeditions which have been organized in the United States.

Senor Gullon, the Foreign Minister, has communicated to Premier Sagasta the contents of a dispatch from Senor de Lome, the Spanish Minister at Washington, relative to the recent filibustering expeditions alleged to have departed from New York City and Jacksonville, Fla.

It is understood in political circles that there is a sharp difference of opinion between Senor Gullon, the Foreign Minister, and Gen. Correa, Minister of War, on the one hand, and Senor Sagasta and Senor Moret, Minister of the Colonies, on the other, as to the attitude the Government should take towards the United States.

El Correo, on the contrary, says that Senor Sagasta and Senor Gullon are "quite agreed as to international questions."

Officers Wish to Leave Cuba.

Havana, Oct. 22.—Many army officers, who consider that Sagasta's policy of autonomy for Cuba is dangerous to Spanish sovereignty, have applied for leave to return to Spain. Lieut.-Gen. Weyler has invariably refused refused these applications.

The word "treason" has been heard of late in several quarters where it is believed that the Government intends to deliver the public offices into the hands of the insurgents, which, in the opinion of critics of such a course, would be equivalent to granting independence.

Gen. Weyler has cabled the Government that although he has fixed upon the 30th as the day of leaving, he may embark a day or two earlier or later.

CHAINLESS WHEELS FOR $50.

Bicycle Combine Does Not Control All These Bicycles.

New York, Oct. 22.—The big bicycle combine to keep up the price of the chainless wheel to $125 will meet some snags. It is asserted that chainless wheels will be put on the market for $50.

The cheaper wheels will be put out by firms independent of the patents controlled by the firm which yesterday placed the first chainless wheel on sale.

Since the League chainless wheel was invented the firm which is the biggest manufacturer of bicycles in this country has been buying bevel-gear patents, and now has control of not only the patents covering the League wheels, but of most of the patents taken out for bevel gears which the firm could purchase.

As a result, the big firm has control of the most important bevel-gear patents, and many of those firms which will put similar wheels on the market will do it under patents leased from this firm. One of the stipulations of the lease is that no wheels will be sold under $125.

Although this price will prevail among the high-grade wheels at first, it is sure to fall, because of the competition of those firms which will put out chainless wheels independent of the combine's patents and at a much less cost than $125.

The war of the chainless wheel, when it once gets under way, is certain to be interesting and to result quite as favorably to the public as did the cut in price of the chain wheel.

FOR KLONDIKE'S CHRISTMAS.

Frozen Eggs in Cans and Poultry and Oysters to Be Sent.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 22.—On the steamship George W. Elder, which leaves to-day for Dyea, Alaska, Charles E. Vest, of this city, will ship 4,000 dozen eggs and about a ton and a half of poultry, fresh meats and oysters, which he expects to take over the Chilkoot Pass to Dawson City by dog train before Christmas.

The eggs were broken into cans, sealed up and then frozen. Vest and four others hope to realize $100,000 out of the venture. They expect to sell all the eggs at $35 per dozen and the poultry at fabulous prices.

Sons of the Millionaire Disinherited.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—The report that Robert T. Lincoln would be offered and would accept the presidency of the Pullman Palace Car Company is denied. No one will be tendered the position until the directors hold a meeting, and there is no immediate prospect of their getting together.

The twin sons of the late George M. Pullman have been disinherited. Such is the story which has gained currency since the arrival here of the widow. The story is to the effect that the barrier between sons and money was made only ten days before Mr. Pullman's death. Mr. Pullman believed in work. These sons showed no desire to indicate that they might succeed him in the direction of big affairs. For this reason, it is said, the father cut them off.

Maj. Handy Ill.

Paris, France, Oct. 22.—Maj. Moses P. Handy, the special commissioner of the United States to the French International Exposition of 1900, who has just completed his mission here, is so seriously ill that his friends are alarmed, and his return to the United States has been postponed.

Fast Horses Win a Parson.

Niles, Mich., Oct. 22.—Rev. J. W. Arney, familiarly known as "Parson Arney," has made a public confession that he is a backslider and says he never intends to preach the gospel again.

He admits that he loves fast horses better than the church. The parson has a stable of sprinters.

THOUSANDS PERISHED

The Phillipine Islands Devastated by a Tornado.

GREAT LOSS OF PROPERTY

A Hurricane Swept Several Islands of the Group and Laid Waste a Vast Area—Many Towns Were Razed to the Ground.

Madrid, Oct. 22.—A dispatch from Manila says that the hurricane and tidal wave which visited the island of Leyte, one of the Philippine group, on Oct. 12, swept inland and devastated a vast area of territory.

The advices say that the towns of Carigara and Burugo, on the island of Leyte, have been completely ruined. The town of Leyte, owing to its sheltered position, suffered little damage. The tidal wave engulfed entire villages and thousands of persons were killed. Information has been received from the ruined town of Tacloban that the wave also swept over the island of Samar, which is separated from the island of Leyte by the narrow Straits of San Juanico.

Leyte is one of the smaller of the more important islands of the Philippines, and is on the extreme east or Pacific side of the archipelago. The port and most important town is Tacloban, destroyed by this visitation, on the northeast side of the island, and before the war its commerce, which was with Manila entirely, was larger than that of any other town in the archipelago. Though the population is about 300,000, the island is less densely peopled than most of the western islands of the group. The island of Samar is considerably larger than Leyte and is close to it on the northeast. Mountains form the backbone of both islands, and the damage is probably confined to the comparatively narrow plains along the east coasts.

SURGEON-GENERAL OF THE ARMY.

President Will To-day Appoint Medical Director W. K. Van Reypen.

Washington, Oct. 22.—President McKinley will give a surprise to naval officers to-day in the appointment of Medical Director William K. Van Reypen to be Surgeon-General of the Navy, with the relative rank of Commodore, to succeed the late Surgeon-General Newton L. Bates. When the term of Medical Director James Rufus Tryon expired last month a great deal of influence was brought to bear on the President and Secretary Long to secure his reappointment for another term of four years. The President, however, had already promised the place to Medical Director Bates, second in seniority in the Naval Medical Corps and the physician to the White House family. Dr. Bates was ill when he received his commission on Oct. 1. When he died on Monday last, without having assumed the duties of his office, it was the general belief in naval circles that Dr. Tryon would be reinstated. Dr. Van Reypen did not want to become a candidate against Dr. Tryon, and it is understood that he did not make the application until Dr. Tryon urged him to do so.

The new Surgeon-General has been a member of the Medical Board of Inspection and Survey since July 13, 1894. He entered the navy from New York in October, 1861. His professional standing is of the highest, and the selection is considered excellent.

THE GERMAN ARMY.

A Large Increase in the Estimates. Old Officers Retired.

London, Oct. 22.—The German Government, according to a dispatch from Berlin published here yesterday, in addition to the sums of money which will be asked for to increase the strength of the navy, will soon ask for a large increase in the army estimates. While at Wiesbaden, the dispatch says, Emperor William struck the names of many officers off the active list of the army, in pursuance of his policy of placing younger men in the most important posts.

It has already been decided that the army monoeuvres of 1898 will be held in Alsace-Lorraine, and that they will be on an unprecedentedly large scale.

Disease Imported by Immigrants.

Washington, Oct. 22.—A circular has been issued by Commissioner-General Powderly, and approved by Secretary Gage, directing all Immigration and Customs officers to make careful examination for the discovery of cases of fovus, a loathsome contagious disease of the scalp, among immigrants arriving here, and instructing them to return all such afflicted persons at the earliest opportunity at the expense of the steamship lines bringing them to this country. Commissioner Powderly says that the disease is a new one and made its appearance here among immigrants. It has proved to be stubborn in treatment, and easily communicated. It has been decided best to exclude all afflicted persons from our country.

Sherman Will Vote in Ohio.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Secretary Sherman has decided to follow President McKinley's example and vote at the coming election. He will not, however, be one of the Presidential party, but will leave Washington on the 30th. He will go direct to Mansfield and cast his vote, and return to Washington, reaching here the day after the election. Senator Sherman has disposed of his house at Mansfield.

The Grandest Remedy.

Mr. R. B. Greeve, merchant, of Chilhowie, Va., certifies that he had consumption, was given up to die, sought all medical treatment that money could procure, tried all cough remedies he could hear of, but got no relief; spent many nights sitting up in a chair; was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery, and was cured by use of two bottles. For past three years has been attending to business, and says Dr. King's New Discovery is the grandest remedy ever made, as it has done so much for him and also for others in his community. Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed for Coughs, Colds and Consumption. It don't fail. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Although Edward F. Randolph, of West Front street, is somewhat improved from his illness, he is yet unable to go to work.

Something to Know.

It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centres in the stomach, gently stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50c or $1.00 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

Fred Dunavan, of Randolph's pharmacy, will start next Monday on his vacation of one week.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent Cough Remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form.—The Banner of Liberty, Libertytown, Maryland. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Dr. Rushmore, of Park avenue, went to Philadelphia yesterday morning to visit relatives.

Those who believe chronic diarrhœa to be incurable should read what Mr. P. E. Grisham, of Gaars Mills, La., has to say on the subject, viz.: "I have been a sufferer from chronic diarrhœa ever since the war and have tried all kinds of medicines for it. At last I found a remedy that effected a cure and that was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy." This medicine can always be depended upon for colic, cholera morbus, dysentery and diarrhœa. It is pleasant to take and never fails to affect a cure. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Editor Runyon and wife are planning a trip to Old Point Comfort, Va.

A pain in the chest is nature's warning that pneumonia is threatened. Dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind over the seat of pain, and another on the back between the shoulders, and prompt relief will follow. Sold by T. S. TRYING TO END THE STRIKE.

Board of Trade, on Behalf of the Government, Submits a Plan.

(Cable Dispatch to the New York Sun.)

London, Oct. 22.—The Board of Trade, acting on behalf of the Government, has written to the Employers' Federation and the Amalgamated Engineers' Society, submitting a plan for ending the strike in the engineering and allied trades. The board asks, in view of the lamentable results to the country produced by the long-continued dispute that the employers and the employes consider the draft of a settlement that is submitted to them.

This provides, first, that the members of the Employers' Federation, while disavowing any intention of interfering with the legitimate action of the trades unions, will admit no right of interference in the management of their business. The members of the trades unions, while maintaining the right of combination, disavow any intention of interfering with the management of the business of their employers.

Secondly, the demand for a working week of forty-eight hours is withdrawn.

Thirdly, a conference between representatives of the Employers' Federation and the Amalgamated Engineers' Society will be held forthwith to discuss and settle the question of the hours of labor.

WHAT WOMEN MOST NEED.

Miss Willard Puts a Better Physique Ahead of Woman Suffrage.

Toronto, Oct. 22.—Miss Frances E. Willard, who is here to attend the World's Convention of the W. C. T. U., which opens to-day, says the woman's suffrage movement is booming. She believes that England will be the first country to grant suffrage. She says: "Lord Salisbury is for it, and Mr. Arthur Balfour, who is certainly the coming man in England, is for it. In the British Parliament one man's nod controls 150 majority votes, while in America we have fifty States and a complication of Legislatures to besiege. Blessed be unity in parliamentary bodies when a general evil has to be fought."

Referring to the international peace treaty, she said President McKinley was for it, and she believed that such a treaty between England and the United States would be signed by the Spring, and that within a decade there would be a universal national commission created to deal with all international matters and prevent international hostilities. "What women to-day most need is a better physique, and that means nutritious diet, simpler food, loose corsets, larger shoes, fresh air at night and a good supply of red corpuscles."

Four Persons Indicted for Murder.

Saratoga, Oct. 22.—The Grand Jury has indicted four persons for murder in the first degree and one for manslaughter in the first degree. All will be tried the week beginning Nov. 3. Guiseppe de Vivo, an Italian railroad laborer, is charged with murdering Michael Radigan, Sr., his foreman; Rethebha Tacka, Nizha Tacka, Abood Barhoun and Shidih Barondy, Syrians, will be tried for killing an infant in Woodlawn Park, Saratoga, and Eliza Wilson for killing her husband in the town of Wilton with a chair.

Another Ohio Man for the Cabinet.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22.—A statement was made yesterday that in the event of the retirement of Attorney-General McKenna, of California, from the President's Cabinet, Solicitor-General Richardson, of Ohio, might be promoted to Attorney-General. Except in the event, however, of the retirement of Secretary Sherman from the Cabinet, it is not believed another Ohio man will be appointed to the Cabinet. Richardson and the President have been fast personal friends for many years.

Danbury Fair Buildings Destroyed.

Danbury, Ct., Oct. 22.—The chief exhibition buildings on the Danbury Fair Grounds were destroyed by fire at 1 o'clock yesterday morning. An explosion, the cause of which is now known, shattered the main building. A northeast gale was blowing and the flames swept over the three acres of wooden buildings. The bench and poultry-show building, machinery hall, the art gallery, agricultural hall and the ampitheatre were among the buildings destroyed.

Suicide After Killing a Girl.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 22.—Achilles Felker, who murdered Cora Gress at Gouldsboro, Wayne County, Wednesday, because she refused to marry him, and then escaped, was found dead at Snydersville, Monroe County, yesterday morning, having killed himself.

After the murder he had gone to his brother's home at Snydersville, where he blew out his brains.

Fourth-Class Postmasters.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Fourth-class postmasters were appointed yesterday as follows:

New Jersey—Manhattan Park, Essex, Charles Kunz.

New York—North Granville, Washington, John B. Davis; Woodside, Queens, S. M. Johnston.

NO VERDICT IS FOUND

Luetgert Jury is Discharged by Judge Tuthill.

COULD NOT POSSIBLY AGREE

The Vote Stood Nine for Conviction and Three for Acquittal—Case Dismissed on Motion of the State's Attorney.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—The jury before whom Adolph L. Luetgert was tried for wife murder has disagreed and has been discharged. The trial, which was one of the hardest-fought battles in the history of the Chicago criminal court lasted nearly nine weeks and cost Cook county $30,000. And all the effort and all the expense have been wasted.

The jury stood on the last ballot as it had stood almost from the time of its retirement—nine for conviction and three for acquittal.

Court was called to order at 11 o'clock yesterday, and the jury, haggard and worn, filed in.

There was a short delay pending the arrival of Luetgert and State's Attorney Deneen. Luetgert arrived, looking as if he had slept well and with a look of eager expectancy on his usually stolid face.

When he was seated Judge Tuthill nodded to Foreman Heickhold, who announced that the jury had been unable to arrive at a verdict. He said there had been an absolute deadlock for thirty-eight hours.

Judge Tuthill had questioned each of the jurors and had become convinced that there was no possibility of an agreement, so he accepted the report and discharged the jury.

Luetgert expressed no opinion of the result, but he appeared well pleased, as did his attorneys. He was taken back to jail with five minutes after the jury had been discharged.

Counsel for Luetgert yesterday afternoon gave State's Attorney Deneen notice that they would to-morrow make formal application before Judge Tuthill for the admission of the prisoner to bail.

Judge Tuthill will be asked to fix the amount of bail at $15,000, but Luetgert will enter court prepared to furnish bonds of $20,000 if necessary. State's Attorney Deneen could not say whether he would resist the application.

The wife of A. L. Luetgert disappeared from her home on the night of May 1, and her husband, who was the proprietor of a sausage factory, was arrested on May 1, and charged with killing her in his factory and afterward destroying her body in a vat by the agency of chemicals. The motive given by the prosecution for the alleged crime was that Luetgert was in love with another woman and wished to be rid of his wife. Luetgert was indicted on June 4 and the trial began on Aug. 23.

LORD SALISBURY'S NOTE.

His Reply Relative to Reopening the Indian Mints.

London, Oct. 22.—It was learned yesterday afternoon that Lord Salisbury's note to the United States Commissioners said that by far the most important proposal submitted was that concerning the reopening of the Indian mints, adding:

"The Government of India points out that it can hardly be expected to give up a policy which, for four years, it has been endeavoring to make effective in the absence of substantial security that the system to be submitted for it is practically certain to be stable. If, owing to the relative smallness of the area over which the bimetallic system is to be established to the great divergence between the proposed ratio and the present gold price of silver, or to any other cause, the legal ratio of silver were not maintained, the position of silver might be worse than before, and the financial embarrassment of the Government of India greater than any with which it has as yet had to contend."

Threw Vitriol on Two Girls.

Norwalk, Ct., Oct. 22.—Shortly after 6.30 o'clock last night Jennie Kinsella with some friends, was coming down Plattsville avenue on her way home from the Norwalk Mills, where she worked. Alice Troy, Maggie Troy, and Bridget Silk were walking together slightly in advance of Miss Kinsella and Mary Troy. Twenty feet from the Kinsellas' gate they met a man who peered at the girls ahead and passed. Then he approached the girls behind and looked closely into Jennie's face. Mary Troy says she saw his right hand move toward Jennie, and then she felt a terrible burn on her own cheek. She remembers clearly nothing more. Both girls had been burned with vitriol. Miss Kinsella may lose her eyesight.

A good-for-nothing fellow, known as "Tumbler" Kelly, was arrested by Miss Troy's brothers on suspicion of being the acid-thrower.

When policemen were taking him to jail Jennie Kinsella's sweetheart and and his excited friends tried to drag him from them.

Last night there was hot talk of lynching by the mill hands, and hundreds of them are searching for the perpetrator of the crime.

Appeal to Americans.

London, Oct. 22.—The Executive Committee of the Amalgamated Society of Engineers is about to send to the leading newspapers and labor organizations in the United States a statement, giving the details of the strike of engineers now in progress and declaring that the sum of $100,000 is required weekly to pay the men on strike and meet other expenses.

This amount, the statement says, can only be raised by subscriptions, and the committee appeals to the liberality of the American friends of labor to assist the engineers to defeat the employers' attempt to crush their organization.

Armstrong to Meet Maher.

St. Louis, Oct. 22.—An eight-round contest between Peter Maher, the Irish champion, and "Bob" Armstrong, the negro giant, is being arranged for by the St. Louis Press Club.

Armstrong has accepted, and if Maher agrees will go into training at once. The contest will come off Nov. 17 if ultimately arranged.

NEW JERSEY EXECUTIVE PATRONAGE

Governor Griggs has made most of the important appointments falling within his official term. Next winter he will name six Law Judges and seven County Prosecutors. His principal State appointments will be Superintendent of the State Board of Education and Chief of the Labor Bureau. The successor of Gov. Griggs, to be elected in November next year, and to fill the executive chair in the calendar years 1899, 1900 and 1901, will appoint a Chancellor, three Supreme and two Circuit Judges, a Chancery Clerk, State Prison Supervisor and Inspectors, the whole Riparian Board, two members of the State Board of Canvassers, a State Factory Inspector, with other State officials and important boards, ten County Judges, eleven Prosecutors, and ten District Court Judges.

NEW JERSEY TAXATION.

The returns of assessable property in the State, compiled for the State Board of Taxation, show a total valuation of $812,616.240, an increase over last year of $15,211,738. Six of the twenty-one counties show a decrease. These are Burlington, Cumberland, Gloucester, Hunterdon, Salem and Sussex, all rural counties. Other rural counties show only slight increases. This is due to a depreciation in the value of farm land. The increase in the non-agricultural counties is quite marked, notwithstanding there is little of the increase due to personal property. In Union county the valuation is $37,975,600, an increase over last year of $1,203,500. In Somerset the valuation is $17,812,700, and increase of $54,046.

"Low: Foe of the Schools." Such is a headline in the New York Sun. That looks like a statement of campaign inebriety, since it was Seth Low that gave $1,000,000 all at once to an educational institution.

We wonder if the Republican Parrot will Crowell after election day.

Roger Murray got there in a hurry.

AN AFTERNOON OF WHIST.

Miss Bowers Entertained Pleasantly in Honor of a Friend.

An informal afternoon of whist was given yesterday by Miss Delphine Bowers, of Franklin place, in honor of her guest, Miss Emilie Oakley, of Rutherford. There were four tables and the afternoon passed very pleasantly. The first prize was won by Miss Maud Lowry and the second by Miss Mary French. Besides the hostess, Mrs. B. O. Bowers and Miss Oakley, those present were Miss Clara Brewer, of Illinois; Miss Mabel Coard, Miss Alice Coard, Miss Ella Murray, Miss Lulu Patton, Miss Arline Crane, Miss Mary French, Miss Maud Lowry, Miss Ethel Green, Miss Genivieve Daniel, Miss Ella Blish, Miss Covert, Mrs. George O. Stevens.

Home-made Cake Sale.

The Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church will hold their first sale of home-made cake at the home of Mrs. J. Fred Mac Donald, corner of Front street and Watchung avenue, on Saturday afternoon, October 30th, from 3 to 6 o'clock. Orders for cake may be left at the store of G. L. VanEmburgh & Son each day, not later than Thursday afternoon, and they will be filled by the ladies. The band takes this method to assist in furnishing the new Sunday-school room of the church and at the same time provide their friends with delicious home made cakes, and they ask the liberal patronage of their friends.

The engagement is announced of Miss Etta VanBuskirk, of North avenue, and S. M. Seely, Woodbridge.

TRINITY'S WOMEN GAVE A TEA.

An Event That Provided Pleasure for Guests and Profit for Church.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Tier, of Bank place, was the scene of a delightful event last evening when a tea was held under the auspices of the Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church, for the purpose of securing additional money for the furnishing of the church.

As usual, the tea was largely attended by members and friends of the church, who lent energy toward making the affair a success. Mrs. E. T. VanWinkle, Mrs. P. M. Demarest and Mrs. E. H. Bird composed the committee in general charge. Benjamin LaVere was in charge of the musical portion of the programme. The hours were from 6 until 10 o'clock, and during that time the spacious home was crowded with people. At the door were stationed H. W. Marshall and E. T. VanWinkle, who received the guests, as well as their money, in their usual happy manner.

There were piano selections by Bert Harold, cornet solos by Benjamin LaVere, comical vocal solos by Harold Barret, of London, England, and selections on the guitarzither. Mr Barrett was obliged to respond to several encores, and his selections won admiration from all.

In the dining room Mrs. P. M. Demarest and Mrs. E. H. Bird poured coffee, and Miss Grace Smith, Miss Minnie Smith and Miss Gertrude Tier served as waitresses.

The decorations in the dining room were pink and white. These colors were obtained through the use of cosmos flowers, attractively arranged.

Mr. Tier very generously donated to the ladies' society the ice cream served, and they appreciate the efforts of the host and hostess, which materially made the affair the success it was. Nearly $25 was left at the door with those in charge.

THEATRICAL.

Donnelly and Girard will make their first appearance in Music Hall next Tuesday evening in the spectacular operetta, "The Geezer," and promise their many friends and admirers one of those old-time enjoyable productions. 'Tis said the cast, with which they have surrounded themselves, is the strongest they have ever had and 'tis the largest company they have ever carried, comprising forty people. With special scenery for each act and magnificent electric effects, rich and handsome costumes of entirely new design, the play is said to be especially adopted to Messrs. Donnelly and Girard, for 'tis full of opportunities for comedy and all lovers of comedians know the ability of this clever team to find all the funny things there is attendant with new and catchy songs, sweet and cheerful music, and the cast comprises some of the cleverest artists of the day.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by druggists, price 75c per bottle.

The Book of the Royal Blue.

The "Book of the Royal Blue," issued by the passenger department of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, has made its initial appearance with the October number, and is, undoubtedly, the most creditable magazine of its nature published. Aside from being a model example of modern typography, it is most interesting as to its contents. A field for interesting literature is certainly offered by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, because it is the oldest railway in the United States; is foremost in historical prominence, and is rich in magnificent scenery. The latter especially affords an endless scope for illustrations, and the magazine has started on its venture with all these points full in hand. Copies can be obtained by enclosing four (4) cents in stamps to the Advertising Department, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, Baltimore, Md. 10-21-2

WESTFIELD

VARIOUS BITS OF NEWS.

WESTFIELD HAPPENINGS SERVED UP TERSELY FOR THE PRESS.

Many People Go and Come in the Pretty Suburban Town—Items Interesting Because of Their Brevity

Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Smith are the guests of Mrs. James R. Ferris.

Mrs. Newton Hoffman, of Mountain avenue, has returned from a visit with relatives in New York city.

The Westfield Junior football team will play the Scotch Plains Juniors at Scotch Plains tomorrow afternoon.

Rev. Joseph Greaves will meet the Normal Bible Class in the Public Library rooms this evening at 8 o'clock.

The A. O. V. will take a bicycle run to Elizabeth tomorrow afternoon to witess the Westfield-Elizabeth football game.

Rev. George A. Francis and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Conant will attend the Baptist State convention to be held at Trenton next Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church will hold a business meeting and social at the residence of Miss Carberry, on Westfield avenue, tonight.

The social committee of the I. O. S. held a meeting last night and decided to hold a progressive hearts party at the residence of R. V. Hoffman, on Mountain avenue, next Friday evening.

John Kettyles, a well-known character, was arrested by Constable Chamberlain for being drunk and disorderly on Broad street on Wednesday afternoon. He was placed in the lockup to sober up and was then discharged upon a promise of good behavior.

The Westfield Club football team will play a game in the Journal trophy series with the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. team at Elizabeth tomorrow afternoon. The Westfield team is now at the head in the contest for the trophy, it being the only team which has not lost a single game. It has defeated every team in the league except Elizabeth.

The I. O. S. held its monthly business meeting at the residence of Charles R. Foster, on South Broad street, last evening. A committee was appointed to organize a glee club, and the offer of Westfield physicians to give lectures before the club on the subject of first aid to the injured, was accepted and a committee was appointed to arrange the places and dates for the lectures. The name of William Bastable was proposed for membership.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church gave a successful social in the church parlors last evening. The musical and literary programme began with a piano solo by Mrs. Charles Thorn; Wm. H. Ruth, Jr., rendered a vocal solo entitled, "On the Deep;" Miss Marie Simpson gave a reading, "Little Crystal;" Alfred E. Pearsall gave an excellent representation of Joseph Jefferson's tavern scene in Rip VanWinkle, and recited Will Carleton's "First Settler's Story." The Epworth League orchestra, consisting of J. S. Burhans, Herbert Pearsall, Lee Pearsall, Ralph Pearsall and William Townsend, gave a number of selections, to which Miss Allie Crosby gave piano accompaniments. After the musical and literary programme a social hour was enjoyed.

The Westfield Township Committee will hold a meeting in the township rooms this evening, and will probably announce its decision upon the application of the Elizabeth and Westfield Railway Company for a franchise to run its trolley line to Westfield upon the county road. The committee has already held at least one private conference upon the matter, and it is said that a member of the committee has stated that he does not consider the resolution passed at the citizens' meeting two weeks ago as an expression of the public sentiment. The resolution instructed the Township Committee not to grant a franchise for a trolley upon the county road. If the committee ignores the resolution and grants the franchise, it will be a case similar to that of a few years ago when the citizens at a special election voted about three to one in favor of having the town construct and own a water plant, and the Township Committee in opposition to the vote signed a contract to take water from the Union Water Company, which was then just seeking entrance to the town.

An Aged Cyclist.

Mr. Spriggs, of Newark, aged 83 years, rode his wheel to Plainfield and Dunellen last Wednesday and returned home yesterday. Considering Mr. Spriggs' age the feat is a remarkable one. He rides an old fashioned Victor wheel and makes excellent time. Last summer he rode a distance of thirty-four miles in four hours. While in this city he called on his friend Mr. Vanderhoff, of Front street, manager for the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company.

Two Kinds of Stores.

There probably always will be two kinds of stores. One kind is conducted in the belief that the way to win trade is to make the store the best one for people to come to. In the other kind of store all attention is given to specious methods of drawing trade and little concern given to the interests of customers when they come.

The First Kind is Our Kind.

We do not believe that any drug store can offer any worthy inducements other than excellence of service and fairness of prices. Such an inducement has built our trade and will continue to build it.

PLAINFIELD GOT A PLUM

It had been generally understood that Rahway was to have the nomination for Coroner. Her delegation named Dr. Charles S. Holmes, of that city, and Mayor Fisk seconded it. There was a general movement of surprise when the Cranford delegation put up the name of Dr. Charles B McConnell. The vote was taken by delegations and the Cranford man secured 17 votes from Clark, Cranford, Summit and Linden. Dr. Holmes was declared elected, as he received the remainder of the votes. There was a hurried consultation on the stage between the leaders and then Senator Voorhees electrified the whole convention by saying that Dr. Holmes was not eligible for the office. Then he went on to explain that he held the office two years ago and the law says that three years must elapse before the same person can hold the office of Coroner. The former vote was reconsidered and then the Cranford delegation again named Dr. McConnell, the Rahway delegation seconded it and the nomination was made unanimous, Rahway expressing a willingness to give way to Cranford now that her chosen candidate was not eligible.

Ernest R. Ackerman, of Plainfield, was one of a committee of three appointed to escort the nominees to the stage. While they were gone, there were cries for more singing and Runyon and his friends again struck up the familar air. The song was received with great applause. It was repeated and the candidates marched in and they were tendered a hearty welcome, the Plainfield delegation being especially demonstrative in their welcome to Roger Murray.

Surrogate Parrott made a short speech and then Mr. Houston and Mr. Squire addressed a few words to the delegates. In introducing Mr. Murray, Senator Voorhees said that he was always busy and always doing some good. It's a very hard thing, he remarked, to get everybody in Plainfield to like you, but Roger has that happy faculty.

As Mr. Murray came forward the Plainfield delegation rose in their seats and gave three tremendous cheers and a tiger. Murray looked worried, but he pluckily began and thanked his audience for the nomination and promised to do all he could, if he was elected, to further the interest of the county. He would give every measure his full attention and vote according to his convictions. The delegates cheered him again and then the convention adjourned.

The Plainfield delegations were composed of the following.

First Ward—J. W. MacMurray, chairman, D. S. Dunavan, J. F. Buckle, R. I. Tolles, C. H. Herring. J. E. Flannery, William Douglas, Fred. Stack, H. C. VanEmburgh and Fred Beekman.

Second Ward—William N. Runyon, chairman, Nelson Runyon, John B. Dumont, J. Hervey Doane, Charles Smith, Robt. Guttridge, Wm. H. Drayton, John E. Keeley, Lewis Croom, Edwin H. Frost, Joseph A. Robinson.

Third Ward—J. Frank Hubbard, chairman, Charles J. Fisk, J. Caspar Kirkner, Ernest R. Ackerman, A. I. Littell, J. W. Murray, Jr., Spencer Conway, F. E. Marsh, B. Frank Coriell, G. J. Tobin.

Fourth Ward—William Newcorn, chairman, George W. DeMeza, Harry C. Runyon, Albert W. Demarest, James H. Stewart, Willam A. Westphal, Albert H. Leivers, Daniel J. Galbraith, Joseph Chapot, Edward McCray, Robert Lee, Alonzo T. Ayers, John Kavanaugh, Arthur Venable and Frank Nelson.

THE SUNDAY LESSON.

INTERNATIONAL SERIES, WITH COMMENTARY BY DR. STEARNS.

Golden Text: Whosoever therefore shall Confess me before men, him will I Confess also before my Father which is in heaven.—Matt. x: 32. Oct. 24, 1897.

19. "Whereupon, O King Agrippa, I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision." When he heard one speaking to him from heaven, saying, "I am Jesus, whom thou persecutest," he could no longer doubt but that he had been greatly mistaken and that Jesus of Nazareth was actually alive and in heaven, and at once he yielded to Him, saying, "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" We cannot expect such a vision or a voice from heaven, but the word of God should be to us as much a voice from heaven as that which he heard.

20. "Repent and turn to God and do works meet for repentance." This he preached everywhere, proclaiming that God was in Christ, God manifest in the flesh, and that the only way to turn to God was to turn to Christ (I Cor. iii, 11), and then let your life prove that you had really turned to Him, for while no works of ours can save us, yet if saved by His finished work we will surely show it by our works.

21. "For these causes the Jews caught me in the temple and went about to kill me." Jesus was the cause of all their hatred. There are gods many and lords many in Christendom as well as in heathendom, but there is only one living and true God, who so loved us as to give His only begotten Son for us, and when we receive Him, He and His Spirit will be manifest in us and will provoke more or less opposition from the world and also from religious people who do not truly Know Him, for the carnal mind, whether religious or otherwise, is enmity against God (Rom. viii, 7).

22, 23. "From Moses and the prophets he continually proclaimed that it had been foretold that the Messiah should suffer and die and rise from the dead before He could be Israel's Messiah or a light to the gentiles. So also our Lord Himself, for Moses and the prophets set forth that His sufferings must precede His glory (Luke xxiv, 25-27). We receive Him, and by His finished work are saved eternally, but if we would reign with Him in glory we must be content to suffer with Him this little while, and by life and doctrine proclaim Him to all the world (Math x, 37-39; Rom. viii, 17; II Tim. ii, 12).

24. "Paul, thou art beside thyself. Much learning doth make thee mad." He had not been speaking the wisdom of men, but had been telling earnestly the story of Jesus, and to this day those who are much in love with Jesus and carried away with Him are accounted beside themselves. They said of Christ, "He hath a devil and is mad" (John x, 20). The prophets testified that people said, "The man of the Spirit is mad." "He that departeth from evil is accounted mad" (Hos. ix, 7, margin, and Isa. lix, 15, margin).

25, 26. "I am not mad, most noble Festus, but speak forth the words of truth and soberness." Yet these are the very words that are not palatable to men of the world. The time will come, is even now come, when many who bear the name of Christ will not endure sound doctrine. They have a form of godliness, but deny the power thereof (II Tim. iv, 3; iii, 5). Like Festus, they know all about it, but they will not yield to it and be obedient to it. They know all about Him who is the only Savior, but will not submit to Him or be ruled by Him.

27. "King Agrippa, believest thou the prophets? I know that thou believest." From verse 3 it would appear that the king was well acquainted with the Jews and their affairs and the promises concerning them and their Messiah, but it is not what we know that helps us, but only the knowledge we make use of. It is not the food we look at and can talk about and even prepare for others that benefits ourselves, but only that which we personally appropriate. We must receive Him.

28. "Then Agrippa said unto Paul, Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian." Another translation is, "Lightly art thou persuading thyself that thou canst make me a Christian." The word "Christian," so common with us, is not a word much used in the Bible, being only found in two other places (Acts xi, 26; I Pet. iv, 16). The word "saint" or "believer" or "brethren," is much more common.

29. "I would to God that not only thou, but also all that hear me this day, were both almost and altogether such as I am, except these bonds." He was addressing the king, and the governor and the chief captains and mighty men, and yet felt that with the exception of his bonds he was better off than they and that what he had they might well desire to have. What could it be? What but this, that their position and honor were but temporary and transient, while he, though for a time their prisoner, was one with Him who was at God's right hand, a joint heir with Christ, a king and a priest unto God (Rom. viii, 17; Rev. i, 5, 6; v, 9, 10), and that he would surely in due time enjoy His heavenly kingdom.

30, 31. "This man doeth nothing worthy of death or of bonds." This was the conclusion of the king and governor, and the others as they went aside after Paul had finished. Pilate bore the same testimony concerning our Lord Jesus, and yet the Jews had Jesus crucified and Stephen stoned and James slain, and they would have killed Paul. Oh, how they hated Jesus of Nazareth!

32. "This man might have been set at liberty if he had not appealed unto Caesar." Shall we say, What a pity he appealed to Caesar? Or shall we say, "Yes, my Father, this is so, because that Thou hast found it good?" (Math. xi, 26, French Testament). Sometimes God does directly, and sometimes He permits to be done, but He always overrules and controls for His glory and the highest good of His people whom He unchangeably loves even in their perverseness. If Paul erred, as I think from the testimony, in going to Jerusalem at this time, the Lord still loved him, appeared to him and will surely get him to Rome, as He said.

The Tables Turned.

We have almost solved the servant girl problem.

Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.

The tables are turned, and we have turned them.

We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.

Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "

Hours 9-12 a. m., 1-4 p. m. and evenings

evidently, and the business shou'd be done by all means. Buildings require paint. Of course a house may be left unpainted and left to become weatherbeaten and a wreck. That doesn't pay, though; it's much cheaper to paint, and our paints in all colors are the best in the market for durability under the most trying conditions. They are well adapted to our exposure and we sell everything in the line of paints and painters' supplies at short prices.

In Chancery of New Jersey.

To CHARLES W. LINDSLEY:

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein the Trustees of the Episcopal Fund of the Diocese of Newark, a Corporation of New Jersey, is the complainant, and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainant on or before the eleventh day of December, next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by Catherine H. McClure and husband to the Trustees of the Episcopal Fund of the Diocese of Newark, dated October 10th, 1893, on lands in the city of Plainfield, and you are made a defendant because you hold an encumbrance on said lands.

MGR. SCHROEDER RESIGNS.

Victory for the Liberals in the Catholic University.

Washington, Oct. 22.—The Board of Control issued a statement late yesterday afternoon to the effect that the Schroeder case has been "amicably settled."

This is taken to mean that the board has backed down from its original plan of first discharging Schroeder and then letting the case go to Rome on briefs. It will now let the offending professor remain undisturbed until the Pope has passed on the evidence.

Washington, Oct. 22.—The Board of Directors of the Catholic University yesterday held fast to their contention that for the peace of the university and of the Catholic Church in this country, Mgr. Schroeder, the professor of dogmatic theology, must leave the institution. So firm were the opponents to Schroeder in their demands for his removal, and so strong were the influences brought to bear, that when the final vote was taken only one vote was cast in favor of Mgr. Schroeder's retention. This is the most notable victory which the liberal element of the Church has obtained. It is remarkable for the display of backbone by the directors. As told in these dispatches yesterday, they had determined to regard the cablegram signed with the name of Cardinal Rampolla, the Papal Secretary of State, and the Steinhube letter as unofficial, both of which represented that the Pope did not want Mgr. Schroeder removed, and in the face of these documents they proceeded to exercise their rights and prerogatives as the administrative head of the university, and demanded the resignation of the German professor.

TO BENEFIT AGRICULTURE.

Proposal in Germany to Terminate Treaty with Us.

(Cable Dispatch to the New York Sun.)

Munich, Oct. 22.—The Lower House of the Bavarian Diet yesterday discussed proposals made by Herr Ratzinger designed to benefit agriculture. The proposal included a denunciation of the "most favored nation" treaty with the United States, and, if possible, the similar treaties with other transatlantic nations, especially Argentina. Herr Ratzinger urged that new treaties should be negotiated, and an increase be made in the corn and timber duties.

Baron von Grailsheim, the Prime Minister, contended that the interests affected by the treaty with the United States were not so great as was frequently represented. The whole circumstances, he said, would be exhaustively considered by the proper authorities at Berlin. The treaty with the United States might possibly be denounced, but he was unable to say anything definite. The Chamber might safely rely upon the Imperial Government to protect German interests.

SHOT A NEGRO HIGHWAYMAN.

He and Two Companions Held Up Seven Men in One Night.

Altoona, Pa., Oct. 22.—James Lee, one of the three negro highwaymen, was shot mortally on Main street, Tyrone, about noon yesterday, by Policeman Simler, of Phillipsburg. Wednesday night Lee and two companions held up and robbed seven men on the road between Phillipsburg and Tyrone. One of their victims, David Bailey, was shot when he attempted to resist robbery.

A posse of citizens, headed by Simler, of Phillipsburg, and James Watchman, of Houtzdale, overtook the highwaymen in Tyrone. The negroes drew revolvers to shoot, but Lee was shot by Simler as he was drawing his pistol. The injured man was brought to this city. He is at the hospital in a dying condition.

Dispute Over Increased Wages.

Pittsburg, Oct. 22.—A wage conference between window-glass workers and manufacturers adjourned last night without agreement. The manufacturers were willing to restore the wages paid under the McKinley tariff, but the four trades represented in the workers' association could not agree on the proportion of the increase each trade was to get. There will probably be a window-glass "famine" this Winter.

Old Constitution's Birthday.

Boston, Oct. 22.—The one-hundredth anniversary of the launching of the frigate Constitution ("Old Ironsides") was observed in Boston yesterday by memorial services at the Old South Church and a parade in which the officers and men of the North Atlantic Squadron participated. The day was given up to the celebration, stores closing and the school children having a half holiday.

Distinguished Guests in Washington.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Princess Kiualani, accompanied by her father, Mr. Cleghorn, arrived in Washington from New York last night en route to Hawaii. They registered at the Ebbitt House, where ex-Queen Liliuokalani is stopping. Evangelina Cossio y Cisneros also reached here last evening in company with Mrs. J. Ellen Foster.

A Singular Death.

Myerstown, Pa., Oct. 22.—Prof. Samuel Miles Hemperly, a well-known instructor at the Palatinate College, met with a singular death yesterday. While pruning vines from the roof of a shed, he slipped and fell to the ground. One of the blades of the shears pierced his neck, severing the jugular vein. He died in a few minutes.

"Cyclist's Eye."

Paris, Oct. 22.—The Little Review of Practical Knowledge asserts that opthalmia is increasingly frequent among bicyclists, and contends that it is engendered by the dust and impurities raised by the wheel. It designates the affliction as "cyclist's eye," and recommends washing the eyes with a solution of boric acid and warm water before and after riding.

Hawaiians to Fight Annexation.

Honolulu, by way of San Francisco, Oct. 22.—Hawaiians opposing annexation have decided to send a commission of five men to Washington to fight the ratification of the treaty.

At least three Hawaiian societies support the movement. It is understood that J. O. Carter, a white man, will lead the commission.

GOSSIP FROM GRIDIRON.

HAPPENINGS AMONG THE LOCAL FOOTBALL PLAYERS.

Games That are to be Played and Points About Teams and Individual Players That May Prove Interesting to Cranks.

Louis Darling, who was injured in last Saturday's game with the Long Branch boys, has recovered sufficiently as to be able to be around again and expects to resume his old place behind the line on Saturday.

The strongest team that ever lined up on the gridiron for Plainfield will be seen on Martine common, Election Day afternoon, when the San Remo team will play here. Among the cracks who will probably play on the Plainfield team on that occasion are "Shorty" Milne, Samuel Hall, George Cathcart, Tom Smith, and possibly Harry McGee and August Saltzman. They have been unable to get off from the business duties on Saturday afternoons but on holidays they will be able to line up on the gridiron as of old.

A powerful football eleven is scheduled to play the Plainfield A. A. on Saturday afternoon at the Martine common. They come from the Garfield Field Club and are well-known as a strong team, used to playing together, and with fast backs who have learned the game on the college gridiron. The team is partially composed of college boys and the rest are young Newark men, who are employed there or in New York city and spend their spare time at football. They come well recommended and have scheduled games with many of the leading teams in this vicinity. They are considered close rivals of the powerful Riverside Athletic Club, that held the Elizabeth A. C. team down to 16 to 0 last Saturday.

The results of the last game of the Plainfield A. A. were eminently satisfactory, although the association barely covered expenses. The Long Branch Athletic Club had a strong team and it cost considerable money to get them to come to Plainfield. They wanted a large guarantee, which the management had to put up, and then the other running expenses ate up all that was left. No charge was made for the ladies, of whom a large number were present, and that precedent will be followed the rest of the season, for the management consider them a drawing card and are very glad to extend the privileges of the grounds to them. With strong support from the townsfolk the club will be able to give the Plainfield public as good a game every Saturday afternoon.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Neuman Bros., the Watchung avenue grocers, have just received a shipment of 1,000 pounds of new crop fancy white clover and buckwheat honey.

—A special meeting of the official board of Grace M. E. church will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the church. Business of importance will be transacted.

—At White's they will offer in their underwear and hosiery department some great values in hosiery and underwear for ladies and children. In the dress goods department they will offer a line of black worsted brocades, 40 inches wide, at half the regular price.

—Tickets for the entertainment of the Plainfield Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar Club, to be given at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church next Tuesday evening, are now selling fast, and those wishing to attend are advised to secure their tickets at once from members of the club, or from members of the Young Men's Association of the church.

Captain Rogers Dead.

Captain Ezekiel Rogers, who was well-known to many Plainfielders, died at his home in Waterford, Conn., yesterday. He was in his eightieth year. The funeral will be from the Seventh-Day Baptist church at Waterford Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

—The industrial school of the East Third Street mission will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Lawyer William Newcorn attended a meeting of the Elks which was held at New Brunswick last evening.

LEADERS TO MEET HERE

STATE ENDEAVOR OFFICERS TO HOLD A CONFERENCE.

They Will Talk Over Work and Formulate Plans to be Carried Out During the Year in Ranks of Young Christians.

Plainfield is a favorite city for the New Jersey Christian Endeavorers. Now the different departments of the State Union of Christian Endeavor Societies are planning to hold their annual conference in this city some time next month. It is the custom of the departments to hold a conference every year at which the plans of that department are made and a general scheme of work for the year laid out. The meetings are held at the same time and place.

At the Paterson convention last month, E. E. Anthony, president of the local union, extended an invitation to the departments of the State to meet in this city this year. The invitation was accepted and the date will be fixed shortly.

Last evening, at the first fall meeting of the executive committee of the Local Union, plans for the reception of the different departments were discussed. The meetings will probably be held in the First Baptist church. A business session will be held in the afternoon when the different departments will arrange the work for the coming year. In the evening, there will be a public meeting at which the heads of the different departments will give five-minute speeches on the work of their individual departments.

A supper will be given to the visitors before the evening session and it will probably be held in the chapel of the Seventh-day Baptist church. A committee was appointed to look after the supper. It consisted of Miss Ernestine Smith, chairman, Mrs. W. S. Lowry, and Miss Florence G Hawkins.

Plans for the winter work in Plainfield were discussed and many of the suggestions made at the Paterson convention were repeated and their application in Plainfield discussed.

L. H. Biglow, Jr., gave a short talk on a systematic plan of Bible study that he hopes to introduce among all the local societies.

TALKED ABOUT FOREIGN CITIES.

Ancient Constantinople and Modern Stamboul Described by a Turk.

The fair sized audience which gathered in the Y. M. C. A. Hall last evening to listen to the lecture on "Ancient Constantinople and Modern Stamboul" by Rev. Hovhannes K Samuelian, a native of Nicomedia, Turkey, were given a rare treat. The lecturer is a graduate of Auburn Theological Seminary and speaks English fluently. His familiarity with his subject was evident, and the many views were excellent. Especial interest was awakened by the views of a Turkish school, slave bazaar and hippodrome, along with portraits of the present and former sultans. The lecture was so well received that a second lecture upon the subject, "A Missionary Tour in the Orient," will be given in the Y. M. C. A. Hall under the auspices of the association, next Thursday evening.

An Apt Advertising Idea.

W. Montgomery Smith, the well-known artist of advertising designs, who resides in this city, has just completed a beautiful design for the Ingersoll dollar watch, which will be used in a page advertisement which the company intend placing in the various magazines. The design is an exact view of the front of the watch alongside a time glass, with the words, drawn in bold and clear letters, "Always Even With Time." It is particularly appropriate and unique, and well depicts the talent of Mr. Smith to utilize his ideas in an apt and convincing way.

A SANITARY PLACE FOR PUPILS

Health Officials Say German Reformed Church Basement is All Right.

The Borough Board of Education last evening had a special meeting to devise some plan to permanently overcome the crowded condition of the school, but adjourned without action. The relief granted by renting the German Reformed church is clearly temporary as the primary departments are yet overcrowded.

It was reported to the board that a few parents had taken their children out of the school held in the German church because they had been informed that it was not perfectly sanitary. But the committee in charge reported that the Board of Health had, at the committee's request, examined the building and found it in perfect condition and had given a unanimous certificate to that effect, and this health certificate was presented and filed There are now forty pupils there. At present there are eight hundred scholars in the North Plainfield School. The two-session plan in the primary department seems to please all.

DINNER IN HONOR OF A GUEST.

Mrs. Charles Roberts the Hostess for a Social Gathering of Young People.

Mrs. Charles Roberts, of East Fourth street, gave a dinner Wednesday evening in honor of her guest, Miss Charlotte B. Strong, of North Hampton, Mass., that was marked for hospitality of the hostess and the sociability enjoyed by the guests. To make the affair doubly enjoyable the occasion was also the celebration of the birthday of the guest of honor. The house was festooned with white and pink roses and presented a charming appearance.

Among those present were Miss Genevieve Shute, of Fredonia; Misses Randall and Green, of Churchill, N. Y.; Dr. Olan, of New York; Mr. Bennett, of Philadelphia; Rev. Thomas Peterkin, of Fredonia; Messrs Brown and Franklin, of New York.

Told of Her Experiences in Japan.

The Woman's Association of the Congregational church held a meeting in the church parlors yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Green, a missionary from Tokio, told some of her experiences in Japan and pointed out to her hearers that there was much encouragement in the outlook there. A paper entitled "Luther Halsey Gulick, Missionary," was read by Miss M. G. Morse. Then tea was served by some of the younger members. At the business session, Miss Effie E Chase was elected secretary in the place of Mrs. M. E. Dwight, who had been elected president.

A Quiet Marriage.

The marriage of Miss Lillian W. Ackerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Ackerman of East Fourth street, to John Cooper, an employe of the Metropolitan Insurance Company, took place last evening at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. G. Kennedy Newel was the officiating clergyman. Mrs. Woolferston, sister of the groom, was bridemaid, and Mr. Hubbard, of this city, was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper will reside on East Fourth street. Only the immediate relatives were present to witness the ceremony.

A Chestnutting Party.

A delightful chestnutting party was enjoyed yesterday afternoon by the Misses Saxton, Miss Margaret Coriell, Miss Laura Holder, Abram Holder and John Holder, of this city, and the Misses Gaskill, of Dunellen. The objective point was Dayton's woods near New Market, and everyone in the party secured a large supply of the chestnuts.

KERWIN FOUND GUILTY.

JUDGE DEMEZA IMPOSED A FINE OF $100 FOR ILLEGAL LIQUOR SELLING.

The Trial Held Yesterday Afternoon and Vigorously Prosecuted and Defended—It is Understood That it Will be Appealed.

After much delay and many postponements, the trial of Lawrence Kerwin, on the charge of illegal liquor selling, came up in the city court yesterday afternoon. The trial was held in the Council chamber before City Judge DeMeza and a jury of twelve well-known business men.

It has long been understood that there was an illegal sale of liquor being conducted in this city. The police were very sure that Kerwin was one of the offenders. Kerwin has a license in Middlesex county and his regular place is located at Dunellen. He also claims to be an agent of the Rising Sun Brewing Company, of Elizabeth, with the power of going about collecting orders for beer and then delivering the beer after the orders have been sent to the company's office at Elizabeth. The charge made against Kerwin in this instance is that he sold beer to George Gulanske on May 8th without an order being given beforehand.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon the case came up for trial. Kerwin was represented by his counsel, Former Councilman Walter L. Hetfield. The city was represented by Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh. The jury was called and after several objections on the part of the defence, the jury was completed as follows: Olaf Saugstad, Laurens H VanBuren, Will F. Williams, Harry W. Marshall, James Manning, B. T. Barnes, Joseph Sattels, Fred Stack, Edward Petrie, Thomas Osment, John Hartpence and George Cole.

The first witness called by the city was Patrolman James Totten. He was present at the alleged sale and was the complaining witness. His story was that he was standing by the door of Gulanske's cobbler shop at the corner of Richmond street and Paradise alley on one Saturday night, May 8th, when Kerwin drove by. He testified that he called a young colored man who ran after the delivery wagon and stopped Kerwin. Kerwin then returned, the Patrolman went on, and the cobbler told him that he wanted a dozen bottles of beer. Kerwin went to his wagon and brought the bottles in a box, and in return received 50 cents, of which Totten contributed half. Then the bottles of beer were distributed among several of Gulanske's friends who were sitting in the shop at the time, while two bottles were given to Totten. These two bottles the officer testified that he had turned over to Chief Grant. The Chief then brought in two bottles which Totten could not identify positively, but declared that the bottles were similar.

The Chief testified that he received the two bottles from the Patrolman and had kept them locked up ever since. The Chief said that he was a poor judge of beer but, on testing the contents of the bottles, he declared the contents to be beer. Patrolman Totten also tested the liquid and was very positive that it was meant for beer.

The colored boy was called and told his part of the tale, then Leonard Bunn, who was at the shop that night, told of the arrival of the beer and remembered hearing Kerwin say something about that paying for the shoes and about their account now being square. Louis Peterson, colored, testified that he heard the beer ordered and saw it brought and that it was beer. Gulanske also told his story and said that he gave 50 cents for the beer.

The first witness for the defence was Kerwin and he was the cause for innumerable clashes between the lawyers. Mr. Hetfield constantly interrupted the cross questioning of Mr. Marsh and there were frequent tilts between them. The substance of Kerwin's testimony was that he frequently brought Gulanske beer and that he had intended going to his place that eventful Saturday evening when he was called. He admitted on cross-examination that he did not know how much beer Gulanske wanted that night until he went in and asked him. He said that he owed the shoemaker something on account for work done to shoes, but said that the price of the dozen bottles was 50 cents and he also said that he had received 50 cents that night. He told how his business was conducted and, on cross-examination, how it was possible to deliver beer to one person that had been ordered for another. Herman Beeker, collector of the Rising Sun Company, added but little to the important testimony.

The lawyers then summed up in eloquent speeches and the Judge charged the jury, who retired.

After the jury had been out for ten minutes they brought in a verdict of guilty, and the Judge sentenced Kerwin to pay a fine of $100 or go to jail for sixty days. It is understood that the case is to be appealed.

ENTERTAIN AND INSTRUCT.

AFFAIR GIVEN BY THE A. O. U. W.

Music and Literary Programme Rendered and an Address by Past Supreme Master Tate.

The entertainment and public meeting held in Reform Hall last evening under the auspices of Central Lodge, No. 48, and Columbia Lodge, No. 58, A. O. U. W., was attended by an appreciative and select audience. The affair was given for a two-fold purpose: to give the members and their friends a pleasant evening, and to instruct the latter in the principles of the order. Both purposes were successfully realized.

On the platform were seated the committee consisting of William Newcorn, Edward Mosher, of No. 48; Vincent W. Nash, John Bauersachs and Eugene M. Laing, of No. 58, together with officers of both lodges and visiting officers and brothers. The programme opened with a selection by the Ladies' orchestra, which was followed with a recitation by George Lees. Fred VanEps gave banjo selections, accompanied on the piano by William E. MacClymont. The next number was a well-rendered vocal solo by Mrs. W. A. Westphal, followed with another selection by the orchestra. Then followed a number of songs by Councilman W. N. Runyon.

The concluding number in part one was an address by Past Supreme Master Workman J. G. Tate, of Nebraska, who was introduced by Grand Master Workman H. S. Rutherford, of Cape May. Mr. Tate is amusing as well as instructive and he had little trouble in entertaining his audience. The principal part of his address was relative to the great benefits to be derived by joining the Ancient Order of United Workmen, and he told it in such a pleasant manner that he held the closest attention of all.

In part second there were mandolin solos by Fred VanEps, another solo by Mrs. Westphal and selections by the orchestra. The audience was generous in its applause.

Past Grand Master Workman J. W. Diefendorf, of Newark, was to have been present to make an address, but he was detained by illness. Among those who received the guests as they arrived were H. W. Marshall, N. C. Mague, R. H. Loughlin, W. H. Brokaw, Edward Mosher and a number of others, members of both lodges.

An Intricate Point to Settle Over a Contract Dispute.

The appealed case of Charles Burnett, of this city, against John McGrath, of Berkley Heights, came up for trial on Thursday in the Morris county court at Morristown. There was so much altercation between the lawyers that the Judge was about to leave the case to a referee, saying that the question of law involved was one too deep for any twelve jury men to settle. The lawyers agreed to leave the case to the Judge alone, however, and the trial proceeded. The suit was brought by Burnett, the contractor from this city, to recover what he claimed was due for the erection of a barn for McGrath. The trouble arose over the fact that after the estimate was made the design of the barn was somewhat changed. The Judge reserved his decision.

An Epworth League Convention.

The annual convention of the Epworth Leagues of the Elizabeth district will be held in this city next Thursday. Services will be held in the Monroe Avenue church in the morning, in Grace M. E. church in the afternoon and in the First M. E. church in the evening. Supper will be served to the delegates in the basement of the First M. E. church. There will be a Junior demonstration during the afternoon.

A Bright Speaker.

Wm. Blaikie, Esq., who opens the Y. M. C. A. Star Course on Monday evening, has appeared in this city on three previous occasions. He is not only in demand as a lecturer but is well-known as the author of the book entitled "How to Get Strong and How to Stay So," which was given prominence in the course of the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle. Mr. Blaikie is a bright and entertaining speaker.

Queen City's Anniversary.

Queen City Lodge, I. O. O. F., will celebrate its anniversary on Monday evening with an entertainment for its members and friends in Washington Hall. Admittance will be strictly by ticket. A number of professional entertainers have been secured for the occasion.

New District Deputy.

Mr. Borroughs, of Somerville, is the newly-elected district deputy of the Odd Fellows for this district. He was chosen at the district meeting held in Westfield last Wednesday evening.

CADETS TO TRAIN HARD.

MILITARY SCHOOL BOYS PREPARING FOR AN ACTIVE WINTER.

Accession of the Borough Boys Make a Strong Company—Henry Brower to Command—Captain Edwards to Instruct.

The Plainfield High School cadets are preparing to resume their active winter campaign. In fact, they have begun and the corps is now on a firm foundation with very bright prospects for the season which has just opened. This year sees the long-wished-for consolidation of the companies from the Plainfield and North Plainfield High Schools. The boys from the borough now come on this side of the county line and are regular members of the Plainfield company and drill with them regularly. The borough boys are considerably fewer in number than last year but they have increased the roll of the Plainfield company until it now musters over forty.

As usual, the company will be under the charge of Captain George F. Edwards. As regards the selection of the cadet officers a change has been made this year. Instead of electing the officers by ballot as has heretofore been the custom, they are appointed by the commandant, Captain Edwards, by the merit system. Last year's captain, George Proctor Smith, and the first lieutenant, Sydney R. Titsworth, have not returned and Captain Edwards has announced their successors. Henry W. Brower has been appointed captain, vice Smith, resigned, and will command the cadets this year. He took an examination in tactics and showed himself capable of assuming the position before he was appointed. First Sergeant Arthur W. Lederer, of last year's corps, has been appointed first lieutenant, vice Titsworth, resigned.

The selection for the other lieutenancy has not been made, although there are several candidates for it.

No regular appointments have been made among the non-commissioned officers. Second Sergeant William A. DeLong, Jr., is now acting first sergeant. The definite selection will be delayed until the ability of the different cadets can be seen at the regular weekly drills.

The cadets will drill every Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. At present they meet in the school yard but on the arrival of stormy weather, the drill will be held in the Whittier building, the second floor of which is well adapted for such a purpose.

A Church Anniversary.

On Sunday, October 31st, the members of the Roselle Baptist church will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary with appropriate exercises. Dr. Weston, of Crozier Theological Seminary, will deliver a sermon, and other noted speakers will be present. The exercises will continue until Monday, when pastors from various parts of the State will attend and take part. The pastors of the Baptist churches in this city and vicinity will be among the guests.

A Novel Contest.

There is to be a novel contest at the meeting of Plainfield Council, Royal Arcanum, on Monday evening. A. E. Pearsall, Jr., of Westfield, is very certain that the graphaphone is far superior to the gramaphone, while L. B. Bromfield, owner of the grapaphone, is equally certain that the contrary is the case. The question will be left to the members on Monday night when both instruments will be shown at their best.

Interest at Volunteer Meetings.

Rev. W. C. O'Donnell gave an interesting talk at the Volunteer's-Hall last evening. The attendance was good considering the weather. Col. James W. Merrill, editor of the Volunteer Gazette, and Lieutenant Col. Crafts, of Volunteer Headquarters, New York, will take charge of the meetings Sunday at 3 and 8 p. m.

Borough Recorder Sued.

Milkman Charles Sage has brought suit against Borough Recorder Thomas for $100 damages for the fine imposed upon him by the latter a few weeks ago when he left his horse untied in the borough. The trial will take place before Judge Kitchen, at Somerville, next week Friday.

A Visit of a Former Pastor.

Rev. Jesse Lyman Hurlbut, D. D., at one time pastor of the Methodist church here, and long a resident of Plainfield, is the guest of Rev. W. C. Snodgrass, and will preach tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. in the First M. E. church. Dr. Hurlbut is one of the leading Sunday-school workers in this country.

A Bible Study Rally.

President W. D. Murray will address the Bible study rally at the Y. M. C. A. hall tomorrow at 4:15 p. m. Mrs. John Manley will sing, assisted by echo voice. A choir of mixed voices will lead the singing.

BOY BANDITS ARE THEY.

THREE YOUNGSTERS, IMPLICATED WITH ROCKAFELLOW, ARRESTED.

The Missing Goods Found Hidden Near Clinton Avenue—Lawyers Entered a Plea of Not Guilty—Held Them For Examination.

The three boys implicated in the story told by Ferdinand Rockafellow, regarding the Frucht burglary last Monday night, have now been captured and the police are satisfied that they have finally traced the matter to an end.

When Rockafellow was arrested for being concerned in the burglary, he made a complete confession telling what part he took in it and also giving the names of the other boys. His story was that he and Charles Westervelt waited outside the store and, it is assumed, kept watch, while Ira Riker and a colored lad, named Abram Connett, entered the back door of the store next door and found their way into Fruch's establishment by the way of the cellar stairs, breaking open the thin door that barred their progress. Then Rockafellow says that the stolen goods were carried out and a portion of them given to Soper to sell, which he did. The remainder was buried in a bag, the hiding place of which was known to the four. Rockafellow revealed the hiding place and Captain Grant found the goods.

It was learned that Riker and Connett were in town on Thursday night, but their hiding place was not learned until last night. Then the police were informed that they had been seen in the vicinity of the barn of Abram Cadmus, in North Plainfield, near Clinton avenue. The Chief and the Sergeant went after them last evening and found the boys, who were arrested without resistance.

Westervelt had disappeared at the first sign of trouble, but he also appeared last evening and gave himself up to Chief Grant who locked him up in the city jail along with the creeping and crawling things. Riker and Connett were also locked up.

This morning the three were arraigned before Justice Newcorn at the city court room in the lockup. Riker was represented by Walter L. Hetfield, and Westervelt by City Judge DeMeza. Both lawyers entered a plea of not guilty for their clients and the lads were held for examination next Friday morning at 10 o'clock. They were committed to the county jail until the Court at Elizabeth can fix the bail.

The colored lad did not seem to realize the danger of his position. He looked wonderingly about the court room but would say nothing and as he was not represented, the Judge held him for examination with the others. He was formerly employed about Frucht's place when it is claimed he gained his knowledge of the store and what it contained.

Rockafellow was released on bail at Elizabeth, last night. The bail was $500, which was furnished by George Cole.

Interesting Endeavor Meeting.

An interesting meeting was held in the Park Avenue Baptist church last evening by the Christian Endeavor Society of that church. Miss Adelia Runyon, J. M. Hawkins and Miss Brokaw, chairmen of last year's committees, told of the discouragements of committee work. Miss Spangenberg told of the encouraging features of the society, and new ideas for committee work were given by Miss Adelia Runyon, Miss Emma V Fish and David Runyon. The question box was conducted by Rev. C. E. Herring and proved a very helpful part of the service.

Reception to Missionaries.

The American Purity Alliance, of which Aaron M. Powell, of this city, is the president, will tender a reception to Dr. Kate C. Bushnell and Mrs. Elizabeth W. Andrew, around-the-world missionaries, at the parlors of the Y. M. C. A. building, Fourth avenue and Twenty-third street, New York, at 8 o'clock this evening. Dr. Bushnell and Mrs. Andrew will give an account of their personal investigation of State regulation of vice in India, and of the present revival of regulation in connection with the British army in India.

The Annual Institute.

The annual institute of the Plainfield Primary Union, will be held in the lecture room of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Monday afternoon beginning at 3 o'clock. An interesting programme has been arranged. We assure all a hearty welcome.

Joseph Berg, of East Fifth street, has secured a position with French & Thiers, the Front street real estate and insurance merchants

Rev. George Angleman and wife, of Port Richmond, are visiting Mrs. Angleman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Cory, of West Front street.

CAME TO BLOWS OVER AXE.

DISPUTE AIRED IN CITY COURT TODAY

Dora Parsons, a Paradise Alley Belle, the Complainant—The Judge Reserved His Decision.

There were a number of cases to come up in the city court this morning, but many of them were adjourned. Dora Parsons was the dusky heroine of the principal case. She appeared as the complaining witness in one case and the defendant in another, and was represented by John F. Brown, of Elizabeth.

The source of all the trouble was an axe, the ownership of which was variously claimed by three different persons, Dora, her father and her brother, Anthony. Dora went after the axe at Tony's house on Paradise alley and his wife, Helen, called names. Finally the two women scratched each other and then Dora went away with the axe. Tony went after it and brother and sister had a quarrel in which Tony was accused of assaulting her. S. S. Swackhamer was present to defend Tony Parsons and made an eloquent plea. The Judge discharged Parsons and reserved his decision in regard to the two women.

Morris Gallor, of South Plainfield, was fined $5 for being drunk and disorderly. Michael Bryan received the same sentence on a similar charge. Sentence was suspended on Emma Arrenson for being drunk.

COPS IN SHORT QUARTERS.

Police Officers Nearly Run Over by a Backing Coal Train.

The Plainfield police board came very near having to fill four vacancies on the police force today. Last evening, Chief Grant, Sergeant Kiely, Roundsmen Frederickson and Flynn, Patrolman Cash and Charles Westerfield were walking down the tracks en route to the hiding place of the lads who are charged with burglary. They kept a sharp lookout for a headlight but on account of a passing freight train did not hear the approach of a train that was backing along in the same direction they were going. Just before the train reached them Grant, who was behind turned and saw it. He pitched headfirst off the track with a yell to warn the others. Frederickson was precipitated down the embankment by his jump while Kiely and Flynn just escaped with their lives.

Visiting Tribe at Adoption Ceremonies.

A meeting of Miantonomoh Tribe of Red Men was held last evening. One proposition was received and the Hunter Warrior and Chief's degrees were conferred on one candidate. An invitation was given to Quinnipecac tribe, of Carteret, to be present at the adoption ceremonies next Friday evening. A committee was appointed to provide for the entertainment of the guests. Representative William Newcorn made his report of the action of the Grand Council regarding the funeral benefit association.

"Toby" Has Been Returned.

Toby has been returned. When the suit to recover the possession of that faithful equine came before Justice Nash, yesterday afternoon, Frank J. Blatz, of Murphy & Blatz, lawyers for the plaintiff, Mrs. Sarah Staats, declared that the suit had been settled. The defendant, Mahlon Mulford, agreed to return the horse and take his old one back again and also not to bring any action against John Staats who made the trade.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—A meeting of the Town Improvement Association will be held next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. building.

—Crane & Clark, hatters, No. 120 West Front street, have secured a large line of mill samples in heavy underwear. The prices are about half value.

—Elston M. French has disposed of eight of his lots in the vicinity of West Fourth street, near Hope chapel, and next spring new houses will be erected on each one of the lots.

—If you are looking for an investment, try the Plainfield Building and Loan Association. Books are open for subscribers to stock at the office of Lawyer W. R. Codington, corner of Park avenue and Second street.

—The Watchung Euchre Club was formed last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dryden, 929 Watchung avenue, and the club will meet every two weeks during the winter at the homes of the members.

—Woolston & Buckle, the North avenue decorators and wall paper dealers, received yesterday 1,500 rolls of the latest designed wall-paper. Several of the rolls are displayed in the show window, but the display in their new room in the rear of the store is something grand. The prices, too, are as low as any in the business.

PASTOR'S SIDE OF STORY

REV. P. S. GIBSON EXPLOITS HIS ARREST IN A PUBLIC LETTER.

Says He is the Victim of the Devices of Church Members, Who Are Bound to Drive Him Away at Any Cost.

The announcement that Rev. P. S. Gibson, pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, would read a letter at the payer-meeting in the church last night, brought out one of the largest attendances in the history of the church. It was generally understood that the letter was to be about the trouble between the pastor and Miss Lucy Swan, who charges the pastor with a serious offense. After the prayer service, Pastor Gibson appeared and read the following letter, after which a collection was taken to help defray the expense of the case in court. In all about $19 was received by the officers of the church for that purpose. The letter was addressed to the Mt. Olive church, and reads as follows:

Dear officers and members:

Your humble servant wishes to make a statement before you tonight concerning a matter that has annoyed you for the last four or five weeks, which has now about come to a crisis, and as your direct attention has never been called to this matter I feel that I ought to make a clear statement of this matter to you, because it was you who called me and have supported me.

Firstly, I want to state to you the origin of this whole slanderous rumor as I know it. It originated from a sermon preached here in June last on the downward steps, etc., which was thought to have been an attack on a certain society, which is composed of some of our official members of this church. It was an insult as I learned to the whole organization. From that time certain men began to knife your pastor until he learned to dislike their ways.

Secondly, that spirit led to a tampering with the pastor's salary which matter was settled in form but not in reality, because certain men heard that the pastor was going to remove them from their official position, and they said then that they would remove him. So the plans were all laid, cut and dried to remove the pastor by fair or foul means, and in the little July trouble concerning a member whom we had to turn out, your pastor, after noting the different stories, said that the party who was in question was a professional liar if certain contrary statements were true. Members carried the statement back to the person who was turned out. Then for the first time the pastor's name came in question. Now, there are four men and one women who have stirred up all this confusion, when there is not three out of the five that believes the slanderous report which they are backing up by influence and money. Such persons need to be prayed for. I suppose they have their desired end now, but thank the Lord your pastor has not been locked up yet.

Thirdly, brethren and sisters, before my God whom I have got to face in judgment, these statements are all false from beginning until now. The fact is, if I am to yield to temptation I would have something to yield for. I can prove it by five members of this church that since 1895, if I went to a house where this woman in question was, I would not stay if she was there. I will confess that I have said some ugly things about the person shouting and annoying us in church which helped to kindle this flame, but brethren and sisters, believe it if you choose, since 1895 I have had nothing to do with those parties at no time. Now, brethren and sisters, I don't know how it will go with me, but don't you think that a man that has worked as hard as I have in three years and nine months, deserves your support, and if I live I am going to complete my four years. You know what condition the church was in when I took it. You know that I have worked, planned and prayed until now your church is second to none.

Fourthly, in 1894 and 1895 I walked these streets and avenues until today my feet bear marks which I will never recover from this side of the grave, trying to raise the $825 which was needed, of which $210 was raised in the church and $615 was raised by these hands, feet and head. Now, brethren and sisters, shall I, who has been your friend and pastor in the highest sense, be arrested and butchered up without your aid, prayers and protection? God will deal with those murderers to suit Himself. I shall ask the following favors: First, will you offer a concerted prayer tonight that the truth may be revealed tomorrow and that your pastor be delivered; secondly, will every member who knows of any truth which will help your pastor, tell it tomorrow; and

BIMETALLISM DEFEATED

England Issues a Report on Senator Wolcott's Mission.

IDEA BACKED BY FRANCE

Official Documents Relating to the Effort to Have Great Britain Aid the Cause of Silver Made Public—Changes in India's Currency.

London, Oct. 23.—The Foreign Office yesterday issued the full correspondence, together with reports of the proceedings, in reference to the proposals made by Senator Wolcott, of the American Monetary Commission, to the British Government.

The correspondence shows that the United States made the following proposals to Lord Salisbury on July 27 last: The opening of the Indian mints to the free coinage of silver; the repeal of the order making the sovereign a legal tender in India; the placing of one-fifth of the bullion in the issue department of the Bank of England in silver; the raising of the silver legal tender from £5 to £10; the issue of one-pound notes based upon silver; the retirement of the half sovereign of gold and the substitution of paper therefor based upon silver; an agreement to coin annually a sum—not named—in silver, or the purchase of a sum—not named—in silver annually; the opening of the English mints to the coinage of rupees and the British dollar, which shall be a legal tender in the Straits settlements and other silver colonies and in Great Britain up to the limit; silver legal tender by the colonies and the coinage of silver in Egypt, and finally an agreement upon something having the general scope of the Huekisson plan.

France Backed Wolcott.

Conferences were held at the Foreign Office on July 12 and 15 to discuss the proposals with the American envoys, the French Ambassador participating in the discussion.

France announced her willingness to open her mints to unlimited free coinage of silver at a ratio of 15½ to 1 if Great Britain would co-operate with her, as in the plan stated in the foregoing.

Senator Wolcott announced that the United States was inclined to accept this ratio, upon which France insisted.

Baron de Courcell, the French Ambassador, suggested £10,000,000 as the sum of the British annual purchase of silver to fill the blank in the proposals, and Senator Wolcott approved the suggestion.

A Unanimous Refusal.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach announced that the Government of Great Britain was unanimous in its refusal to open the English mints to the free coinage of silver.

The question of the reopening of the Indian mints was referred to the Indian Government, which on Sept. 16 returned a long and elaborate argument, culminating in a unanimous recommendation to refuse to entertain the suggestion. This reply was indorsed at the Cabinet council held on Sept. 16.

Lord Salisbury, in reply to United States Ambassador Hay, adds that it is unnecessary to discuss the remaining proposals until he is informed whether the views of the United States and France are modified by the decision not to reopen the Indian mints and whether they desire to pursue their negotiations under the circumstances, and also whether they have gained a more accurate estimate of the amount of assistance they had expected from other powers.

Lord Salisbury's reply does not mention a monetary conference or allude to any other proposal.

The Standard, in an editorial article on the Government's attitude to the silver question, will say to-day that widespread satisfaction will be felt because of the deadly blow the bimetallic craze has received and the decisiveness with which the British Government has extracted itself from a conference that would have been a mere waste of time.

The Daily News will say that the dispatch of the Indian Government puts an end to the bimetallic craze in this country, and adds that the amazing thing is that the home Government should have required so much elementary instruction from India.

FARMER BUNCOED.

He Pays $3,000 for a Farm to a Pretended Executor.

Middletown, N. Y., Oct. 23.—A slick-looking stranger buncoed Charles Van Duser, a farmer living near this place, of $3,000 Thursday afternoon. He represented himself as executor of the Bertholf farm, near Van Duser's. He said he desired to sell the farm to Van Duser, and offered to let it go for $3,000, a ridiculously low figure. Van Duser accepted the proposition, and, going to Warwick, forwarded a certified check for $3,000. He showed this to the executor, who declined it, insisting on having the cash. The two then drove towards the farm, and when nearly there they met a stranger in another rig, who drew a revolver and, covering both men, commanded: "Throw up your hands."

"Don't shoot this old gentleman; he's just got in to ride with me," said the executor.

"Let the old man get out then," was the reply.

Mr. Van Duser alighted and a box somewhat like the one in which his money had been placed was handed to him.

"That's not my box," he said, alarmed.

"Git up!" said each driver, giving his horse a cut with the whip, and away they drove, leaving the old man standing in the road. They were traced to a point near Sugar Loaf, a few miles from the Erie road, where the horses were found.

Mother Kills Her Child.

New York, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Katherine Smith, janitress of a flat at 770 Boston road, Morrisania, accidentally shot the youngest of her four children, a 2-year-old boy named Robert, yesterday afternoon. The child died a few hours later in Fordham Hospital. Mrs. Smith was arrested.

Mrs. Smith didn't know that the pistol she aimed at her little son in fun was loaded. He cried to her "Shoot, shoot, Mamma," and she pulled the trigger. The revolver went off and the bullet entered his temple. She was locked up, although ill.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

Trade Is More Quiet After the Activity of the Past Month.

New York, Oct. 23.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade, issued to-day, says: "After the heaviest buying ever known in many branches during September and the first half of October it was both natural and desirable that a more quiet period should give time for testing the size and temper of retail trade and for distributing part of the enormous quantities bought. In textile goods the rush of orders went far beyond all distributive demand in August and represented great replenishment of stocks, and the similar rush for goods has been correspondingly great in other lines during the past two months. In iron and steel and in boots and shoes there was actual danger of a speculative inflation of prices such as was seen in 1895, but it has been avoided apparently for this season by the solid sense of leading men who regard a time of comparative quiet as essential to the coming and permanence of prosperity in their lines. As the buying for replenishment is partly satisfied and diminishes, there is some decrease in the volume of transactions, though at the same time the working force has further increased, the wages of labor have been in numerous cases advanced, especially in all woolen mills of Olneyville, R. I., where the rates of 1893 have been restored, and the foundation is laid more broadly every week for larger buying and business hereafter.

"Earnings of railroads during the first half of October have amounted to $14,869,634, and are 10 per cent. larger than last year and 2.8 per cent. larger than 1893, and all the classes except the minor Western roads report larger earnings than in 1892. With such substantial evidences of the gain in railway business it is natural that the long campaign to put down prices of stocks has been followed by an advance, averaging for railway stocks during the past week $1.35 per share and for trust stocks $1.37 per share.

"The iron industry waits, because possible production for the year has been practically ordered, while neither buyers nor sellers regard contracts at current prices for next year's business as quite safe.

"The severe decline in cotton to 6.12 cents from 8.25 cents on Aug. 30 is due to widespread confidence in large estimates of yield. It is considered that the prevalence of fever in Southern cities has much decreased deliveries, but it also greatly diminishes Southern speculation, which is at this season a potent force in sustaining prices. A natural consequence of the decline in cotton is the fall of print cloths to the lowest point in the history of the market, 2.37 cents, and cotton goods generally are easy with limited sales of staples. All woolen goods are firm, but there is no new business of note for Spring outside of dress goods.

"The produce market acted with as little apparent reason as usual. Although Atlantic exports of wheat were 3,576,607 bushels, flour included, and for three weeks of October 10,039,908 bushels, against 7,742,214 last year, with Western receipts not half a million bushels larger, the price advanced 2½ cents. Corn, with smaller receipts and exports, barely a quarter of last year's, declined a small fraction.

"The Treasury surplus gold fund of $151,000,000 is the largest since 1890, and banks of Eastern cities, holding $30,000,000 more gold than currency, attempt to employ it in current settlements. Another consignment of $2,250,000 gold has reached San Francisco from Australia. Failures in two weeks of October have amounted to $3,759,533, against $9,891,000 last year; manufacturing, $1,490,798, against $5,560,695 last year, and trading, $2,139,135, against $4,202,505 last year. Failures for the week were 224 in the United States, against 274 last year, and 36 in Canada, against 60 last year."

Cyclist Killed by the Cars.

Waterbury, Ct., Oct. 23.—Charles Fuchs was killed yesterday while trying to scorch across the railroad tracks on a bicycle directly in front of a train. Fuchs reached the West Main street crossing of the Naugatuck Division of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company just as a train left the local station for Naugatuck.

Fuchs thought he had time to cross, and rode directly in front of the locomotive. Man and wheel were thrown over the engine and landed thirty feet distant.

Shadow of Herself

Stomach Was Too Weak to Retain Food

A Complete Cure Effected by Hood's Sarsaparilla

Now Enjoying the Best of Health, With Digestion Perfect.

"My mother was subject to sick headaches and indigestion for over a year. She was unable to stand for any length of time, and was obliged to stay in a dark room as she could not bear the light. She had no appetite whatever and her stomach was so weak she could not retain what food she did eat. She also had severe pains in her head. She suffered so much that she became but the shadow of herself. One day I happened to read a testimonial about Hood's Sarsaparilla. It

Sounded So Truthful

I persuaded her to try this medicine. Before finishing the first bottle there was an improvement in her condition. She no longer threw up her food and her headache was not as severe. She took in all four bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and several boxes of Hood's Pills and regained her weight. She is now enjoying the best of health. Her digestion is good and she can eat almost anything she wishes. She is 42 years old and says she feels as well as when she was 16. Hood's Sarsaparilla made a complete cure in her case." THERE is no getting away from the fact that Pure White Lead (see list of brands which are genuine) and Pure Linseed Oil make the best paint.

Properly applied, it will not chip, chalk or scale off, but will outwear any of the mixtures offered as substitutes. It is, therefore, by far the most economical.

FREE By using National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors, any desired shade is readily obtained. Pamphlet giving valuable information and card showing samples of colors free; also cards showing pictures of twelve houses of different designs painted in various styles or combinations of shades forwarded upon application to those intending to paint.

The Latest Discovery.

A London Physician Succeeds in Extracting Iron from Bullock's Blood with which Human Blood can be Enriched and Diseases Cured.

While the X Rays have upset many of the medical theories of the past, they have not upset the established fact that Anæmia and all the diseases of the blood are the direct result of exhausting the blood of its natural iron or Hæmoglobin, which in time causes the supply of oxygen necessary to healthy tissue, active brain, steady nerves, strong muscle, to fall below the standard.

Artificial preparations of iron, while widely used by physicians, are known by them to be inadequate. Strive as they would no method could be discovered by which this mineral could be dissolved so that it would not damage the teeth, rasp the stomach and fail of its purpose. Dr. Campbell recently discovered that bullock's blood and human blood contained iron in identically the same form. To extract this iron from the blood of the bullock and retain it in such form that it could be used by anyone was a difficult task, but to-day through science it is possible for the wornout man, the weak and ailing woman and the sickly child to have their blood reinforced with this vital element of life.

Dr. Campbell dissolved this natural iron and enclosed it in small pointed globes of pure gelatine which he named Capsuloids. In this form it is now sold throughout England in large quantities, being used in the largest hospitals and by the leading physicians in stubborn cases of anaemia, chlorosis, nervous prostration, nervous debility, indigestion, St. Vitus' dance, Bright's disease, locomotor ataxia and many other diseases due to impoverished blood.

Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids are sold by all leading druggists at 50 cents per large box, six boxes for $2.50, or sent direct at the same price from the office of The Capsuloid Company, Downing Building, 108 Fulton Street, New York City.

Something to Know.

It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centres in the stomach, gently stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50c or $1.00 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

James Brown, of Perth Amboy, is spending a few days with friends in this city.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent Cough Remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form.—The Banner of Liberty, Libertytown, Maryland. Those who believe chronic diarrhœa to be incurable should read what Mr. P. E. Crisham, of Gaars Mills, La., has to say on the subject, viz.: "I have been a sufferer from chronic diarrhœa ever since the war and have tried all kinds of medicines for it. At last I found a remedy that effected a cure and that was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy." This medicine can always be depended upon for colic, cholera morbus, dysentery and diarrhœa. It is pleasant to take and never fails to affect a cure. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

SHAW IS THE SOLE HEIR.

The Doomed Man Will Get His Grandmother's Property.

Camden, N. J., Oct. 23.—The will of Mrs. Emma Zane, who, with her daughter, Mrs. Sarah M. Shaw, was murdered at their home in Line street, on Oct. 13, was admitted to probate yesterday.

Mrs. Zane was the owner of three houses at the time of her death. One of these houses she wills to her son, Edward C. Zane, and the other two, together with the residue of the estate and personal property, to her daughter, Mrs. Shaw, her heirs or assigns. The will also appoints Mrs. Shaw the sole executor.

The only heir of Mrs. Shaw, who met death at the same time as the testator, is her son, Eli Shaw, who is now in the county prison, accused of having murdered his two relatives.

Although Shaw, by the death of his mother and grandmonther, becomes the beneficiary to the greater portion of his grandmother's estate, his relatives and acquaintances are loath to believe that he committed the terrible crime of which he stands accused. He is 25 years old and has borne an excellent character. The evidence against him thus far made public by the authorities is purely circumstantial, but the police and the public prosecutor say they are fully convinced that the young man is guilty of the crimes.

SCHROEDER WILL RESIGN.

Says He Will Send in His Resignation as Demanded.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Interest in the case of Mgr. Schroeder was not abated in Catholic circles yesterday, notwithstanding the long and exciting contest has been settled by the conviction of the Monsignor of the charges filed against him, and the exaction of his promise to resign at the end of the scholastic year. He declares, however, in letters written yesterday, that he is between two fires. He cannot send in his resignation without being publicly vindicated against charges which he declares are false and calumnious, nor can he remain in the university at the expense of his health.

He says that if he is a stumbling block he is so because he has done what he thinks is his duty, but he realizes that on account of the sentiments and prejudices against him in this hour, peace will not be re-established without a sacrifice on his part.

MISS CISERNOS IN WASHINGTON.

The Cuban Maid Given a Reception Last Evening.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Senorita Cisneros' arrival in Washington Thursday night was in the nature of a surprise to Washingtonians. Mr. Decker was expected, but except to a very few intimate friends his plans were kept a profound secret.

The entire party are quartered at the Arlington Hotel, and spent the day quietly yesterday. The senorita is expected to visit the White House before long, and will doubtless be received by the President. Last night Mr. Decker and Senorita Cisneros were given a brilliant reception at the Columbia Theatre. To-night a popular reception will be held at Convention Hall, and a vast concourse of people is expected to attend. The hall will seat 5,000 persons, but arrangements are being made to hold overflow meetings.

KILLED WHILE FIGHTING.

Four Men Run Down While Struggling on the Track.

Altoona, Pa., Oct. 23.—Steve Kraus, John Voznek, Domineck Retznik and Jan Blatska, four miners, were run down and killed by a Pennsylvania Railroad train at Summerhill yesterday. The men were seen on the track a few moments before the accident engaged in a free fight.

So absorbed were they in their quarrel that the train rounded a curve unnoticed by them and ran them down. Coroner Livingstone identified the bodies by means of papers scattered on the tracks. Some money, contained in the men's pockets, was thrown up into the engine tender.

Stuyvesant Cleared.

Philadelphia, Oct. 23.—Sarah Young, the woman who on Wednesday made accusations against Marion Stuyvesant, now admits that they were false. Stuyvesant is the mulatto who was held on suspicion of being the murderer of Maj. William C. Wilson, the librarian, but who was discharged by the Grand Jury. The woman told detectives that she heard Stuyvesant threaten to kill Wilson. When questioned she said that she made the accusation for revenge, because Stuyvesant, with whom she had lived, had reprimanded her for drinking.

Paper Currency to Be Changed.

Washington, Oct. 23.—At yesterday's Cabinet meeting it was decided to change the designs upon the paper currency of the Government to make them more simple, distinctive and artistic. At present there are nine denominations of paper currency (Treasury notes, silver certificates and greenbacks), and twenty-seven different designs. Hereafter there will be but nine designs, and the various denominations will be worked by separate colors of the seals and numbers. The work of preparing the new plates will begin at once.

MINERS MAY STARVE

Reported Scarcity of Food in the Klondike Confirmed.

WHAT CAPT. HOOPER SAYS

Rich Discoveries on Minook Creek in a Much More Accessible Region—The Passes All Closed Now—No Change in Customs Laws.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Capt. Hooper, commander of the Behring Sea patrol fleet, who has arrived in Washington to attend the seal conference, says that the reports concerning the scarcity of food in the Klondike region are not, in his judgment, exaggerated. In the neighborhood of Dawson City there are, he said, about five thousand miners whose supply of provisions for the coming Winter is no greater than barely sufficed for half that number during last Winter. Great suffering would be the inevitable result of this scarcity of food. Although some of the more vigorous among the miners might attempt to get away on the rise of the Yukon, the chances were that a considerable number of these would perish from hunger and exposure.

All Passes Closed.

All of the passes were practically closed some weeks ago, and many hundreds of miners are now camped along the different trails with little or no shelter and with insufficient food supply.

Late reports, Capt. Hooper said, indicate that rich discoveries have been made on Minook Creek, a tributary of the Yukon, which empties into it about seven hundred or eight hundred miles from its mouth. If these new fields proved as rich in gold as is anticipated he thought the congestion in the Klondike region would be relieved as soon as Spring opened. Minook Creek is comparatively within easy reach of St. Michael's, as steamers have little difficulty in ascending the river to that point when navigation above it is impossible on account of low water. It was near Minook Creek that the last Klondike steamer was compelled to unload her cargo of provisions, so that the miners in that section are in little danger of the food famine that threatens other camps.

Big Rush Expected.

Capt. Hooper expects a great rush of people into the gold region as soon as Spring opens, and he has no doubt that the tales told of the immense gold deposits will be fully verified.

To Relieve the Miners.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Part of the big reindeer herd which the Government maintains in Alaska is to be used in carrying supplies up the Yukon River, and Secretary Alger, who has charge of the matter, hopes to have the deer at work this Winter.

Dr. Jackson, who was the originator of the scheme to establish a herd of reindeer for the benefit of the Alaskans, suggested that the animals could be profitably used this Winter in carrying supplies to St. Michael's. The views of Dr. Jackson and others on the subject impressed Secretary Alger, and after a consultation with Secretary Bliss, in whose department the care of the reindeer is vested, he directed Gen. Breck, the Adjutant-General of the army, to issue orders for carrying out the plan. Gen. Breck has sent this letter to Lieut.-Col. George M. Randall, commanding Fort St. Michael, the new post on St. Michael's Island, at the mouth of the Yukon:

"The Secretary of War desires me to inform you that the Secretary of the Interior has given instructions to his educational agent for Alaska, Dr. Sheldon Jackson, to send the one hundred reindeer in his charge, now within one hundred miles from St. Michael's, to St. Michael's and assemble them there. As it is not certain that the agent has been able to do this, the Secretary of War, with the concurrence of the Secretary of the Interior, direct that, if any or all of the reindeer in Alaska (there are about one thousand) are within your reach, and you think they will be needed for the purpose named below, you collect them, or as many of them as you judge needed, at St. Michael's, if practicable, or where they can subsist and will be available to you. If you should find it necessary and practicable to organize with them a means of transportation for supplies, employing the natives if you think advisable, during the coming Winter to relieve starving persons endeavoring to make their way down the Yukon, the Secretary of War directs that you do so, even sending as far up the valley of that river as old Fort Yukon, to relieve persons liable to die from starvation."

This letter was sent by mail yesterday in the hope that the Postoffice Department will be able to convey the mail to St. Michael's, though it is not altogether certain that it can do so.

No Change in Customs Laws.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 23.—The report telegraphed from Victoria that the Canadian Government had decided to charge a duty on every class of goods taken into the Klondike country, including miners' packs, is not correct. There has been no change in the customs laws affecting that country, and miners are still permitted to take in an outfit free of duty when not exceeding $100 in value.

Nick Engel Dead.

New York, Oct. 23.—Nick Engel, who kept a saloon on West Twenty-seventh street, near Broadway, which was much frequented by baseball players and sporting men, died yesterday.

Death occurred at Engel's home, 148 West Ninety-second street, of fatty degeneration of the heart. Engel was 54 years of age.

Pennsylvania's New Capitol.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 23.—Henry Ives Cobb has been selected as the architect of the new capitol of Pennsylvania. He designed the Fisheries Building at the World's Fair and was one of the experts in architecture on the World's Fair Board of Judges. He has designed many buildings in Chicago.

Locomotives Sold to Japan.

Dunkirk, Oct. 23.—The Brooks Locomotive Works have just sold twelve Locomotives to the Kinshui Railway, of Japan.

Churchmen regard the Presbyterian Synod, which met in this city this week, as being a truly representative Christian body, and their session in the Crescent Avenue church as prolific of much good. The convention was considered a harmonious one as a whole. While there were some animated discussions, yet there were no differences of doctrine even in the background to cause any discussions. The showing of synodical home missions, the pet scheme of Synod, was excellent, not a voice having been raised against it.

If George is elected Mayor of Greater New York it will be a novel experience for him. For years and years he has been telling what he would do if he was this or that official, but it seems that the majority of voters have never been able to catch up with his ideas. Now, however, the voters seem to be trotting pretty close to the heels of the single-taxer.

The gross bonded indebtedness of New Brunswick is $1,500,000, secured by a sinking fund of $450,000. A re issue of $90,000 worth of bonds, paying 4 per cent, were sold at auction the other day for $103.41. This is the highest premium ever paid for New Brunswick bonds. That is a staggering debt for a city of 20,000 people.

The story of the Republican county convention printed in yesterday's Press was the subject of compliment among all the politicians for its fair, correct and localized details.

Everyone knows that there is humor in a political campaign, but just now it resembles the chorus of a comic opera—there are so many "fine figures" in it.

All hail to the growth and influence of Princeton University. It is the crowning pendant of New Jersey's cluster of splendid educational institutions.

Three political campaigns in four months ought to satisfy the yearning of Plainfield statesmen for excitement.

Henry George is worrying Tammany more than Low is troubling the Republican organization.

The brethren and sisters of Mt. Olive church ought to dwell in more harmony and happiness.

Bad Smashup.

A bad smashup occurred between a trolley car and the delivery wagon of Morey & LaRue's city laundry late on Thursday afternoon. The wagon was proceeding at a leisurely pace along West Fourth street, near Spooner avenue, when a car approached from the rear and crashed into it. The vehicle was badly damaged and was thrown upon its side against the curb. The driver, August Laggren, was hurled from his seat into the road and narrowly escaped being pinned beneath the falling wagon. He was badly bruised and cut about the head and body, and went to Dr. P. J. Zeglio and had the injuries attended to. Laggren states that the motorman of the car was to blame for the accident, as the bell was not rung to warn him of its approach.

Struck His Better Half.

Justice Mosher last evening issued a warrant for the arrest of John Ward, colored, of West Third street, upon a charge of assaulting his wife, Dolly Ward, on Thursday night. The couple attended the dance given in the Crescent Rink, and Ward, according to his wife's story, drank to excess, and upon their journey homeward he displayed a quarrelsome temper and struck his better half several blows in the face. In her complaint Mrs. Ward states that her husband has been in the habit of threatening her constantly, and she asks that he be bound over to keep the peace.

REVIVAL SERVICES TO BE HELD.

Grace M. E. Church to Try and Stir Up Interest Among its Attendants.

A meeting of the official board of Grace M. E. church was held last evening in the church, at which time it was decided to hold a series of revival services, commencing next Wednesday evening. Next Thursday the district meeting of the Epworth League will be held in this city, and the revival meetings will really start on Friday evening. A rally service will take place in the church on Wednesday in preparation for the convention. The services will be continued until Monday of the following week, and the Drew quartette from Drew Theological Seminary will have charge of the meetings They are fine singers as well as preachers, and their talents will be used in both directions. They will remain as long as Monday evening, Nov. 1st, and then other arrangements will be made for other meetings.

Rev. H. J. Johnston, the pastor of the church, and Dr. H. K. Carroll have the meetings in charge, with the assistance of the official board of the church.

TO INTRODUCE CANDIDATES.

Republicans Are Arranging for a Brief and Active Campaign.

The City Republican Executive Committee held a meeting last night and decided to shortly hold an informal meeting for the different candidates to have an opportunity to meet the workers of the party.

A new transparency was ordered with the names of the new candidates on it.

Edward J. Olssen applied to the city executive committee for an endorsement to his application to Congressman Fowler for re-appointment as money order clerk in the New York post-office. He claimed to have been turned out for being a Republican and old solder. A committee, composed of J. B. Coward, Sheriff W. T. Kirk and Judge William Newcorn, was appointed to investigate and report.

—VanArsdale has a shoe made for policemen, motormen, letter-carriers, or any other man who is out in all sorts of weather; a shoe made with a heavy double extension edge sole, broad toe and tip, calf lined. Best thing of the kind on the market.

—Doane & Edsall say they don't ask the people to trade with them just because they keep shoes to sell, but because they believe they can make it to the public's interest to do so. They now have in their handsome store the most complete stock of new stylish goods they have ever shown.

—George F. Brown, an old resident of the borough, has established himself at 43 Somerset street, where he will manufacture window shades, awnings, tents, canopies, etc. He was formerly engaged in business in New York and thoroughly understands every detail of it. His advertisement appears in another column.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O, contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by druggists, price 75c per bottle.

"Have You a Piano?"

Ask the question of any home owner, and if the answer is "No" it will almost surely be followed by "But we're thinking of getting one."

Scarcely anybody who doesn't mean to get a Piano some time. At least half a dozen of our buyers during the last ten days have been "thinking of getting one" for some years past. Been to our ware rooms lots of times, but this great October Piano Sale did it.

"Save $50" means a lot to most people It has meant a PIANO to many so far this month; it will yet mean that to many more.

WESTFIELD

TROLLEY ORDINANCE UP

TOWNSHIP COMMITTEE PASSES IT TO A SECOND READING.

Protest From Property Owners—Statement of the Road Account and Other Public Business—News of the Churches, Etc.

The Westfield Township Committee at its meeting last night took up the all important question of granting or rejecting the application of the Elizabeth and Westfield Railway Company for a franchise to run its tracks upon the county road in the township, and passed the ordinance to a second reading. Col. E. W. Hein, of Newark, secretary of the company, and A. A. Gaddis, its representative, were present in the interests of the ordinance, stating that they had secured the consent of the owners of a majority of the property along the proposed route, and that the company only asked concessions similar to those granted in Plainfield and elsewhere. Dr. J. B. Harrison offered the strongest piece of opposition in the form of a protest from property owners on Middlesex, Broad and Elmer stseets, which is the route the trolley people propose to take through the village. The protest was read and placed on file. The ordinance granting the franchise cannot be passed until after its third reading. Engineer H. C. VanEmburgh stated to the Committee that Contractor Johnston, of Plainfield, could not finish the work of curbing Broad street by this evening, the date set for the completion of the job, and an extension of time was granted. A communication was received from C. A. Smith stating that he had placed a fire hydrant at the corner of Spring street and South avenue, and requesting the committee to assume the charges for the hydrant as soon as possible. The monthly report of E. W. Chamberlain, superintendent of the sewers, was rendered, showing the system to be in good condition. Township Treasurer Morehouse made a report of the road account, showing a balance from last year's account of $850.94 which, with the appropriation for this year of $5.000, made total assets of $5,850.94. The expenditures for the year have been $3,925.33, leaving the balance on road account $1,925.61. The treasurer was authorized to renew a note of $1,000 for three months, and bills amounting to $991 95 were ordered paid. The next meeting of the Committee will be held November 5th.

Miss Florence Miller was given a party in honor of her seventeenth birthday, at her home on Mountain avenue, last evening. The time was pleasantly spent in games and dancing, and refreshments were served.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church held an enjoyable social and business meeting at the residence of Miss Carberry, on Westfield avenue, last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Ostrander have returned to Omaha, Neb., after a visit of two weeks with Mr. Ostrander's sister, Mrs. S. W. Reese, of Elm street.

The Westfield Club football team goes to Elizabeth this afternoon to play a game in the Journal trophy series with the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. team.

Mrs. McIntyre, of Carlisle, Pa., and Mrs. John Wagner, of Shippensburgh, Pa., are the guests of Col. and Mrs J. B. Morrow, of Park street.

Rev. Henry Ketcham will preach on the Fourth Commandment in the Congregational church tomorrow morning.

Nathan Mowrey has returned to his home in Little Falls after a visit of several weeks with friends in this place.

Mrs. Dodge, of Towanda, Pa., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Pierson, of North Broad street.

An offering for foreign missions will be taken in the Presbyterian church tomorrow morning.

A. Willis Lightborne, of Dudley avenue, has returned from a business trip to Washington, D. C.

Miss Luella Bennett, of Elm street, is the guest of Rev. and Mrs Dyer, at White Plains, N. Y.

Mrs. Joseph H. Crosby, of Summit avenue, is visiting friends in New York city.

Mrs. C. W. Peek and Miss Peek, of Prospect street, have returned from Belmar.

Miss Bessie Knight, of Elm street, is visiting friends in Washington, D. C.

—Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, Knights of Pythias, at its meeting last evening worked the third degree upon one candidate.

Quality and Price Are the Prizes.

What would you think of a lawyer who tried to secure clients by offering chances on a bicycle? Would you want the services of a physician who offered to give coal hods or sofa pillows to patients who employed him regularly?

We think not. We believe also that when sickness comes and you have prescriptions to be filled or need any other aid that the skilled pharmacist can render, you want perfect service at a fair price— nd nothing else.

We give such service. We are apt to save you 15 to 25 per cent on the cost—druggists that are conscientious about quality are pretty sure to be as careful about price.

THEATRICAL.

Every theatre-goer will hail with delight the coming of Donnelly and Girard, who appear at Music Hall Tuesday. They present to us for the first time the greatest hit of 1897, the spectacular operetta, "The Geezer," the very funniest of all funny presentations they have previously favored us with. To try and explain the many funny and mirth-making situations in the amusing operetta would be impossible. Suffice it to say Donnelly and Girard have secured forty of the best people of the profession, with special scenery for each act, magnificent and costly costumes and the most improved of electrical effects, and will, with the accomplished aggregation they have comprising this company, give such a treat as they have never given before, even in the days of "Natural Gas" and "The Rainmakers."

The Society of American Dramatists awarded James A. Herne the palm for having written the best play of native life known to the American stage. "Shore Acres" has certainly proven exceedingly attractive and the sixth year of its existence finds the public still interested in the guileless humor of Uncle Nathaniel and love of Helen Berry and Sam Warren. The story Mr. Herne has selected to set forth in his New England idyl is extremely simple, but it is told in such a straightforward and honest way, that its very simplicity appeals to the patron of the drama and almost unconsciously one is made to sympathize with the characters introduced in the play, 'Shore Acres" will be given a satisfactory representation at Music Hall next Friday evening.

LINCOLN.

The first religious exercises were held at Lincoln last Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in a large spacious building, opposite the depot. Twenty-four men, women and children were present. After singing a hymn Miss Emma Egel asked S. D. Drake to lead in prayer. Silas like of ancient times was equal to the emergency. Mr. Drake then made a few remarks, saying he was delighted to see so many present, and it spoke well for the future of Lincoln that so many men should attend religious exercises. That in building a town, it was as building a house, if the foundation was built strong and good the building would stand, so if the inhabitants of a new town came together for religious exercises that town would grow and prosper, as God would help it. The following were elected officers of the Lincoln Sunday-school: T. W. Sheldon, superintendent; Miss Emma Egel, assistant superintendent; Miss Mattie Moore, secretary; Miss Gulick, treasurer.

American Whist League Trophy in Newark

The American Whist League challenge trophy, won by a team from the New Jersey Whist Club, of Newark, is now on exhibition in a window of the Lauter Company's piano warerooms, Broad street, Newark. The meeting of the American Whist League took place at Baltimore on Saturday last and the trophy, which constitutes the championship of the United States, was won by the Newark team after a hard battle. When it is considered that forty other crack teams from all parts of America took part in the contest, the importance of the Newarkers' victory is evident. The trophy, which is in the form of a handsome three-handled silver cup, fourteen inches high, will remain on view during the week. Messrs. Otis, Cameron, Eagles and Aymar were the members of the winning team.

Proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County.

[OFFICIAL.]

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union held on Thursday, Oct. 7, 1897, at 2:30 p. m.

Roll call showed all members present—17.

The minutes of the previous meeting, (reading of bills being omitted) were on motion approved as read.

COMMUNICATIONS, PETITIONS, ETC.

From Jas. J. Manning, City Clerk, Elizabeth, as follows, viz:

Mr. S. Rusling Ryno, clerk of Board of Chosen Freeholders, Union County, N. J.

DEAR SIR: At a meeting of the city council of the city of Elizabeth, held on September 23, 1897, the following resolution was adopted, viz:

By Mr. Berry:

WHEREAS, the free flow of water through the old water course, between Orchard and Sayre streets has been almost entirely prevented by reason of the stoppage of the outlet at the southerly end of the bridge crossing Sayre street and the filling in with dirt of the water course leading therefrom to the Elizabeth River, therefore be it,

Resolved, That the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County be requested to notify the owner, or owners of the lands between the southerly end of the Sayre street bridge and the Elizabeth River, to excavate the filling alluded to, so that the water flowing through the said bridge may have free unobstructed passage to the Elizabeth river and be it further

Resolved, That the city clerk be directed to send a copy of this resolution to the chairman of the said Board of Chosen Freeholders.

Respectfully yours,
JAS. J. MANNING.
City Clerk.

Freeholder Brucklacher moved that the communication be received and placed on file, after some discussion it was so ordered.

From James W. Fink, County Road Inspector, as follows, viz:

Westfield, N. J., Oct. 6, 1897.

To the Honorable, the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County, N. J.

Gentlemen: The undersigned would respectfully report to your Honorable Body, the following report of repairs on county roads

Since report of September 1st., there have been 1,806 lineal feet of road repaired with 1½ inch stone; 10,368 lineal feet with 2 inch stone, 44,912 feet of road top dressed with fine stone, 17,960 feet of gutters cleaned; making a total amount of work on roads to this date viz:

3½ miles of 1½ inch work, nearly 2 miles of 2 inch work, 2¾ miles ¾ inch work, 13¼ miles top dressed with fine stone, 15½ miles of gutters cleaned, 1¾ miles of washouts filled. 15 miles top dressed with clay. The total expenditure for repairs on county roads to date is, $14,523 64. The work of repairing the county roads is still in progress.

Very Respectfully submitted,
James W. Fink, Inspector.

On motion of Freeholder Clark, received and placed on file.

From James P. Connolly, S. W. Whitehead, and ten (10) others, residents and business men in the vicinity of Broad and West Grand streets, and the Elizabeth river, in the city of Elizabeth, a petition, representing that prior to the depression of the streets under the tracks of the Central and Pennsylvania Railroad Companies, in the neighborhood referred to, the surface water in said vicinity flowed in different directions, to different outlets but since the depression of said streets, the surface water from Broad, East Broad, West Grand, Union, and other streets, flows into the said Elizabeth river, at a point near the bridge of the Central Railroad Company.

The petitioners further represented, that at every heavy rain storm, said river overflows to the great damage of your petitioners, and to the injury of the city at large.

The petitioners believed that one of the causes of said overflows was the fact that the bridges over said river, where the same is crossed by the public streets of said city, are too low, with arches too small to allow the water to run off rapidly. The Board of Chosen Freeholders was therefore petitioned to take some action with the city of Elizabeth, to cause the streets to be raised where the same cross the river, and to build such bridges across the said river, as will allow the water to run off in an unobstructed manner.

Freeholder Bruchlacher moved that the petition be received, and referred to the special committee heretofore appointed to confer with the Elizabeth City Council on bridge matters, which was so ordered.

From Louis Quien, C.E., as follows:

Elizabeth, October 6, 1897.

To the Honorable the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union county, N. J.:

Gentlemen—The undersigned respectfully reports that Mr. John Rehill, contractor, has completed the contract of regulating and paving with macadam stone pavement, St. George's avenue from Lake avenue, Rahway, N. J, to the Middlesex county line, and is entitled to the following moneys:

To 5,467 sq. yds. pavement at 49c. yd	$2,678.83
Less 10 per cent. retained	$267 83
Less previous paym'ts	$825.00 1,092 88
Amount now due	$1,585 95
Amount payable by county	$1,785 89
Am't payable by city of Rahway	892 94
Total	$2,678.82

Respectfully submitted,
Louis Quien, C. E.

On motion of Freeholder Roll received and placed on file.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Freeholder Swain reported progress on matters relative to trolley lines on county roads

NEW BUSINESS.

By Freeholder Ehrlich:

Resolved, That $100 be paid to A. Gerlach on account, for building the bridge at Riverside Road, Rahway, N. J.

Freeholder Krouse moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Roll:

Whereas, There is some question as to the duties of the clerk of this board regarding the vacating of the ballot boxes used at the various polling places throughout the county at the last special election; therefore be it

Resolved, That the matter be referred to the county attorney with power to proceed to obtain an order of Court if deemed necessary, so that said ballot boxes may be had for use at the coming November election.

On motion of Freeholder Robison, the resolution was adopted without dissent.

By Freeholder Farrell:

Resolved, That an ordinance or ordinances be prepared by such committee as the director of this board may designate, relating to the protection of the roads of this county, now maintained by the county, as is provided for in Chapter 165 of Laws of 1897, and that said ordinance or ordinances be submitted to this board for consideration

Freeholder King moved the adoption of the resolution, which was seconded.

Freeholder King said his attention had been called to the chapter of laws as stated in the resolution and in view of the protection which would be afforded to county roads from many minor nuisances, he urged the adoption of the resolution.

County Attorney W. R. Codington read the chapter of laws referred to, which showed that the board had power to pass such ordinances as referred to, after which the resolution was adopted without dissent.

The director appointed Freeholders Farrell, King and Brucklacher as a committee to prepare the ordinance provided for in the resolution.

By Freeholder Farrell:

Resolved, That the bill of John Rehill for paving St. George's avenue when said bill is properly audited, be paid to the extent of $693.01.

Freeholder King moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Littell:

Resolved, That when this board adjourn, it adjourns to meet on Thursday, October 14th, 1897, at 2:30 p. m.

On motion of Freeholder Brucklacher, the resolution was adopted without dissent.

Freeholder Littell stated that his attention had been called to a matter of common report, relative to the crossing of the county road at Aldene by steam or electricity or both. He was not aware that permission had been asked of the Board of Chosen Freeholders to make such crossing, and he thought the matter was of sufficient importance to justify such action being taken, as would determine the county's rights in such matters, he therefore moved that the matter be referred to the county attorney for investigation, which was so ordered.

Ready for Business

evidently, and the business should be done by all means. Buildings require paint. Of course, a house may be left unpainted and left to become weatherbeaten and a wreck. That doesn't pay, though; it's much cheaper to paint, and our paints in all colors are the best in the market for durability under the most trying conditions. They are well adapted to our exposure and we sell everything in the line of paints and painters' supplies at short prices.

Clerical garments, uniforms and liveries, also cleaning, dyeing, scouring, repairing and pressing. A trial is solicited, the work and fit will speak for itself.

The Tables Turned.

We have almost solved the servant girl problem.

Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.

The tables are turned, and we have turned them.

We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.

Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "

What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

REPLY WILL BE SHARP

Sagasta's Reported Insult Will Be Promptly Resented.

ENOUGH DONE FOR SPAIN

Any Intimation that the Administration Is Responsible for Filibustering Expeditions Will Prove a Great Mistake.

Washington, Oct. 23.—If, as announced in the Madrid dispatches, the answer of Spain to Minister Woodford's communication is in the form of a demand that the United States Government put an end to filibustering expeditions to Cuba, it will provoke a sharp rejoinder from Secretary Sherman. A more irritating reply could hardly be made by Spain than one which attempts to put upon the United States the responsibility for the prolongation of the Cuban struggle. In the face of a clamorously expressed public resentment, this Government has refrained from any recognition of or active sympathy with the Cuban insurgents, and the power of the Government has been used to prevent filibustering to an extent far beyond what Congress has regarded as warranted, even if American sympathies had been with Spain. For Spain to demand still more effective police service of this Government, and to attempt to fix on the United States the responsibility for the strength and endurance of the rebellion, will be irritating, even exasperating, to the Administration.

Will Be Resented.

Those who thoroughly understand the President's attitude in this matter know that he and his Secretary of State are neither timid nor vacilating, nor are they amiable beyond the demands of propriety. If Sagasta shall make any such demand as the Madrid dispatches outline, Spanish sensibilities will receive a shock in the prompt rejoinder which will be made. The suggestion that this Government has been insincere in the efforts to prevent filibustering and that the Administration is conniving at violations of the neutrality law will be regarded as an insult not to be passed by without notice. Such an imputation will be promptly resented and Spain will be reminded of the forbearance of the American Government and people, who have not only been horrified by the deeds of barbarity on the island of Cuba, but have endured the insulting insinuations and hostile demonstrations of the Spanish, the imprisonment of American citizens in Cuba and the utter disregard and even malicious injury to American interests, while American naval vessels and vessels of the revenue marine have at great expenditure of money and energy been performing police duty at the behest of the Spanish Minister at Washington. This statement of facts will be coupled with a very clear intimation that there is an end to American toleration.

The facts of the case make the insulting suggestion of insincerity conveyed in Sagasta's alleged reply peculiarly exasperating. Senor Dupuy de Lome, the Spanish Minister at Washington, has during the entire period of the Cuban rebellion had spies located at every port along the Atlantic coast, from which an expedition might be sent, and in many of the large cities of the country where it was known that strong sympathy with the Cuban insurgents existed. Upon the least suspicion of a movement in behalf of the insurgents he has called upon the Administration, both during Mr. Cleveland's term and since the advent of President McKinley, to use the strong arm of the Government to suppress the Cuban sympathizers. He has demanded the prosecution of American seamen and has employed the Federal officials in police service. He has had vessels of the American navy and revenue-cutter service sent on wild-goose chases up and down and round and about the Atlantic coast, following some imaginary filibustering expedition.

Time and Money Spent.

Frequently these vessels have been called into service on nothing more than vague suspicion, suggested to Senor Dupuy de Lome by some of his spies, and to comply with the Spanish demands has cost upward of $2,000,000 and has involved great annoyance, even hardship, to American citizens, besides offending public sentiment.

If Sagasta makes any such reply to Minister Woodford as is indicated from the Madrid dispatches, these facts will be laid before him in very plain language. The suggestion that the President can do more than has been done in the interest of Spain will be indignantly repelled, and the Spanish Government will be given to understand that this condition of affairs cannot much longer be tolerated.

Gen. Miles' Report.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Gen. Miles' report to Secretary Alger of the operations of the army for the year ending June 30, 1897, was made public yesterday. It reviews the recommendations of the department commanders and closes with the renewal of the suggestion made by Gen. Schofield and other commanders that the strength of the army be fixed at a figure ranging from a maximum of one soldier for every 1,000 population to a minimum of one for every 2,000 of the population. Gen. Miles unites with Gen. Wilson, chief of engineers, in the recommendation that the expenditure for coast defences be put under the direction of the Secretary of War, without regard to the contract system of improvements.

Mrs. J. W. Forney Dead.

Philadelphia, Oct. 23.—Mrs. G. W. Forney, who died at her home in this city yesterday morning of apoplexy, was the widow of Col. John W. Big Guarantee Offered.

New York, Oct. 23.—The Active A. C., of Maspeth, through its matchmaker, P. Dougherty, has offered 60 per cent. of the gross receipts or a guarantee of $20,000 for a fight between Peter Maher and Jim Corbett. If the Corbett-Maher fight cannot be secured the same offer is open to Maher and Gus Ruhlin or Maher and Tut Ryan.

as your pastor has to pay for a jury $5.75, will you help me meet that requirement tomorrow?

Dear church, I ask that you all will unite in prayer for me in this meeting, as a number of you know that I have labored hard and successful for the salvation of souls and for the upbuilding of the cause of our Lord and Master, which results are seen in every direction. Can you, with Christian hearts filled with love and Christian sympathy, see a man who has watched and cared for your souls and the general good of the Master's cause, maliciously accused and slandered by enemies of everything in the church that is moral, just and good.

My brethren and sisters, there are some people in the Mt. Olive church who have been regenerated and born again. I appeal to you for your prayers, sympathy and support in this trying ordeal in anyway that you can give it, that the devil may be disappointed and that the truth and victory may perch on our banner. We have many people who have helped nobly in their contributions and other ways. I feel that I owe you all a debt of gratitude which only God can pay when we appear before His Throne. The acts and deeds done by Deacon Robison and wife, Brother Conroy and many other sisters and brethren whose names we will not call now, I shall never forget this side of the River.

Now, on tomorrow, I am to be arraigned where I never expected to be in the ministry, though the Bible says I shall undergo these things, it is nothing to the credit of anyone. The cause of all this grew out of one sermon preached on the fourth Sunday in June last, an attack on the devil kingdom. Since that time there has been a malicious spirit among those who think more of their own way than they do of Christ. Now church, let me go or let me stay, God is going to deal righteously with these murderers.

The trial of Rev. P. S. Gibson, the colored pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist church, did not come up this morning. A conference of the lawyers interested in the case was held and an adjournment until next Thursday was agreed to. The case came before City Judge DeMeza. The trial will take place at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the Council chambers. A jury has been called.

Deacons Make a Statement.

The following statement is made at the request of the deacons of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, concerning their pastor, Rev. P. S. Gibson:

To whom it may concern—This is to certify that Rev. P. S. Gibson is pastor of the Mount Olive Baptist church, corner of Third and Liberty streets, and has been for three years and nine months. During this time he has proved himself a Christian gentleman, and is certainly a successful pastor. As there has been some public gossip which is aimed at the character of Pastor Gibson, we, the deacons, wish to speak on behalf of our church. We have no charge against him of any kind, and we have no occasion to make any. The pastor is held in high esteem by us. The rumors that have reached the newspapers recently, are unfounded, and on account of our knowledge of Pastor Gibson and his Christian integrity, we believe the reports to be maliciously false. We shall do what we can for his protection and the vindication of his character, and the purity of the church. Signed: S. J. Whindleton, A Wilson, M. Robinson, P. Gordon, R. Yetman, deacons.

LIVES LOST IN A FIRE.

A FORMER PLAINFIELD MAN BURNED TO DEATH.

The Fire Was in the Big Laundry of Gardner & Vail on Broadway—Many Very Narrow Escapes From Death.

New York, Oct. 23.—Two lives were lost in a fire that was discovered early this morning in Gardner & Vail's laundry, at 773 Broadway. The charred bodies of the victims were found in the ruins after the fire was put out. Patrick Callopy, an unmarried man, thirty-five years old, who had been in the employ of the laundry for many years, was one of the two who were lost, and Henry Haight, a widower, who has a daughter living near Plainfield, N J., was the other. He had also worked in the laundry. Both men slept in the building. Callopy formerly lived in Plainfield.

The building was rapidly burning as the firemen directed their streams of water into the flames, when Mrs. Hutton, of 63 East Ninth street, an employe of the laundry, came up breathless to Chief Bonner and said:

"Two men are sleeping in the building. Can't they be rescued?"

"Nothing can hurt anybooy who is in there now," said the Chief sadly, as he saw that every room in the building was already in flames.

"Poor Pat! Poor Henry!" sobbed the woman, as she retreated hopelessly before the scorching flames.

It was 5:30 o'clock before the firemen could enter the building to look for the dead bodies of the two employes who slept there. The body of Patrick Callopy was found on the second floor, where it had fallen when the third floor caved in. He had occupied the bed-room on the third story front. There was every indication that he had been suffocated in bed before his body was burned.

The body of Henry Haight was found on the third floor. It had not fallen to the second floor as only the front part of the floor had gone down Haight's body was found in a peculiar position. It was leaning over a beam.

The loss to the machinery and other contents of the building is estimated at $15,000, and to the building itself $5,000.

A. C. Vail, of the firm of Gardner & Vail, lives at the corner of West Eighth street and Madison avenue.

Mrs. Asa Willis and Miss Hattie Willis, of Johnston's drive, have returned from Jersey City, where they have been spending a week with relatives and friends.

No Application for Bail for Luetgert

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Adolph L. Luetgert was brought into court yesterday morning, as it was expected that application would be made for his admission to bail. No formal application was made by his attorneys, and he was returned to jail. It is possible that he will yet go free. The County Commissioners, disgusted with the result of the murder trial, which has cost the county between $20,000 and $30,000, will refuse to appropriate money for another trial if Luetgert is admitted to bail.

CLEVELAND'S VIEWS.

The Ex-President Speaks at Princeton's Celebration.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 23.—The one-hundred-and-fifty-first birthday of Princeton University was celebrated here yesterday. A throng of visitors was on hand, and more than usual interest was manifested in this year's commemoration on account of the presence of Grover Cleveland and Lord Aberdeen, Governor-General of Canada.

The ex-President was accompanied by Mrs. Cleveland, while with the Earl of Aberdeen were Lady Aberdeen, their daughter, Lady Marjorie Gordon, and Lieut. Keane. Others present were President Gilman, of Johns Hopkins University, and Mrs. Gilman; Provost Harrison, of the University of Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Harrison; President Patton, of Princeton University; Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Dodge, and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cook.

President Patton presided and introduced the speakers. The exercises began with the invocation by Dean Murray, which was followed by an address by ex-President Cleveland. The degree of doctor of laws was formally conferred upon the Earl of Aberdeen, who responded with an address. A benediction by President Patton closed the exercises.

Mr. Cleveland took for the subject of his address "The Self-Made Man," saying in part:

"In the few words I shall speak today there will be no attempt to lead you into untrodden fields of thought or point out new truths. I not only believe that if I should enter upon such an undertaking I would be guilty of bold presumption, but it seems to me we can quite as profitably improve the time we spend together in renewing our acquaintance with some old truths and recalling their relationship to human life and effort. In following this suggestion we shall manifestly find it easier if we start from familiar ground and take our departure from some well-known landmark. With this introduction I hope I may be tolerated in the announcement that I propose to submit on this occasion some simple reflections concerning the self-made man.

"We have all seen handsome and quite elaborately carved articles or trinkets which were made entirely with a pocket knife. As curiosities they challenge our interest, because of the ingenuity of their construction with such a simple tool, but we do not regard them as more useful for that reason, nor do we for a moment suppose that the pocket knife was essential to their construction, or that their beauty or merit would have been diminished by the use of more effective and suitable tools. It is well to remember, too, in considering those who succeed, notwithstanding difficulties, that not all successes, even though so gained, are of that useful and elevating kind that should excite our admiration. The churlish curmudgeon who by sharp practice and avaricious dealing has amassed a fortune should not be permitted to cajole us by boasting of his early privations and sordid self-denial; we are at liberty to resent in any case the attempt to cover a multitude of sins with the cloak of the self-made man, by playing upon our regard for the worth and labor that conquers a useful and honorable career; nor should the successful political hack be allowed to distract attention from a damaged character by parading his humble origin, his lack of early advantages and the struggles of his boyhood as independent and sufficient proofs that he is entitled to our suffrage."

MORE THAN DANCES.

A GREAT VARIETY OF ATTRACTIONS AT THE SPIELKARTENFEST.

Elaborate Booths, Prettily Decorated and Filled With Handsome Articles—Some of Those Who Will Be in Charge of the Affair

Don't get the mistaken idea that the dances are to be the only attractions at the coming Spielkartenfest, which is to be held in the Crescent Rink on November 8-13. There will be other things to please old and young. Perhaps you have wondered how the interior of the rink is to look when that monster benefit in aid of the Muhlenberg Hospital begins. It will be transformed into as near a "fairyland" as human efforts can make it. Willing hands and ingenious minds can accomplish much and the most talented workers in the city have promised their aid on that occasion.

Evarts Tracy, the well-known architect, whose ingenuity contrived many wonderful things for the Kirmess two years ago, is planning for the arrangement of the booths. There are going to be booths, and handsome ones too, that will prove a prominent attraction. As in the Kirmess, they are to be located along the sides of the great auditorium, but the designs will be entirely different. While the appearance of the different booths has not been definitely settled, it has been decided that there are to be three on a side, occupying the spaces between the roof supports.

The rest of the space on the north side is to be devoted to the sale of ice cream and soda water. Those who are planning for this part of the Spielkartenfest will not be satisfied with anything ordinary, so this department may be looked upon as something new. The restaurant, it's to be a good one, too, will occupy a corresponding place on the south side of the building. The room in the rear of the ticket offices will be devoted to the same purpose, while the rooms of the W. C. T. U. are to be converted into one grand kitchen, where the supplies are to be prepared.

Now it is no easy task to prepare for the different booths and it takes an experienced and able hand to manage each one, but the chairmen have been well chosen and have already begun to organize their army of assistants.

The fancy booth is in the hands of a committee of which Miss Elizabeth R. Cock is the efficient chairman. The name emplies the nature of the booth. Then there is the stationery booth with Mrs. John Gray Foster as chairman. Cut flowers and potted plants will form the attractions at another booth at which Mrs. Lewis G. Timpson will be in charge.

The little ones have not been forgotten but will have a special booth, known as the children's booth. The novel attractions there will interest the older folks as well. One of the features is to be a very modern grab-bag. It isn't a grab-bag at all, however, but a little electric railway with a real train on it. The youthful purchaser deposits his coin in one of the cars and the miniature train disappears in the tunnel at the rear of the booth. When it emerges at the other side, the coin is gone and the package for the purchaser now occupies the car. Then there are other attractions for the young that promise to be equally popular. Mrs. Leonidas Dennis is to superintend the workings of this department.

The Spielkartenfest wouldn't be complete without a candy booth. There Mrs. Hugh Hastings and Miss Emilie Schipper will divide the honers. The lemonade well is out-of-date, so they say, and something new and artistic in that line is being prepared. Mrs. S. S. Guoin is the leading spirit.

That vast domain, the ice cream and soda water department, is to be ruled over by Mrs. Lapsley, chairman of that committee. The army of assistants and cooks at the model restaurant are to be led by Mrs. O. T. Waring and Mrs. George VanBoskerck. They will have charge of that department and see to the preparation of the host of good things that will make the tables groan beneath their weight.

These are among the attractions that are to make the Spielkartenfest a thing long to be remembered.

The True Woman.

Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, pastor of the First M. E. church, preached a very able sermon on "The True Woman" at his church last evening. While he said that some women were fitted by the force of circumstances to go forth into the world, the object of women as a class was as the principal figure and ruler of the home. The ideal of "The True Woman" was, he said, a woman and not a man.

—Park avenue is now being repaired in parts between Randolph road and the county line.

AN ACTRESS' PITIABLE TALE

NERVOUSNESS CAUSED FRIGHT.

Said She Had Been Accosted by a Colored Man—Was Walking From New York to Chicago.

It was just at dusk Saturday evening that a well-dressed young woman, breathless and sobbing, came running down Watchung avenue, in the middle of the street. Two men were closely following her. Special Officers Giese and Dagnell, who happened to be at the corner of Watchung avenue and Fifth street at the time, saw her and stopped the three to learn the cause of the excitement. The woman was unable to speak coherently and was taken into Hall's pharmacy to recover, while a crowd collected there.

One of the men, who had followed her, was a colored man and he explained that he had seen her running and had followed to see what was the matter. The other man had joined in the pursuit.

When the young woman had recovered her breath she told the officers that the colored man had jumped at her and said something. That happened at the corner of Franklin place and she had run down to Fifth street. Her name, she said, was Gertie Price and her home was in Wisconsin. She had been a member of a traveling threatrical company and had played "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" and kindred shows. She remembered having played in Plainfield on one occasion. The troupe had finally disbanded at Chelsea, Mass., last week, after an unsuccessful trip and she had been thrown on her own resourses.

She had money enough to take her to New York and she had then started afoot for Chicago, where her brother lived. Friday she walked to Elizabeth and Saturday she had come to Plainfield. Her money was all gone and she had not had anything to eat all day. She said she was subject to fits and had several on her way to Plainfield.

It is supposed the colored man had seen her walking in the middle of the road and spoken to her and she, tired and nervous from her long walk and lack of food, had become frightened. The colored man is a well-known ash-carter.

She said that she intended asking for a night's lodging at the station house. Chief Grant was notified that she was was at the pharmacy. Before he arrived a collection was taken for her benefit and she was taken to McVey's Hotel and given board and lodging for the night. Yesterday morning she left the hotel after breakfast and started on her long and weary walk to Chicago.

SAVED THE BABY.

John Burnett's Heroic Action at a Fire Over the Mountain.

Jinkstown is a small settlement back of Washingtonville. Among the residents of the place are William James, who supports himself, wife and large family of children by peddling vegetables in and about Plainfield. Existence has been a hard one for them but they have succeeded in making both ends meet and all went well until last Friday morning.

Friday morning early, James went to town as usual with his wagon. His wife remained at home attending to the housework. It was almost 11 o'clock in the morning when Ed and John Burnett, who were working in a field nearby, saw flames break through the roof of the James domicile, a little one-story-and-a-half structure. They hurried to the house and told Mrs. James and tried to save as much as possible of the contents.

The fire burned rapidly and they were only able to save part of the furniture. They were standing in front of the doomed dwelling. Mrs. James surrounded by her frightened children, when she remembered that in the excitement she had forgotten her baby that lay in a crib in the midst of the burning house. With a scream, she started for the door but John Burnett stopped her and struggled with the frantic woman while Ed Burnett rushed into the house to find the child. In a moment he appeared enveloped in flames but with the child wrapped in a blanket in his arms.

Burnett was badly burned about the face, neck and hands while part of his hair was singed completly off. The child was not injured. The house burned to the ground and Theodore Duver, one of the neighbors, took in the homeless ones until they could make some other arrangements.

Rev. Mr. Richardson's Sermon

Rev. J. W. Richardson, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, preached a sermon last night on the "Stupendous Injustice of Licensing Liquor Saloons." The sermon will be printed in The Press tomorrow, being crowded out today by other imperative news.

TROLLEY TRACKS LAID OVER A COVETED HIGHWAY

NEW YORK AND PHILADELPHIA TRACTION COMPANY RESORTED TO HEROIC ACTION TO GAIN POSSESSION.

A Thousand Laborers Came at the Beck of the Capitalists and Led on by Lawyer They Built the Road in Defiance of Courts, Township Officers and Sheriff.

Station Agent Osborne, of Finderne, was awakened from his sleep Saturday night at 11 o'clock and beheld a sight that made him rub his eyes, and perchance pinch himself once or twice, to really convince himself that he wasn't dreaming. Standing on the eastbound passenger tracks in front of the station over which he presides as the most patriarch-looking employe in the service of the Central, there was a train of seventeen cars that stood out in shadowy relief as dozens of torches flared up at regular intervals and illuminated a scene of hundreds of dusky laborers skurrying here and there at the task of unloading great numbers of picks, shovels, carts and other pharaphernalia used in railroad construction.

What the aged station agent beheld was no illusion; it was a stern reality—an invading host of creatures coming at the beck of a powerful combination of capitalists who were determined to brook no defeat in the cherished plans to acquire a franchise that seemed to be slipping from their grasp. They were set in their idea to defy even the laws which they had previously been prostrating themselves before in trying to peaceably get what they were now about to acquire by force—the privilege of building a trolley railroad over a section of a highway that was coveted by rivals.

The invading army was championed by the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company, promoters of the cross-state line. For months and months this aggregation of capitalists has been striving to get the right of way between Bound Brook and Somerville, a pivotal link in the chain from which was to dangle, they thought, success and profit. It was a prize worth getting at even extraordinary cost.

Euchred at nearly every move that might result in desired ends, they had at last determined on heroic measures. Engaging the services of a big contractor in Baltimore, who had at his service a thousand husky laborers, they planned to descend upon the disputed ground at a time when the legal machinery could not be drawn upon by their enemies and to build the road that would at least result in applying the old adage that "possession is nine points of the law" By doing this they figured to let their opponents fight it out afterward.

And so it was that the old station agent at Finderne awoke to find the territory around his depot literally alive with men and things calculated to defy the law.

The invasion had been well planned, the workers well-trained. Every man knew his business and they worked in a concord that showed results quickly. The hundreds of laborers were divided into gangs in charge of experienced bosses. As quickly as possible they were out upon the highway working with might and main under direction of those who knew just what and how to do.

The rivals of the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company, the Brunswick Traction Company, has friends, and one of their supporters was soon aware of the work. He hurried to the officials and they in turn hurried to the courts.

At 2 o'clock Superintendent Herbert, of the Traction Company, was served with a stay issued by the counsel of the Bridgewater committee, but he disregarded it on the ground that no courts are open on Sunday and that the Traction Company could not be enjoined by law before Monday.

Before daylight a dynamo was spirited into the power plant at the Finderne Hotel and set up ready for use.

Superintendent Herbert said that his men would complete the tracks over the four miles of disputed territory, erect the trolley poles, place a car on the tracks and have it running by the power furnished by the dynamo at the Finderne plant before 1 o'clock this morning. This was a big job, and William V. Steele, one of the counsel for the Township Committee, Theo. Hoffman, and Judge G. Bartine, lawyers for the Brunswick Traction Company, started in early in the day to prevent it. Sheriff Wyckoff, of Somerset county, and the Township Committee, consisting of Peter Gulick, David Bartles, and William Hardgrove, were hastily summoned. Hardgrove, who is friendly to the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company, said he would not interfere. Bartles, who supports the Brunswick Traction Company, was six miles away at his mountain home. Gulick, who has assumed a neutral position, but who has recently been accused of flopping over to the Brunswick Traction Company, was afraid to act. It was 3 o'clock in the afternoon before Gulick and Bartles decided on action and started for the scene, accompanied by Sheriff Wyckoff and a small posse.

At the request of Suprintendent Radel, of the Brunswick Traction Company, the Sheriff arrested William Taylor, a liveryman, of Bound Brook, a score of section bosses, and several engineers.

Two hundred Italian laborers under Superintendent Radel began to tear up a section of track which Radel alleged was on property owned by the Brunswick Traction Company. As many negroes hired by the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company knocked the handles from their pick-axes and rushed at the Italians, who sought shelter in a barn. Radel was hissed and threatened.

He backed out of the mob under the protection of his friends and drove away. His laborers were loaded in wagons and taken away. Lawyers Alvah A. Clark and John C. Shaw, acting for the New York and Philadelphia Company, ordered the work resumed and advised Superintendent Herbert to defy the Township Committee and the Sheriff, as they were acting illegally. This was done and at 8 o'clock last night a trolley car was hauled from the Finderne station and placed upon the track amid cheering by the crowd.

The Township Committtee gave up the fight at 9 o'clock and the Sheriff and his deputies were called off. At 11:30 the line was completed and ten minutes later the current was turned on and the car was started over the line. Word was received before starting that a gang of men, who were concealed along the track near Bound Brook, would attack the car. Superintendent Herbert and a number of officials were in the car, which was strongly guarded by negroes armed with clubs.

The work was only marred by one accident which occurred about 9:45 last night when "Ollie" Howard, a Baltimore lineman, fell from a hanger thirty feet to the ground. He was carried to a house nearby and a doctor summoned. His injuries were some very ugly cuts about the head and a bad shaking up.

The work was done it is said by J. G. White & Co., general contractors, who have offices in New York, Baltimore and other cities.

Attended Corner Stone Laying.

About two hundred members of the Ancient Order Hibernians, accompanied by the Independent Fife and Drum Corps, went to Roselle yesterday afternoon on the 1:45 train to participate in the exercises incident to the laying of the corner stone of the Catholic church at that place. Rev. Father Smyth, pastor of St. Mary's church, accompanied the delegation and took a prominent part in the exercises.

Pastors Exchanged Pulpits.

"Joyful in My House of Prayer," was the subjeet of a very helpful sermon by Rev. C. E. Herring to the congregation of Trinity Reformed church yesterday morning, he having exchanged pulpits with Dr. Schenck. His convincing argument of the necessity of holiness, honesty, constancy and humility in prayer was firmly and lovingly established, as was the joy of him or her who takes everything to God in prayer.

His Wife Begged for Leniency.

John Ward, colored, of West Third street, was arrested Saturday on a warrant issued by Justice Mosher. He was charged by his wife, Dolly Ward, with beating her while they were returning from a dance in the Crescent Rink last Thursday night. Saturday evening when Ward was given an examination his wife announced that she had relented and did not wish to press the charge. Both Ward and his wife begged the Justice not to punish him, and a promise was made that the offense would not be repeated. After giving the offender a severe lecture and telling him what he might expect if he came up again on the same charge, the Justice released Ward.

For the Ushers Benefit.

The production of "The Geezer," by Donnelly and Girard, the well-known comedians, in the Stillman Theatre, tomorrow night, will be for the benefit of the ushers of the theatre and they are hoping for a strong support from the townsfolk.

NEW HOME DEPARTMENT.

AN ADJUNCT TO SUNDAY SCHOOL.

The Plan Explained by Rev. Jesse L. Hurlbut in the First M. E. Church Yesterday.

A home department, one of the adjuncts of the modern Sunday-school, was organized at the First M. E. church, in connection with the Sunday-school of that church, yesterday morning. Rev. Dr. Jesse L. Hurlbut, of New York, one of the leading workers in the Sunday-school department of the M. E. church, was present and made an address explanatory of the home department movement. Dr. Hurlbut was a former resident of this city where he resided for many years and is very well known. The fact that he was to speak attracted an unusually large congregation.

The opening devotional services were conducted jointly by the pastor, Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, and Rev. Dr. Hurlbut. The sermon was preached by Dr. Hurlbut on the text "Search the Scriptures." He told of the advice of the late Charles A. Dana in an address to journalism to young college men in which he declared that thorough study of the Bible was an important perquisite in the preparation for a journalistic career. He told of the universal popularity of the book and how, while the popular demand for other books rose and fell, there was an ever increasing demand for the Scriptures which far exceeded that for all the others combined.

He told of the necessity of studying the Word and how much was to be gained by it. He said while an irregular study of the Bible was often productive of much good, a systematic comprehensive study was far better. Most of the Bible study, he said, was done in the Sunday school. There was a large class, however, who for various reasons did not come. It was to give them the privileges of the Sunday-school as far as possible that the home department was organized.

He then explained the workings of the home department. How the members of it were expected to spend half an hour weekly in the study of the Sunday-school lesson. Lesson helps were to be furnished by the Sunday-school. The pastor announced that Mrs. J. R. Joy would act as superintendent of the department, assisted by others of the church, who would call on the members at stated intervals with the new quarterlies. The ushers then passed among the congregation and enrolled the names of all who cared to join. About fifty expressed a desire to become members of the home department.

Dr. Hurlbut was present at the session of the Sunday school in the afternoon and made a short address, telling something of his experiences while traveling through Palestine.

THE JUDGE WAS LENIENT.

One an Inoffensive Character and the Other in Hard Luck.

Two offenders were arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning. One was John Whitehead, who has been in the employ of the Potter Press Works until a short time ago. He has been in hard luck and was arrested by Patrolman Vanderweg on Saturday night for stealing coal from the cars of the Jersey Central Railroad. He was a good workman and had never been arrested before, so the Judge suspended sentence on him.

The other offender was a German who gave his name as Robert Hondloser. He was an inoffensive character who had merely taken refuge in a car of the Jersey Central Railroad on Sunday night to get out of the storm. Patrolman Watson had found him and locked him up. Sentence was suspenoed on him.

RAID BY CHICKEN THIEVES.

Michael O'Day Finds His Coop Spotted With Blood and Twenty Fowls Gone

Chicken thieves played havoc among the occupants of the chicken-coop of Michael O'Day, of South Plainfield, Friday night. O'Day is employed at the coal storage plant of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company. He has been working nights. O'Day owns a number of valuable game cocks besides an assortment of other fowls. Friday evening at 10 o'clock his wife came hurrying over to the coal yard to tell him that there was trouble in the chicken-coop. He went over and found that some twenty of the most valuable of his stock had been caught, their throats cut and then carried away. The coop was covered with blood. There were several clews to the identity of the thieves and several arrests are expected to follow at once.

Somerville Man Dead.

John Polhemus, aged fifty-four years, died at his home in Somerville yesterday, after a prolonged illness. He was the father of Mrs. Peter B. Hodge, of Plainfield avenue, and was well known in this city.

SPEEDY HORSES TROTTED

A SATURDAY PROGRAMME THAT ENTHUSED HORSEMEN.

Several Pretty Spurts in Which the Entries Showed the Speedy Qualities—One Foul Claimed—The Race Summaries.

The trotting contests held at the Plainfield Driving Park Association's track on Saturday afternoon drew a crowd of about three hundred, including a number of ladies. The entries included horses from this city and from Woodbridge, and the events were intended to be a repetition of those held on the Woodbridge track on the previous Saturday.

The entries were fewer in Saturday's events, however, and one race between horses of the 2:35 class, did not take place at all. The winner in the 2:30 class at Woodbridge, "Alda H.," was not entered, but the four heats were prettily contested between Judge W. A. Coddington's "Belle," Douglas Darby's "Sunday," and C. A. Campbell's "Lady C." "Belle" won the first and second heats; in the first half of the third she broke badly and "Sunday" came in first. The fourth heat was a neck to neck contest between "Belle" and "Sunday," and at the finish the two horses seemed to pass under the wire at the same second. "Sunday," however, had done considerable running, which the owner claimed was caused by a foul from the wheel of "Belle's" sulky. The crowd yelled that it was a "dead heat," but after a consultation the judges awarded the heat to "Belle," which gave her the race.

In the 2:25 class "Myrtle Twig" and "Breastplate," who were first and second in the Woodbridge race, were not entered. W. E. Brock's "Active" won the first heat in fine style in 2:29, but in the second heat the animal made a rather poor showing, breaking in the first quarter mile and losing to "Barney Williams." When the third heat was called notice was sent to the judges' stand that "Active" was withdrawn and would not trot again during the afternoon. As there was only one other entry, this action on the part of Mr. Brock compelled the judges to award the race to "Barney Williams."

The third race was between steppers of the 2:40 class. "Little Dick," belonging to John Taylor, of Rahway, was given a trial heat with N. B. Smalley's "Bolette," and was then withdrawn. "Bolette" then won three straight heats from "General Benham." The last of these heats furnished the most exciting episode of the afternoon and sent a thrill of satisfaction through all the horsemen present. In the beginning of the second half mile, as the trotters were making the turn "General Benham's" driver tried to gain the pole, and in doing so it is alleged that he foulded "Bolette." Whatever the cause the latter made a bad break and had to be pulled down almost to a walk.

The driver had confidence in "Bolette," however, and although "Benham" was over a sixteenth of a mile ahead at the three-quarter post, the plucky little trotter in the rear settled down to about a 2:30 pace. She came up the stretch overhauling "Benham" at every step, and won by a nose amid great cheering.

The track was in perfect condition, and the only things which detracted from the pleasure of the spectators was the cold, damp wind which made everyone shiver, and the intolerably long waits between the events. The judges were William VanSyckle, of Metuchen, and L. D. Kelly, of Woodbridge, and Thomas Brantingham, of South Plainfield, acted as starter.

The following is a summary of the events:

Bicycle Stolen, Part of it Found.

The bicycle that was stolen from the porch of H. E. Rider, at Netherwood, last night, was found this morning in Mr. Frazee's yard at 823 Richmond street. The seat and tires had been removed, otherwise the wheel was all right. At the time it was taken Mrs. Rider heard someone walking about the porch, but thought nothing strange of it until the wheel was missed later. The police have no knowledge as to who committed the deed.

A New Letter Box.

A new and large-sized mail box has been placed at the corner of Park avenue and Front street by the City National Bank, where it will be a great convenience to all the merchants and business men in the vicinity.

A FRIGHTFUL DISASTER

The New York and Boston Express Plunges Into the Hudson.

OVER TWENTY LIVES LOST

Supposed Landslide Throws the Engine and Five Cars from the New York Central Tracks—Imprisoned Passengers Drowned.

Nineteen lives were lost early yesterday morning in the worst disaster that ever has happened on the New York Central Railroad.

The Buffalo and New York special, which left Buffalo at 7 o'clock Saturday night and Albany at 3.15 o'clock yesterday morning, jumped from the tracks into the Hudson River, two miles below Garrisons station.

The train consisted of a locomotive, a combination baggage and smoking car, one day coach and six sleeping cars.

There were 110 persons on board. Sixty-eight passengers were in the sleeping cars and twenty-eight in the smoker and day coach. The train's crew made up the rest. Three rear sleepers were left on the tracks, as the coupling broke which connected them with the forward portion of the train.

The accident was due to the giving way of the three-foot retaining wall on the river bank. The two railroad tracks run at that point close to the water.

High tides and the action of the water had caused a landslide. Tons of rock and the steel rails themselves had slid into the river.

Scenes of indescribable excitement followed. Sleeping passengers were awakened to find themselves submerged in water. Most of the deaths were due to drowning. The engine itself sank fifty feet into the Hudson.

There were many thrilling rescues and many instances of personal bravery and heroism.

Besides the lives that were lost there were scores of injured.

DEAD.

WILLIAMS, SAMUEL, Buffalo, N. Y.
Two unknown women, believed to be mother and daughter.
Eight Chinamen.

The list of injured number twenty-five or more, several of whom will die.

New York, Oct. 25.—The New York and Boston express train on the New York Central & Hudson River road, which was due to arrive in this city at 6.30 o'clock yesterday morning, was thrown from the tracks into the river at a point about one and one-half miles below Garrisons station about 5.40. All save two cars left the track.

The engine, a combination baggage and express car, a smoker, two ordinary coaches and four sleepers made up the heavy train.

Cars in Fifty Feet of Water.

Of these the engine and the two forward cars were submerged and utterly wrecked in fifty feet of water. Shattered parts of them such as were not sunk by the weight of the iron trucks floated up the river with the tide. The smoker and two coaches were carried some distance along shore and then moored to the bank.

Four sleeping cars went into the river, but with their shoreward windows out of the water. From these many of the passengers escaped.

The train was running on the schedule of another, which should have left Buffalo in advance of it, but was held to wait for the Western connections. Engineer Foyle pulled out of Albany on time at 3.15 and passed through Garrisons also on time at 5.37.

The conductor, E. O. Parrish, who escaped uninjured, says that when the train had left Garrisons about a mile and a half behind the tracks seemed to fall out from under the train entirely, and it shot into the air with a terrific noise. The next instant it went into the river in ruins.

Early as it was, people gathered hurriedly from the surrounding neighborhood and began at once the work of helping out the passengers, who struggled from the sleeping cars.

A number of surgeons were summoned from the hospitals of Poughkeepsie and Fishkill, and word was telegraphed to the Grand Central Depot for aid. A wrecking train consisting of an engine and two cars was sent up.

The news of the accident was first received at the Grand Central Station at 6.50 o'clock. It was immediately transmitted to the officers of the road, and shortly after 7 o'clock President Depew, Vice-President H. Walter Webb and General Manager Van Etten arrived at the station. A special train was immediately ordered, and D. V. McCoy, superintendent of the Harlem division, was placed in charge of it. At 12.40 o'clock another special train was dispatched to the scene of the accident. The latter train was equipped with wrecking apparatus and divers. The first special carried a number of physicians. Before the first special reached the scene, however, arrangements had been made to bring the survivors to this city on a train made up of the two sleepers that did not leave the track.

Injured Taken to Hospitals.

Twenty-six persons, removed from the sleeping cars, were taken to the Poughkeepsie and Fishkill hospitals. Many of them were well-nigh overcome by their struggle with the water, and others bruised and battered by being hurled against the sides of the cars.

From the sleepers all were finally rescued. Of how many went down in the smoker, which lies fifty feet under water and heaped in a fearful wreck, no exact estimate is made.

There were, Conductor Parrish says, about fifteen or twenty Chinamen on board, who had apparently been smuggled into New York over the Canadian border and come down from some place in the Adirondacks.

Most of them must have been in the smoking car. None of them, so far as is known, escaped. Not one of them has been seen since the crash.

The shrieks of those who were in the coaches that remained on the bank were plainly heard at Highland Falls.

The train was known as the New York and Boston express, and leaves Chicago at 8.45 p. m. It is due in New York at 6.30 a. m. It has connections with Toledo, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Buffalo and Boston, and stops at Rome, Utica, Albany and Poughkeepsie.

When the engine and cars tumbled into the river two of them broke apart and floated with the tide towards Highlands.

The screams and noise of the train as it plunged into the water attracted the lookout on E. Bennett's yacht Trophy, which lay opposite Morgan's Landing. He went to the rescue. One man was picked up near the wreck. He breathed as he was lifted on board, but died a moment later.

Women Who Escaped Death.

Seven women and two men were brought into the Grand Central Depot on a train which arrived at 11 o'clock. All of them were in an undressed state and when taken from the train they had to be wrapped in blankets and taken to the Murray Hill Hotel in cabs. They were said to be the only persons who were in the front sleeper.

The nine persons who were taken to the hotel were all in a highly nervous state. All of them had been in the water and all had had narrow escapes from death either by drowning or by being ground to pieces under the train. Several of the women were bruised and cut about their bodies and faces, and both of the men were hurt.

The survivors who were taken to the hotel were J. M. Acton and wife, of White Plains; W. S. Baldwin, of Buffalo; I. B. Littlefield, of Buffalo; Anna M. Nexson, of Evansville, Ind.; C. F. Mann, of New York City; J. Van Houten, of Paterson; T. Mutter, of Brooklyn; Dow Clock and his son Chester, of Sayville, L. I., and Frank J. Degan, of Buffalo. After being clothed and getting something to eat they began leaving the hotel for their various destinations, and last evening Mr. Mann and Mr. Clock and the latter's son were the only ones left there.

According to the statement given out by the station agent who had talked to one of the men the train was bowling along at a high rate of speed. The passengers had few of them arisen, when there were three distinct jars.

Then the coach suddenly plunged forward and instantly turned almost on end. The passengers were thrown from their berths and fell to the floor, which was already covered with water. The water rose higher, and the frightened men and women ran towards the high part of the coach and made for the windows in the rear drawing room. The glass windows were quickly broken and they climbed out to the ground.

Several of the women were faint from cold and fright. They were unable to climb from the car, and men went to their assistance and pushed their bodies through the windows, jagging their flesh on the broken glass. When the last woman was taken from the coach she was standing in water up to her waist and men were climbing to the railings at the tops of the berths. So fast did the water raise in the coach that the window from which the imprisoned men and women were being taken was fast being submerged.

Where the Accident Occurred.

The spot where the accident occurred is a mile and a half from Garrisons and about two miles from Highlands, the first station below Garrisons. The road between the two stations is pretty crooked, but at this spot midway between there is a level stretch of nearly half a mile. The road runs close beside the river, the view of which is unobstructed. On the land side the Fishkill Mountains tower up. The road is double tracked along there, and most of it is on made ground. Between the rails and the river there is a distance of about sixteen feet, and the outer edge of this made land is a stone wall three feet thick.

The Northern express passed over this straight piece of track at a forty-mile-an-hour gait eleven minutes before the Buffalo special reached there. There was no indication then of danger and nothing to attract the attention of any member of the train crew that might have enabled them to send back warning that would have averted the accident. The special came along at the same gait. It was just a few minutes before 6 o'clock when it reached the point in the road where the accident happened.

There were probably only three men in the world who could have told just what happened and how. These three men are Engineer Foyle, Fireman Thomas, and a young man of the name of McKay, an officiat of the Wagner company, who was riding in the engine with them, and they, it is supposed, are at the bottom of the river. From the survivors of the wreck, including the three or four persons on the train who were awake at the time of the accident, this story is gathered:

Three Blasts of the Whistle.

There were three blasts of the whistle. A moment later there was a sudden jar, as though the engineer had suddenly applied the brakes. The train seemed to slow up. Then there was a jerk, as though the engineer had opened the throttle again and started the train at greater speed; then a third shock, not very great, but sufficient for those who were awake to notice it and remember it after the accident. Then came a fall. It was as if the bottom had dropped out of things. One man, telling of it afterward, said it felt "just as if we were in an elevator and the rope broke and let us down." Then came a final shock and the crashing of wood and the shrieks of people awakened from their sleep and crying wild-

Miss Nellie Rockfellow, of Park avenue, is entertaining her friend, Miss Potter.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent Cough Remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form.—The Banner of Liberty, Libertytown, Maryland. Those who believe chronic diarrhœa to be incurable should read what Mr. P. E. Grisham, of Gaars Mills, La., has to say on the subject, viz.: "I have been a sufferer from chronic diarrhœa ever since the war and have tried all kinds of medicines for it. At last I found a remedy that effected a cure and that was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy." This medicine can always be depended upon for colic, cholera morbus, dysentery and diarrhœa. It is pleasant to take and never fails to affect a cure. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. ly for help. For half an hour after this the screaming was kept up and there was the smashing of glass and the cutting away of woodwork as the people who had been sleeping in the cars and had not been killed forced their way out and helped their companions who had been injured.

It was just dawn. The gray light of the morning was scarcely sufficient to enable those who had got out of the wreck to see in their work of rescue. The men who were out of the cars first and who had wit enough about them to take in the scene say that ashore they saw nothing but a great hole in the embankment where the tracks had been. The engine had disappeared entirely so had the tender. Floating down the river at a distance they could see the express car, and a little behind that the roof of a day coach. There were left the combination car, smashed almost into kindling wood; the first sleeper, the Glen Alpin, almost entirely submerged; the second sleeper, the Hernes, lying over in the water at an angle of 45 degrees, both ends smashed in and half the windows broken, with the water even with the windows themselves; and the third sleeper, the Niobe, all off of the embankment and lying forward end down, that end submerged and the other standing out of the water.

On the rails left on the embankment stood the other sleepers. The people in them were just piling out. They had been terribly tossed about, but a kind Providence had saved them from the fate of their fellows. The couplings and the brake hose had broken. The passengers in the cars that did not go into the river aided in the work of rescue. It was low tide. They could wade out to two of the cars, and windows were smashed in with stones, and the people were pulled out as fast as they could be found. Some of them were up to their necks in water before they were rescued.

The third car, the Glen Alpin, had caught fire, and little jets of smoke and tongues of flame were shooting up from the part that stood above the surface of the water. But the car sank deeper and deeper, and the flames were quickly extinguished. While they were still burning ten—perhaps fifteen—of the people in the car were taken out. They were lifted through the windows. From the other cars some escaped by battering out the end doors. The passenger coach was the only one on which the Stories of Passengers.

A. Boli, Jr., of Kuttawa, Ky., was in the rear sleeper of the train when the accident occurred. Mr. Boli told graphically of the escape.

"I was in the lower berth in the sleeper when I felt a jar which awakened me. Then I felt a third jar. At the same instant I heard screams and groans. I then climbed from my berth and slipped on my clothes as quickly as possible. When I reached the ground I saw the front coach standing in the water. All except the top part of the coach was submerged. The car was almost standing on end, with the passenger end down. I saw several persons struggling in the water, and there were screams and groans as the car sunk deeper and deeper in the water.

"This car contained a number of Chinamen. I don't know how many. It was evident that the imprisoned men and women in this car were swimming at the top, and as the water came closer and closer to them, as the car gradually sunk, their cries for help were pitiful.

"Just at this time a young man, whose name I do not know, ran from one of the rear sleepers, and, seizing an axe, he plunged into the water and swam to the sinking car. He mounted the car and began to chop away the top.

"When the top gave in he reached down and pulled out a half-drowned man. Then he pulled out a second, and then a third, and then a fourth man.

"These four men were removed from the top of the car by a boat. There was man who had his arm torn out. He clung to the rock wall and cried for help. He was removed by a rowboat and was taken to the bank, where he died."

I. D. Burrows, a farmer, of Fayette, Seneca County, who was a passenger on the second sleeper, said:

"I slept with my clothes on, and was awakened by a jar, which gave me the impression that we had broken a wheel. I had been in a railroad accident before, and instantly realized that I was in another. I was near the door, and managed to get out just as the cars were sinking, and gained the roof. The other cars were floating down the stream, and the shrieks of the Chinamen and other passengers were awful. Melville Shaw, the agent of the Westcott Express Company, who was in the baggage car, succeeded in chopping his way out, and, although injured, managed to swim ashore. I stayed on top of the cars and helped to pull people out of the holes chopped in the roof by the railroad men."

I. B. Littlefield, secretary of the Buffalo division of the Wagner Palace Car Company, was a passenger in the car Glen Alpine, which was the first of the sleeping cars to go into the water. Mr. Littlefield said:

"I was awakened by the sudden jar of the train, and, knowing that we were very near the river, held myself in readiness to get out as soon as the train stopped. I was conscious of a strange sensation, as if the car was sinking, and for a moment could not imagine what was the matter. The air in the car began to get warm suddenly, and I thought the car was afire. I jumped out of my berth and found it was the water that was rising in the car and forcing the warm air upward. I was in the lower berth and opposite that occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Acton. I succeeded in getting a window open, and Mrs. Acton wanted to jump out into the river. Her husband and I restrained her, and then he climbed out of the window to the roof. I lifted Mrs. Acton out of the window, and her husband caught her by the arms and pulled her up, while I lifted her feet. There were three other women in the car, and other men were attending to getting them out."

Mr. Depew Talks of the Wreck.

Chauncey M. Depew was seen at his home, 43 West Fifty-fourth street, last evening, but could offer no explanation as to the cause of the accident.

"I cannot account for it," he said. "None of us seems to be able to fix the blame upon any one. It seems to be one of those unaccountable accidents or possibly the work of miscreants. There has never been any trouble on that piece of track since it was built, forty-five years ago. As the roadbed was built in the river by casing in rock the catastrophe might be ascribable to some natural disintegration of the foundation. Perhaps the embankment did not give way at all, however, and the accident might have been caused by a broken axle. Or, again, some tramp might have loosened a rail or placed a stick of dynamite on the tracks for the accomplishment of any of several purposes. If the road bed sank it must have done so suddenly, as the engineer would undoubtedly have seen any depression in the rails and given an alarm.

"The Atlantic express passed over the track fifty minutes before the accident occurred. The fast mail went north thirty-one minutes before the wreck. If there had been anything at all wrong with the roadbed then it could surely have been noticed. What makes the accident more inexplicable is that it occurred on a straight stretch of track, and one of the best policed sections in the United States."

WANTED $2,000,000 IN A HURRY.

Two Women Rush to England After a Fairy Fortune.

London, Oct. 25.—Another case has come to light of foolish persons in the United States being made to believe tales of wealth awaiting heirs in England. Mrs. Nolan and Mrs. Rafferty, of East Seventeenth street, New York, arrived here a fortnight ago, and called at the office of Charles Russell, son of the Lord Chief Justice, saying that they wanted to collect $2,000,000 belonging to the heirs of the O'Neal estate, adding that they wanted the money that week, so as to be able to return to New York on the steamer which brought them here.

Mr. Russell examined the documents, which showed no evidence of being of the slightest value, at the same time informing his visitors that no such sum was unclaimed in Chancery. The two women having spent all the money they had in the voyage from New York to England, Mr. Russell paid their passage back to the United States.

SURVEYS FOR THE CAPITAL.

Work Promptly Begun Under the New Architect.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 25.—Henry Ives Cobb, the architect selected to prepare the plans and superintend the erection of the new State capitol, has started the preliminary work. He had surveys made for the excavation, and to-day the Commission advertised for bids for the excavating.

As fast as the work is completed bids will be asked for the foundation and superstructure, and the work will be pushed rapidly.

Mr. Cobb says he expects to have the building ready for occupancy by the time the next Legislature meets. The architect adds that he thinks he has solved the matter of a new capitol to the satisfaction of the people.

The Commissioners are not disposed to talk of the outcome of the case before the Supreme Court.

TO PRISON FOR LIFE.

The Slayer of Postmaster Adams at White Plains Sentenced.

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Peter James, alias Eddie Jacques, who was on Saturday found guilty of murder in the second degree, was this morning sentenced to imprisonment for life.

James was accused of killing Walker B. Adams, the postmaster at Bedford Station, during a fight that followed an attempt to rob Adams' store and in which one of James' companions, John Clare, was killed, and another of the gang, John Jenkins, was fatally wounded by Adams' son, James was also badly wounded.

The sentence is more satisfactory to the Adams family than any other would have been, as they did not seek to have any more lives sacrificed in this sad affair, three having already died from their wounds.

Gen. Duffield Must Go.

Washington, Oct. 25.—The resignation of Gen. W. W. Duffield, Chief of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, has been caled for by the President. The chief was appointed to his office by President Cleveland. He is a Democrat. It is said that he would have been removed months ago but for the influence of Secretary Alger.

The leading charge against Gen. Duffield is incompetency. It is also contended that he is too old to perform such important and scientific duties.

Japan Appeals to England.

London, Oct. 25.—The assertion is made upon diplomatic authority that Japan has appealed to the good offices of England to support certain of her claims in connection with the annexation of Hawaii to the United States, and that Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Ambassador at Washington, has been instructed to broach the matter to the American Government.

President Diaz's Son to Be Married.

City of Mexico, Oct. 25.—The official announcement of the wedding on Nov. 25 of Capt. Porfirio Diaz, son of President Diaz, and Miss Luisa Ralgosa, a young lady of a highly respected family of this city, has just been made. Capt. Diaz returned recently from a long sojourn in France, where he pursued his military studies.

AN EXPERIENCE IN TEMPERANCE

The one exciting feature of the convention of the Synod of Presbyterian churches held in this city last week was the discussion concerning the temperance resolutions which were directed at Princeton University. The agitation in this direction made a timely topic for Rev. A. A. Murphy, a Presbyterian clergyman of New Brunswick, and last evening he delivered a sermon in defence of Dr. Shields, who in company with Former President Cleveland, signed an application for a liquor license for Princeton Inn.

He said that from the criticism which the affair has aroused one might think that the University was engaged in the sale of liquor. This was not the case. Princeton Inn was simply an experiment, an honest-hearted one, in behalf of temperance. In the old days the college students patronized the saloons and drank in their rooms They went to New York and resorted to all sorts of methods to obtain drink. All efforts to stop drinking had failed. If drinking existed and must exist, it was best it should be openly. None of the younger students could obtain beer or anything intoxicating in the Inn. Those promoting the cause of temperance deserved credit for the purity of their motive in taking up the matter. Much had been made of the fact that one of the signers was a prominent Presbyterian minister and a member of the faculty. There was no law which would prevent a minister acting as he pleased as an American citizen. Some of the criticism, he said, was caused by jealousy of Princeton University.

There is only one way to consider the exciting turn of affairs that was enacted between Bound Brook and Somerville yesterday in the determination of the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company to gain possession of the right of way over a disputed piece of territory, and that is the utter condemnation of such extraordinary tactics. The defiance of the law was so open and insistent on the part of the invading army of workmen—mere tools in the hands of men whose particular actions in this instance bordered very closely to anarchy—that no law respecting citizen can passively condone such flagrant usurpation of constituted processes, resulting in temporarily acquiring what is only to be finally secured through the regular channels of administrative government.

The New York Central Railroad is recognized as being one of the most carefully operated roads in the country, but yet its fate has been to suffer two of the worst accidents that have had horrifying details in recent years. Its chances of accident are considered to be reduced to the minimum, but with all the millions of dollars spent in adopting inventions to gain this reputation the crumbling particle of earth that held a massive rock was, in this case, as if those millions had never been applied to such purposes. It is, indeed, the small, unforseen things that count in this world.

The iceman has had his day, the coalman is having his, but the plumber is yet to make his debut. He occupies the centre of the stage with Jack Frost.

The campaign ends one week from tonight.

A Quiet Wedding.

Fred A. Dietz, of this city, and Miss Florence C. Colbrook, of New Brighton, Staten Island, were married at the Christ church rectory in New Brighton, on Saturday, October 16. The wedding was a quiet family affair, Mr. and Mrs. Dietz are now residing at the groom's home at 730 Richmond street.

EASY VICTORY SECURED

PLAINFIELD TEAM WON AT FOOTBALL FROM A NEWARK ELEVEN.

The Score Was 8 to 0 and Would Have Been Still Larger in Plainfield's Favor if it Had Not Been For the Continued Tumbling

With a team considerably weakened by the loss of several of the regular team, the football eleven of the Plainfield Athletic Association defeated the crack team from the Garfield Field Club, of Newark, on Martin common Saturday afternoon by a score of 8 to 0. That the score was not larger was due to the continual fumbling of the Plainfield backs in the first half. The home team slightly outweighed their opponents but the visitors played well together, putting up a quick, snappy game and contesting every inch of ground.

The team that represented Plainfield was considerably different from that which has heretofore lined up. Snediker and Titcomb were new candidates on the ends but both put up a creditable game. If Titcomb was twenty pounds heavier there would be no question as to his holding the position permanently. Lovell played fullback for one half and, but for several fumbles, played a steady game, hitting the line for repeated gains.

The Plainfielders defended the eastern goal and had the kickoff. The Garfields were unable to gain and kicked to Darling. The home team bucked the centre unsuccessfully and Lovell kicked out of bounds. Schuyler was on hand and fell on the ball, which immediately went back to the visitors on a fumble. Four unsuccessful attempts to gain gave Plainfield the ball and it was forced down the field great hopes being torn in the opposing line. Hallock made a gain of ten yards on the tackle play. Darling fumbled and the ball went to Garfield on their one-yard line. Fisher kicked out of bounds and Conant fell on it.

Hallock recovered the ball for Plainfield on a fumble and it was pushed down to Garfield's two-yard line, when Lovell fumbled. Plainfield gained possession of the ball on the visitor's ten-yard line, but were unable to advance it before time was called. Score: Plainfield, 0; Garfield, 0.

In the second half Freeman went behind the line, while Lovell, who was suffering with an injured ankle, took his old position at left tackle, Schuyler retiring. Mr. Meredith made a very satisfactory referee, but the umpire was an inoffensive person, who had nothing to say except when prodded on by his team. His only glaring mistake was to call a beautiful tackle of Titcomb's foul at the request of his team.

The home team played together better and the fumbling disappeared. At the start Plainfield took the aggressive and kept the ball moving down the field. Freeman ran to left end from the thirty-yard line, and was forced out of bounds one yard from Garfield's goal line. He dove through centre for a touchdown. Lovell missed the goal. Score: Plainfield, 4; Garfield, 0.

Serrell ran around right end for forty-five yards, and then Freeman went through for twenty-five more, making another touchdown. Lovell failed to kick the goal. Score: Plainfield, 8; Garfield, 0. Darkness was coming on fast and it was impossible to see who had the ball. The visitors hammered the Plainfield line and gradually advanced the ball to Plainfield's two-yard line when time was called. It was at this time that the umpire called the foul tackle by Titcomb.

A large crowd witnessed the game and cheered the good plays of both sides. The lineup:

Plainfield A. A.		Garfield F. C.
Snediker	right end	Conant
Hallock	right tackle	Price
Brown	right guard	Baldwin
Cuming	centre	Cobb
Hinrich	left guard	Fish
Schuyler, Lovell	left tackle	Wells
Waring	quarterback	Brown
Serrell	right halfback	Moore
Darby, Freeman	left halfback	Cochrane
Lovell, Darling	fullback	Fisher

Time—Two twenty-minute halves. Score—Plainfield A. A., 8; Garfield F. C., 0. Touchdowns—Freeman, 2. Goals from touchdowns—0. Referee—A. B. Meredith, of Plainfield. Umpire—L. A. Pollock, of Newark. Timekeeper—Marion S. Ackerman, of Plainfield. Linesmen—Laurens H. VanBuren and A. Willis West, of Plainfield.

Borough Built the Sidewalk

The many pedestrians who travel on Craig place have recently been profuse in their thanks to the owner of the vacant lot on that street for having at last laid a stone walk in front of his property, thus completing the only break on the street. In conversation with Mayor Wilson this morning, His Honor asked The Press to contradict the impression that has gone forth that the owner of the lot put down the walk. He says the borough was compelled to do it and charge it against the owner.

TO BUILD MARINE MACHINERY.

City Judge DeMeza Interested in the New Company.

Articles of incorporation have been filed at Trenton for a new manufacturing concern in which a prominent Plainfielder is interested. The new company is the New York Compound Engine Company, of Jersey City. The stockholders are City Judge George W. DeMeza, of this city, Frank S. Rose, George B. Townsend and Peter Snyder, of New York. The company will manufacture machinery for ships and steamers and the works will probably be established at Elizabethport on the Kills. The new compound engine, a recent invention of Mr. Rose, who was a former resident of this city, will be built. It will be used specially for steam yachts and launches. The company is capitalized at $100,000.

A meeting of the stockholders will be held at Taylor's Hotel, Jersey City, this evening, to elect officers and to decide on a location for the works.

SIXTEEN SOCIAL SOCIETY.

Novel Organization With Elevating Purpose Composed of Young Women.

If the young women of Plainfield are anything, they are original, and the organization of a society under the name of Sixteen Social Society demonstrates this fact. The society is composed, as the name signifies, of sixteen young women, and they will all hold their meeting one week from tomorrow evening at the home of one of the members. None of the sterner sex are to be allowed to attend. The organization is purely a social one, but the members will devote a portion of their time to studying favorite standard subjects. It has been considered that it would be well to have an occasional dance at which time the gentlemen friends can be present. This idea was suggested by one of the sixteen, but the question has not yet been decided

WESTFIELD

CELEBRATED A VICTORY

WESTFIELD FOOTBALL ENTHUSIASTS PARADED THE STREETS.

Accident to W. J. Arkell—News of the Churches and Other Items of a Personal and Interesting Character.

Westfield was the scene of a grand demonstration by the town's football enthusiasts on Saturday evening, in celebration of the Westfield Club eleven's victory over the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. team in the afternoon, which practically gives The Journal trophy cup to Westfield. The game was called on the North Broad street grounds, Elizabeth, at 4 o'clock. Westfield won the toss and gave Elizabeth the ball and the kickoff. The final score was 8 to 6 in Westfield's favor. Westfield is now at the head of the list in The Journal League, having won four games and lost none. The celebration in the evening took the form of a parade about the town, and an ovation to the players.

W. J. Arkell, of the Boulevard, was exercising one of his trotting horses on the county road near Roselle yesterday afternoon, when a wheel of the pneumatic sulky was broken in making a short turn, and the horse ran away, throwing its driver out. Mr. Arkell was taken in a carriage to Cranford, where he found his horse in the possession of a man who had captured it as it came into town.

The Boards of Registry of the First and Second election districts hold their last meeting tomorrow from 1 to 9 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of revising the registry lists for the approaching election.

Mrs. W. H. Davies has returned from a visit in Bayonne city.

THEATRICAL.

At Music Hall tomorrow night Donnelly and Girard, old Plainfield favorites will be on hand to make mirth for patrons of this house. They come heralded with the success they so righly deserve in this new enterprise—the spectacular operetta "The Geezer," a play in three acts, abounding in funny situations, witty sayings and new songs and catchy music. 'Tis a most enjoyable and laughable play, full two and a half hours of continuous laughter.

"Shore Acres" is the strongest play of New England life known to the stage. Its scenes are laid along the wave-washed coast of Maine and the characters engaged in unfolding its story are native to the soil. The dialogue in Mr. Herne's famous comedy abounds in homely sayings and there is much that is both humorous and pathetic. This is the sixth season for "Shore Acres" and the play promises to continue its popularity with the patrons of the drama for many years to come. A fine scenic production of Mr. Herne's masterpiece will be given at Music Hall next Friday evening.

A Y. M. C. A. FOR THE PLAINS.

To Be Established in Old Church Property by Generosity of Dr. Coles.

The old property owned by the Baptist church in Scotch Plains is about to be thoroughly renovated and put in the best of condition by Dr. Cole, who has shown the hand of generosity in so many ways, and is to be used as a Y. M. C. A. building. It will be finely equipped and the arrangement will be as perfect as possible. It was Dr. Cole's idea of interesting himself in the matter to the extent of erecting a building purposely for the young men of this vicinity, but circumstances are such that it was not deemed wise considering the size of the place. The young men will have great cause for appreciation when they are able to enjoy the above-named improvement at the hands of such a worthy and beloved philanthropist.

W. Kirby Dwight, of Princeton University, returned to Plainfield to spend Sunday at his home on Rockview avenue.

Quality and Price Are the Prizes.

What would you think of a lawyer who tried to secure clients by offering chances on a bicycle? Would you want the services of a physician who offered to give coal hods or sofa pillows to patients who employed him regularly?

We think not. We believe also that when sickness comes and you have prescriptions to be filled or need any other aid that the skilled pharmacist can render, you want perfect service at a fair price—nd nothing else.

We give such service. We are apt to save you 15 to 25 per cent on the cost—druggists that are conscientious about quality are pretty sure to be as careful about price.

Wants a Guardian Appointed.

The Chancery case of O'Connor against O'Connor will come up for hearing this afternoon before Chancellor McGill. The motion for the appointment of a guardian ad liten for the infant defendant will be argued. Hon. W. S. Stuhr, of Hoboken, is for the plaintiff and Wm. Newcorn, of this city, for the defendants.

Scrofula is the advertisement of foul blood. It may be entirely driven from the system by the faithful use of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which thoroughly purifies the blood.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy to operate. Cure indigestion, biliousness. 25c.

ALL EYES ON NEW YORK

Greatest Political Fight in the History of the Metropolis.

CHANCES FOR EVERYBODY

Van Wyck Still the Favorite and Some Reason for It—The Chances Are that Senator Platt's Ticket Will Be Third.

New York, Oct. 25.—There has never been a more interesting political fight in New York than the one over the Mayoralty now in progress. Of course, nothing on a similar scale has ever been seen. Four parties fighting to divide, say, 510,000 votes, and every one of them in the race with a favorite at 2 to 1 against the field.

The chances for victory still favor Van Wyck, but sentiment is growing for Low, and if it contiues to grow until the close of the week the result will be close. There are some 30,000 to 40,000 voters who have not made up their minds whether to vote for Low or for Tracy.

Low Gains on Van Wyck.

If Low shows a decided and unmistakable advantage over Tracy these votes will go to him in a body. The Republicans know this and are going almost to the limit of absurdity in making claims in order to hold the Republican vote.

The strength of Low among business men is indicated by a declaration in his favor signed by 141 members of the sugar and coffee trade. Mayor Strong says that a week ago he did not believe that Low could win, but that the change of sentiment in the last few days had convinced him that he had been mistaken.

As yet there is a chance against Van Wyck. It is the unknown factor in George's vote. Not that it is likely to help George, but it may defeat the favorite and elect Low.

It must be remembered that George will stand for the labor and silver men, and it is said also for the disgruntled Tammany men. The latter need not be considered, and the others cannot be counted. There is no way to count them. There is a reasonable chance that they will vote solid for George. It is also possible that they will break into smithereens and divide their vote everywhere. If they could be depended upon, the forecast of the election would be easy.

Tammany's Forces.

The fact is, the saloon vote of New York will go nearly solid for Van Wyck. In Greater New York that means about 70,000. Then there are the truck drivers and owners that have been grievously offended by Col. Waring, who has forced them to remove the trucks from the streets. They are all sure for the Democratic ticket. Col. Waring says he removed 10,000 of them, and there are 10,000 old officeholders. There are 55,000 enrolled Democratic voters in Brooklyn and then there's the floating sentimental vote. If all these can be counted upon, it means well up to 185,000 for Van Wyck. The party managers speak of 210,000.

Low's House-to-House Canvass.

The Low managers are not so well supplied with money as are the Republicans, and they have been forced to curtail some of their campaign plans. They are engaged, however, in an active house-to-house canvass, the result of which they will make public this week.

Low's election in New York City means the smash of the Republican machine. George's election means disaster to Tammany. Tracy's chances are not to be considered—at least not to-day. It is the unexpected, however, that happens, and where the factors and complications are so many one may look for most any result. Still, for the present, Tracy may be left out of view in respect to his own chances.

George Set Against Croker.

George's friends are trying to persuade him to abandon his bitter personal attack on Croker, but he will not listen to them. In response to Croker's interview, in which he called George "contemptible," George said: "In regard to Croker's answer to my attack upon his character, I simply say, 'Where did he get it?' If I were in a position to obtain legal advice I would ask how he got the money. If I am elected Mayor the first thing I will do will be to set the machinery at work to send him to the penitentiary. I will go before the grand jury if I am elected Mayor of New York. I think the coming of Carter Harrison to help Tammany is merely one corrupt machine assisting another. I think I will be elected."

The George people count on a poll that will very nearly reach the registration, which was 567,000, and look for at least 545,000 voters, of which they yield to Low, 130,000; Van Wyck, 125,000, and Tracy, 95,000, with 20,000 scattering. That will seat their man with 175,000. Their calculation on George is based on the vote of 1886, when he ran on an independent ticket. He did not have the indorsement of any national men. He had no organization; he had no money. To-day he claims as his the Chicago platform. He favors the sentiments which came near electing Bryan as President of the United States. He has the support of many national Democrats, a support which Tammany despises, and he claims that Tammany is in a state of disorder such as did not exist when Hewitt defeated their candidate. George has a good organization behind him now, there even appears to be some money and looking for a repetition of the one-third vote they see in that a secure hope of his election.

There were two political bicycle parades Saturday night. That in favor of Van Wyck was the largest, and it was estimated that 10,000 wheelmen of this city and Brooklyn were in line. That in support of Tracy was smaller and contained a number of women. Van Wyck reviewed the Democratic parade.

May Be a Special Session.

Denver, Col., Oct. 25.—A special to the News from Santa Fe, N. M., says that private information from a high authority in Washington is to the effect that President McKinley had determined to call a special session of the Senate for Nov. 15 to consider the Hawaiian annexation question.

The Tables Turned.

We have almost solved the servant girl problem.

Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.

The tables are turned, and we have turned them.

We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.

Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "

What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

SPAIN'S SAUCY REPLY

Her Note Courteously But Firmly Rejected in Substance.

TO DEAL ALONE WITH CUBA

She Refuses to Fix Any Date for Pacification, and Will Submit to No Foreign Interference Whatever—Spaniards Expecting a Row.

Madrid, Oct. 25.—The note prepared by Senor Gullon, Minister of Foreign Affairs, in reply to the note recently presented to the Duke of Tetuan, then Foreign Minister, by Gen. Woodford, the American Minister, declares that Spain has done all in her power to end the war in Cuba, proof of which is given in the great sacrifices she has made, the number of troops sent to the island, and now the granting of wide reforms, which are fully distributed.

It declares that the Government cannot admit the pretension of any foreign nation to interfere in Spanish affairs, and complains of the number of filibustering expeditions to Cuba from the United States, which, it declares, are the chief cause of the continuation of the war. It then proceeds to express the hope that respect for international rights in America will be better enforced in the future.

The note is described as being mild in tone, but energetic. In fact, it shows the resolution of the new Government to enforce respect for Spanish rights.

Senor Jose Canalejas, a leading member of the Liberal party and formerly a Minister in the Spanish Cabinet, sailed for New York from Havre today. The purpose of his trip is to visit New York and Washington with the object of studying the popular and governmental feeling in regard to Cuba, having done which he will proceed to Cuba to complete his investigations into the Cuban situation.

May Try to Search Our Ships.

Madrid, Oct. 25.—El Tempo publishes, with reserve, the announcement that the reply of the Spanish Government to the note of the United States presented by Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, the American Minister at Madrid, declares that if the United States does not stop the sailing of filibustering expeditions from American ports Spain will re-establish the right to search vessels anchoring in Cuban waters.

El Liberal thinks a rupture is possible as a result of the negotiations which are about to open between Spain and the United States, and adds: "We ought to avoid this rupture, so far as duty and honor permit; but, though the Government should act in a spirit of moderation, the nation will under no circumstances authorize the renunciation of Spanish rights."

In conclusion, El Liberal asks for the publication of the note which the United States Minister delivered to the Spanish Government, and it also asks for a statement of the policy the Government intends to pursue towards the United States.

It is asserted that the note of the Spanish Government to Gen. Woodford, the United States Minister, will probably be modified again as a result of a long conference between Senor Gullon, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Senor Moret, Minister of the Colonies.

Cuban Crisis Near.

Washington, Oct. 25.—In spite of the reticence of the State Department officials and a denial at the State Department that a message in cipher was received from Minister Woodford, there is a general feeling in official circles that the Administration is about to bring the troublesome Cuban question to a conclusion. Gossip has it that between now and the time the President starts for Ohio important information is likely to be given out regarding the attitude of the Sagasta Ministry towards the United States and the Cuban row.

New Floating Dock for Spain.

London, Oct. 25.—A second large pontoon dock is being built for the Spanish Government on the Tyne. It will be towed to Havana for the use of the Spanish warships on that station.

"IRISH JOAN OF ARC."

Made Her First Public Appearance in America Last Evening.

New York, Oct. 25.—Miss Maud Gonne, the "Irish Joan of Arc," who arrived Saturday on the Cunard steamship Lucania, made her first public appearance in America at the Grand Opera House, under the auspices of the Irish Alliance last evening. She delivered a lecture there on the "Rising of '98." William McAdoo, ex-Assistant Secretary of the Navy, presided, and a concert was given by well-known artists.

Miss Gonne is as pretty as the pictures represent her, and dresses in the latest Parisian style. She is tall, lithe, of stately tread, and has a fine, clear complexion. Her voice is musical, and she speaks with a decided French accent, in which, however, can be detected a slight trace of her native Kerry tongue.

Miss Gonne said that she had been delivering lectures in Great Britain in behalf of amnesty just prior to her sailing for America. The feeling that the Irish political prisoners now in British jails should be released was very strong in England, and she thought public sentiment would bring about this much-desired result in a little while. She said she had not yet made any definite plans in regard to her movements in this country.

Proceeds of the sale of the tickets to the concert and reception will be the first contribution which Maud Gonne will send to swell the fund for Wolf Tone's monument and the amnesty cause from hospitable America.

Killed Accidentally While Gunning.

Fall River, Mass., Oct. 25.—David St. George was shot and killed yesterday morning while gunning on a farm a short distance east of this city. He was accompanied by his brothers, Clement and Remi, and the former fired the fatal shot. Clement took his gun from his shounder to put a cartridge into the empty barrel. As he brought the gun from his shoulder, slipping the stock under his arm, the trigger of the loaded barrel caught in his coat and the shot was discharged.

GOLF.

The team match of golf between the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club and the Suburban Club, of Elizabeth, which took place last Saturday afternoon at Elizabeth, resulted in a victory for the Plainfield team. The game, sixteen holes up, was a very good one, and the superiority of the Plainfield members was clearly evidenced. Carl Walz equalled the record for the course, which was 83 strokes. Next Saturday afternoon the Town Country Club, of Elizabeth, will meet the Plainfield team in this city. Below is the score for last Saturday's game:

ANSWER PASTOR GIBSON'S LETTER.

Two Trustees Declare They Will Defend the Church Purity.

The letter read by Rev. P. S. Gibson at the prayer meeting Friday night in the Mt. Olive Baptist church, and which was printed exclusively in this paper on Saturday, did not serve to quiet the gossip about the pastor's trouble, but instead aroused some of the church officials to protest against the inferences that the pastor made in his statement. This morning a letter was received by The Press, signed by N. J. Pollard and A. S. Venable, members of the church trustees, who state that the public scandal is Rev. Mr. Gibson's own troubles and did not arise from the sermon he preached last June. They say that the members of the society to which he referred were not insulted in the least. They also state that Rev. Mr. Gibson has always been paid his salary promptly and has even been advanced $75 on it. They end their letter by declaring that they will defend the church purity.

A. Wilson, a deacon of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, desires The Press to state that his name was attached to the letter published last Saturday concerning Rev. P. S. Gibson, without his knowledge, and furthermore that he knows nothing of the affair and does not care to be identified with it.

Rev. P. S. Gibson, was absent from the city yesterday, and his pulpit was filled by Rev. Alfred Wilson in the morning, and in the evening by Rev. Mr. Bird.

Held Up and His Dog Stolen.

A man from Rahway, who would not give his name, reported to the authorities at Westfield yesterday afternoon that he had been held up near Picton station by four men who threw him from his bicycle and led away his valuable hound dog, which was tied to the rear of his wheel. He furnished a good description of the men, and stated that they were riding in a wagon when he met them.

TROLLEY CAR FOR PATROL WAGON.

Drunken Man Carried to Lockup by Way of Street Railway.

Joseph Nutall, of Stirling, accompanied by a friend from the same place, got into trouble last evening about 7 o'clock at the end of the Somerset street trolley line. Nutall was intoxicated and unable to handle the horse he was driving. In his frantic motions he ran into an electric light pole, with the result of wrecking the wagon. When Marshal George Kliner discovered the man he was informed that it was the trolley car that frightened the horse. But the marshal thought differently. Nutall was unable to walk and it was found neceessary to bring him to the lockup in a trolley car. The friend seemed to be in much better condition and was not arrested. Nutall was arraigned before Recorder Thomas this morning and he was given his choice between $5 or thirty days. He paid the fine. Nutall is employed in the silk mills at Stirling.

About Persia Customs.

The stereopticon lecture on Persia, by Eshoo Jacoboa, a native Persian who is now a student at the College for Physicians and Surgeons in New York city, at the Seventh Day Baptist church, Saturday evening, was well attended. It was given under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of that church. His lecture was a general exposition of the social, religious and political customs of the people of Persia and was very interesting.

Wagon Collided With Car.

It is a rare occurrence to see or hear of a vehicle crashing into a trolley car. It is generally a trolley car crashes into the vehicle, but this morning about 7:30 one of the Sanitary Company's long wagons filled with empty cans ran against a trolley car standing on Front street opposite Somerset street. Only a little of the paint was scratched off.

L. A. W. RIDERS PUNISHED

THREE YOUNG MEN SUSPENDED FROM TRACK PRIVILEGES.

The Outcome of False Entries Being Made in the Bicycle Races at the Somerset County Fair—Only Barred Till Dec. 11th.

The long-continued trouble between the Plainfield bicycle racers and the management of the Somerset County Fair, at Somerville, has passed from the jurisdiction of the Fair promoters and the League of American Wheelmen has taken a hand. As a result, three of Plainfield's well-known riders, Lindley M. Hillman, Charles Dodd and Peter Simmons, have been suspended from track privileges until December 11th.

It will be remembered that there was a race meet at the first day of the Somerset County Fair. Most of the races were open only to riders from Somerset county. Now a number of riders from this city heard of the meet and entered, giving their place of residence as North Plainfield, which is in Somerset county, while as a fact, they resided within the limits of the city of Plainfield. Whether they did not realize that they were endangering their amateur status, or whether they thought that the facts would not come to the knowledge of the Somerville race meet promoters, is not known, but at any rate they took part in the races as hailing from the borough of North Plainfield.

There were others beside the three already mentioned who had entered as being from North Plainfield when they, in reality, lived in Plainfield, Union county, but they did not show up for the races. It is said that they heard a rumor that there was trouble ahead for those who would ride under false colors.

The Plainfield trio won several prizes in events open only to Somerset county riders and the bona-fide Somerset county men felt sore over the fact. They did not like to see the outsiders carry away the prizes. The report spread around that there had been false entries made, and the Plainfield boys were refused their prizes.

It was rumored that the Somervillians would not let the matter drop but nothing was known definitely until the weekly bulletin of the Racing Board of the L. A. W. appeared this week and announced that Lindley M. Hillman, Peter Simmons, and Charles Dodd, of Plainfield, had all been suspended until December 11th for false entry. As none of the three are doing any riding on the track at present the suspension will really amount to nothing as far as keeping them off the track is concerned.

DEMOCRATIC ADDRESS.

Somerset County Leaders Make an Urgent Plea for Votes.

The following address was issued by the Somerset county committee on Saturday:

To the voters of the county of Somerset:

The Democratic executive committee of the county of Somerset respectfully request the assistance of all persons without regard to previous party lines in the election of their county ticket. This is neither a National or a State election.

The Assemblyman to be elected will have no vote upon National affairs, nor any vote which will in any way effect National politics.

John A. Layton, of Bernards township, is a farmer, and a vote for Mr Layton will be in the interest of the taxpayers of this county.

No United States Senator is to be elected during his term and his voice and vote will only be for the purpose of the furtherance of government in accordance with the Democratic notion as to State politics and State policy and opposed to Republican misrule; therefore, there is no reason why any and every Democratic or independent voter cannot aid in its support by his vote.

The office of Surrogate is purely ministerial—one with which no politics is connected; requiring a good accountant and an honest man. George A. Vosseller, the Democratic nominee, combines both.

We, therefore, cordially invite all persons, without regard to previous party lines, to join with us in helping elect our ticket.

By order of Somerset county Democratic executive committee,

Wm. J. Logan, Chairman.
Wm. G. Tunison, Secretary.

Clipped a Horse in Quick Time.

One of John Keiderling's friends wagered him the other day that he could not clip a horse in thirty minutes. The wager was taken up and the trial was held last week in Day's stable. Keiderling accomplished the job in the required time with seven minutes to spare. The feat was considered a remarkable one.

HAPPY NUPTIAL EVENT WITH TOUCH OF PATHOS.

WEDDED BY SIDE OF SICK MOTHER.

Elaborate Details for the Affair Were Passed Over and a Simple Ceremony Performed

In a very quiet manner Miss Mary A. Lewis, daughter of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Lewis, of this city, and Benjamin Franklin Langworthy, of Chicago, were married at the home of the bride yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Mrs. Lewis, the mother of the bride, has been ill for some time, but she was so much improved that plans had all been made for a charming home wedding at the bride's home on West Seventh street, and a reception afterwards at the home of her sister, Mrs. James F. Kimball, of Park avenue. At an early hour yesterday morning Mrs. Lewis was suddenly taken worse, and it was finally decided that all plans for any elaborate ceremony would have to be given up.

Mrs. Lewis' condition was somewhat improved during the day, but a short and simple ceremony was performed at the bedside of the mother, at which only the members of the family were present. There was no best man nor bridemaids. The father of the bride, Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, officiated. The bride wore her traveling gown. There was an informal gathering of the family after the ceremony, the proposed reception having been given up at the last moment.

Cyrus W. George, of Chicago, was to have acted in the capacity of best man while the bridemaids were to be the Misses Mabelle B. Smith, Ernestine C. Smith, Evelyn M. Lewis and Mabel Maxson. Chrysanthemums and other potted plants were used in the decoration of the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Langworthy left on an early train last evening for New York. After a wedding tour of several weeks they will take up their residence in Chicago.

LOST CONTROL OF HER WHEEL.

Miss Fuller Went Down a Hill at Frightful Speed—Thrown and Bruised.

A bicycle accident occurred on one of the hills in the neighborhood of Westfield last Thursday afternoon, that resulted in the serious injury of one of the party. Miss Fuller, of Watchung avenue, and Miss Elsie Martin, of Hillside avenue, went out in the afternoon and were riding along the road between Willow Grove and Westfield when they suddenly came to the crest of the steep hill.

Miss Fuller started down the hill before she had time to stop. When half way down and going at a frightful speed she lost control of the wheel, which had no brake, and she was thrown on the roadway with great force. She was rendered unconscious by the fall. Miss Martin had seen the danger first and had run into the gutter, where she escaped injury.

After Miss Fuller had recovered consciousness, she was assisted to a neighboring farmhouse, where her wounds were bandaged. A severe wound was cut in her forehead, in which the doctor found it necessary to take several stitches, while her nose was also cut and bruised. Her body was covered with bruises. She was taken home in a carriage.

TROLLEY WAR IS ABATED

NO EXCITING DEVELOPMENTS NOW EXPECTED BETWEEN THE RIVALS.

The Brunswick Traction Company Will Leave the Matter to the Courts, Believing They Will Finally Get the Right of Way.

Somerville and Bound Brook are quiet once more. The excitement that followed the unexpected action of the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company in laying trolley tracks connecting those towns without waiting for a franchise from the Bridgewater Township Committee, has gradually subsided. All Sunday the residents of those two places were in a state of anticipation. The news of the sudden arrival of the trainload of negroes at Finderne soon spread until a great crowd thronged to the scene of the trouble and watched the systematic working of the large gang of colored laborers.

It was supposed by many that the overhead trolley wire system was completed and that the one car ran by electric power. While the rails were all in position from the end of the old line at Finderne to the limits of the borough of Bound Brook, the trolley wires were not ready for the entire length of the road. The company was anxious to push the work forward as soon as possible, and was particularly anxious to have one of the cars in motion, no matter in what manner the power was furnished. The engine at the Finderne Hotel power-house broke down, so two of the mules of the carting department were pressed into service.

Yesterday the car continued to make its trips from the line of Somerville to the Middlebrook bridge, which marks the boundary line of the borough of Bound Brook. There was the usual crowdof sightseers at both termini but the rain soon lessened the curiosity of the crowd and, as nothing exciting happened, they departed. The fact that it was mule power and not electricity that propelled the car rather disappointed the curious ones who had intended to make the trip. There were quite a number of passengers, however, during the day.

Everybody was wondering what the Brunswick Traction Company would do and what action Sheriff Wyckoff and the township authorities would take. There was a rumor that the Brunswick Company intended to pounce upon an unprotected part of the line and tear up the rails, but no attempt at violence was made. The leaders of the Brunswick Company held a conference in Somerville yesterday afternoon but did not announce any plan of faction. In fact, the proprietors of the company are almost jubilant for they consider that the New York and Philadelphia Company has made a fatal mistake. They are confident that the township and county authorities will compel the removal of the rails and that, after such action, the township committee will utterly refuse to listen to their petitions.

What further action the New York and Philadelphia Co. contemplate is not known. It is certain, however, that they will make a desperate fight in the courts to retain the advantage they have now gained. They are completing the wiring of the roadway and expect to have the cars running by electricity today or tomorrow. The cars will continue to run until the company is forced to stop them.

Public opinion is divided in Somerville as in Bound Brook. The right of the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company to put down the track is not considered in many instances but the mere fact that it has been laid is looked upon as final. The thinking ones seem to consider the action as disastrous to the interests of the traction kings and predict that they have taken a step that cannot be recalled and will finally result in their defeat in this mammoth battle of the corporations for the key of the trolley system of the State.

Attending State Council.

Ephraim Compton and Harvey Thorn and F. A. Long, of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., went to Trenton today to attend the annual meeting of the State Council. Frank W. Bailey and G. T. Dunham, will represent Somerset Council, also of this city. The sessions will continue through tomorrow. The Funeral Benefit Association of the order will hold its sessions at the same time. Mr. Compton and Mr. Bailey are the representatives from this city.

Telephone for the 'Fest.

The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company has kindly offered to place a telephone in the Crescent Rink for the benefit of the participants of the Spielkartenfest. The telephone will be placed there at once and will remain until after the affair is over.

ANNUAL INSTITUTE OF PRIMARY TEACHERS' UNION.

Annual Reports Showed the Organization to be Prosperous—Numerous Instructive Papers Read by Active Workers.

The annual institute and second anniversary services of the Plainfield Primary Sunday-school Teachers' Union were held yesterday afternoon and evening in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church.

The membership of the union is 42, and includes the primary Sunday-school teachers of this city, Westfield, Fanwood, Washingtonville, Mount Pleasant and Willow Grove.

The president, Miss Nettie J. Beeching, of Washingtonville, presided at both sessions. In the afternoon, after a short devotional service led by the vice president, Mrs. J. A. Powlison, of this city, the secretary, Mrs. M. W. Smalley, read her annual report showing a gain of eleven in the membership of the Union during the year. The pastors of this city were thanked in the report for their assistance.

Rev. A. E. Main, D. D., pastor of the Seventh-day Baptist church, delivered a talk, entitled "A Look at the Word Through a Child's Eyes." He emphasized the fact that children cannot give attention long to any one subject, and that they must be made to see plainly, which can be done by aid of illustrations. Their eyes are apperceptive, they see new things best in the light of known things; they also see concrete things better than abstract. The speaker also dwelt upon the fact that the eyes are individual, in the sense that the scholars see things differently by reason of the wide difference in their homes, and each should be approached in the light of his home training.

Rev. E. M. Fergusson, general secretary of the State Sunday school Association made a few remarks upon "Front Line Sunday-schools," and after a vocal solo by Miss Bessie Blair, Miss Julia Shinn, of the First Baptist church, of this city, taught the lesson for next Sunday, upon the subject, "Paul's Voyage and Shipwreck," Acts 27, 13-26.

Rev. J. S. Braker, pastor of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, made an address on the subject, "The Teacher Sent of God." The teacher, he said, should be human. We can best teach by sitting beside the taught, we can best help by being the other self of the scholar. The life of the true teacher should be inspired; for such a life is the most thrillingly real medium between earth and heaven. These little lives cannot read a lesson leaf, but they know know a truth truly, so if the truth is in your life.

After the close of Mr. Braker's remarks, which were listened to with much interest, Mrs. T. H. Skillman, of New Brunswick, secretary of the State Primary Council, gave a brief account of a primary teacher's every day experiences in visiting the homes of scholars.

The afternoon session was closed with prayer by Rev. J. S. Braker.

William D. Murray, superintendent of the Sunday-school of the Crescent Avenue church, led the song service at the opening of the evening session and made an address welcoming the primary teachers to the church and showing the superiority of voluntary to enforced labor in the Lord's service.

After Mr. Murray's speech of welcome, a series of papers upon the subject "What I saw and heard at the summer school," were read by Mrs. J. N. Harris, of New Brunswick; Mrs. J. A. Powlison, Mrs. G. M. Banks, of Mount Pleasant; Miss M. C. Runyon, Mrs. W. S. Hurst, of Westfield; Miss Addie C. Lambert, of Willow Grove; Mrs. Alonzo Pettit, of Elizabeth, and Mrs. T. H. Skillman, of New Brunswick, and the president, Miss Nettie J. Beeching.

The most important and interesting event of the evening was an address upon the education of the will, delivered by Miss Margaret J. Cushman, of Newark.

How to Get Strong and Stay So.

The lecture of William Blaikie on the subject "How to get strong and how to stay so," which was given as the first in the Star course at the Y. M. C. A., last evening, was much enjoyed by a good sized audience. The lecturer told a number of anecdotes to prove that William E. Gladstone was a firm believer in systematic exercise, and attributed his vigorous old age to his regular training. George Washington, Mr. Blaikie stated, was the finest developed man of his time, physically, and to this could be attributed his fine endurance under all strains, mental as well as physical. Ericsson, the great inventor, was also a believer and a devotee of systematic exercise. The entire address was listened to closely.

NOW ON THE LAST HALF OF FIRST DECADE.

QUEEN CITY'S SIXTH BIRTHDAY.

The Auspicious Occasion Celebrated by the Odd Fellows Becoming Royal Good Fellows.

Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., of this city, celebrated its sixth anniversary last evening in a somewhat novel manner. Instead of having the usual set programme so often the rule at anniversaries, there was a variety of a pleasing nature. Charles I. Young was chairman of the committee and master of ceremonies. He welcomed the large number of people present in a happy speech, after which he introduced Grand Master P. W. Stagg, of Hackensack. This chief officer of the State body made a short address of interest. He related the many benefits to be derived from being an Odd Fellow, and also told how a person could become a member of the order. He stated that there are 249 lodges in New Jersey, and in the world a membership of 900,000.

Queen City Lodge was organized six years ago in the hall where the lodge now meets, with a membership of forty. At present the enrollment is 150, showing a steady increase since organization. The lodge is in a healthy condition financially and is progressive and prosperous. This comprised the opening exercises of the programme.

Mr. Young then introduced Councilman W. N. Runyon and George O. Stevens, who gave two of their best vocal duets. These two singers are always popular and they won additional laurels last evening. At this point the novel features of the evening commenced. It was the introduction of E. Clinton Mingua and Walter LeMain, of New York, sketch artists, with musical tendencies. They played the guitar, banjo, 'cello, violin and piano. The next number consisted of singing and dancing by the Linn sisters, of New York, who gave some clever exhibitions of their talents. They are good singers and their dancing was excellent. Miss Ella Gertrude Gustam, also of New York, appeared as a reciter and impersonator. Mr. Mingua and Mr. LeMain appeared later in the evening in a comical sketch, in which they made good use of their musical instruments. A feature of the programme was the selections by Frazee's orchestra, which interspersed the other numbers.

The committee who arranged the entertainment consists of C. I. Young, J. B. Higgins, G. Thorn, Charles DeGraw and L. DeCamp. They were loudly praised for the excellent time furnished, thus making the sixth anniversary one of the best in the history of the lodge.

BALLOT-BOXES TO BE EMPTIED.

Justice VanSyckel Orders That Keys Be Surrendered by Township Clerks.

Supreme Court Justice VanSyckle yesterday made an order compelling the election boards of the various election districts and the township clerks of Union county to surrender the keys of the ballot-boxes used at the special election on September 28th to the clerk of the Board of Freeholders of the county. The order was made on motion of W. R. Codington, representing the Board of Freeholders. The application sets forth that the law requires that the ballots shall remain in the boxes for three months after an election, but that in the present instance the ballot boxes will have to be used at the general Assembly election on November 2d, and that the ballot-boxes can only be opened by an order from the court. The order provides further that the contents of the ballot-boxes shall be preserved until further orders are made by the court.

It is said that similar applications will have to be made in each county of the State, as several of the county clerks have declined to surrender the ballot-boxes unless ordered. The duplicate keys with which all the new ballot boxes are provided have to be obtained from the various officers of the district election boards.

WEDDED EARLIER THAN ARRANGED.

Miss Mabel K. Benner and Audley J. Marsh Quietly Married.

Miss Mabel K. Benner, of Duer street, and Audley J. Marsh, of East Second street, were quietly married by Rev. J. O. McKelvey at the home of the latter on Grandview avenue, Saturday evening. The necessary witnesses were the only ones present at the ceremony.

Marsh is a painter in the employ of Marsh, Ayres & Co., the senior partner in which firm is his father. The couple have been engaged for some time and were to be married in the spring but Miss Benner's father recently married again and the daughter favored a speedy marriage. The couple have not decided on their plans for the future.

A CURFEW BELL TO TOLL?

THE TOWN IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION WANTS IT THAT WAY.

The Women Will Urge the Common Council to Pass an Ordinance to Compel Youths to be Off the Streets by 9 o'Clock.

Is Plainfield to have a curfew ordinance?

This is the question which is destined for the next few months to stare the citizens and the Common Council in the face, and which must be answered either affirmatively or negatively. The ordinance provides that at 9 o'clock every evening the curfew bell shall ring as it used to do in colonial times, and at the sound of its ringing all children under fifteen years of age must be indoors. Policemen are instructed to enforce the ordinance to the letter, and the younger generation are therefore kept closely at home after 9 o'clock in cities where the law is in effect.

The people of this city have heard of the curfew ordinance, but very few took more than a passing interest in it. The matter is now made one of interest to every Plainfielder by the action of the Women's Town Improvement Association, of this city, in taking up the ordinance and deciding to make efforts to secure its adoption by the Plainfield Common Council. This action was taken at the meeting of the association which was held in the Y. M. C. A. building this morning. The president, Mrs. Pierre Malli, and other members of the association expressed themselves as heartily in favor of the ordinance, which is spoken of by its friends as the most important municipal reform for preventing crime among youths of the present century.

The movement for the passage of curfew ordinances has met with much favor in the west, where a number of cities have adopted the law. It is now in force in Lincoln, Nebraska, in Omaha, in Levenworth, Kansas, and other cities. In the east it has not met with such favor.

A member of the Town Improvement Association when seen by a Daily Press reporter today stated that the association intends to commence its work at once in favor of the ordinance. Circulars will be distributed among citizens and especially members of the Common Council, showing the beneficial effects of the law wherever it has put into operation.

The women will now be given an opportunity to display their ability as promoters of reform legislation, and it is possible that all other questions of government, finance or tariff will be relegated to a back seat for the coming months, while the curfew fight waxes hot.

A CONTEST OF 'PHONES.

Members of Royal Arcanum Entertained in a Novel Way.

The members of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, held a novel meeting last evening which a large number enjoyed. At the last meeting of the council L. B. Bromfield, a member, who is an expert and enthusiastic operator of a gramaphone, met John Albert Pearsall, of Westfield, who is an expert on the graphaphone. Between the two there was an argument as to who had the best and most popular machine. The result was that Mr. Pearsall challenged Mr. Bromfield to a contest, to take place last evening at the meeting of the council

The contest started about 9 o'clock and lasted until nearly 11 o'clock. Both operators gave their best selections and each were encored frequently. When Regent Bullock put the question to the members at the close for a vote it was decided that Mr. Pearsall's machine was the better of the two and he was awarded the honor amid loud applause.

During the evening James Phillips and Borough Councilman Murray Burtis appeared before the graphaphone and gave some of their wit and humor, and W. E. Townsend rendered a mandolin solo, all of which were reproduced. This lodge is one of the most progressive in the city and its members are continually arranging novel entertainments for their benefit and edification. It is likely that another similar entertainment will be given at an early date.

Chief Marshal Received a Gift.

Last Saturday Chief Marshal Wilson celebrated the anniversary of his birthday, and in the evening the members of the police department called at his home and presented him with a handsome rocking chair in commemoration of the happy event. The gift was appreciated by the receiver and he thanked heartily the donors.

—A new door has been placed inside of the borough lockup and new curtains now adorn the courtroom. Other improvements will be made before long which will increase the efficiency of this institution.

ALASKAN BOUNDARY

Feeling in Washington That It Should Be Fixed.

GOLD SEEKERS ANXIOUS

The Southeastern Line, Ten Marine Leagues from the Coast, in Question—Famine and Fatal Sickness Threaten Klondike Miners.

Washington, Oct. 26.—It is believed here that in view of the great prominence Alaska has achieved owing to the recent gold discoveries and the importance of definitely fixing the boundary line between United States territory and that of the Dominion of Canada that the Senate, when it assembles in December, will take early action upon the treaty pending between Great Britain and the United States for the survey and marking of the 141st meridian. This treaty was sent to the Senate almost two years ago.

The 141st meridian marks the eastern boundary of Alaska down to within ten marine leagues of the southern coast, where the line trends to the southeast, keeping that distance from the coast. Concerning the 141st meridian there is, of course, no controversy between the United States and Great Britain, but no basis of settlement of the southeastern line has yet been reached by the two countries.

The original treaty as sent to the Senate, it is understood, was amended or proposed to be amended, by Senator Stewart so as to include the settlement of the dispute relating to the southeastern line. If such an amendment were insisted upon by the Senate, as appears not unlikely will be the case, it is not at all certain that Great Britain would at present agree to the modification. The work of adjusting the difficulties between the two countries regarding the southeastern line has not progressed for two years. In 1893 each Government appointed a commissioner to survey the territory through which this line runs, and each made topographical maps of the country, which were submitted to the respective Governments Dec. 31, 1895. These commissioners, however, had no power to propose a settlement; their work was confined strictly to furnishing information upon which subsequent negotiations could proceed. As no range of mountains runs along the coast as was assumed to be the case when the boundary line between Russia and Canada was fixed, according to the terms, the alternative proposition of a line ten marine leagues from the coast must mark the limit of United States territory. But in the determination many intricate questions are involved; whether the coast line shall be assumed to follow the sinuosities of the shore or run from headland to headland; or whether the line shall be considered to run ten marine leagues to the interior from the outer shore of the islands which form a sort of archipelago along the coast. The Government officials who have studied the question are confident that our title includes the islands and ten marine leagues of territory from the coast line with all its sinuosities.

Should Be Settled Speedily.

Washington, Oct. 26.—Representative Eddy, of Minnesota, who has just reached Washington, talks earnestly regarding the Alaska boundary line.

"A subject," he said, "which will demand attention this Winter and which should be settled, either by Congress or the State Department, is the Alaskan boundary line. This is a very serious matter, more serious than our people generally realize, I think. By next Summer there will be probably fifty thousand Americans in the Klondike region, and if something be not done meanwhile towards settling definitely the boundary question there is liable to be serious trouble.

"The Canadian Government has undertaken to tax these miners to death, and the miners will not be willing, in addition to this, to surrender to the Canadian Government 30 per cent. of the gold they gather, especially when they believe that the very field they are working is within the boundary of the United States. With 50,000 men of this character resistance means a condition of affairs alongside of which the Riel rebellion will appear trifling.

"A very intelligent man, whom I know very well, was the fourth prospector to enter the Klondike region. His properties there are of immense value, and he has brought out $200,000 in gold. He predicts that the output of gold next year will be far beyond what the most exaggerated reports indicate. This being the case, it is the duty of this Government to take steps at once to settle the boundary line between the Canadian and United States possessions. The prospectors and men who are familiar with that country claim that about half of the Klondike gold fields lie within the Alaskan boundary line and belong to the United States."

Famine and Sickness in Dawson.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 26.—Miners who arrived on the steamer Farralon from Dyea with about twenty thousand dollars in gold, and who left Dawson City about forty days ago, say that five days before they left, Hansen, manager of the Alaska Commercial Company, arrived in a canoe and said no more food could get up the river. Fully four hundred miners at once prepared to leave, but the Citizens' Committee refused to allow them sufficient provisions for the journey, so they had to remain and share in the privations at Dawson.

The miners report that a mysterious disease is carrying off about five men daily. Twenty-four hours after the victim is attacked he turns black from waist to throat, and two days later, in most cases, is dead.

Hon. Clifford Lifton, Minister of Interior, started yesterday over the Dyea trail, accompanied by Maj. Walsh, the administrator of Klondike district, mounted police and other officials. Mr. Lifton will return by the Skaguay trail.

Mr. Pullman's Will.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—The will of George M. Pullman will be filed for probate to-day. The Chronicle says that the will bequeaths the bulk of his fortune to his widow. His daughters are beneficiaries, and his sons will receive a moderate income, but nothing direct. They must work out a period of probation.

JAPAN AND HAWAII AGREE.

The Critical Point in the Negotiations Passed.

Washington, Oct. 26.—News has been received here that the differences between Hawaii and Japan, which threatened to involve the United States on account of the negotiation of the treaty for the annexation of the islands, have reached a point where a satisfactory settlement is in sight. The critical stage in the proceedings has passed and the Honolulu and Tokio Governments are now engaged in an amicable correspondence, free from the tinge of bitterness which characterized previous diplomatic notes.

At one time there was every reason to fear that Japan would not agree to a settlement by arbitration, but she has disappointed those enemies of annexation who hoped that trouble would break out between the two countries by acquiescing in the proposition of Hawaii, said to have been made at the suggestion of this country, to submit the questions at issue to arbitration.

L. M. Thurston, former Minister of Hawaii to the United States and one of the Commissiners sent to this country to negotiate an annexation treaty, has returned to Washington from a lecturing tour. He says that Japan's latest note to Hawaii on the subject of the differences between them was most conciliatory and cordial, and he expected the matter to come to a head in a short time.

James B. Castle has been appointed Secretary of the Hawaiian Legation in Washington.

WARNING TO CATHOLICS.

Archbishop Cleary Forbids Them to Attend Non-Catholic Marriages.

Ottawa, Oct. 26.—Archbishop Cleary has created a sensation by his proclamation, in which he says:

"We hereby declare, with all the authority of the Church vested in us as Archbishop of Kingston and your chief pastor, that any Catholic in our metropolitan city or diocese who shall hereafter presume to enter any non-Catholic edifice to assist at what is termed a marriage ceremony or service for the dead, even though he should not take any active part in the performance, renders himself guilty of mortal sin by dishonoring the religion of his baptism and defying the laws of the Holy Church and giving public scandal before society. We furthermore reserve to ourselves alone the power to absolve from this heinous sin."

The occasion for this mandate was that of a recent marriage in a Congregational Church at which Catholics were witnesses. His Grace also reprimanded Catholics who attend a service for the dead in non-Catholic churches, in view of the fact that the performance is known and proclaimed by its participants as of no service to the dead.

New York, Oct. 26.—The will of Mrs. Caroline Talman, which was filed in the Surrogate's office yesterday, gives to the trustees of the estate and property of the Diocesan Convention of New York, $55,000; to the Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine, in the city of New York, $22,000; to the Home for Incurables of New York City, $5,000; to the Corporation for the Relief of the Widows and Children of the Clergymen of the Protestant Episcopal Church, $5,000; to the Sisterhood of St. Mary of the Diocese of New York, $5,000; the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, $10,000; the Home for Aged Couples of New York City, $2,000, and many other bequests.

Smuggling Potatoes.

Waterville, Me., Oct. 26.—Deputy Collector Whitney, of Fort Fairfield, seized on Saturday morning 1,000 barrels of potatoes in the warehouse of P. H. Reed, which had been smuggled from the New Brunswick side. This seizure was the result of investigations of the Deputy Collector, who had known that potatoes were being brought across the line without the payment of the necessary 25 cents a bushel duty on them. Owing to the short crop of potatoes in Aroostock County this year the smuggling is very much worse than before. Reed is the largest potato buyer in Maine and has alweys bought largely from the New Brunswick farmers.

Neighbors Could Not Bear to Look Upon Her—A Grand, Complete Cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla After Others Failed.

"I was taken with neuralgia in my head and eyes. Not long after this, a scrofula sore appeared on my left cheek, extending from my upper lip to my eye. Other sores came on my neck and on my right arm and one of my limbs. They were very troublesome and painful and soon became great running sores. My face looked so bad that some of my neighbors could not bear to look at me and advised me to wear a bandage, but I feared this would irritate the sore and make it worse. So I Could Not Hide the Sores.

My niece, who was familiar with a case similar to mine, which had been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, urged me to try it. Finally I was persuaded to do so, and in a short time I saw it was helping me. The sores began to heal and the neuralgia in my head was better. In a few months the sores on my arms and limbs all healed; those on my neck gradually disappeared and now they are all gone. I have never had any symptom of scrofula since. One large scar on my right arm is all the sign that remains of my terrible affliction. The neuralgia is also cured." Mrs. J. M. HATCH, Etna, New Hampshire.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. DEATH LIST NINETEEN

All the Wreck Victims Apparently Accounted for.

THE BURIED ENGINE FOUND

But th Bodies of the Three Men Supposed to Have Gone Down with It Not Discovered—Identifying the Victims.

New York, Oct. 26.—So far it is known that nineteen persons lost their lives in the plunge of the Buffalo Special into the Hudson River at Garrison's. All save four have been identified. Twenty-five passengers, whose identity has been established, were injured more or less seriously. Two persons supposed to have been on the train are still missing.

The railroad officers declare that the list of killed cannot possibly number more than nineteen. Others say twenty-one have died, while still others, who were on the scene at the time, contend that perhaps thirty bodies will eventually be recovered from the water. The disaster grows more horrible as time passes.

The Death List.

The death list is made up almost entirely of passengers who were in the combination car and day coach, which was nearest the engine and plunged with it deeper into the river than did the sleeping coaches that followed. Eight of these were Chinamen. The death list is as follows:

WILLIAMS, SAMUEL, 751 Best street, Buffalo.
BECHER, WILLIAM SCHENCHEN, 83 South Thirteenth street, Newark, N. J.
FOYLE, J., egineer of train, of East Albany.
GREER, H. A. (or E. A. GREENE), architect, of Chicago.
M'KAY, A. G., of 29 East 112th street, private secretary to General Supt. E. Van Etten, of New York Central (probably).
MEYERS, W. H. G., of Passaic, N. J.
RILEY, THOMAS, of St. Louis, Mo.
TAGUNA, GIUSEPPE, of Albion, N. Y.
THOMAS, J., fireman of train, of East Albany.
LINDSMAN, MRS. ROBERT, Utica, N. Y.
Woman, unidentified, from Hudson, N. Y.
Eight Chinamen, of whom six were identified.

The Injured.

The following is as complete a list of the injured as can be obtained:

BUCHANAN, CHARLES, motorman; broken arm; taken to Flower Hospital.
DEGAN, PATRICK, bruised and shaken; taken to his home, 200 West Forty-first street, New York.
FLOOD, JOHN, laborer, of Stockport, N. Y.; cut and bruised and suffered from exposure; taken to Flower Hospital.
PARSONS, TRUMAN, 105 Hancock street, Brooklyn; cut and bruised about body and legs; taken home in a carriage.
RYAN, JOHN E., 26 years old and married, of Jersey City, N. J., employed by Stein & Co., druggists; badly bruised, left knee cut and three fingers of his left hand severed; Peekskill Hospital.
MORGAN, CLARENCE, 28 years old, of New York; left shoulder blade broken; employed in the Comptroller's office of the Central Railroad; Peekskill Hospital.
Three Chinamen, in Peekskill Hospital.

The accident was caused by the track having been undermined by the two-days unusually high tide. Within less than an hour another fast train had passed over the same place on the same track. That train was the New York and Boston express, known to railroad men as train No. 28. No one on that train had noticed anything unusual about the stability of the track.

A gang of several hundred men has been at work ever since the fatal accident occurred raising the cars, repairing the track and searching for the dead.

No Bodies in the Locomotive.

The locomotive was finally located yesterday afternoon. The diver who went down, however, found no bodies in or about it. It was therefore thought probable that they had floated away and would not be recovered for some time. The locomotive was found in about sixty feet of water. It was about thirty feet off shore, and about forty yards to the south of the spot where the accident occurred. It was just to the front of the second Wagner car which went into the river.

The right side of the cab, the engineer's side, was torn away, and it is probable that the bodies of the engineer, the fireman and young McKay floated out through the aperture. At any rate, the diver, who stayed down where the locomotive was found for nearly half an hour, could after a thorough search find no trace of the bodies. The locomotive is so badly wrecked that it is doubtful if any attempt will be made to raise it.

W. D. Otis, general roadmaster of the New York Central, after looking over the situation, said: "Until the engine has been raised and examined it will be impossible to tell exactly what caused the accid[ent]. If a broken axle is discovered it w[ill] easy to account for the manner i[n] ich the ground is torn up. If a br[oken] axle should let down a forty-ton e[n]ing at the rate of forty miles an [hour] with nine heavy cars behind it the momentum would be enough to plow up a hole as large as this one. The track is perfectly straight, is from three to four yards from the river bank, and a train of equal magnitude went over the identical track with fifty minutes previous. Whatever occurred must have occurred suddenly."

Mr. Otis was not inclined to believe that any one had tampered with the tracks by means of explosives. Nevertheless, W. A. Humphrey, chief detective of the Vanderbilt system, was on the ground early with nine men. Their main work seemed to be in assisting the Wagner people to recover the valuables from the sleepers. But two of the detectives were scouring the vicinity of the wreck for some clew as to the use of explosives.

It is said by experts that the recent high tides had weakened and insidiously washed away the readbed. But whatever the cause may have been, the disastrous result is known, though it is feared not in full as yet.

Perhaps the most marvelous of all things connected with this accident is that so many escaped, and that only twenty persons, so far as known, perished in the quiet waters of the Hudson, which for the time being were transformed into a seething cauldron, where shrieking men and women fiercely struggled in the darkness amid the swishing fragments of cars, dying fires of timber and hissing of the steam.

If there are any more bodies in the wreck or in the river they are believed to be in the day coach, which lies in water up to its roof off King dock. The diver who took six bodies out of this car said he could find no more. Many believe, however, that more bodies will be found in this car, as passengers and the crew claim at least twelve persons perished in it.

The spot where the wreck occurred is one that has given the railroad authorities a great deal of trouble and anxiety in the past on account of the tendency of the made ground under the tracks to wash out. That is just what it did Sunday, and to this fact is attributed the terrible disaster.

President Chauncey M. Depew, of the New York Central, is anxious to ascertain the exact cause of the catastrophe, and at his request the State Board of Railroad Commissioners will begin an inquiry in New York City to-day into all the circumstances connected with the accident.

Cause of the Accident.

President Depew, at his office in the Grand Central Station, received no intelligence yesterday from the scene of the wreck which inclined him to alter his opinion, formed on Sunday, that no human foresight could have prevented the Garrison's catastrophe. As to the cause of wreck he had no opinion. All was conjecture. He referred again to the conjecture. He referred again to the possibility that an axle of the engine had broken and the force of the impact driven out the embankment.

Ashley W. Cole, chairman of the State Railroad Commission, thinks that after the engine is raised a commission of civil engineers may be able to determine the cause of the accident. But he admits that it may be impossible to tell whether a broken axle was in itself the cause or a result of the accident.

Dr. Depew commented on the added misfortune attendant upon the loss of the engineer's life, in that only the engineer, if any one, could tell what really happened to his train. It had been thought that the bodies of the engineer and fireman and Stenographer McKay, of General Superintendent Van Etten's office, would be found with the engine. When the engine was located yesterday and none of the bodies was found with it, it became clear that the men must have jumped or were hurled out of the cab when the locomotive went over. That it was found seventy-five feet south of the place where it left the track and fifty feet out in the river, seemed to show somewhat the terrific force which the train under way represented, and was cited by Dr. Depew as an indication of what damage to the embankment would have been done if an axle of the engine had broken.

CURING CONSUMPTION.

Faculty of Cooper Medical College Say a Remedy Has Been Found.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 26.—Much discussion has been caused here by the fact that the faculty of Cooper Medical College declared that sixteen patients have been saved from consumption by Dr. Joseph O. Hirschfelder's remedy. This cure is oxtuberculine, made from veal which has been saturated with tuberculine.

Hirschfelder has been experimenting three years to secure this lymph.

Among the patients whom he has cured is Thomas H. Williams, Jr., the wealthy horse-breeder. All the other patients were carefully examined and all were declared cured. Some were far advanced in the disease when they began the treatment. Oxtuberculine is injected, and soon restores vitality and heals the lungs.

SLIGHT OF THE CZAR

Germans Excited Over the Emperor's Refusal to Receive the Grand Duke.

Berlin, Oct. 26.—A great sensation has been caused in court, aristocratic and official circles here by the refusal of the Czar on Saturday to receive the Grand Duke and Duchess of Baden, who had proposed to travel to Darmstadt for that purpose.

The official explanation of the Czar's action is that his time is fully engaged up to the time of his departure for Russia, but it is pointed out that he recieved Prince Hohenlohe Sunday afternoon, the day following that of the proposed visit of the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess, and accentuated the incident by entertaining them at dinner, although the Chancellor and his wife were to start and did leave for Berlin immediately after dining.

Veteran Engraver Dead.

Philadelphia, Oct. 26.—John Sartain, famous as an artist and engraver, died at the home of his daughter in this city early yesterday at the age of 89 years. He had been ill for several weeks.

Mr. Sartain was one of the oldest artists and steel engravers in this country. He introduced mezzotint engraving in America, and was the engraver of many noted pictures. He was for twenty-five years a director of the Academy of Fine Arts in this city, and was one of the projectors of the School of Design for Women, of which his daughter, Emily Sartain, is the [head].

Mr. Sartain was born in Sweden on Oct. 24, 1808, and was educated as a line engraver and miniature painter. He came to this country in early manhood.

THE STING OF CRITICISM.

The sting of criticism of the Presbyterian church leaders directed at Rev. Charles R. Shields, one of the signers of the now famous Princeton Inn license application, has been too much for the latter to stand, and yesterday he announced his intention of separating himself from the Presbyterian church with the least possible delay. He determines the actions of certain Presbyteries and Synods to be unjust and defamatory to his good name. This denunciation, of course, applies to the Synodical convention held in this city last week.

A Birmingham clergyman with a statistical mind and philanthropic impulses has been making some calculations designed to show how wilful waste at English weddings squandered supplies that might have relieved woeful want in India during the famine. There are over 20,000 churches in England and therefore the clerical mathematician argues that about 40,000 pounds of rice must be thrown away every week, or over 900 tons a year, counting no weddings at all during Lent. Sent to India this rice would have relieved thousands of starving people.

Gov. Griggs did not issue the proclamation pronouncing the anti gambling and ad interim amendments to be a part of the Constitution. He agreed last Monday to hold it back a week, and from this it was taken that he would issue the proclamation yesterday. His failure to do so surprised many. It is believed he will issue it today.

One of the most devoted Presbyterians in Plainfield has written a letter to The Press in answer to the stand taken by the New Brunswick clergyman with reference to the Princeton Inn. It will be published tomorrow.

A demonstration that might be observed with elevating effect in every community was recently held in Brooklyn, when 9,000 men appeared in a parade as a public protest against the use of profanity.

MISCHIEF MADE BY LAW

PASTOR RICHARDSON'S HOT SHOT FOR LICENSE LAWS.

The Traffic, He Says, Lays a Heavy Hand on all Interests and Deserves to be Stamped Out by the Efforts of all Christians.

Despite the rain Sunday night a large congregation heard Pastor Richardson preach from the text, "Shall the throne of iniquity have fellowship with Thee, which frameth mischief by a law." Psalm 94:20. After an exposition of the text, he said:

"If any subject ever called for direct and strenuous legislation — if any menace to the citizen ever deserved to be suppressed by law, then does this traffic which lays a heavy hand on all our interests. Intemperance is an injury to the interests of the law abiding citizen, voluntarily committed, and therefore the act of the aggressor is a crime against him—and yet there is no redress. If a man goes into a saloon and comes out under the influence of a liquor which sends him home to murder his wife, you hang him or imprison him, while the rum seller who made him a fiend is not disturbed—he is licensed. He had authority to deal out the oxygen of murder. If an honest mechanic is lured into one of these saloons and is there filled with liquor which sends him reeling off the dock or under the railway train—the State has lost a citizen—the family a father—but who remunerates the community for the loss of one who might have borne a pro-rata share of the municipal burdens? Who pays the family for their loss? Who punishes the rumdealer for killing a man? Ah, let us see: the county will help the family if they will go to the poor-house: that means an additional tax on your pocketbook and mine: but you can't touch the rumseller; he made that family poor, and you can't get a cent from him outside his ordinary taxes towards their support; he is licensed.

"The license law actually gives the rumseller the opportunity to make all the money he can out of the inebriate, and then taxes you and me to support the victims of the inebriate's appetite, and the dramseller's cupidity—and yet good honest men vote license. I say license laws are an injustice to the citizen. Here are a few facts which inform us how that law works. If a man steals my dog, the law will try him as a thief. If a person robs me of my horse, the law will put detectives on his track, and trace him, and imprison him, and restore to me my property. If a libertine enters my home, and ruins my child, the law will step in and claim this wretch and lay a heavy penalty upon him. But as the liquor law now stands, the dog is of more consequence than my boy; the horse is of more consequence than the honor of my home. The present law allows the liquor dealer to make my boy a drunkard and disgrace me—he can entice and ruin my father and take away my patrimony—he can come and lead my wife into intoxication and deprive me of my happiness and home—he is allowed to poison and degrade my dear ones before my eyes—and looking upon them dying inch by inch, I may rush to his saloon and cry for vengeance, and the wretch replies:—'Don't you dare touch me, I'm licensed.' I fly to the officers of the government I help support, and am laughed at. The government will not help me—it has licensed the liquor dealer—I cannot touch him. Broken hearted, insulted, robbed, made desolate, I find that the license law protects the robber of my all, while he stripes and damns me—beautiful justice!

"If a man excavates a portion of the public highway and leaves it so exposed that an unwary traveller falls into it and is injured, the law forces that man to remuneration. An apothecary heedlessly reads the prescription sent from the physician and sends back to the patient a poison that produces death. Show this to a jury and they will bring in a verdict of manslaughter. There is not a danger here specified but is paralleled and outdone by intemperance. Yet knowing that every glass of liquor is a menace—that every dead drunkard is a murder—that every liquor saloon is a seed-pot of vice—knowing that thousands under the influence of intoxicating liquor will cheat and rob, and brutally ill-treat the innocent—yet all this is licensed! And there is really no redress for any damage one may receive from the effects of the license law. It is an eternal injustice to protect the rumseller at the cost of the good citizen, and defenseless women and children. O how can the children of the living God have fellowship with the throne of iniquity which frameth mischief by a law?"

COUNTY TROLLEY ROAD

Citizens' Committee Rode Over the Route and Was Much Pleased.

The committee of eleven appointed by Chairman West in pursuance of a resolution passed at the citizens' meeting recently held in the court house, went over the entire route from Elizabeth to Plainfield Friday in carriages. They stopped at numerous places along the line and discussed the practical features of the plan at length. The committee seemed to be much pleased with their visit, and will meet again this evening. The meeting to hear their report will be held about the middle of November.

A Union Service.

A union Sunday-school service of the schools of the Baptist, Methodist and Episcopal churches, of Fanwood, will be held at All Saints church, Scotch Plains, next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The programme will consist of addresses by George E. Hall and Silas McBee, of Fanwood; George H. Krause, of Roselle, and Rev. Dr. Glazebrook, of Elizabeth. Rev. Dr. Braker, of the Baptist church; Rev. Mr. Winans, of the Methodist church, and Rev. Mr. True, of the Episcopal church, will also take part in the service. An offering will be taken for the Union Sunday-school Union.

DESPONDENT, HE ENDED HIS LIFE.

William Muller, a Clerk for the Keer & Martin Cycle Company, Commits Suicide.

William Muller, who has for the last year taken charge of the East Orange store of the Keer & Martin Cycle Company, committed suicide by taking poison last Saturday evening near Eagle Rock. He was one of the first wheelmen of that region and was well known to Messrs. Martin & Keer for many years. He has been unfortunate in business and was very despondent over the fact that his friends were rising to positions of fame and fortune while he remained merely a clerk. He was trusted by his employers who consider that they have lost a faithful assistant. His relatives live in Hamburg, Germany. He was a single man, forty-one years of age.

To Travel Overland.

George R. Rockfellow, of Park avenue, and William N. Flanders, of Fanwood, started today for a drive through the south to be gone until April 1st. They took their cook and all the necessary kitchen utensils with them and will camp out along the road as they go.

Warerooms open till nine on Saturday evening.

At New Market on Sunday last occurred the death of Ludlow Squiers, one of the oldest residents in that vicinity. Mr. Squiers had been ill for sometime and owing to his advanced age, eighty-three, he was unable to recover. He moved to New Market from Mt. Bethel sixty years ago, and has resisded at the former place ever since. He was a mason by trade and worked at the same as long as he could. He was a faithful member of the Baptist church at this place, and his membership dates back to 1843. He was married to a Miss Wright, of Piscataway township, and she and one son, living in Orange, survives him. The funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock from the Baptist church at New Market.

Nell Pickett Perfectly Innocent.

The Press is in receipt of the following letter from Theodore Miller, deputy sheriff at Stamford, Conn.:

To the Editor of The Daily Press—In regard to an item which was recently published in your paper stating that one Nellie Pickett was the principal witness in the "Long" murder case, I wish to say as an act of simple justice to this woman, that though she was under police surveillance for a short time after she arrived in this town, she has never been arrested, and that a thorough investigation has proved her entire innocence of any complicity in or any knowledge whatever of that murder. She is today in honorable employment in this city, and is entirely free to go wherever she wills. By giving this a place in your valuable columns you will confer a favor on

Quality and Price Are the Prizes.

What would you think of a lawyer who tried to secure clients by offering chances on a bicycle? Would you want the services of a physician who offered to give coal hods or sofa pillows to patients who employed him regularly?

We think not. We believe also that when sickness comes and you have prescriptions to be filled or need any other aid that the skilled pharmacist can render, you want perfect service at a fair price— nd nothing else.

We give such service. We are apt to save you 15 to 25 per cent on the cost—druggists that are conscientious about quality are pretty sure to be as careful about price.

THEATRICAL.

At Music Hall tonight Donnelly and Girard will appear in their new spectacular operetta, "The Geezer." This is the first time the citizens of Plainfield have had an opportunity to see this most amusing of plays in their own city. It ran for 175 consecutive nights in New York, and Donnelly and Girard, with their usual enterprise and knowing a good thing when they see it, determined to put it within the reach of the people of their whole circuit, so at considerable cost they purchased the exclusive right to its use, and now bring it here for the first time with new and specially built scenery, magnificent electric effects, rich and costly costumes of new design and new songs and catchy music.

Archie Boyd is now playing Nathaniel Berry in James A. Herne's beautiful play of New England farm life, "Shore Acres." This well-known character actor seems to find delight in depicting idiosyncrasies of the bucolic hero, and his Josh Whitcomb in "The Old Homestead" and his Uncle Nat. in "Shore Acres" are really admirable companion pictures. Mr. Boyd is a painstaking actor and he endeavors to live the character he is portraying. Although identified with what are known as old men parts, Mr. Boyd is comparatively a young man and his future prospects are very bright indeed. This is his second season with "Shore Acres." The play is underlined for production at Music Hall next Friday evening.

Those who believe chronic diarrhœa to be incurable should read what Mr. P. E. Grisham, of Gaars Mills, La., has to say on the subject, viz.: "I have been a sufferer from chronic diarrhœa ever since the war and have tried all kinds of medicines for it. At last I found a remedy that effected a cure and that was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy." This medicine can always be depended upon for colic, cholera morbus, dysentery and diarrhœa. It is pleasant to take and never fails to affect a cure. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

EUROPE FORESEES WAR

London Press Says That Spain Must Fight Us or Back Down.

ITALY WILL HELP SPAIN

New Cabinet's Defiant Attitude and Ambassador Draper's Visit to Rome Start War Rumors—Bitter Attacks on "the Yankees."

London, Oct. 26.—United States Ambassador Draper's hurried visit to Rome, taken in connection with Spain's reported defiant reply to the demands of the United States, has caused war talk in all the European capitals.

The London papers are unanimous in declaring Spain's reported answer to be defiant and predicting an open rupture with the United States unless she recedes from or modifies her position.

Many bitter attacks are made upon the "insolent Yankees" by the more violent papers. Several, especially the more conservative, unite in warning Spain that she will be hopelessly overmatched in case of a war with the United States.

The belief is growing here that the European monarchies will not stand idly by and see Spain whipped in a contest which involves the ascendancy of monarchical principles. This feeling causes credit to be given to the report spread by Italian papers that Italy has proposed to the powers of Europe to offer Spain her mediation to avoid war with the United States.

The report is now widely circulated that the Italian Government is making preparations to help Spain in case of war. There can be no denying the fact that the New Orleans massacre still rankles in the Italian breast.

In view of these complications and the war spirit which is noticeably increasing in Spain, an authoritative publication of the answer of the Madrid Government is being awaited with the keenest interest.

Spain's Reply Not Yet Received.

Washington, Oct. 26.—It was stated positively at the White House and at the State Department that up to last night the answer of Spain to the United States had not reached the President or Secretary Sherman, nor had they received the 2,000-word cable communication which it is said Minister Woodford sent in cipher from Madrid last Saturday.

There was an abundance of speculation in and about the White House as to the issue presented by Spain's answer, as briefly summarized in cable reports, but from no authoritative source could it be learned that the Administration had outlined any line of policy to meet the situation now presented. Secretary Sherman did not come to the White House during the morning, and Assistant Secretary of State Day has gone to Ohio, so that there is no opportunity for conference on the Spanish-Cuban situation. Attorney-General McKenna was with the President for a quarter of an hour, presumably in reference to the Union Pacific Railway affairs.

Action Possible To-day.

The Attorney-General said, after leaving the President, that there were no developments which he wished to communicate to the public. In other quarters it was stated that a determination might come at any moment in the near future, and that in all probability the meeting of the Cabinet today would bring about a definite understanding and probably a final conclusion on the Government's course.

It is not doubted among officials that the basis of the Spanish reply to Mr. Woodford's note will be the charge that the United States has not observed the requirements of international law in the matter of preventing filibustering. In this case the State Department will have some pertinent facts to present, which its officials believe will completely alienate from Spain any sympathy that she may have attracted from other European nations on that score. It is asserted positively that in no single case where the Spanish authorities have brought to the attention of this Government the fact that an illegal expedition was about to start from American shores for Cuba has it neglected to use all the means permitted by the laws to prevent the start. It has been so indulgent in this respect as to accept statements from the Spanish officials, not accompanied by proofs of the facts alleged, but mere suggestions that they had reason to believe that an expedition was forming.

In some cases the Government has proceeded to great lengths in restraint of American commerce on insufficient evidence furnished by the Spanish Government that has resulted in the preference of large claims by American ship owners for illegal detention of their ships.

Laugh at Spain's Claims.

Washington, Oct. 26.—The State Department will have some pertinent facts to present when Spain's note is received, which, its officials believe, will completely alienate from Spain any sympathy that she may have attracted from other European nations on the score of filibustering.

It is asserted positively that in no single case where the Spanish authorities have brought to the attention of our Government the fact that an illegal expedition was about to start for Cuba has it neglected to use all the means permitted by our laws to prevent it.

Spain Feels Safe.

Madrid, Oct. 26.—A member of the Cabinet says the Government does not believe that its reply to the American note will cause friction with the United States, because its tone is friendly and it shows that Spain is about to do for Cuba what the United States has repeatedly advised.

He added that Gen. Blanco, the new Captain-General, had been instructed to promise more liberty to the Cuban press, vigorous administrative reforms and a weeding out in the ranks of officials.

The Killing of Gen. Castillo.

Havana, Cuba, Oct. 26.—Private advices received here confirm the report that Gen. Castillo, the well-known insurgent leader, has been killed in an engagement with the Spanish troops.

It is stated that his body has been carried to La Chorrera, four miles distant from this city, where it is [illegible]

This is the backing that stands behind every box of Doan's Kidney Pills; here is a case of it.

Mrs. M. A. Hall, of 219 Prescott place, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are without exception the best medicine I ever used. My kidneys troubled me for several years with dull, aching pain across my back and at times extending to my hips. I was compelled to lie in just one position at night. Stooping, lifting or bending foward aggravated the pains. I was also subject to severe headaches and was more or less nervous. A kidney weakness which was very distressing as well as inconvenient also existed and although I used different remedies that were recommended to me I obtained little if any benefit. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly endorsed in our daily papers and procured a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store. It was not long before I felt great relief and I was surprised how quickly the pain in my back disappeared. I am entirely free from it now and my other troubles were benefitted greatly. I consider Doan's Kidney Pills a reliable medicine and in my case they accomplished all that is claimed for them."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Cornell Dam Strike Settled.

New York, Oct. 26.—The strike on the Cornell dam has been settled. The workmen have won a signal victory and returned to work this morning.

The Cornell dam will be one of the most gigantic pieces of engineering work in the world. It will cover thousands of acres of land between two hills and take in nearly all the tributaries of the Croton River. The main wall consists of 200 feet of solid masonry and will be built in such a manner as to resist all freshets.

When the dam is flooded it will constitute the largest artificial body of water in the world.

Murdered and Thrown Overboard.

New York, Oct. 26.—The body of a man with a bullet wound in his head, a broken nose, and fractured skull, drifted into the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad docks yesterday afternoon at St. George, S. I. The autopsy revealed that the man had been undoubtedly the victim of foul play. The position of the wounds, their character and the fact that evidences of drowning were missing, gave the doctor who performed the autopsy the impression of murder.

$275,000 Taken from the Bank.

Washington, Oct. 26.—Deputy Comptroller of the Currency Coffin went to Asheville, N. C., last night to facilitate the liquidation of the National Bank of Asheville. A new corporation will be formed to take over its business. Mr. Coffin says depositors will realize but a small percentage of their claims. The president and two of the directors, he says, confessed to him that they took $275,000 of the bank's funds. They will be tried next week.

Betting on the Election.

New York, Oct. 26.—More money was offering on the Stock Exchange yesterday on the field against Van Wyck. As a result the odds did not favor Van Wyck so strongly as they have done lately. Some small bets were made at odds of 1 to 2 on the field against Van Wyck. On the Stock Exchange last week the odds on Van Wyck against the field ruled at 2½ to 1.

Gen. Harrison and Family Go Home.

New York, Oct. 26.—Ex-President Benjamin Harrison, Mrs. Harrison and their little daughter left the Fifth Avenue Hotel yesterday for their home in Indianapolis. Gen. Harrison and the baby have both been suffering from severe colds, but both were feeling pretty well yesterday when they started for home.

Spain's Reply to Uncle Sam.

(Cable Dispatch to The New York Sun.)

London, Oct. 26.—A dispatch to the Standard from Madrid says that Gen. Woodford, the American Minister, yesterday received from the Foreign Office the reply of Spain to the note of the American Government. It is said that the reply fills thirty pages.

Police Stop a Big Bout.

New York, Oct. 26.—The twenty-round bout between Tommy Hogan, of Chicago, and Jimmy Clare, of Long Island City, at catchweights, at the Greenpoint Sporting Club last night, was stopped by the police in the sixth evidently, and the business shou d be done by all means. Buildings require paint. Of course, a house may be left unpainted and left to become weatherbeaten and a wreck. That doesn't pay, though; it's much cheaper to paint, and our paints in all colors are the best in the market for durability under the most trying conditions. They are well adapted to our exposure and we sell everything in the line of paints and painters' supplies at short prices.

The Tables Turned.

We have almost solved the servant girl problem.

Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.

The tables are turned, and we have turned them.

We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.

Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "

What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

HAVANA A PEST HOLE.

Disease and Death Are Rampant All Over the Island.

Washington, Oct. 26.—Only an inkling of revolting horrors of starvation and desolation prevalent throughout the island of Cuba have as yet reached this country, because for months no adequate knowledge of the conditions of the interior and small towns has been available. But from the chief city of Havana, where the suffering must be least, compared with other portions, almost incredible accounts of the barbarous results of Spanish misrule continue to multiply in official records.

Yesterday an official statement was delivered to the President which shocked him beyond measure. It was the regular weekly report of Dr. W. F. Brunner, sanitary inspector of the United States Marine Hospital at Havana. Without the change of a word it is as follows:

"The death rate is assuming alarming proportions in this city, and the deaths from intestinal diseases, due to insufficient food, among the poorer classes amount to about two-fifths of the total deaths. An inspection of a pest hole known as Los Fosos was made by me on Thursday, Oct. 14. This place has been set aside for the country people sent to Havana. Los Fosos consists of a large wooden building about 150 feet in length and 60 feet in width. The building is situated in an inclosure which is used for the storing of carts of the municipality.

"There were 500 people found in and around this building, and of that number over 200 were found lying on the floor sick and dying. I saw no child under 10 years of age who could be considered in good health. They were invariably suffering from some form of enteritis or dysentery. The emaciation of their bodies was startling. This place is not a hospital, but simply a place of residence for these people. A conservative estimate of the death rate of these people would be about 10 per day. The number is recruited by fresh accessions from the country.

"There were over 150 children below the age of 10 years and I did not observe one whose chance for living thirty days under the existing circumstances was good.

"There are two other such places in the city where the same conditions exist. The hospitals, civil, are refusing patients. One of them, well known to me, the Mercedes, capable of holding 200 patients, now has nearly 500, and has refused to admit any new patients until that number can be reduced.

"During the week there were thirty-one deaths from starvation recorded; in reality twice that number has occurred."

In a separate report Dr. Brunner says it is reported to him "that bodies of persons buried at Guanabacoa, a small town three miles east of Havana, are being disinterred to make room for new burials, and that the stench from bodies not buried a year is unbearable. I should state that it is the custom to remove the remains of persons after they have been buried five years unless the ground is again paid for, but it seems in this instance that less than one year had intervened."

Dynamited a Bank Safe.

Webster City, Ia., Oct. 26.—Three masked burglars robbed the State Bank of Blairsburg yesterday morning. They used dynamite and the explosion shattered the large plate-glass window and badly wrecked the bank building. They secured $6,000 worth of securities and a small amount of cash.

When the first explosion occurred it awoke half the town. James Conners' yells frightened the burglars, and although they had prepared dynamite for the second explosion they lost no time in escaping.

In the darkness two of the burglars mistook their "pal" for a policeman and shot him down. He is named James Gillicoin and is not expected to live.

The Rescuer of the Cuban Girl.

Washington, Oct. 26.—This evening Mr. Karl Decker's newspaper friends will tender him a banquet, at which it is expected Editor Hearst, of the New York Journal, will be present. This banquet will close the public demonstrations in honor of the Cuban girl and her rescuer in Washington.

It is Mr. Decker's present intention, unless, of course, he receives some other assignment, to continue in Washington as the representative of the Journal during the coming session of Congress.

It is thought that Senorita Cisneros will make her home in Washington, and will probably enter some private school or institution to complete her education.

Yawned Her Jaws Loose.

Williamsport, Pa., Oct. 26.—Miss Ella Lilly, of Montgomery, while walking along the street yesterday, yawned so hard that her jaws became unlocked.

She thought her false teeth had wedged between the jaws, and after removing the teeth and finding no relief the girl ran screaming through the street.

It required the combined services of a doctor and two men to get her jaws back in place. She suffered most excruciating pain.

Will Make Speeches in New York.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Mayor Taggart, of Indianapolis, and several well-known Indiana Democrats, will go to New York with Mayor Harrison and the Cook County Democracy to work for the election of Tammany's candidate for Mayor. Mayor Taggart will make at least one speech in the New York campaign. The Indianapolis contingent may go to New York on the Cook County Democracy's special train.

Carlisle Has Quit Washington.

Washington, Oct. 26.—Ex-Secretary Carlisle, while still retaining a professional connection with Washington, has given it up as a place of residence. The house which he occupied while Speaker of the House, Senator and Secretary of the Treasury he has leased with its furniture to Representative B. B. Odell, of New York.

Luetgert's Trial.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—States Attorney Deneen has resolved to put the second trial of Adolph L. Luetgert on the calendar for to-morrow morning unless Luetgert applies for a continuance.

A formal demand has been made on Mayor Harrison for the dismissal of Police Inspector Schaack by William A. Vincent, chief counsel for Luetgert.

TRAVELED IN MISSION FIELDS.

Rev. D. M. Stearns Welcomed Back from His Foreign Tour.

Rev. D. M. Stearns, D. D., met his Bible class at the First Presbyterian church last night for the first time since his return from a trip around the world. The attendance was large and all seemed glad to welcome their teacher back from his travels. Dr. Stearns devoted the first half hour to a discussion of next Sunday's Bible lesson, and then spoke of his travels, which were undertaken chiefly in the cause of missions. The fifteen Bible classes which Dr. Stearns has organized in various cities have contributed during the past nine years the sum of $97,000 for the mission cause, and the tour of their leader was made in order to gain a more thorough knowledge of the different fields and their needs. The speaker gave an interesting bird'seye view of his journey across this continent and to China, Japan and India, where he was gladly received by the mission workers and invited to remain with them and instruct them in Bible work. Before leaving Philadelphia, Dr. Stearns received a gift of $700 to be used for missions, and this he distributed in the fields most needing help. The class will meet hereafter in the Y. M. C. A. Hall, on Monday evenings.

Volunteer Speakers.

Rev. George Angleman, of Hampton Junction, will speak at the Volunteers' meeting this evening. Mr. Angleman was formerly pastor of the M. E. church at Scotch Plains. On Friday evening Rev. Mr. Samuelian will repeat his lecture on Constantinople and Turkey, as given in Y. M C. A. Thursday evening last, for the benefit of the Volunteers, in Y. M. C. A. Hall.

Another Bicycle Stolen.

Bicycle thieves are about again. Last night the Pierce bicycle belonging to Mrs. Isaac L. Miller, of East Ninth street and Watchung avenue, was stolen from the rear of the house. Its number is 24,310. There is no clew to the thief.

MUST ANSWER TO GRAND JURY.

A Young Man Held on Charge of Obtaining a Rig by False Pretences.

After numerous postponements, the hearing of Isodore DeCastro Brittin, on the charge of securing a horse and buggy from the liveryman, Frank Day, under false pretences, came up before Justice Newcorn, this morning. The young man was held in $100 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Day claimed that Brittin came to his establishment and wanted a horse and buggy to drive to Scotch Plains promising to return in three-quarters of an hour. A storm was threatening and Day said that he only allowed the rig to go out on condition it was returned in the time stated. They were not returned, however, until the next day when Day learned that Brittin had been to Westfield and Fanwood as well as Scotch Plains. Day was represented by Former City Judge W. A. Coddington.

Brittin claimed in the defence that he had not told where he was going nor how long he was going to stay. He also explained that his reason for going to Westfield was that a companion had some very important business there. He was taken ill, he said, on his return to Scotch Plains and was not able to come home. He had been soaked in the storm and was taken with chills. His friend brought the rig home in the morning.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

W. D. Murray will meet his Bible class at the Y. M. C. A. tonight, when the series of lessons on the life of Paul will be commenced.

An illustrated lecture on "Life on the Bridge" will be given by Rev. H. K. Samuelian, in Y. M. C. A. Hall, Thursday evening.

Justice Mosher's Court.

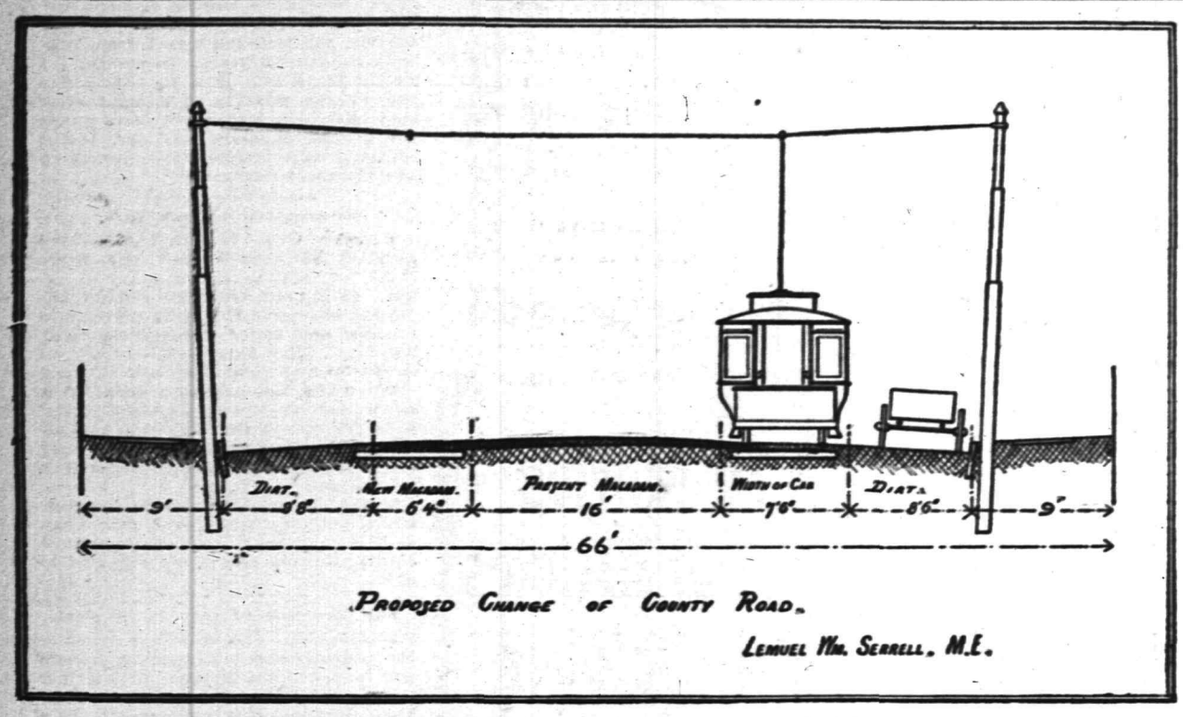
Justice Mosher today issued summons in the landlord and tenant case of Langbaum against Jackson and the contract case of Graves against Hodge. Both are made returnable November 4th.

Last Day for Registration.

This is an important day for voters. Those whose names are not already on the registry lists must appear personally before the Election Boards or else lose their vote next Tuesday.

The A. W. L. challenge trophy was played for at Newark Saturday by the Brooklyn Whist Club, challengers, and the New Jersey Whist Club, the holders. The first part of the match was very close, but toward the last the New Jersey four had the match all their own way and won by twelve tricks, holding the trophy. The next challengers are the Park Club four, of this city, who will play for the trophy on Thursday or Friday.

On Friday evening of this week there will be a bowling match on the Ulrich alleys between the team from the Potter Press Works and a team called the Knob Hills. This is the opening of the season and other games will now be arranged, so that before long the bowling season will be a lively one.



L. W. SERRELL'S PLAN FOR A TROLLEY ON THE COUNTY ROAD.

A short time ago I prepared a communication discussing the project for the county to build an electric railroad between Elizabeth and Plainfield along the county road. This paper told of the cost of carrying out the proposed plan of making the county road 100 feet wide and having the county build the railroad and lease it to some corporation who would pay sufficient rental to pay the interest on the county indebtedness and in time retire the county bonds. In the paper referred to I showed that it would be impossible for the railroad to earn sufficient money to do this, and that the taxpayer would have to pay large deficiencies. As stated in the paper referred to, the primary object of this county project has been to preserve the present macadam.

I submit herewith a plan by which it is possible to do this without widening the road, so locate the tracks that they will not interfere with the existing macadam and at the same time give ample room for carriages and wagons to stand between the side of the car and the curb line. By adopting this plan and granting the franchise to an electric railway corporation under proper conditions as to macadamizing and grading, the county road would be a macadamized thoroughfare 29 feet in width, and all the objections that have been raised against an electric railroad on the county road would be overcome, and the taxpayers would be relieved from the great burdens that they would have to assume should the county road be widened as has been suggested.

Lemuel W. Serrell, M. E.

RUM FOR STUDENTS? NO!

POSITIVE STAND TAKEN AGAINST PRINCETON INN LIQUOR LICENSE.

A Prominent Presbyterian Declares That the Attitude of Dr. Shields Cannot Be Condoned From Any Moral Point of View.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Your editorial article of last evening calling attention to the sermon preached on Sunday at New Brunswick, by Rev. Mr. Murphy, the young pastor of the Second Reformed church there, makes, to say the least, interesting reading. Interesting because it indicates pretty clearly what the defense is likely to be on the part of those three professors of Princeton University, who are said to have joined with ex-President Cleveland and others in asking the Mercer courts to license the Princeton University Inn. Most parents probably, who have watched this controversy in the newspaper press, and before the various Presbyterian Synods of this country, have felt that they would like to know just what the authorities of Princeton University would say upon the subject, but have hitherto only had rumors of the position taken by the defense. I have heard that some of the Presbyterian journals, in interviews or otherwise, indicated the position to be taken by William Libbey, the chief, if not the only, owner of the Inn, but have not seen the articles referred to.

And additional interest is lent to the subject by the information in this morning's newspapers that Professor Shields is going to withdraw from the Presbyterian church, in consequence of the criticisms made upon him.

The fact is that the ground taken (if that ground be taken by the authorities of Princeton, as stated by Rev. Mr. Murphy), that because the students of Princeton are in part a gay set, who will go to Trenton, or even to New York city, on purpose to secure intoxicating liquors, and because the faculty do not know how better to treat the matter, therefore the University Inn has been licensed, in order that the boys may eat, drink and be merry at home, is a ground so untenantable, both from a moral and practical point of view, that, if pursued, it will tend to wreck Princeton University.

For, be the arguments pro or con what they will, the parents of this country are becoming more and more careful as to where they are sending their boys to college. Formerly a few colleges of high rank presented the stronger inducements. Now, however, in almost every State, there is a college thoroughly equipped, of good reputation, where first-class educational work is done. Educational features, therefore, are not the only ones considered as decisive in the minds of parents Moral tone, the habits of the students, the surroundings, are being inquired into more and more. And no father will knowingly and deliberately send his son several hundred miles away to an institution which in anywise does lend its aid in the making of drunkards.

The idea that a great university must have a licensed inn at its doors, to prevent its young men from procuring liquors in the cities twenty-five or forty miles away, is to my mind the height of absurdity. What every college needs to do is to absolutely and imperatively prohibit the use of intoxicants among the students. The conviviality of young men when thrown together is well understood, and all their education which they are securing is being thrown away when they allow themselves to drink habitually or are encouraged to do so. The proximity of the University Inn to Princeton's College, the fact that three of its professors have asked to have it licensed, and the fact that the establishment is owned by one of the leading trustees of the institution, added to the handsome outfittings of that inn, cannot do otherwise than encourage both the moderate and the immoderate use of drink; and we believe it is admitted that at one time something like forty students had a hilarious and riotous time there.

What the University should have done instead, what all colleges should do, is to have an inexorable by-law that the student who becomes intoxicated during college terms shall, for the first offense, be suspended, and for the second expelled. This will keep away evil associates from those students who go to college for other purposes than revellings. Such a by-law would give any educational institution a boom, which few of them have, and will prevent the disgrace which seems to be clouding the otherwise brilliant prospects of famous old Princeton.

THEIR FIRST CONCERT.

A CRITICAL AUDIENCE SATISFIED IN MONROE AVENUE CHURCH.

Young Men Show Musical Ability That Comes From Studious Practice—Other Numbers on the Programme Enjoyed.

The banjo and mandolin clubs have always found a hearty welcome in Plainfield but when the local talent gathered together and treated their townsfolk to a concert of that nature, the good people of Plainfield responded most royally. Such was the case last evening when the reorganized Plainfield Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar Club made its first appearance under the auspices of the Young Men's Association of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church in that church. The concert was excellent, the crowd was delighted and the treasuries of the two associations received a fresh impetus that was very satisfactory to all concerned.

Even the most critical were satisfied and it was fairly agreed that the Plainfield club held its own with the college organizations that are the usual entertainers in that style of music. Their playing showed the result of a long and conscientious training and practice together.

Fred G. Smith is the director of the club, which is composed of Fred G. Smith and Fred F. VanEps, banjos; Rev. W. C. O'Donnell, J. C. Kirkner, A. I. Little and Raymond Carroll, mandolins; John D. Brower, D. W. Little, Jr., and Clifford M. Crane, guitars; Frank MacDonald, pianist.

Most of the selections played by the club were popular marches. Each number was loudly encored and the club responded satisfactorily.

While the club was a leading feature of the programme, there were others. Miss Marion Short, impersonator, was a charming entertainer. She had studied her characters and represented them very satisfactorily. Her selections included pathos and humor, but it was in the latter that she particularly excelled. Her imitations of the voice of a little child was particularly good, and one of her encores, "A Little Maid and Her Dead Pussy," was delightfully funny, with just a touch of pathos about it. Miss Short found such favor with the audience that they called her for several encores after each selection.

Prof. J. F. Weitz and Mrs. Weitz were skilled pianists and were well received. Clarence Hillman was a marvelous performer on the xylophone and was accorded much applause. Messrs Smith and Van Eps did well on their banjos in duet and solo selections. W. E. MacClymont played the accompaniments in his excellent manner, rendering an original one for the banjo duet.

The church was packed. There was not a vacant seat left, although special arrangements had been made to seat a large crowd.

RAN AT A TERRIFIC PACE.

Serious Runaway That Occurred on the Gap Road.

An exciting runaway occurred near Washingtonville, Monday afternoon, that resulted in the serious and perhaps fatal injury of two horses and any amount of excitement.

A German in the employ of John Wagonner, a farmer living at South Stirling, drove over to Plainfield that afternoon and returned later in the day. He stopped a few moments at Finger's Hotel in the Gap to quench his thirst. While he was inside, the horses became frightened and started in the direction of Washingtonville in a wild gallop. The noise of the wagon bounding along behind them urged them on to renewed exertions and they dashed along the Gap road at full speed.

Frank Ralph, the Mt. Bethel butcher, had stopped his wagon in front of Demler's store at Washingtonville, and was busy plying his trade when the runaway team rounded the curve. Ralph's wagon was directly in their path. They could not stop nor avoid the wagon so one of the horses of Wagonner's team sprang directly at the butcher wagon and landed inside. The other horse was thrown and the farm wagon following crashed into the confused mass of horses and butcher wagon.

Wagonner's horses were badly cut up by the fall while both wagons were well smashed up. Ralph's horse also ran away but was caught some distance down the valley road.

Off to a Balmy Climate.

This morning W. L. Smalley, Jr., and family, of the borough, left for the south. A large number of their friends were present at the North Avenue station to see them off. They went to Elizabeth, where they made connections with a train on the Pennsylvania Railroad for their destination.

CURFEW BELL IS THE TOPIC OF GOSSIP IN TOWN NOW.

Press Reporters Interview Private Citizens and Public Officials About the Latest Move of the Women.

From offering prizes for the best kept back dooryards to standing sponsor for curfew bell is the wide range of endeavors with which the Woman's Town Improvement Association is credited. This latest move of the women—the agitation of ringing the bell with resonant tones calling upon the young and innocent inhabitants of the city to hie themselves off the street at a seemly hour at the peril of their parents being subjected to a fine—is the topic of conversation just now. It was the gossip of the tea table last evening and the bytalk of the commuters this morning. No one took the matter very seriously—that is, none of the men did—but instead joked and laughed and made burlesque suggestions in every group where the subject was broached. It has never been thought that the children of Plainfield were so bad and incorrigible that a wholesale movement should be started against them until the women gave voice and action in this direction. As soon as the momentous question was precipitated upon a community already throbbing excitedly over the approaching election, The Press, with characteristic enterprise, immediately detailed its staff of reporters to interview prominent citizens, both in official and private circles, to secure the sentiment of the town in respect to the curfew bell. Some of the opinions are given in the following:

City Judge George W. DeMeza thought that it would be a very good thing to keep the children off the streets at night, but he doubted whether any such ordinance would be constitutional even if it was passed by the Common Council. It would undoubtedly prevent crime, he said, to keep the small boys off the streets, and then he gave, as an example of the harm done in allowing them to wander at will, the case of little 'Ras Harris, the little colored boy of eight years, who came up in the city court this morning, who has been wandering about the streets for many weeks. He also considered the Frucht robbery as a direct result of such influences.

Councilman William A Westphal, when questioned regarding his views on the law, said: "I am opposed to the passing of a curfew ordinance. It is proper that we should have laws that are necessary for the preservation of peace and public morality, but the matter with which this law deals should be regulated in the home. I am not in favor of laws which unduly restrict personal liberty, and you may say that if a curfew ordinance comes before the Common Council I shall oppose it."

Theophilus Bond, of East Front street, states that it would be well to make the plan a general one and have all progressive parties stop at 9 o'clock. However, he is doubtful if the ordinance would be enforced. He cites a case in England where the curfew bell is sounded at 9 o'clock, but people have learned to regard it merely as a custom, and so far as the children are concerned it is not enforced.

President J. B. Dumont, of the City Council, failed to give an opinion for the reason that he considered it would be unfair, if the women intend to bring the matter to the attention of the Council, and he thought it unwise to give his ideas in advance.

Rev. C. E. Herring expressed some surprise as to the practibility of the plan. He thought that it was like some arguments, it proves too much, and takes in the evil with the good. He has no idea that such an ordinance could be enforced.

Chief George W. Grant, of the police department, absolutely refused to be interviewed regarding the subject. He said, however, that if the ordinance was ever passed the police would enforce it to the letter.

Former Councilman E. R. Ackerman does not hesitate to say that he favors the plan, if it would not interfere with the Boys' Club or with children who are obliged to be out to entertainments, etc.

School Commissioner F. C. Lounsbury, who interests himself to a great extent in the welfare of children, says that he is heartily in favor of the idea and thinks it would work all right.

Former Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr., of Washington Park, gave as his opinion that it would be a good thing so long as it would not apply to persons over thirty years of age.

Justice Vincent W. Nash expressed himself as against the proposed Curfew ordinance and said that it was unreasonable law.

Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh did not care to express an opinion regarding the question of the curfew ordinance.

Senator Charles A. Reed predicted that the proposed ordinance would never pass the Council.

W. C. T. U. RALLY SERVICE.

A SKETCH OF THE LOCAL UNION READ

The Society Has Grown From a Few Faithful Women to an Influential Body.

A rally service was held at the W. C. T. U. rooms last evening, at which nearly all of the departments of the union were represented. President Mrs. Parse was in charge of the exercises and announced the various numbers on the programme, the first of which was a vocal selection by a quartette. This was followed by an appropriate reading by the president. Miss Shinn, superintendent of the home department Sunday-school work of the First Baptist church, also gave a reading. The next number was a reading from "Samantha Allen," by Miss Etta Raybert. This was one of the best numbers on the programme and was fully appreciated.

During the evening Mrs. Mitchell, a member of the union, read a sketch of the Plainfield union from its inception. She told how the union had grown from a small handful when the meetings were held in the Holly Tree Inn, on North avenue, to the present time, when the union has a large and influential body of women. During that time the strength of the union has grown measurably and the amount of work accomplished has certainly been of the very best. Each of the many departments were spoken of and the work done by the committees.

The rest of the programme was devoted to a few instrumental and vocal selections, after which a collection was taken for the union. The attendance at the rally was large and the service was not only helpful but entertaining.

New Lodge to be Instituted.

Plainfield Senate, No. 621, Knights of the Ancient Essenic Order, will be instituted in Masonic Hall, Babcock building, this evening. This new lodge numbers ninety members consisting of some of the best men in Plainfield. The supreme officers will be present to install the officers, and members of other lodges from Newark and New Brunswick will also attend. A general good time is expected and refreshments will be served.

WOMEN WILL DO THEIR PART

TO ASSIST IN TRINITY'S REPAIRS.

Already Purchased the Carpet and Will Pay for the Upholstering—Contracts Awarded.

The consistory and building committee of Trinity Reformed church met at the residence of B. A Hegeman, Sr., Sycamore avenue, last evening to discuss and arrange some details in reference to the alterations being made to their church edifice.

The contract for painting and decorating the interior of the sanctuary was awarded to Marsh, Ayres & Co., and the upholstering of the seats and cushions to George Schlereth. The wiring and furnishing the fixtures for lighting the upper sanctuary and the new Sunday-school by electricity was awarded to A. D. Phillips. It was decided to have the present handsome glass gas chandeliers overhauled to be used in case of emergency.

The new carpet for the church has been purchased by the Ladies' Christian Work Society, and will be laid when the other improvements are finished. The ladies have also generously taken hold of the matter of upholstering and will raise the amount required for that purpose, thus relieving the consistory of this duty.

Those at the meeting last night seemed of one accord as to again occupying their church home, and it was unanimously agreed to furnish the new lecture room as soon as possible and hold all the sessions in that place until the auditorium of the church is finished. The members of the church, however, are well satisfied with Y. M. C. A. Hall, where they have been worshipping since the repairs were started, but they are anxious to utilize their own property as soon as it conveniently can be done.

Social Sisters Elect Officers.

The Whist Club, composed of the sixteen social sisters, met at Miss Dora Ulrick's, East Fifth street, last evening to transact business. Miss Dora Ulrick was chosen president and Miss Nellie Hockridge as treasurer. The rest of the evening was spent in a social way. Miss Eva Wilkins and Miss Nellie Winkler added much pleasure to the evening by playing several duets.

MY! 'RAS IS A BAD BOY

WON'T GO HOME AND PERSISTS N SLEEPING IN HALLS AND BARNS.

Roundsman Frederickson Says He Pounces Upon Boys Smaller Than Himself and Steals Marbles From Their Pockets.

'Ras Harris, whose real name is Erastmus Harris and who is called "Raspberry," is young but, oh my! 'Ras figured in the city court again this morning and cuddled up in one corner of the cell most of the night listening to the strange noises and watching the creeping and crawling occupants of his cell by the faint light in the corridor.

'Ras was the very youthful bicycle thief that began his operations on Kensington avenue several weeks ago. Roundsman Frederickson tracked him all over the city and at last caught him with the wheel up in the West End. 'Ras spent a night in the city jail, but Justice Nash could do nothing with him on account of his youthful age of eight years, which puts him out of the reach of the hand of the law. Otherwise 'Ras would be in the Reform School now.

Last night one of the policemen found 'Ras fast asleep in a hallway on West Front street. The little colored boy was taken over to the lockup and left there over night. This morning he was brought before the City Judge.

'Ras does not like to go home. So he had already confided to Roundsman Frederickson. Then the latter told how 'Ras waits up South avenue and captures the small boys that pass who are smaller than he is, and takes away their marbles. Complaints have already been made to the Roundsman by the parents of the small victims of 'Ras. 'Ras won't go to school and he has been living in hallways and barns for days.

'Ras was afraid of the tall City Judge who looked so stern. When the Judge suggested State's prison and Reform School, great tears began to creep down the lad's dusky face, and he sobbed out a willingness to go back to school. So the Judge agreed to let him go this time if he would return to school and the youthful offender bowed his head, wiped away the tears with his coat sleeve and walked out into the fresh air once more.

An effort will be made to do something for the future care of the lad who is considered incorrigible already by his parents. His home is on East Sixth street in the row.

BLUE ENVELOPE FOR VOTERS.

Senator Reed's Law Will be Put in Force Next Tuesday.

Senator Reed's plan of a blue envelope for ballots at the State elections will be first tried at the coming State election to be held next Tuesday. It will be remembered that the Senator introduced a measure into the Senate last winter providing for the substitution of a blue envelope for the white envelope in use at present. The bill went into committee and was reported favorably, and was finally passed by both Senate and Assembly. This election is the first one at which the new envelope can be tried. The envelopes are now being prepared throughout the State according to the new law.

The advantages of the blue envelope, as given by Senator Reed, are that it is much easier for the voter to find in the booth when he is surrounded by a mass of tickets and envelopes which have heretofore been of the same color. Another advantage is that it is possible to tell when a ticket is contained in an envelope by a mere glance, and thus the possibility of their being cast into the ballot-box that way and thus declared void, is greatly lessened.

Drank too Much Red Eye.

Marshal John Schenck found Geo. Chester last evening about 7 o'clock lying in the gutter in front of the Park Club in an intoxicated condition. Chester had to be assisted to the lockup. This morning Recorder Thomas imposed a fine of $2, as this was his first offense. J. McElroy, of Prideville, was arrested on Greenbrook road this morning by Marshal Wise, who found him sound asleep and unable to navigate. He was given the privilege of paying $8 or going to jail for thirty days. He decided to go to jail McElroy is an old offender.

Judge DeMeza Elected President.

A meeting of the stockholders of the New York Compound Engine Company was held at Taylor's Hotel, Jersey City, on Monday evening. The following officers were elected: President, George W. DeMeza, of Plainfield; vice-president, Frank S. Rose; secretary and treasurer, George B. Townsend.

—Cypress Commandery, No. 14, K. T., made about $150 on their reception and dance held in the Crescent Rink last week.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT.

FIRST OF THE UNIVERSITY EXTENSION LECTURES GIVEN.

Prof. Wheeler Spoke of the French as a Brilliant People But Apparently Without the Nack of Governing Themselves.

A large and interested audience gathered in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church last evening to listen to the first of the University Extension lectures to be given in Plainfield this fall. The lecturer was Prof. Wheeler, of Yale University, who is to begin the course with a series of lectures on modern history. His subject last evening was, "Modern France and Its Government."

He spoke of the French as a great and brilliant people, reasoning and exact, but apparently without the knowledge of governing themselves as shown by their variation in government in the last century—two empires, three republics, and two monarchies. He described the condition of the people which was so different from that in this country, and the social makeup of this wonderful people.

He gave a sketch describing the time of Louis Phillippe of the political history of France and the rapid overthrow of that monarch. He explained that instead of resorting to logical means, the French forgot everything and upset the government by violence. He then described the political chaos that followed each sudden change of government.

An important question that faced the French statesmen from the beginning was what to do with the masses. He told of their different methods, the establishment of public work houses thus giving employment to thousands, and how for various reasons these plans had all proved unsuccessful. He referred to the growth of the socialistic tendencies among the masses and the dangers of the anarchist element that crept into the nation.

His lecture touched on the graduai rise of Louis Napoleon to the office of president and finally to that of Emporer and of the final return to the policy of the republic as at present.

JUNIOR MECHANICS IN SESSION.

State Convention of the Funeral Benefit Association Met at Trenton.

The sixth annual State convention of the Jr. O. U. A. M. Funeral Benefit Association was in session at Masonic Temple yesterday in Trenton with about 200 delegates in attendance. The association was organized in 1892, and since that time $106,750 have been paid for death benefits. The receipts for the same time have been $113,272.05. The membership shows a net increase during the year ending October 1st last; 118 death claims were paid, aggregating $29,500. The ratio of deaths during the past year was one to 172.

The officers of the association are: President, Rev. J. Morgan Read, of Burlington; vice president, P. Hall Packer, of Seabright; secretary and treasurer, William N. Gray, of Red Bank; directors, Howard S. Norris, of Newark; George H. Poulson, of Trenton; W. H. Fischer, of Toms River; James D. Anderson, of North Plainfield.

—An important meeting of the Police Board will be held tomorrow night.

LATE KLONDIKE NEWS

On September 7 Flour Was Cornered in Dawson.

MINISTER SIFTON'S REPORT

The Canadian Minister Says a Line of Police Posts, Fifty Miles Apart, Will Be Established on Klondike Routes—To Explore Stickeen.

Skaguay, Alaska, Oct. 21, via Seattle, Wash., Oct. 27.—There is a corner in flour at Dawson City and none can be had at any price. This is stated by Cliff T. Moore, who reached here last night from Dawson, accompanied by his son, Morris R. Moore; N. C. Woodring and George F. Compton, all of Seattle. The party left Dawson Sept. 7, when all the flour in town was being held for higher prices. Threats were made that the warehouses would be raided and that the people would help themselves, paying, of course, a liberal price for what they took. The stores would not sell more than six cans of milk, three cans of meat and other articles in proportion to any one person. Canned meats sold at 75 cents a can, milk at 50 cents, beans at 25 cents, sugar at 30 cents a pound. Six steamers were daily expected to arrive from St. Michaels. Their arrival would end the flour corner, and insure ample provisions for the Winter.

Canadian Minister's Trip.

Hon. Clifford Sifton, Canadian Minister of the Interior, and his party returned two days ago from a trip over the Chilcoot and Skaguay trails, going as far as Lake Tagish. Mr. Sifton says that from information he received there will be no shortage of food at Dawson City this Winter, and that the reports of ravages by typhoid fever have been greatly exaggerated. He also says that the richness of the new discoveries on Dominion, Sulphur, Quartz and Moose Skin Creeks in the Klondike districts has been fully established. He said that his Government would facilitate any reasonable plan for getting in the Yukon country. The Canadian Government, he said, understands that if the rich gold fields of the Yukon district are to be developed easy means of communication must be had. Posts will be established fifty miles apart along the routes from Skaguay and Dyea to Dawson City. These posts will be garrisoned with police, and will contain stores of food and clothing, which can be forwarded in emergencies to the Yukon country. Work on these posts has already begun at Sheep Camp, Linderman, Tagish and White Horse Rapids.

Mr. Sifton will to-day examine Tokou and a portion of the route leading into the interior from that point. The party will then proceed to Fort Wrangle, where they will ascend the Stickeen River to examine the shoals and quicksands.

NOTED WOMAN A WRECK.

Chairman of the Lady Managers of World's Fair a Slave to Cocaine.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Mrs. Annie C. Meyers, chairman of the Board of Lady Managers of the World's Fair, stood before Justice Martin yesterday afternoon a wreck. She is a slave to cocaine, and begged to be exiled from the city.

In the choicest of language she pictured her pitiful condition, and the four young stenographers who charged her with stealing their purses were moved to tears.

"Not many years ago, as Your Honor knows," she said, "I was respected and honored. To-day look at me. Few people now recognize me, for I've changed greatly, and all is attributed to a habit from which few, if any, are ever cured.

"Please do not hold me. Give me one more chance. In twenty-four hours I will leave Chicago forever. I promise it upon my bended knees, as God is my witness."

Mrs. Meyers had the sympathy and pity of the Court, but in her condition he feared she would only be troublesome to others, and, believing that something might be done in her physical behalf, he held her to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Senator Wolcott in Doubt.

London, Oct. 27.—The American Monetary Commissioners, who have been unsuccessfully negotiating with the Government in the interests of the free coinage of silver, are as yet undecided whether to continue their representations in Europe or return to the United States without further action.

After considerable discussion between Ambassador Hay and the Commissioners upon the subject of a reply to the answer made by the British Cabinet to the Commissioners' proposals a few days ago, Senator Wolcott merely acknowledged the receipt of the Government's note.

403 Chicago Policemen Discharged.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Chief Kipley discharged 403 members of the police today. Twenty-five more were retired, and changes were made affecting eleven others. Among the officers dismissed are the four detectives who did the most conspicuous work in the Luetgert wife-murder case. The places of the deposed policemen were immediately filled by former policemen, most of whom were dismissed under the Swift administration.

Why Czar Snubbed Duke.

Berlin, Oct. 27.—The Tageblatt explains to-day that the refusal of the Czar to receive the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess of Baden at Darmstadt on Saturday last was due to the sarcastic comments made by the Grand Duke of Baden upon the conversion of the Czarina, formerly Princess Alix of Hesse, sister of the Grand Duke of Hesse, to the Greek Church previous to her marriage to the Czar in November, 1894.

Has Passed the 100,000 Mark.

New York, Oct. 27.—The membership of the L. A. W. has passed the 100,000 mark. During the past week 548 new members were enrolled, making the total 100,777. The League was organized at Newport in 1880 through the instrumentality of Kirk Monroe, the president of the New York Bicycle Club, and C. C. Pratt, of Boston, who was its first president. The membership during the first year reached 1,654.

THE REPLY OF SPAIN

Text Not to be Made Public Before Congress Meets.

GENERAL TONE ENERGETIC

Believed that Gen. Woodford Has Cabled the Full Document to Washington—Tenor of the Reply. New Policy in Cuba.

Madrid, Spain, Oct. 27.—The Spanish Government refuses to furnish for publication the text of the note of Spain which has been handed to Gen. Woodford as an answer to the communication which the General placed in the hands of the Duke of Tetuan early in September last.

The United States Minister admits having received Spain's reply, but he declines to discuss the matter beyond saying that the text of the Spanish answer will be immediately transmitted to Washington. From other sources it was learned that Spain's answer was cabled to Washington yesterday.

Tenor of the Reply.

Although the Government will not give out the full text of its reply to the United States, it was officially announced that the reply is on the following lines: It expresses regret at the fact that the insurrection in Cuba "receives support from frequent American filibustering expeditions," and the belief is expressed that otherwise the rebellion in Cuba would possibly not exist. The hope is expressed by the Spanish Government that by granting autonomy to Cuba and the withdrawing of American support of the insurgents the insurrection will shortly be ended. It is also officially announced that the Spanish note is marked throughout by an energetic tone.

According to the reports in official circles here the United States Minister will confine himself to acknowledging the receipt of the Spanish reply, and, after forwarding it to the United States Government, will request further instructions from Washington before proceeding any further in the matter. It is not expected that the text of the answer of Spain will be published here before Congress has had the opportunity of deliberating upon it, and it is understood that the document may not be published in the United States until after the reassembling of Congress. But before Congress reassembles it is expected by the Spanish officials that the condition of affairs in Cuba will have considerably improved, and that the whole question will have assumed a brighter aspect.

Energetic Measures.

Finally, it is announced that the Government has determined to actively pursue a new policy toward Cuba, and to take more energetic military action against the insurgents.

The Correspondencia says a new issue of Treasury bonds will shortly be placed on the market.

No Fear of Serious Complications.

Washington, Oct. 27.—The officials do not express any fear of serious complications. They are of the opinion that when Spain's answer is received it will be moderate and conciliatory. No credence is given to the sensational reports that a crisis is at hand and that the Spanish Government refuses the good offices of the United States.

Attention is called to the action of the Government at Madrid, showing that almost everything the United States asked for has been granted. Weyler has been recalled, autonomy and reforms to pacify the island have been promised, and, although these things have been done since Gen. Woodford presented his note, for political reasons the new Cabinet has to appear before the Spanish people as firm and decided, and, while pretending not to consent to the requests of the United States, is consenting, and at the same time trying to prevent trouble at home. The absence of any official dispatch was one of the reasons the President and Cabinet did not discuss the foreign situation at any length, and Secretary Sherman was one of the first to leave the Cabinet meeting. The Secretary of State and his private secretary expect to leave on Saturday for Mansfield, Ohio, where they will remain until after the election.

Despite reports of the last two days that the Spanish answer had been delivered to Gen. Woodford, not a line from the Minister was received at the State Department when the last official left his office there last evening.

Spain's Plans Exposed.

London, Oct. 27.—All Europe is, figuratively speaking, on tiptoe now in the keenness if its anxiety to know what the United States will do in response to Spain's defiant note which has been transmitted by Minister Woodford to the Government at Washington.

There is a general cessation of comment, a sort of calm-before-the-storm atmosphere here among the London papers. Even the tempting portrayal of Spain's weak and embarrassed situation is foregone in the expectancy of decisive action by the United States.

Mother and Sisters in Variety.

Batavia, N. Y., Oct. 27.—Mrs. Martin C. Benham, mother of the convicted wife-murderer, Howard C. Benham, together with her two young daughters, Jean and Mabel, left for Buffalo yesterday, where they have engaged to appear at a variety theatre.

It is understood that poverty alone has driven the family to this step.

William Jones, of East Third street, has returned from a vacation of two weeks.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent Cough Remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form.—The Banner of Liberty, Libertytown, Maryland. ANOTHER BODY FOUND.

The List of Wreck Victims Increased to Twenty—Coroner's Inquest.

New York, Oct. 27.—Another victim has been added to the list of dead in the great railroad disaster on the New York Central Railroad at Garrison's. The body of a man was taken from the day coach, in which most of the deaths occurred. The coach was raised late yesterday afternoon.

The body is that of a man apparently 35 years of age. It was found near the rear of the coach, face down. The man was of dark complexion, about five feet ten inches in height. He had black curly hair and a black mustache. He was dressed in an outing shirt of gray and a coat and vest of blue.

The body was crushed, the end of the car in which he lay being badly wrecked. Under the body was found a lifesize crayon in a gilt frame. The glass on the picture was not broken.

The engine was taken out from the river, pilot first, at 3.15 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Among the spectators was Mr. Depew. He had been informed of the hour when the engine would be raised, and he was there to inspect it.

When the engine was out of the water the body of the fireman, John Q. Tompkins, was found tightly wedged between two masses of iron in front. The body was disfigured, but not his face, which fact would seem to indicate that he had been forward on his engine, looking after the headlight or oiling some part of the machinery when the disaster came. The theory that he was in the cab with the engineer and was hurled through its window forward is combated by the lack of any wound upon the upper portions of his body or of his head.

It is now certain that the number of those killed in the wreck is twenty.

The investigation to fix the responsibility for the Central Railroad horror will begin to-night at 7 o'clock.

The Coroner says he will not leave a stone unturned to fix the responsibility, and if he and the jury find that the railroad company is to blame District Attorney James Bennett Southard, of Putnam County, will lay the matter before the Grand Jury and demand the indictment of the company's officials, including the president, Chauncey M. Depew.

LONG CHASE ENDED.

Alleged Murderers of Farmer Nichols in Custody at Last.

Bridgeport, Ct., Oct. 27.—Charles Bonal and David Weeks, the men who have been sought for the murder of George Marcus Nichols at Daniel's farm, in the town of Trumbull, on the morning of July 22 last, have been captured. Superintendent Birmingham, head of the police department in this city; Detectives Arnold and Cronnan, and Special Officer John Keenan captured them last night at the home of David Weeks' parents in Huntington, where they had returned late Monday night and where they were in hiding.

The capture was effected without a struggle. The men were taken by surprise, and although armed, did not have an opportunity to use their weapons. The murder and robbery at the Nichols homestead caused great excitement throughout this part of the country.

There was such a demand on all sides for a determined effort to capture the murderers that Gov. Cooke offered a reward of $1,000 for the arrest of the murderers. This was supplemented by a reward offered by the town of Trumbull and also by Miss Nichols, the sister of the murdered man, until over five thousand dollars was the prize to go to the persons instrumental in capturing the murderers. Pinkerton detectives were employed by the State, but after weeks of work withdrew.

RECEPTION TO NANSEN.

Nearly 2,000 Persons Do Honor to the Explorer in Washington.

Washington, Oct. 27.—The reception by the National Geographic Society in honor of Dr. Nansen, the Arctic explorer, at the Arlington last night was a notable affair.

Nearly two thousand persons attended the reception. Among them were Secretary and Miss Alger, J. Addison Porter, Justice and Miss Harlan, the delegates to the Russian, Japanese and American Conference on the seal question; N. J. Knagenhjelm, Charge d'Affairs legation of Sweden and Norway, and others.

The introductions were made by Dr. Gardner G. Hubbard, president of the society, who was Dr. Nansen's host at dinner just before the reception. During the evening Dr. Nansen made a brief address, being preceded by Dr. Hubbard, Gen. Greeley and Engineer Melville.

The explorer modestly gave the credit for his achievements to those who had preceded him, especially in the Jeanette expedition. "The men who blaze the way and fight the skirmishes do not often gain the glory of the victory; but it could not have been done without their work."

Dr. Nansen returned to New York to-day.

SHOT THREE TO DEATH

New Hampshire Town Terrorized by a Railroad Man's Gun.

HE WAS CRAZED BY DRINK

He Boasted That He Had "Three Bloods" on His Hands—Mortally Wounded a Man Who Tried to Stay His Mad Career.

Gorham, N. H., Oct. 27.—Selectman Woodbury Gates, the last victim of Thomas Monahan, will die. The physicians who attended him said this morning that there was no hope of his recovery.

Thomas Monahan, while crazed with drink, shot Joseph Gauthier, an employee of the Grand Trunk Railroad, yesterday morning, killing him instantly. Monahan also shot Selectman Gates, of Gorham, fatally injuring him. Another body was afterward found, which is believed to be that of a third victim of Monahan. The murderer was arrested by Sheriff Hamlin. Monahan has been known as a village loafer, and was always a heavy drinker when he was able to get money enough to purchase liquor.

Gauthier, who was a French Canadian, was employed in the Grand Trunk coal sheds, and usually slept in a small wooden shanty near the railroad. Monahan walked into the shanty. He had evidently been drinking heavily, and carried a gun. Gauthier had no time to defend himself, and was shot just as he was arising from his bed. The weapon which Monahan used had been heavily loaded. Part of the charge pierced Gauthier's heart and he fell dead on the floor of his cabin.

The murderer fled from the place and ran up the railroad track. At a point about a quarter of a mile from Gauthier's cabin he met a man and compelled him to halt. The man, whose name has not been learned, was made to walk around the cemetery at the muzzle of Monahan's gun.

The report of the shooting of Gauthier had alarmed several residents of the vicinity, and a number of men started out to look for the murderer. Selectman W. Gates found him about 7.30 o'clock and attempted to arrest him.

Monahan became furious when Gates approached and brought his gun to his shoulder and fired. A charge of shot struck the Selectman in the neck and shoulders, fatally injuring him. The jugular vein was pierced by several shots, and the wounded man almost bled to death in a few minutes.

When Gates fell the madman became cooler, and when several persons who had heard the shooting reached the spot he utterly collapsed. The liquor which he had drank overcame him and he was unable to stand.

Sheriff Hamlin, who had been summoned, arrived, and Monahan was placed under arrest. Monahan did not seem to care very much at first after his arrest, although several times he looked as if he would like to make further trouble. He raved and swore and boasted of having "three bloods this morning."

This statement, repeated several times, led to a search and the discovery of the body of another man. The legs appeared to have been crushed, and at first there was some doubt as to the cause of death.

COUNTERFEITERS CAUGHT.

Italians Used Pure Silver to Make the Coin.

New York, Oct. 27.—Carlo Salla and his wife, Mary, were arraigned in the Jefferson Market Court yesterday on a charge of counterfeiting. Mrs. Salla went into Andrew Cuneo's store, at 507 West Broadway, and bought two cents' worth of fruit, paying for it with a counterfeit ten-cent piece.

Cuneo saw that the coin was spurious and followed the woman. She met her husband outside and they made small purchases in many stores, always paying with ten-cent pieces. the woman dropped the change she received in a small leather bag. Cuneo called Policeman Murphy and had the couple arrested. At the station house several bad coins were found in their possession. They also had several molds for the making of dimes.

Salla insisted that the coins were made of silver, saying that he found he could use that metal and make a profit. The counterfeits were well executed. Detectives Hunt and Wolf found the couple's two young children in the hall outside the rooms in Watts street, and took them to the rooms of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

Then the detectives decided to search the apartments of Salla. They hurried to the house. Salla's rooms are in the basement. They were not rewarded for their trouble until they found a rear window that was boarded up. The arrangement of the boards aroused their suspicions and they tore them down. To their astonishment, a dark cave was revealed to them. The detectives obtained a lamp and entered the subterranean apartment. It was six feet square and dug under the back yard. Here was a complete and expensive outfit for manufacturing counterfeit money.

A stamping machine, weighing probably 250 pounds, stood in one corner, while dies, molds and other paraphernalia were strewn about on the floor. A rolling machine for reducing the metal into strips of the required thickness was also in the cave. The detectives were unable to find any of the bogus coin. They learned that Salla and his wife have lived in the house for nearly two years, and none of the tenants was ever permitted to enter their rooms.

High-Up Masons.

Washington, Oct. 27.—The meeting of the Supreme Council of Sovereign Grand Inspectors-General, thirty-third and last degree of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Free Masonry, which is being held in this city is one of the utmost importance, and many interesting questions will come before the Supreme Council for a final disposition. The session will continue until Friday.

Among the questions to be acted on is the proposed removal of the Grand Orient of the Order, the headquarters having been situated at New York since 1807.

PUNISH THEM.

Not a single newspaper that comes to our office has thus far condoned the outrageous proceedings of the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company in its methods and attitude in respect to acquiring the right of way through a section of Bridgewater township about which there was some dispute with a rival company. The unanimous sentiment of the press has been of the severest condemnation, in most cases actually urging that all the principals concerned in the usurpation and defiance of the laws should be punished by imprisonment in jail. Beyond the opinion of newspapers in other sections, we know from the number of people who have personally spoken to us in approval of our attitude expressed in the editorial in Monday's paper that the citizens of the community wherein the anarchial scenes were enacted are aroused to a sense of the injustice done. The apparent victory of the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company ought to be made so hollow by the officials of Somerset county that its backers will never again attempt like proceedings. And as a matter of fact those officials will not be true to their sworn duties if some action is not instituted toward punishing the flagrant acts committed by those who were totally conscious of the wrong they were perpetrating.

BAH!

The good women of the Town Improvement Association are sorely in need of homely admonition when they set out to have Plainfield adopt the curfew bell. Such a movement smacks so much of foolishness and wasted effort that if it had been undertaken by an unorganized set of people, instead of an organization that has already accomplished some good for the town, it would be laughed down without a serious thought. The curfew bell is a relic of puritanical notions and even if tolerated on the statute books it would be a dead letter in effect. The Town Improvement Association has shown an energetic purpose in endeavoring to make the city a better one in some respects than it is, and they have been liberally commended and appreciated therefor. But when they essay to fasten a curfew restriction we feel like saying bah!

Newspaper men seem to be faring pretty nicely in the matter of acquiring public positions in New Jersey. The latest to grasp a fat official plum is Howard B. Tindell, the "Freeholder" of the New Jersey edition of the New York Press, whose saucy comments on things political in this commonwealth are a marked and interesting feature of the Press. Mr. Tindell is to have a place in the Supreme Court.

It is announced in Mercer county that Senator Edward C. Stokes will not accept the appointment as deputy clerk of the Supreme Court under William Riker, but will continue in the Senate and be a candidate for re-election next fall. It was found that Mr. Stokes could not accept the position and remain in the Senate, and he was unwilling to give up his political career.

Governor Griggs yesterday issued his proclomation declaring the anti-gambling and ad-interim amendments to the Constitution passed and the woman's suffrage amendment beaten. The proclamation of the Governor does not prevent the making of a recount on the anti-gambling amendment.

Without heralding ourselves as prophesiers, the thought is suggested that because the odds are on certain candidates now in a betting way, there is no reason to believe that the voters won't try to get even on election day.

This campaign is such a quiet one for Union county candidates that the walkover some of them claim they are going to have must involve a still hunt for votes.

CLOSED HIS WIFE'S OPTIC.

Cruel Assault Made by a Colored Man on His Wife.

A young colored woman, well dressed, came into city court this morning, with a terrible looking eye. It was Mrs. A. Alice Thompson, of Liberty street. Last evening, her husband, Paul Thompson, grew angry at her and struck her in the eye with his fist. The blow was a vicious one and left its mark behind. The wife made a complaint and the husband was arrested and spent the night in jail.

This morning Mrs. Thompson appeared and said that she did not want to press the charge. Thompson was very penitent and expressed great sorrow that he had injured his helpmeet.

The Judge was not inclined to deal leniently with a man who would strike his wife thus in anger but let Thompson off with a severe lecture and a fine of $10.

BEATS OFF THE HIGHWAYMEN.

Young VanHorn Leaves the Two Rascals Stretched Out.

A daring attempt to hold up Harry VanHorn, of New Brunswick, at a lonely spot on the road from Bound Brook to New Brunswick, Monday night, was foiled by VanHorn. He is eighteen, and the manager of his father's livery stable in New Brunswick.

When about half way to New Brunswick as he was driving slowly, because of a particularly dark stretch of road, two men sprang out of a clump of bushes at the side of the roadway. One caught the horse's bridle, bringing the animal to a stop. The other started to climb into the buggy.

VanHorn shouted to the fellows to release the horse.

"That's all right," said the man at the side of the wagon. "We want this turnout, and if you know when you are well off you will give it up without trouble."

VanHorn struck the nearest highwayman a blow with the butt end of the whip that stretched him out. He gave the horse a savage lash, and the animal sprang forward, throwing the other road agent under the wheels. VanHorn says both wheels went over the man.

On getting home he notified the police, and an effort was made to find the highwaymen, but without success It is thought they were tramps.

Quality and Price Are the Prizes.

What would you think of a lawyer who tried to secure clients by offering chances on a bicycle? Would you want the services of a physician who offered to give coal hods or sofa pillows to patients who employed him regularly?

We think not. We believe also that when sickness comes and you have prescriptions to be filled or need any other aid that the skilled pharmacist can render, you want perfect service at a fair price— nd nothing else.

We give such service. We are apt to save you 15 to 25 per cent on the cost—druggists that are conscientious about quality are pretty sure to be as careful about price.

LINCOLN.

A meeting of the school trustees of Piscataway township was held yesterday at Lincoln, and a majority of the board met Silas D. Drake, and the school trustees resolved to supply teachers for a public school and school exercises are to be commenced by December 1st. Mr. Drake, on behalf of the New Jersey Mutual Realty Co., agreed to build a new school building two stories high using the first floor for school, and church purposes, and the second story for Council meetings and public entertainments. The building will be completed by December 1st. Mr. Drake made some happy remarks to the school trustees, saying he felt it a compliment to have the town of Lincoln so recently founded to receive the approval and endorsement of the learned school trustees of Piscataway township, and it spoke volumns for the town to know that the trustees felt there was a necessity for a public school.

THEATRICAL.

It is only two or three times during the theatrical season that the patron of the drama is offered an opportunity of seeing so enjoyable a play as "Shore Acres." This interesting comedy-drama is the outcome of years of thought and labor on the part of its author, James A. Herne, and it is well known that he wrote the piece five times, and then not being satisfied with some of his character sketches he went and lived for nearly a year among the people he was representing, so that he might more truthfully portray their idiosyncrasies. It is an unusual thing for an actor to write so good a play as "Shore Acres," and Mr. Herne cannot be too warmly commended for giving to the English-speaking stage a work of such intrinsic merit. Arrangements have been made for a full scenic production of this famous play at Music Hall next Friday evening.

'FEST THE PRINCIPAL TOPIC.

The Coming Hospital Benefit Discussed by the Board of Governors.

The Spielkartenfest was the principal topic of conversation at the meeting of the board of governors of the Muhlenberg hospital, Monday evening. There was the regular routine business in connection with the hospital to be transacted and the report of the medical director, Dr. T. H. Tomlinson, was received.

The report showed that 21 patients had been admitted during the month, 18 discharged cured, 1 discharged improved. The total number treated was 37, and 18 remain in the hospital. There has been 43 treated at the dispensary and 124 visits made.

Blind?

Probably not, but why run the risk of seriously injuring your eyes by the use of incorrectly fitted glasses when you can be skillfully fitted by Leech, Stiles & Co., of Philadelphia, whose eye specialist is at 107 East Front street every Thursday. He will not charge you to determine if glasses will improve your sight.

Those who believe chronic diarrhœa to be incurable should read what Mr. P. E. Grisham, of Gaars Mills, La., has to say on the subject, viz.: "I have been a sufferer from chronic diarrhœa ever since the war and have tried all kinds of medicines for it. At last I found a remedy that effected a cure and that was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy." This medicine can always be depended upon for colic, cholera morbus, dysentery and diarrhœa. It is pleasant to take and never fails to affect a cure. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

REMARKABLE CASE.

A Bloomsburg Lawyer to Be Tried Again for Murder.

Bloomsburg, Pa., Oct. 27.—The retrial of Lloyd S. Wintersteen, a prominent lawyer of Bloomsburg, who is charged with attempting to kill Levi S. Waller and family, commenced yesterday.

This case, one of the most remarkable in the country, was first called for trial at Bloomsburg May 25, 1897, and after three weeks the jury disagreed, standing eight for conviction and four for acquittal. The case reads like a romance. Wintersteen, an ambitious and self-made man, has arisen after years of hard work to a prominent place among his fellow men, and was one of the most active lawyers and most wealthy man in Columbia County.

According to the story of Clifton Knorr, a college graduate and a somewhat dissipated young man, Wintersteen had a grudge against Waller and plotted to kill Waller by paying Knorr to shoot him down in the street.

It is alleged that when this failed he conceived the scheme of blowing up his house with dynamite and destroying not only Waller but his wife and family, and his father and mother. This plot, it is claimed, also failed through the careless fusing of the dynamite, the explosion merely destroying the front of the building and injuring no one.

Wintersteen is also accused of attempting to poison Knorr's aunt through the instrumentality of that young man, and for the purpose of gaining a large sum of money. Knorr says he was Wintersteen's tool and was paid for his work. Knorr has made a complete confession, and was the chief witness for the prosecution.

A panel of forty-eight jurors has been drawn for this trial, and it is expected that it will take at least two days to secure a jury. The prosecution claims it has secured further corroboration of Knorr's testimony, and expects to present a much stronger case than at the first trial.

They have, too, they say, some evidence that a couple of important witnesses for Wintersteen were bribed to testify falsely. The men charged with proposing the alleged bribery are now under arrest. The evidence relative to this feature is expected to have a marked effect on the case. The defense is silent as to its strength, but some new developments are expected.

Judge Ermentrout, of Reading, presides, and the same attorneys are engaged in the case. District Attorney Graham, of Philadelphia, is the leading attorney for the prosecution, and A. S. L. Shields, of Philadelphia, is the chief attorney for the defense.

HARRISON'S OPINION.

Arrives Home and Talks About the New York Campaign.

Indianapolis, Oct. 27.—Gen. Harrison reached home from New York yesterday, considerably tanned by his sojourn in the mountains. He said he had been running a crosscut saw and grubbing during the Summer, and looked significantly at his hands. When asked regarding New York politics, he said:

"As to the prospects of the campaign, I know nothing. I saw Gen. Tracy several times, but not within a week or ten days of my departure. He was busy with his campaign. I do not think that any one can predict the outcome of the campaign with so many parties in the field. The information I received came chiefly from the New York papers from day to day. The Republicans whom I met seemed to feel that they were going to win. They appeared to be sincere in that belief, but how much they really knew about it I cannot tell."

Gen. Harrison was asked to given an estimate of Henry George, and as to his strength as a candidate. This he declined to do. Continuing he said:

"I saw some of my old Republican friends who were supporting Low, and talked with them. I have nothing to say about Mr. Low. As to speeches, not talking about eloquence, Gen. Tracy is making a strong campaign. The campaign is in a tangle that nobody at this time can tell anything about. It is possible that in the days that are left there may be a turning of people from one to another of the candidates that will change the result greatly from any present indication."

GIRLS IN BURNT CORK

A Minstrel Show Given for the Benefit of Mount Vernon Church.

Mount, Vernon, Oct. 27.—Mount Vernon society was entertained last night with a minstrel performance at the Opera House, in which forty or more young women appeared with blackened faces and wearing short skirts of red satin, with full dress coats and waistcoats, and white shirts, collars and cuffs to match.

Some of the parents and members of Trinity Episcopal Church, in aid of which the show was given, orginally challenged the propriety of short skirts, and for a time it looked as if this feature would be abandoned. But arguments in favor of the short skirts finally triumphed.

"I don't see why we can't wear medium skirts on the stage," said one of the girls. "They're not near so short as the ones some of the older women who are criticising us wear when they go out for a ride on their bicycles."

Every one who saw the performance last night was pleased, and reported that it was modest and proper. The interlocutor was Miss Mary Lewis, representing QuQeen Lil of the Sandwich Islands. The tambourines were Misses Hattie and Annie Loomis, and the bones Miss Evelyn Graham, a daughter of the rector, and Miss Blanche Martin. The affair ended with a cake walk. It was liberally applauded throughout. The receipts will be used to repair the organ, which broke down during the service only last Sunday morning.

Marine Band Not to Go.

Washington, Oct. 27.—Because of the protests of the labor unions, which fear the competition of the Marine Band, the Secretary of the Navy has revoked the permission which he gave the organization some time ago to go to Chicago to furnish music for the horse show.

More Gold Is Coming.

Sydney, N. S. W., Oct. 27.—The steamship Mariposa, which sailed from here for San Francisco, carried $1,275,000 in gold to the United States.

This makes a total gold shipment so far this year of $9,375,000.

Canals Without Water

Are Like Blood Vessels Without Blood

A half-filled canal is of little service; commerce and a steamboat navigates such a canal with great difficulty. So also with a human being when the blood vessels are only half filled with blood, or when the blood is pale and watery, the heart is at serious disadvantage. It also draws its own nourishment from this blood and so is doubly hampered if the blood is lacking in iron or Haemoglobin. If you haven't sufficient of this fuel you should take Capsuloids, a scientific preparation of pure iron extracted from fresh bullocks blood enclosed in little, soft gelatine globes which quickly melt in the stomach and the natural iron passes instantly into the blood.

Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids are sold by all leading druggists at 50 cents per large box, six boxes for $2.50, or sent direct at the same price by The Capsuloid Company, Downing Building, 78 Fulton Street, New York.

evidently, and the business should be done by all means. Buildings require paint. Of course, a house may be left unpainted and left to become weather beaten and a wreck. That doesn't pay, though; it's much cheaper to paint, and our paints in all colors are the best in the market for durability under the most trying conditions. They are well adapted to our exposure and we sell everything in the line of paints and painters' supplies at short prices.

The Tables Turned.

We have almost solved the servant girl problem.

Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.

The tables are turned, and we have turned them.

We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.

Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "

What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

CHORUS GIRL'S DESTITUTION.

Gertie Pearl Price Makes Three Attempts at Suicide.

Catasauqua, Pa., Oct. 27.—An attempt at suicide was made yesterday afternoon at Hokendauqua by a chours girl of a stranded opera company. The woman's name is Gertrude Pearl Price. While a member of an opera company she became stranded with the rest of the company at Chelsea, Mass., and was sent to New York on a boat. From there the woman started out to get to Chicago the best way she could. She walked from Jersey City to Raritan, N. J., between Saturday night and Monday night. Then she was put on a train and sent to Easton, Pa. The Poor authorities there assisted her to this place.

At about 1 o'clock Miss Price landed at Catasauqua, and fifteen minutes later she was on the high bridge spanning the Lehigh River at Hokendauqua. She was hungry, destitute and penniless. She tried to jump from the bridge into the water, but was chased from the structure before she was able to carry her intention into effect. As she got to the east end of the bridge a trolley car came along, and she threw herself on the tracks to be ground up. The car was stopped in time to prevent her being hurt. The woman then disappeared, and appeared at the rear of the Thomas Iron Company's works. She was about to jump from the bank into the river, when Ed Kade and Patrick McClain seized her and took her in charge. They brought her to the Eagle Hotel at Catasauqua and put her in charge of Chief Sheckler. Capt. Bartholomew provided her with dinner at the hotel and made her comfortable. An effort is being made this afternoon to secure subscriptions to send her to her friends at Chicago.

"OLD SALT" IS DEAD.

He Was Lieutenant-Governor Under Gov. Fenton.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 27.—Thomas Gold Alvord, known as "Old Salt," died yesterday of old age. He had been confined to his bed for a fortnight, gradually failing.

Thomas G. Alvord was born in Onondaga, N. Y., Dec. 20, 1810, of English and Dutch descent. His grandfathers on both sides were Revolutionary pensioners. He was a lieutenant in the Home Guards under Gov. Throop. In politics Mr. Alvord was originally a Democrat, but in 1861 he became a war Democrat, and had since been a Republican, although he supported Greeley in 1872.

Mr. Alvord represented his district in the Assembly during the years 1844, 1858, 1862, 1864, 1870, 1871, 1872, 1874, 1875, 1877 and 1878. He was Speaker of the House in 1858, 1864 and 1879.

He was elected Lieutenant-Governor in 1864 on the ticket with Gov. Fenton, and served in that capacity for two years.

Mr. Alvord was made a member of the Constitutional Convention in 1867-68. During his long service he worked upon many of the most important committees of the House, and was repeatedly chairman of the Ways and Means, and chairman of the Apportionment Committee in 1878.

FOOTBALL COST HIS LIFE.

Boy Dies of a Broken Neck Received in a Scrimmage.

New York, Oct. 27.—Andrew Hasche, of this city, died yesterday in the Astoria Hospital, L. I., of a broken neck. The injury was received in a scrimmage in a game of football in which Hasche engaged at Casino Beach, near Steinway, on Sunday afternoon.

The scrimmage in which Hasche was injured occurred in the second half of the game. The eleven of which young Hasche was a member was fighting hard to prevent the advance of the ball, and the scrimmages were frequent and fierce. When the mass of players disentangled themselves after one of these struggles Hasche was found unconscious at the bottom of the heap. When ordinary efforts to revive him proved vain physicians were summoned, and an examination showed that Hasche's neck was broken.

He was still living, and early in the evening he was removed to the Astoria Hospital. He remained in a comatose condition until his death. He was 19 years old.

England's Big Strike.

London, Oct. 27.—The federated employers of the engineering and shipbuilding trades held a meeting at Manchester yesterday. They decline to announce their decision in advance of communication with the Board of Trade, but it is understood that they will agree to hold a conference with the striking employees upon these conditions:

That the demands of the men for a forty-eight-hour working week be unconditionally withdrawn, and that there shall be no discussion as to arbitration of the question of hours.

Low Gains in the Betting.

New York, Oct. 27.—The odds on Van Wyck against the field took another drop yesterday, this time going from 5 to 3, where they stood on Saturday night, to 5 to 4. It was thought by betting men last night that this shift in the odds on Van Wyck against the field was more than usually significant, inasmuch as the change was made by Tammany bettors. These same men predict that still further changes along this line will be reported before the end of the week.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Ten new cases of yellow fever were reported in New Orleans yesterday.

The War Department has located the lost Fifth Infantry near Kingston, Tenn.

Trouble is threatened in Borgu, West Africa, between the French and English interests.

Gov. Griggs issued his proclamation declaring the anti-gambling amendment passed in New Jersey.

John A. Jordan, a deputy sheriff, was shot at Lakeview, N. J., by John Marboefen, who suspected that he was a burglar.

Ute Indians near Lilly Park, Col., resisted arrest after violating the game law and fired on the game warden, whose party then killed five Utes.

Col. John J. McCook, at Kansas City, said he had received no intimation of an invitation to succeed Attorney-General McKenna in President McKinley's Cabinet.

WE AIM

To bring our goods within easy reach of every purchaser. With that object in view we have established Five New Jersey Stores, each of which handles the same goods and at the same price.

Try the store nearest to you and see if a wholesale house operating its own purchasing offices and elevators has any advantage over the local store which depends on the promises of others.

CHORUS GIRL'S DESTITUTION.

Gertie Pearl Price Makes Three Attempts at Suicide.

The pathetic tale of the young woman who fled into the hands of two policemen on Watchung avenue Saturday night, laboring under the hallucination that she was pursued by two highwaymen, came near having a tragic sequel in Pennsylvania yesterday, and as it was it proved exciting enough. The following news item taken from The Press telegraphic service tells the story:

Catasauqua, Pa., Oct. 27.—An attempt at suicide was made yesterday afternoon at Hokendauqua by a chours girl of a stranded opera company. The woman's name is Gertrude Pearl Price. While a member of an opera company she became stranded with the rest of the company at Chelsea, Mass., and was sent to New York on a boat. From there the woman started out to get to Chicago the best way she could. She walked from Jersey City to Raritan, N. J., between Saturday night and Monday night. Then she was put on a train and sent to Easton, Pa. The Poor authorities there assisted her to this place.

At about 1 o'clock Miss Price landed at Catasauqua, and fifteen minutes later she was on the high bridge spanning the Lehigh River at Hokendauqua. She was hungry, destitute and penniless. She tried to jump from the bridge into the water, but was chased from the structure before she was able to carry her intention into effect. As she got to the east end of the bridge a trolley car came along, and she threw herself on the tracks to be ground up. The car was stopped in time to prevent her being hurt. The woman then disappeared, and appeared at the rear of the Thomas Iron Company's works. She was about to jump from the bank into the river, when Ed Kade and Patrick McClain seized her and took her in charge. They brought her to the Eagle Hotel at Catasauqua and put her in charge of Chief Sheckler. Capt. Bartholomew provided her with dinner at the hotel and made her comfortable. An effort is being made this afternoon to secure subscriptions to send her to her friends at Chicago.

—Lucetta Council will give an entertainment and dance in Washington Hall this evening.

—Neuman Bros, the Watchung avenue grocers, have just received a shipment of 500 bushels of choice early rose potatoes.

—Childs & Stanley will have a special sale of plants and flowers at their store, 142 North avenue, commencing tomorrow. Those desiring some choice plants for the house will do well by calling early.

SINK HOLES MUST BE FILLED UP.

Board of Health Orders a North Avenue Nuisance to be Abolished.

The attention of the local health authorities has been called to the condition of the sunken fields on North avenue in the vicinity of Netherwood. The stagnant water gathers there and is a menace to the health of all those living in that neighborhood. Some time ago the Board of Health ordered these lots to be filled up but it has not been done and the Board again considered the matter at the regular meeting of the Board last evening.

The Board decided that the lots must be filled up at once and ordered that a notice to that effect be given to all the property owners who own any of the land in question.

The house to house inspection of West Front and Second streets was reported completed and the Board ordered that all houses on those streets, west of Central avenue, be connected with the sewer.

After the usual routine business, the report of the health inspector, William Addis, was received.

ENDEAVORERS INVITED.

Epworth League Extend an Invitation in a Spirit of Love and Unity.

An invitation has come to the Local Union of Christian Endeavor Societies from the Epworth Leagues of the city to attend the district convention to be held in this city tomorrow. The invitation came too late to be read at the last meeting of the individual societies so that it is extended to all the Endeavorers in this manner. It is none the less cordial because it was not in time for the meetings and will receive a general response from the local Endeavorers.

Justice Thomas' Court.

Yesterday afternoon in Justice Thomas' court was tried the contract case of John Cronin against R. F. M. Chase and his wife, Miss Anna S. Chase. H. C. Runyon appeared for the plaintiff, and judgment was given him for the full amount, including costs. The defendants did not appear. The case of C. R. Mitchell, president of the Mutual Fertilizing Company, of Tremley, against J. Newton Voorhis, of Middlebush, to recover the amount of a promissory note, was also tried and judgment was given in full to the plaintiff.

MISCHIEF GOT THEM IN JAIL.

Colored Boys Took T. J. Carey's Horses Without Asking the Owner.

The puzzle which Councilman Tunis J. Carey has been considering for some time has been solved. He used to find that several of his horses were completely used up when morning came and he wondered. Now it has been discovered that two colored lads have been visiting his barn on West Front street, borrowing his horses without leave, driving them most of the night and then leaving them in the barn again in an exhausted condition.

It is alleged that the two young offenders were Jim Connett and George Kline. Kline was arrested and locked up by Constable Mattox last evening on a warrant issued by Justice Nash. Connett gave himself up last night and appeared for a hearing this morning with Kline. They were held in $100 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury. The charge is malicious mischief. They cannot get bail.

DIDN'T PAY FOR HIS BOARD

Oscar Vaughn Accused of Making False Pretences to His Landlord.

Oscar Vaughn was arrested by Patrolman Higgins last evening on a warrant issued by Justice Nash, charging him with securing board on false pretences. The complainant is Walter Williams, of West Fourth street. He says that Vaughn claimed to be in the employ of the Potter Press Works and promised an order for his board bill. He was not working and left, it is alleged, without paying the bill.

Vaughn is also charged by the police with attempting to commit suicide. He says that he was merely trying to avoid a train on the railroad and had no intention of throwing himself in front of a passing train.

He was held in $100 bail for a hearing tomorrow morning.

A Flood of Scalding Water.

This morning about 10:30 a serious accident was narrowly averted at Henry A. Voehl's bakery on Somerset street. The water-back in the kitchen range burst and threw a large quantity of water all over the kitchen. It was thought that the house would take fire, and an alarm was sent from Box 141 at the corner of Manning avenue and Somerset street by a young man named DeCamp. In the meantime, Mr. Voehl and his men succeeded in repairing the trouble. The oil cloth on the floor was scalded in spots by the boiling water that gushed forth from the range, but fortunately no one happened to be near the range at the time. The fire apparatus was not taken out. Mr. Voehl at once secured a plumber and had a new water-back put in to replace the damaged one. The cause assigned for the break is a defective water-back.

Their Tenth Wedding Anniversary.

The tenth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. David T. Kenney, of 151 Grove street, was celebrated at their residence last evening. Mr. and Mrs. Kenney received the many friends who came to congratulate them upon the occasion and the evening was spent in a most pleasurable manner. It was a repetition of the day that was being celebrated with most of the friends present who came to congratulate the couple ten years ago.

Death of Mrs. Fenesey.

The death of Mrs. Bridget Fenesey, a widow, aged 80 years, occurred at her home, 534 West Fourth street, last evening. She leaves two daughters and one son. The latter is the station agent at the Fanwood station on the Central Railroad. The funeral will be held from St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

A BRILLIANT WEDDING.

Marriage of Dr. Louis G. Newman and Miss Lillian M. Wright in New York.

A pretty and largely attended wedding last evening was that of Miss Lillian M. Wright, the only child of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Clark Wright, to Dr. Louis Gilbert Newman, of Brewster, N. Y., which took place at 8 o'clock in the Union Methodist Episcopal church, in West Forty-eighth street, New York city, of which the bride's father is pastor. The floral decorations were elaborate and effective, and some special music was contributed by the regular choir of the church, assisted by professional musicians. As the bridal party entered the church at 8 o'clock the choir sang the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin," and during the ceremony there was subdued music played by the organist. The officiating clergymen were the brides's father, Rev. Dr. Wright; Rev. Dr. Richards, of this city; Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, of the Metropolitan Tabernacle, New York; Rev. Dr. James M. Yeager, of Carmel, N. Y.; Rev. Dr. William N. Searles, of New York, and Rev. E. L. Hoffecker, of Kingston, N. Y. The bride, a beautiful young woman, wore a gown of white satin trimmed with point lace and chiffon. Her veil of tulle was caught up with orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of lillies of the valley. Her only attendant was her cousin, Miss Alice M. Lent, of New Rochelle. The bridegroom, who formerly lived in this city, and a graduate of the Homœpathic University, of New York, had as best man his brother, Frederick B. Newman, of Williams College.

The ushers, New York University men, were Dr. Klots, Dr. Ives, of Mount Vernon; Campbell C. Carmichel, Frank W. Dobbs, E. V. Valentine, Charles Fletcher Lent and Wm. Sebrecht. There was no reception. Dr. and Mrs. Newman leaving the city on their honeymoon trip. They will pass some time in Tennesse, and on their return will live in Brewster.

Searing-Pruden Nuptials.

A pretty wedding was solemnized last evening when Miss Mabel Pruden became the wife of Augustus Searing, at the home of the bride's parents, 148 East Second street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of which both the bride and groom are members. Only the immediate relatives of the couple were present at the ceremony, and after a wedding supper had been served, Mr. and Mrs. Searing left upon their wedding journey. Upon their return they will reside in their own house on Westervelt avenue.

Likely to Appeal to the Courts.

A meeting of the objectors to the report of the Watchung avenue Commissioners in the borough, was held last evening in the basement of St. Joseph's church. There was a large attendance of those interested, including Lawyer G. W. Bird, Andrew Lutkins, Richard Boyce, Messrs. Daley as leaders of the movement to carry the matter to the courts. No definite action was taken at the meeting but another meeting will be held soon when it is believed that some decisive steps will be taken.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1897. TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR.

K. A. O. E. INSTITUTED.

AUSPICIOUS BEGINNING OF THE CHARTER SENATE OF NEW JERSEY.

Its Membership is of the Highest Character and Standing in the Community—Names of Officers Installed.

Plainfield is the home of many prosperous and substantial lodges of secret orders, but never was one inaugurated under more auspicious circumstances than Plainfield Senate, Knights of the Ancient Essenic Order, which was officially instituted last night in Masonic Hall in the Babcock building. It is the 621st senate in the world and has the distinctive honor of being the charter one in New Jersey, with 101 members of the highest character and standing in the community.

It was early in last June when Major Samuel W. Wall, supreme deputy organizer, arrived in town for the purpose of organizing a senate here. It was not an encouraging outlook before Mr. Wall, considering the fact that he was a total stranger and had come into a city already prolific with institutions very similar in general purposes to the one with which he was identified. But his ability as organizer was demonstrated last night in the fine body of men present at the meeting, whom he had induced to constitute the senate.

The senate was instituted by Gen. C. J. Weatherby, of Biloxi, Miss., supreme ruler of the order, assisted by Col. George C. Campbell, of Massachusetts, and Major Wall. Previous to last night eighty-three members had taken the secret work in lecture form, and last night eighteen more were given the lecture by General Weatherby, at the conclusion of which the senate was instituted by the installation of officers and the declaration of the supreme ruler.

After the officers had been inducted into the offices and their duties explained to them by the instituting officers, brief remarks were made by General Weatherby, Col. Campbell and Major Walls. Delegations of Knights were present from Newark and New Brunswick, where senates are being organized and will be instituted in a short time.

The officers of the senate are as follows: Excellent senator, Frank H. Smith; senior seneshal, William N. Runyon; junior seneshal, Frank Jones; sarcedas, Nathan Titsworth, secretary, Clarence L. Murphy; treasurer, George O. Stevens; trustees, E. V. French, Charles B. Sturdevant and L. S. Pocock; senior vigilante, Frank Blatz; junior vigilante, Fred W. Stack; councilors, H. C. VanEmburgh, J. S. Higham, Robert Clark, C. J. McNabb, Thomas Smith, F. D. Randolph, Alonzo Titsworth, M. C. VanArsdale, C. E. Teel, George Schoonmaker and C. C. Pierson.

At the conclusion of the meeting the members adjourned to the banquet room, where a sumptuous spread was served by Caterer Stephenson. During the course of the refreshments numerous selections were rendered by the musical talent of the senate.

The senate will meet the second and fourth Wednesdays in each month in Red Men's Hall.

The objects of the order are purely fraternal and social, no direct financial benefits being attached to it.

A Plainfielders Advancement.

The Electric Arc Light Company has removed its offices from 687 689 Broadway, to the American Tract Society building, 150 Nassau street. William C. Hubbard, of 427 West Seventh street, Plainfield, has been elected secretary and general salesagent of the company and will have charge of the new office. Mr. Hubbard is a pioneer in the enclosed-arc lamp business, having been associated with Prof. L. B. Marks from the first experiments in this line, and assisted largely in the introduction of the "Pioneer" arc lamp.

City Nurse Resigns.

Miss Rendall, who for some time past has been employed by the city union of King's Daughters, has resigned her position, and for the present Miss Palmer, a nurse at the hospital, is filling the position. Commencing with December 1st, Miss Hartranft, who is now assistant superintendent at the hospital, will take the position permanently. Miss Rendall has decided to adopt other lines of similar work.

Life on the Bridge.

The second illustrated lecture entitled "Life on the Bridge" (Constantinople) will be given by H. K. Samuelian in Y. M. C. A. Hall this evening at 8 o'clock. The lecture is said to represent the crowd passing in great waves, each one of which is of a hundred colors, and every group of persons represent a new style of people. Reference to another column of this paper will show the remarkably low price of admission.

PARKS AGAIN VICTOROUS.

STILL HOLD CHALLENGE TROPHY

The North End Club, of Newark, Were the Defeated Ones—Other Whist Games for the Week.

The Park Club whist four added another victory to their already long list last evening. It was another contest for the Park Club challenge trophy which the Parks took away from the Elizabeth Athletic Club two weeks ago. Last week the Parks defeated the North End Club, of Newark, and this week the new challengers, the New Jersey Whist Club, of Newark, came to this city in an effort to win the trophy.

The Parks took a lead at the start and retained it to the end, although their opponents braced up in the third round and decreased the lead. The final score was 15 to 12, the Parks winning by three tricks. The game was close enough to be exciting and the Park team found the visitors worthy adversaries.

The New Jersey Whist Club was represented around the tables by Dr. Long, and Messrs. Rose, Foerster and Tappin. The regular team represented the Park Club. This was the fourteenth victory for the cup since it was offered.

Friday evening the Park Club four will go to Newark to play the Otis team of the New Jersey Whist Club for the American Whist League challenge trophy. The Otis team is composed of several of the same players that came to Plainfield as representatives of the North End Club and include some of the best players in the State. Although from the same club as the team that was defeated by the Parks last evening, the players are different.

Saturday evening all New Jersey plays the Atlentic Association for the Auxiliary trophy. The Atlentic Association includes Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland. There will be forty players on either side. The Park Club will furnish six, Messrs. Townsend, McCutchen, Howell, Rogers, Reed and Matthews.

LUCETTA'S INCREASED FUNDS.

$105 Turned In as a Result of the Contest for a Bicycle.

An entertainment and dance was given last evening in Washington Hall under the auspices of Lucetta Council, Daughters of Liberty. The programme consisted of an overture by Nathan Guttman's orchestra, recitations by Miss Try Mattox, Miss Belle DeMott and W. R. Mattox, songs by B. W. Hand, cornet solo by Nathan Guttman, xylophone solos by Clarence Hillman. Two tableaux were given. The first was entitled "The New Woman," and was presented by Mr. Whiteneyberger and Miss Messler. The second tableau was called "Americans," and was attractively arranged. Miss Emma Stratton represented the Goddess of Liberty, and the part of Uncle Sam was taken by Fred. Ross. The Indian character was taken by Miss Sadie Mattox, while Mrs. Robinson, Miss Try Mattox and Miss White, represented the Red, White and Blue.

A great deal of interest was manifested in the awarding of the contest for the bicycle, which was contested for by several members of the council. John Bowman, of Pioneer Council, Bound Brook, secured the wheel, as he turned in the largest sum of money, $68. Mrs. Oliver Voorhis was second, and she collected $20. Mrs. W. W. Stratton turned in $12 and Mrs. Halfpenny $5. In all $105 was given over to the council.

Those who composed the committee in charge of the affair were Miss Try Mattox, chairman; Miss White, W. W. Stratton, B. W. Hand, W. B. Ayers and Mrs. W. R. Mattox.

Revival Services.

Tomorrow evening revival services will be commenced at Grace M. E. church. The "Drew Quartette," from Drew Theological Seminary, will have charge of the services, and will speak as well as sing. They will remain here until Monday night, and will return to the church next week Friday and will remain until the following Monday. This arrangement is made so that studies will not be interfered with at the Seminary.

Damrosch Recital.

An explanatory recital on the piano will be given by Walter Damrosch, the well-known orchestral conductor, at the Casino tonight. The recital will be on Wagner's opera, "Tristan and Isolde." Walter Damrosch will be the guest this evening of Mrs. Pierre Mali, of East Front street.

Druggist Randolph to Build a Home.

B. A. Hegeman, Jr., of Washington Park, has sold one of his valuable lots on Myrtle avenue to L. W. Randolph, the Front street druggist. Mr. Randolph will at once commence the erection of a handsome home for himself.

Interesting Local News on the Third Page.

YET IN HIS TEENS HE TRAGICALLY ENDS HIS LIFE

Eighteen-year-old Boy Hired a Hotel Room to Use as a Death Chamber.

Bertram Weitheimer Came From New York to Plainfield and Committed Suicide by Drinking Carbolic Acid and Shooting Himself in the Abdomen With a Revolver—Died in the Hospital.

Why Bertram Weitheimer, of 342 East 62d street, New York, came to Plainfield yesterday afternoon and attempted to commit suicide at Schorb's Hotel on East Front street is the all-absorbing question that is puzzling the police of this city. Such was the case, however, and the result of the well attempted effort was successful.

It was 2:09 o'clock yesterday afternoon when Mr. Weitheimer arrived in Plainfield on the Central Railroad train due in this city at that time. He was of medium height, well dressed in the latest fashion, and had the appearance of being a prosperous young man. He was a German-Jew and about 18 years of age.

Soon after his arrival he went to Schorb's Hotel and made arrangements for a night's lodging. He at first called at Henry Haurand's saloon and inquired of Frank Haurand, the bartender, where the proprietor was. The man was directed to the second floor where Mrs. Schorb lives, and when he ascended the stairs and entered Mrs. Schorb's room, there were present Mrs. Rochet, her daughter, Miss Josie Rochet, William Trust and Mrs. Schorb. Mr. Weitheimer made known his errand and Mrs. Schorb gave him the choice between a room for thirty-five cents and one for fifty cents. He decided to take the former room. In his hand he carried a neatly-wrapped package, which was missing last evening after the fatality occurred. He informed Mrs. Schorb that he had some business about town and he would return later and he soon afterward left the hotel.

It was about 4:15 when he returned to the hotel, and he immediately went to his room. He had not been in his room over ten minutes when those in the room below heard some strange noises as though someone was in great agony. Miss Josie Rochet was the first one to hear the noise, and she spoke to her mother about it. Just then Mrs. Rochet heard the same noise but she thought little of it at first, for she was of the opinion that it came from the saloon. The groans continued and an investigation was deemed best. Mrs. Rochet ascended the stairs to the floor above where the stranger was located. When nearly to the top of the stairs she looked up and noticed that the door of the room occupied by Weitheimer was open, and stretched out on the bed was the stranger.

He was groaning and fighting the air frantically as though mad. Without going further she returned to her room and told what she had seen. Immediately Mr. Trust hastened for Sergeant Kiely and Dr. Long. The former arrived first and took charge. Soon afterward Dr. Long arrived. The man was found in an unconscious condition, but apparently in terrible agony. On a table close to the bed was a wine glass and a small bottle labeled "carbolic acid." Dr. Long endeavored to ascertain whether the man had taken any acid, but was unable to detect the odor of the acid on his breath. Lying on the floor near the bed was a revolver of 32 calibre. One cartridge had been used, the ball out of which had entered the left side of the abdomen. The man was undressed.

Dr. Long made an examination and found that the man was in a very critical condition. He thought it best to have him taken to the hospital and the ambulance was sent for. This was between 4:30 and 5 o'clock. A search was made about the room and through the man's clothes to see if there was anything by which he could be identified. But all efforts failed in this direction until later in the evening, when Miss Moss, superintendent at the hospital, through great effort, succeeded in arousing the man sufficiently to get his name and address as given above. No further information was she able to secure, for he lapsed off into unconsciousness and so remained until he died.

The police locked the door to the room at the hotel after removing Whitehamer and later they returned and made a search. They found a note torn into shreds and were able to learn that it was from Elizabethport and was addressed to "Harry." The clothes were taken in charge and will be sent back to Brooklyn with the body. The case is being investigated and later developments may disclose the object of the deed.

Miss Josie Rochet says that she heard the discharge of the pistol at the hotel, but it was not a loud report. Mr. Trust states that when he left the stranger in his room he opened the window so that the room might be aired, but when the man was found by the police the window was closed tightly.

Weitheimer wore a dark suit of clothes of exceedingly fine texture, a light overcoat, a brown derby and patent leather shoes. He also carried some jewelry, very little money, and any number of pocket novelties, but not a piece of paper, a letter or a card was found on him.

Dr. Long, in conversation with a Daily Press reporter this morning, said that Weitheimer drank an ounce of carbolic acid, but first the odor of it could not be detected, the effects of it were seen in the mouth and throat after he was taken to the hospital. Last evening the full hospital staff was in attendance and an operation was performed on the abdomen. The bullet was not found, but the traces of it showed that it had penetrated the stomach. The acid alone was sufficient to cause death, and no doubt the real cause.

Weitheimer died at 9 o'clock this morning, and ten minutes before he died he aroused from unconsciousness and told Miss Moss, the superintendent, concerning himself. He said that his father was living in Germany, and that he has a sister living in New York who is a dressmaker. He secured a promise that his address would not be given, but it was in the vicinity of the address given above. He also stated that he had been employed in New York as a bookkeeper, but just where he refused to tell. He told Miss Moss that he had no desire to live and wanted to die. When asked why he committed the deed, he refused to divulge the secret.

Miss Moss sent a telegram to the dead man's sister this morning, and Chief Grant went to New York this morning to ascertain concerning the relatives and what should be done with the body.

The bottle containing the carbolic acid was purchased in New York, as was shown by the name on the bottle, part of which was defaced.

RECEPTION OF A CHURCH AID.

Helping Hand Society Entertained in a Charming Manner.

The Helping Hand Society of the Grace P. E. church gave a reception to their friends in the parish house last evening. The reception proved a charming affair and was well attended by the members of the congregation of that church. The members of the society, under the direction of their president, Mrs. W. T. Pelletier, received the guests and then passed the refreshments later during the evening. The rooms were charmingly decorated for the occasion, the prevailing color of the decorations being light green. Rugs, easy chairs and divans are arranged about the rooms and gave them the finishing touch needed.

Young Westervelt Out of Jail.

Former Deputy Sheriff W. H. Reynolds became bondsman for Charles Westervelt yesterday, one of the young men charged with the Frucht robbery. The bail was fixed at $500, and the recognizance is for Westervelt's appearance at an examination to be held tomorrow morning.

GIVEN LICENSES AT LAST.

Campbell, at Summit, and Huber, at Westfield, Have Applications Granted.

After a fight which has lasted nearly two years, Joseph F. Campbell, of Summit, obtained a license yesterday from the Union County Court. Campbell was in business in Summit for several years, and about two years ago built a new saloon. The law and order people protested against the granting of a license on the ground that the saloon was too close to the town hall, and also in proximity to a school.

They presented a big remonstrance to the court and have succeeded in holding up the license at every term of the court until now. Campbell's bondsmen are Prosecutor F. C. Marsh and County Detective Keron.

Michael A. Huber, of Westfield, whose license application has also been held up for some time by the court, was granted permission yesterday to open his place for business.

—Frank W. Morse will move next week from his flat in the Jackson building to his new residence at Garwood.

DON'T WANT TO JOIN A. A. U.

BASKET BALL PLAYERS PERPLEXED.

The Game is Becoming so Popular That an Effort is Being Made to Keep Professionals out.

There is trouble in the ranks of the basket ball players, not only in this city but throughout the State. The trouble is occasioned by the action of the Amateur Athletic Union which compels the players, as far as possible, to come into the fold of that organization.

Until this year there has been nothing said about the A. A. U. in regard to the basket ball games that have been played throughout the country. At first the game was almost exclusively confined to Y. M. C. A.'s, but now it is gaining in favor among the athletic clubs and colleges of the country and the A. A. U., which is the governing body in regard to athletics in this country, has decided that the game should come under its protection to keep from it the taint of professionalism, which it was claimed was gradually creeping into the game.

All members of the A. A. U. have to pay yearly dues of $1, and it is also necessary to pay $1 to the union. Members are forbidden from playing against those who are not members and it is necessary to have the games sanctioned by the A. A. U., under penalty of suspension.

Now the Plainfield boys are not anxious to join the A. A. U., but, under the present outlook, it appears that they will have to if they want to play any of the outside teams, most of which have joined the union. Several of the best players on the Plainfield team have utterly refused to join and, while several others are already members, the team will have to be either one or the other. The boys are still practicing but, unless some new way of getting out of the present situation appears, the Plainfield team will not have the strong team, if any, on the floor that she expected to have, or would have, but for this very unexpected course of events.

JUSTICE STORMS CRITICISED.

Charged That Certain Fees Were Not Turned Over to County Clerk.

Alfred Storms, a justice of the peace, of New Market, was severely criticised in the Court of Common Pleas of Middlesex county, at New Brunswick yesterday morning, by ex-Senator Robert Adrain. It was in the case of Kelly Brothers against Fred J. Harris. Mr. Adrain asked that the case be put on the list. "The County Clerk," said Mr. Adrain, "has not put the case on the list because Justice Storms, before whom the case was tried in the first place, has not sent in the fees. These were paid over to him. This may be a case of forgetfulness, and then again it may not. At any rate justices of the peace in this glorious county of Middlesex have been known to do this sort of thing before. We want the case to go on the list, and, if necessary, will pay the fees a second time." The case was ordered placed on the trial list.

Borough Drunks.

A batch of cases were treated in Recorder Thomas court this morning, all of them being drunk and disorderly. John Murphy was arrested this morning by Marshal Wise, and was released after paying a $10 fine. John Pope was found at the Arlington Hotel early this morning causing a disturbance. His hearing was set down for this evening Mrs. Hannah Vandevoort, who lives near the mountain, was intoxicated yesterday afternoon and was arrested. This morning she paid a $4 fine and was released. In default of paying his fine John McElroy was taken to Somerville this afternoon by Constable Hansen, and will spend thirty days at that place.

Examined the Bridge.

The members of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders met in this city Tuesday afternoon to examine the Watchung and Sycamore avenue bridges. They spent considerable time at the bridge and seemed to be very much satisfied with the work and the progress of it.

Busy Time for Dressmakers.

As an evidence of the great interest that the social circles are taking in the coming Spielkartenfest, it may be noted that the Plainfield dressmakers declared that they have not been so busy for many months as at present in preparing the many gowns for the different dances.

Now a Paying Teller.

F. S. Cutter, of Richmond street, has secured a very desirable position in the New Amsterdam Bank, corner of Broadway and 39th street, New York, that of one of the paying tellers at the ladies' window, and he entered upon his duties Monday morning.

—Next Monday evening the City Council will hold its regular November meeting.

PLIGHTED LOVE FOR LIFE

NUPTIAL VOWS TAKEN BY POPULAR COUPLE BENEATH A FLORAL BELL.

Miss Minnie Zeisz the Bride and Charles H. VanMiddlesworth, of Brooklyn, the Groom—The House Prettily Decorated.

Amid a large concourse of admiring relatives and friends, Miss Minnie Zeisz, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Zeisz, of Chatham street, and Charles Henry VanMiddlesworth, of Brooklyn, were united in marriage last evening at the home of the bride, by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., pastor of Trinity Reformed church.

The house was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and flowers, while in one corner of the parlor, where the ceremony was performed, was a large arch of flowers, in the centre of which was suspended a white floral bell.

At the appointed hour, 8:30, Miss Matie VanHorn, who presided at the piano, rendered the "Bridal Chorus," from Lohengrin. At the same time the bridal procession entered the parlor. First came Miss Lillian Zeisz, sister of the bride, and Miss Stella Apgar, who acted as bridemaids. They were gowned in white organdie over pink silk, trimmed with pink satin ribbons, and they carried bouquets of pink roses. Following was the bride and groom. The bride was richly gowned in white organdie over white silk. She wore a veil which was caught up with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. Then came the groomsmen, Theodore A. Kurzhals, of this city, and Howard Lacy, of Brooklyn. The party formed a circle beneath the floral bell, and during the ceremony the wedding march was played by Miss VanHorn.

After the ceremony, congratulations were showered on the two popular young people, and following a brief social time a wedding supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. VanMiddlesworth received bountifully from their relatives and friends, in the way of useful and ornamental presents, and they will find the gifts very handy in their new home in Brooklyn. The groom has a lucrative position in the City of Churches, and his employer very kindly remembered him in a handsome manner by furnishing one room complete in his new home.

The house was thronged with guests from Brooklyn, New York, Westfield, Elizabeth, Newark, Dunellen and Plainfield, and when the bride and groom left the house for Brooklyn, they found it exceedingly difficult to get away, for the guests played all sorts of tricks on them. They will go to housekeeping at once, and next Sunday evening a reception will be given them at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry VanMiddlesworth, on West Front street.

Exempts May Have New Uniforms.

The Exempt Firemen held their regular meeting last evening and discussed the advisability of purchasing new uniforms. Samples from several clothing manufacturers throughout the country were submitted for examination, but nothing definite was decided. The committee having in charge the old hand-engine reported that arrangements would be made to have it brought to Plainfield in a short time. Other business transacted was of a routine nature.

Justice Newcorn's Court.

The case of Thompson against Smith, on contract, in Justice Newcorn's court, was adjourned today for a week. Summons were issued in the following contract cases, all returnable on the 4th: Weigman against Smith, Hand against Mier, Linke against Muldowney, Werner against Seeder, Tomlinson against Wilmot, Tomlinson against Kane.

An Assistant Inspector.

Division Inspector F. D. Morse, of the Sons of Veterans, has appointed Past Captain H. C. McVoy, of Camp 28, this city, as one of the assistant inspectors of the division, and he will inspect Camp 40, at Somerville next Monday evening.

—Justice Moffett has issued an attachment in the case of McVey against Francisco.

—A meeting of the Martin Act Commissioners will be held in the Mayor's office tonight.

—Perseverance Lodge, Knights of Pythias, will hold its regular meeting tomorrow evening.

—The gypsies, who were encamped at Avon Park, have moved on to their next stopping place.

—L. N. Lovell, of Crescent avenue, left yesterday morning for Pennsylvania on a business trip. He will be away for several days.

—There will be no regular matches at the Gentlemen's Driving Park Saturday afternoon, although several of the horses will be at the track and impromptu trots will be arranged.

LOOKS LIKE FOUL PLAY

New York Central Wreck Perhaps Caused by Dynamite.

THE CORONER'S INQUEST

Hints at Revenge as the Motive—A Passenger Tells of a Bowlder Hurled Upon the Track Some Weeks Ago.

New York, Oct. 28.—Reports to the effect that Chauncey M. Depew had positively stated that the New York Central Railroad disaster at Garrison's was the work of dynamiting fiends is denied.

Mr. Depew, when seen by a reporter, said that although he recognized as a hypothesis the theory that a section of the railroad had been blown up by dynamite, and the awful result of Sunday the result of a crime, he was by no means ready to announce these statements as facts.

The examination into the cause of the wreck, Mr. Depew said, had been placed entirely in the hands of Col. Katte, who is regarded as the chief expert on the subject of explosives in the United States. He is assisted by a large staff. The colonel had for many years been in the employ of the New York Central Railroad.

"There are many things," said Mr. Depew, "both for and against the train-wrecking theory. No one heard any explosion; on the other hand, 'the vertical cut in the rock,' and the suddenness of the disaster would argue that criminals had placed dynamite there. Of one thing you may be sure, the investigation will not be stopped until every circumstance which is at present shrouded in doubt is brought to light."

Some One's Revenge.

"If the embankment of the railroad was torn up by dynamite, the motive of those who did it was not robbery, but revenge," was the statement made by one official of the road at Garrison's. One of the roadmasters said to his fellow officials that the excavation looked to him like the work of dynamite. The tendency of dynamite is to blast downward rather than upward or outward, and a very light charge of dynamite would have collapsed a section of track fully as extensive as the section in question.

The locomotive was found in the river at least thirty feet south of the depression in the track, which makes it seem reasonably certain that the engine leaped the space before it started in its plunge into the mud bottom of the river. It is known that the engineer had shut off his steam and applied the air brakes to the train before the crash came, and those circumstances lead the officials to believe that Engineer Foyle saw that something was wrong with the track before he went into the river with his engine. Still, it is admitted that he would have instantly applied the brakes the moment that he felt his engine sinking.

A gentleman who travels from Garrison's to New York every morning said that three weeks ago this same train, No. 46, had a narrow escape from being wrecked at a point about two miles south of the spot where it finally met its fate. A bowlder weighing two tons was discovered on the track just in time for the train to be stopped. The bowlder must have fallen from the top of the mountain, for it cleared the inland track and landed squarely on the down track.

The Inquest.

Cold Springs, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Coroner William T. Wood, of this town, began his inquest last night into the cause of the deaths of the nineteen or twenty persons who lost their lives in the accident on Sunday morning. John P. Donohue is foreman of the jury, and District Attorney A. J. Bennett Southard, of Putnam County, conducted the examination.

William Patterson was the most satisfactory of the witnesses. He had been a porter on the railroad, he testified, for thirty-one years. He was the only one who was able to describe the character of the break in the earth of the roadbed. Each of the others said that they saw a circular hole in the ground and the tracks were gone, but none of them could tell whether the wall beyond was gone or what the character of the break in the rail was, although Mr. Southard tried hard to find out whether the earth there had simply slid off, leaving a slanting line of rail from the edge of the break towards the river, or whether the earth had parted with a perpendicular break. Mr. Patterson said that he had been riding over that part of the road for thirty years and never heard or thought that portion to be more dangerous than any other.

The hearing lasted more than an hour, and was productive of no information whatever bearing upon the cause of the disaster. The inquest was adjourned until Nov. 4.

Chief Detective Humphrey, of the railroad, was asked last evening if the arrest of any persons was contemplated on suspicion of having caused the wreck of the express.

Mr. Humphrey admitted that the railroad company suspects that the roadbed was blown out by dynamite, but refused to divulge any information. He said that his instructions were to report the result of his investigations personally to President Depew.

No Evidence of Dynamite.

President Depew, of the New York Central, said yesterday that his statement regarding dynamite as a possible cause of Sunday's accident has been misinterpreted. He did not say that dynamite was a probable cause, but that dynamite could have caused the accident. There is absolutely no evidence to show that dynamite was used.

"We are as much as ever in the dark as to the cause of the accident," said President Depew. "I do not believe that the fault was in the condition of the roadbed or in the seawall. The facts we know are that the roadbed was in good condition less than an hour before the accident, and the fact that the throttle of the sunken engine was closed seems to show that when the Buffalo special came along Engineer Foyle saw something wrong with the track and tried to stop his train."

Senator Morgan, ill at San Diego, Cal., is reported better.

SALE OF UNION PACIFIC.

The Government Will Get Dollar for Dollar of Its Debt.

Washington, Oct. 28.—"The problem of the Government's relations to the Pacific railroads has been solved," said Attorney-General McKenna to a reporter yesterday. "It will get dollar for dollar of its debt on the Union Pacific, and in consequence of that result, the Central Pacific must in settlement of its indebtedness pay the same. It cannot escape from that now. And this Administration thinks it is entitled to the credit for bringing about this condition of affairs. Who would have thought, even as late as a month ago, that the United States would ever get out all the money she had put into the Union Pacific? I venture that nobody except President McKinley and myself. We started with a proposition from the Reorganization Committee to pay $48,000,000 for the roads; to-day it agrees to pay $58,000,000 for the Union Pacific alone, leaving the Kansas Pacific line to be disposed of separately. At most, if the Kansas Pacific be sold at its lowest possible price, under the terms of Judge Sanborn's decree, the Government stands to lose $7,000,000, a large sum, it is true, but comparatively a small one. But the Government will get every dollar of its debt on that line, as well as that on the Union Pacific. The Reorganization Committee, in its prospectus, provides for the placing of over $30,000,000 of securities on the Kansas line—a fair indication, certainly, of their idea of its value.

"The sensational publications have been only detrimental to the interests of the Government," said the Attorney General. "The continual assertion that the Government had sold the road to the reorganization committee created the impression that it was disposed of in advance, and it has only been within the last two weeks that the interested parties have come to believe that there was a show for any one beside the committee at the sale."

Attorney-General McKenna called attention to another misconception arising out of the proposition to postpone the sale.

"The Union and Kansas Pacific railroads," he said, "have never been dealt with as one property, and there has been no division suggested. The Union Pacific properties are to be sold next Monday, and the Kansas Pacific was to be sold on the 5th and 6th of November, but will now go over until Dec. 15."

"Will Coates & Co. buy the Kansas Pacific?" was asked.

"They may buy the Union Pacific," Mr. McKenna answered. "They have until to-morrow to deposit the $5,325,000 of cash and bonds with Commissioner Cornish at Omaha to qualify them as bidders under the terms of the decree. It can be done by telegraph, if they want to. But I expect the reorganization committee will buy the Kansas Pacific Railroad, as it will the Union Pacific, and pay the full amount of the Government's debt for it, after having gone as far as they have in underwriting securities for it under the new arrangement."

NEW JERSEY'S CAMPAIGN.

Six Senators and Sixty Members of the Lower House to Be Elected.

Trenton, Oct. 28.—While the political battle in Greater New York is about drawing to a close, the battle for control of the New Jersey Legislature, which means a great deal in the matter of the selection of a successor to James Smith in the United States Senate, has just about opened in real earnest.

This week all the candidates for the upper and lower branches of the Legislature which have been nominated, will file their certificates with the Secretary of State, and, as commanded by the law, that officer will proceed forthwith to prepare the official ballots to be cast in November next.

Besides the election of six Senators and sixty legislators for the lower House, there are local contests waging in nearly every county.

Six Senators are to be elected. Five of the counties where elections are to occur were represented in the last Senate by Republicans. The Democrats had Senator Kuhl from Hunterdon County.

This year the Democrats hope not only to retain Hunterdon, but to regain Sussex and Middlesex, and some pretend to believe that the Democrats have a chance of defeating Williams in Passaic, but it is safe to predict Mr. Williams' re-election.

Poisoned by Ivy

Happened to Read About a Similar Case—Followed the Other Man's Example and Was Cured.

The following incident is given by Charles Morris, general jobber, 52 Lexington Avenue, North Cambridge, Mass.:

"Several years ago I became poisoned by ivy. I tried many medicines, spending a large sum of money without obtaining a particle of good. My children were also afflicted with the same disease. We were all constant sufferers with an awful itching sensation, and it seemed as if I should tear myself to pieces. I picked up a paper in which I found printed a testimonial from a man in Vermont who had been similarly afflicted and had taken Hood's Sarsaparilla with benefit. I bought a bottle, which we took and it did

Me and My Children

so much good I purchased another supply. We continued taking Hood's Sarsaparilla until we used five bottles and I can safely say that neither myself nor children have any signs of the poison. It has entirely left us and we are perfectly cured. We give the whole credit to Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before resorting to this medicine I was reduced in weight, but now I weigh 175 pounds. Hood's Sarsaparilla has not only done much good but has been the means of saving me a great deal of money. I would not be without it in my house and I heartily recommend it to all who are afflicted." I have written this statement for publication, of my own will, as I want others to know what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for us." CHARLES MORRIS.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by druggists, price 75c per bottle.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Henry Lovell, of Crescent avenue, has gone south on a business trip.

Those who believe chronic diarrhœa to be incurable should read what Mr. P. E. Grisham, of Gaars Mills, La., has to say on the subject, viz.: "I have been a sufferer from chronic diarrhœa ever since the war and have tried all kinds of medicines for it. At last I found a remedy that effected a cure and that was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy." This medicine can always be depended upon for colic, cholera morbus, dysentery and diarrhœa. It is pleasant to take and never fails to affect a cure. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Have you paid your sewer tax? That's the question that Collector Bird wants The Press to put to every property owner in Plainfield. If you have, why it's all right. But if you haven't—you had better. Why? Because if the sewer tax is not paid before Monday Collector Bird will be obliged under the law to declare you a delinquent and publish your name, with the amount you owe, in the daily newspapers of the city. It is not always pleasant to have your name put in cold type as being a delinquent. So pay up.

The Woman's Town Improvement Association, of Plainfield, is in favor of a curfew bell ordinance, under which every child under the age of fifteen years must be home by 9 o'clock and stay there. Before the town can do anything like that it will require legislative authority, and the Legislature of New Jersey is apt to act slowly in considering a measure of that kind.—Tribune.

"Of an operation commonly looked upon with more resignation in this world of wickedness and small woes, a Mississippi paper says: "Some fiend incarnate, with the roaring furnaces of hell staring him in the face, entered the residence of John Jones Sunday night and stole the Presbyterian Sunday-school collection."

With the women of Plainfield trying to force the curfew bell on the community, the people of Hillsdale accusing a woman of witchery, and school trustees of Orange refusing to issue a certificate of graduation because the applicant writes poetry, we are wondering if this is 1897 or 7981.

According to the experience of a Topeka clergyman people out there will pay more to be married than they will to hear the gospel preached. He says he makes more by performing marriage ceremonies than he does by preaching.

LEFT WITH BOARDER'S OVERCOAT.

Former Dog Catcher Oscar Vaughn Arrested For Larceny.

Oscar Vaughn, former dog catcher of the borough, came before Justice Nash this morning on the charge of obtaining board from Walter Williams on false pretences. The complainant did not appear and Vaughn was released. Before he had time to leave the courtroom he was arrested on a warrant, issued by a Morristown justice and endorsed by Justice Nash, charging him with stealing an overcoat. He was taken to Morristown.

Vaugn accepted a position with the Rice Comedy Company early in the fall and started with them on a tour through the country. He went as far as Morristown when he found that the life of a traveling thespian was not all it was cracked up to be. He left, it is alleged, with an overcoat belonging to a boarder at the Morristown hotel on his back. An overcoat answering to the description of the missing one was found in the possession of a man who said that he bought it of Vaughn. Vaughn denied stealing the overcoat

EPWORTHIANS ARE HERE

SECOND ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE ELIZABETH DISTRICT.

Address of Welcome by Rev. W. C. O'Donnell and a Happy Response by Rev. F. Simmons—Increased Members.

The morning session of the second annual convention of the Epworth League of the Elizabeth district opened in the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, of this city, at 10 o'clock today. The pretty audience room was thronged with delegates to the number of about 250, who had gathered from over forty towns and cities along the line of the New Jersey Central Railroad from Allentown to Elizabeth, and from Perth Amboy, Metuchen, New Market and Staten Island.

The session opened with a short devotional service, led by Rev. W. C. Snodgrass, D. D., of this city. Rev. W. C. O'Donnell, pastor of the Monroe Avenue church, delivered the address welcoming the delegates to his church and to the city. The response to the welcome was given by Rev. F. S. Simmons, pastor of the Park M. E. church, of Elizabeth. He caused much merriment by declaring that he thought the pastor of the Monroe Avenue church ought to get married, and that he hoped the present convention would bring happy results for him.

Miss Anna Grace Adams, superintendent of the Deaconess Home, in New York city, made the principal address of the session, explaining the nature and the workings of the order to which she belongs. Her definition of a deaconess was "a consecrated, trained woman, divinely called to the service of the church."

At 11:45 o'clock the District President, Lewis E. Potter, of Woodbridge, announced the appointment of the following committee: On nomination, Rev. George W. Smith, D. D, of Plainfield; James Ramsey, of New Germantown, and Rev. J. B. J. Rhodes, of Lebanon; Mrs. Barnard, of Plainfield, and Isaac Stites, of Dunellen; auditing committee, Rev. Wesley Martin, of Flemington; A. H. Stites, of White House, and Miss Leora Wenzel, of Plainfield.

The report of the secretary, Rev. E. E. Roberson, of Whitehouse, showed a gain of 597 in membership since the organization of the district, and a general gain in all departments of the work. The treasurer of the district, Moorehouse, of Westfield, rendered the annual financial report showing receipts of $51.63 and disbursements of $32.82.

The report of the superintendent of Junior leagues was next read by Miss Charlotte Aldrich, of this city. It emphasized the need of more workers in the Junior field, and called attention to the fact that the largest Junior league in the district is that of the Monroe Avenue church, of this city, which has a membership of 125. The second largest Junior league in the district is at Tottenville, and the third largest is at the Grace M. E. church, of North Plainfield, which has 108 members.

At 12:30 o'clock the convention adjourned for luncheon, which was served in the First M. E. church.

A Church Anniversary.

The fifteenth anniversary of All Saints' church, of Scotch Plains, will be celebrated with appropriate services on All Saints' Eve., next Sunday. The programme will include an early celebration of holy communion at 9 o'clock in the morning, morning prayer with the Sunday-school at 10 o'clock, litany and holy communion with a sermon by the rector, Rev. Edward H. True, at 11 o'clock; union Sunday-school service of all the Sunday-schools of Scotch Plains, with addresses by several clergymen and laymen, at 3 o'clock; and at 8 o'clock the full choral even-song, by the choir of Holy Cross church, of North Plainfield.

A Great Thing for Overworked Women

E. B. Titsworth, of New street, who came to Plainfield when he was 23 years old, and who is now living the last half of his 81st year, has opened a store at 122 Park avenue, where he will sell washing machines. Mr. Titsworth is one of Plainfield's oldest merchants. He was the first man to erect a three-story building in this city, and W. C. Ayers did the work. The building was then known as Temperance Hall and is located next to Charles Smith's saloon on West Front street. Up to the present time Mr. Titsworth has sold over two thousand washing machines of his own make.

—The class of '98 of the Plainfield High School will hold a Hallowe'en party Saturday evening.

A VERY QUIET CAMPAIGN

POLITICAL AIDS ARE DOING THEIR WORK IN A PERSONAL MANNER

Local Republicans Will Hold a Meeting This Evening to Introduce Their County Candidates and Hear Some Remarks.

Plainfield is remarably quiet for four days before election. Of course, both parties are working but most of it is below the service. There are no great principles to expound to the people as at the last national election.

In Union county the fight is over three Assemblymen, the surrogate and the coroner. Political mass meetings have not been a feature of the campaign. Most of the work has been done in personal canvass. The Republicans claim that if they can get out the vote, they will win without trouble, hence most of their efforts will be to have all the Republicans at the polls. The two candidates for the Assembly in Elizabeth are counted on carrying considerable weight with the vote there. Roger F. Murray is looked upon as capable of drawing some of the Democratic votes in Plainfield besides rallying all the Republicans around the party banner.

Neither Rahway nor Summit have any of the plums on the Republican ticket, while Rahway is represented on the Democratic ticket. There the fight will also be on party lines, as the candidates of the two tickets are equally popular.

This evening, the Republicans will have their first outward demonstration in their headquarrers on East Front street. It is not to be a regular mass-meeting according to the general acceptance of the word, but the voters are invited to come and meet the candidates, see what nice fellows they are and spend a pleasant social time. The candidates will probably be called upon to say something.

It is expected that all the candidates on the Republican ticket for Union county will be present and meet the local voters. Then there will be a great gathering of the local politicians and everybody will talk over the plans and chances for the election on Tuesday. The gathering is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock.

John Crowell, Democratic candidate for surrogate of Union county, and Assembly Candidate Lawrence, of Elizabeth, are here today shaking hands with voters.

There will be a regular meeting of the Borough Council next Monday evening, at which it is expected that some important matters will be considered.

The funeral of Ludlow Squiers was held yesterday morning at 11 o'clock from the Baptist church at New Market. Rev. Frank Fletcher, the pastor, officiated, and spoke words of cheer and help to the bereaved ones. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends at the services, which was strong testimony of the esteem held by all for the departed. Interment was in the Plainfield avenue cemetery at Plainfield.

SCOTCH PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Wm. Lee has returned from a visit in Raritan.

The Scotch Plains football team will play the Dunellen team at Scotch Plains Saturday afternoon.

Charles Reicke, the young lad who was severely bitten by a bulldog Monday, is recovering nicely from his injuries.

Rev. J. S. Braker, G. E. Hall and Norman C. Dunn have returned from the Baptist State convention, which was held at Trenton Tuesday and yesterday.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent Cough Remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form.—The Banner of Liberty, Libertytown, Maryland. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—J. M. Smalley's meat market on Somerset street has just been repainted in white, giving an appearance of cleanliness. Mr. Smalley will strive to please his customers and give them the best to be found in the market.

WESTFIELD

VARIOUS BITS OF NEWS.

WESTFIELD HAPPENINGS SERVED UP TERSELY FOR THE PRESS.

Many People Go and Come in the Pretty Suburban Town—Items Interesting Because of Their Brevity

Fireside Council, No. 715, Royal Arcanum, meets tonight.

Westfield Lodge, No. 169, I. O. O. F., held a meeting last night.

Edward N. Brown, of Elmer street, is confined to his home by illness.

Yonan Shabaza, a native Persian who has recently graduated from Hamilton College, delivered an interesting address on mission work in his native country in the Baptist church last evening.

Edward N. Hall and Martin Pickell have gone as delegates from Central Council, No. 131, Jr. O. U. A. M., of this place, to the annual convention of the N. J. F. B. A., which is being held at Trenton.

INSPECTED FIRE DEPARTMENT.

German Tourists Shown How Plainfield is Prepared to Fight Fire.

Six visitors from Berlin, Germany, who are visiting this country, were shown through the Plainfield fire department Tuesday by Chief Doane. They saw an alarm sent in and the rapidity with which the hores and men responded, and were filled with astonishment thereat. They declared that, while they had often heard of the rapidity with which the American fire departments responded, they had no idea that it was anything as fast as they had seen. They were loud in their praise of all the arrangements in the Plainfield department houses.

THEATRICAL.

"Shore Acres" has proved an epoch-marking play. In it Mr. Herne has demonstrated the value of quiet and intense acting, and the effects he has obtained are valuable to the makers of plays. He has also show the player that it is not necessary to act whenever he is on the stage. Although it is but a play of simple, every day life upon a New England farm yet rarely has its minute analysis of the human passions been equalled. This is the sixth consecutive season and Mr. Herne feels confident it will prove attractive for many years to come. Entire new scenery will be used in the production of this beautiful play. At Music Hall tomorrow night.

Pastor Gibson's Trial.

The trial of Rev. P. S. Gibson, the colored pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, for breach of promise, will come up in the Council Chambers before City Judge DeMeza and a twelve-men jury this afternoon.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The fac simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. is on every wrapper.

Quality and Price Are the Prizes.

What would you think of a lawyer who tried to secure clients by offering chances on a bicycle? Would you want the services of a physician who offered to give coal hods or sofa pillows to patients who employed him regularly?

We think not. We believe also that when sickness comes and you have prescriptions to be filled or need any other aid that the skilled pharmacist can render, you want perfect service at a fair price—and nothing else.

We give such service. We are apt to save you 15 to 25 per cent on the cost—druggists that are conscientious about quality are pretty sure to be as careful about price.

WOMEN'S CLUBS TO GATHER.

New Jersey's Federation Meets in Camden Today.

A two days' session of the Federation of Women's Clubs of New Jersey will begin in the First Presbyterian church, Camden, today.

The educational session, to be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, will be opened by Miss Cecelia Gaines, of Jersey City. Miss Burdock, librarian of the Free Public Library of Jersey City, will treat woman's work in the schools from several different standpoints, while the Misses Sterling and Wilson and Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of this city, all well-known woman's club workers, will speak on school books for children.

At the historical session tomorrow, Mrs. Julia Keese Collins will make an address on "Historic New Jersey," previous to which Mrs. Alfred Chester Coursen will present an illustrated paper on "The Song Writers of America." One of the principal features of the gathering will be the address this evening by Miss Blauvelt on "Browning."

BAEHR'S SENTENCE DELAYED.

Appears in Court So Ill that the Judge Lets Him Go.

Samuel Baehr, father of Edith Baehr, the girl who gave the Union County Court so much trouble about a year ago, was arraigned at court in Elizabeth yesterday for sentence in the same assault case for which his daughter was punished. Miss Edith Baehr and her sister accompanied their father from Bergen County, where the family now are.

Baehr's head was swathed in bandages and he shook as if he had the palsy. Judge McCormick, when he saw the man's condition, said sentence would be postponed until Jan. 13.

In view of Baehr's illness sentence may be suspended. He was released on his own recognizance.

Attempted Burglary.

An attempt was made Tuesday night to rob the law offices of Counselor W. K. McClure in the First National Bank buildidg on Front street. The janitor of the building upon making his evening rounds found everything undisturbed in the build ing, but the next morning the windows leading from the hallway to the offices were found broken open. Nothing was missing from the offices, however, and it is thought that the invaders were frightened away before effecting an entrance.

—The class for Bible study, led by W. D. Murray, will hereafter meet at the Y. M. C. A. building every Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

evidently, and the business shou d be done by all means. Buildings require paint Of course a house may be left unpainted and le't to become weather-beaten and a wreck That doesn't pay, though; it's much cheaper to paint, and our paints in all colors are the best in the market for durability under the most trying conditions. They are well adapted to our exposure and we sell everything in the line of paints and painters' supplies at short prices.

The Tables Turned.

We have almost solved the servant girl problem.

Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.

The tables are turned, and we have turned them.

We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.

Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "

What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

This is the backing that stands behind every box of Doan's Kidney Pills; here is a case of it.

Mrs. M. A. Hall, of 219 Prescott place, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are without exception the best medicine I ever used. My kidneys troubled me for several years with dull, aching pain across my back and at times extending to my hips. I was compelled to lie in just one position at night. Stooping, lifting or bending foward aggravated the pains. I was also subject to severe headaches and was more or less nervous. A kidney weakness which was very distressing as well as inconvenient also existed and although I used different remedies that were recommended to me I obtained little if any benefit. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly endorsed in our daily papers and procured a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store. It was not long before I felt great relief and I was surprised how quickly the pain in my back disappeared. I am entirely free from it now and my other troubles were benefitted greatly. I consider Doan's Kidney Pills a reliable medicine and in my case they accomplished all that is claimed for them."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

MURDER IN A CHURCH

Ring of a Burglar Alarm the Keynote to a Tragedy.

WAS ROBBING POOR BOXES

Priest Whistles for a Policeman and the Thief, When Cornered, Fires a Fatal Shot—Murderer Will Be Tried on Monday.

New York, Oct. 28.—Burglar Fritz Meyer has confessed to the foul murder of Policeman Fred Smith early yesterday morning in the Church of the Redeemer. He admits he was trying to rob the poor box.

Startling as is the murder of Smith, the police are certain that Meyer is chargeable with even a colder-blooded crime—the recent murder of Bellringer Stelz in the Church of the Holy Trinity, in Williamsburg.

Both murders were committed in churches; both were done in identically the same manner.

District Attorney Olcott will ask the Grand Jury to-day to indict Meyer, and the trial of the case will probably begin next Monday.

Early Tuesday evening the murderer sneaked into the Church of the Most Holy Redeemer, in East Third street, while the October devotions of the Rosary were in progress, and concealed himself in the gallery. At midnight, when the congregation and the priests had gone away, he went down to break open the poor box. He was armed with a jimmy and revolver.

In prying open the box he set off the burglar alarm and it rang in the priest's house next door. It had been put there because thieves had robbed the box before. The alarm was heard by one of the priests. He took a police whistle, and, opening a window in the front of the house, blew several shrill blasts.

Policemen Smith and Conklin heard the whistle and ran to the rectory. The priest told them that the alarm had sounded, and they ran on to the church. Smith entered first, and in the dim light before the altar saw a man moving around the edifice. The man was Meyer.

As the policeman entered Meyer stole to the door leading to the school and darted out of sight. Smith dashed down an aisle, followed by Conklin. Smith leaped through the passageway somewhat in advance of Conklin. As he entered the schoolroom Meyer raised a revolver and fired.

Smith sank down as Conklin ran into the room. Meyer leaped through a window, carrying the whole lower sash with him. Several men who were in the street caught sight of the fleeing Meyer and soon overtook him.

They fell upon him, and one of the men dragged his revolver from him, while another wrested the jimmy out of his hand. By this time word of the shooting had reached the East Fifth street police station, and half a dozen men started up the street on a run. They reached the burglar as he was struggling to his feet. One of the policemen subdued him by a blow from his club, and they started him for the station. The crowd had increased to several hundred excited citizens.

"Kill him! Lynch him!" they cried, and it was only by hurrying their man along that the policemen prevented probable violence. In the station Meyer admitted the shooting but denied that he had broken into the church.

He said he laid in wait, intending to rob the poor box and take whatever else he could. When the policeman surprised him he shot, knowing it was all up with him. Meyer is a thin, cadaverous-looking fellow, with reddish hair and mustache.

Smith lived five minutes after the shooting. The bullet entered his mouth and came out at the back of his head. The priest administered the last sacrament of the Church as he was breathing his last. Smith had been on the force fourteen years. He was 43 years old and lived at 97 Avenue A.

THE QUEEN'S COUSIN DEAD.

The Duchess of Teck Expires After an Operation.

Richmond, Eng., Oct. 28.—The Duchess of Teck, cousin of Queen Victoria, sister of the Duke of Cambridge and mother-in-law of the Duke of York, died at the White Lodge here yesterday.

The Duchess was seriously ill in April, and underwent a critical abdominal operation. She was considered to have been completely restored to health. Yesterday, however, she suddenly became ill. Her condition rapidly assumed a grave phase, and the doctors who were summoned operated upon her immediately. The operation was successful, but heart failure supervened.

The Duchess of York was at her bedside at the time of her death.

Princess Mary Adelaide Wilhelmine Elizabeth was the second daughter of the late Prince Adolphus, Duke of Cambridge, a sister of the present Duke of Cambridge and a cousin of Queen Victoria. She was born in Hanover Nov. 27, 1833, and married to the Duke of Teck at Kew, London, June 12, 1866. She leaves four children, the eldest of whom, Princess May, was married to the Duke of York on July 6, 1893.

THE CUBAN SITUATION

Keeping Secret the Correspondence Significant.

POSSIBILITY OF A RUPTURE

President McKinley Is Not Likely to Act Until He Can Have the Co-operation of Congress—Is a Crisis at Hand?

Washington, Oct. 28.—The text of the Spanish reply to the note of the United States was received at the State Department this morning, but according to the understanding with Senor Sagasta, Secretary Sherman will not make it public.

The State Department is even more secretive than heretofore concerning Cuban affairs. Inasmuch as an agreement has been entered into with the Spanish officials to withhold the correspondence from the public until after the reassembling of Congress, it is not likely that its exact character will be known until then. But this extra precaution is in itself significant. Enough has been given out officially at Madrid to indicate that the reply to Minister Woodford, in whatever phrases couched, is substantially a defiance. This being the case, the existence of an agreement between the two Governments that the correspondence shall be kept secret is interpreted to signify that its character is such as to excite popular feeling, and that its publication would precipitate a rupture of friendly relations.

Desires Peace.

Mr. McKinley desires to maintain peace, if possible, and if anything can occur between now and the meeting of Congress to lessen the gravity of the situation he is willing that time shall be given. At all events, if there is to be a rupture, he wants to act with the co-operation of Congress. This delay does not mean that the Administration will be tolerant of Spanish insults. As stated in these dispatches heretofore, such a reply from Spain as the official announcements from Madrid indicate will meet with a sharp rejoinder, which is likely to be followed by the breaking off of diplomatic relations. But the Department of State will wait for the full text of Sagasta's letter and will guard against hastiness of action. If Spain should actually attempt to enforce the threat of searching American vessels, it would, of course, precipitate a conflict at once, but in the absence of any overt act on her part, there will be no disposition on the part of the Administration to proceed further than necessary in the matter until Congress has assembled.

The feeling is practically universal in official circles that the contention has reached an acute stage, and that a conflict with Spain is extremely probable. This will result, however, only from the aggressive attitude and spirit of defiance manifested by Spain. It is expected that immediately upon the assembling of Congress the President will communicate the correspondence to that body, consisting not only of the communication sent to the Spanish Government through Minister Woodford and Sagasta's reply to that communication, but also the rejoinder to that reply, which will be sharp and decisive. This will leave the case in a situation for Congress to act, and the sentiment of Congress is well known.

Congress Will Act.

Any communication by the President to Congress on the Cuban question which does not show a settlement of the controversy will be accepted as an invitation for legislative action, and will surely lead to such action. The recognition of the belligerency of the Cuban insurgents is the least that can be expected from Congress, and if the correspondence proves to be of the character at present indicated its transmission is sure to be followed by preparations for hostilities. In fact, it is believed that the rejoinder to Sagasta's communication will be delayed until just before Congress meets and that it will be of such a character as to result, in the present temper of the Spanish Government, in the recall of the Spanish Minister.

McKinley Keeps Silent.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Although repeated denials have come from the State Department that the reply of Spain has not been received, prominent men close to the Administration still insist that President McKinley has received by cable a very fair forecast of the leading points made by the Sagasta Cabinet.

The chances are that nothing will be given out before the President leaves for Ohio to-morrow.

GOT AROUND THE RULES.

A Pennsylvania Congressman Gets a New Pension Examining Board.

Chambersburg, Pa., Oct. 28.—Congressman Thad M. Mahon, of this place, has solved the problem which has been puzzling many Republican Congressmen of how to get rid of Democratic boards of pension examiners, protected under civil service rules. He did it by having the board here abolished, and by instituting a new board at Greencastle, in the southern end of the county, near the Maryland line. This was done at his solicitation by orders from the department at Washington. The solid Democratic board here was protected by the civil service rules, and the Cleveland appointees could not have been removed except on charges. Republican physicians wanted the places, and they got them yesterday.

In a short time it will likely be found that it is inconvenient to have the board sit away from the county seat, and that it must come back to Chambersburg, but by the time that is discovered the Republicans will be secure in their places. Congressman Mahon will have a good story of practical politics to tell his Republican brethren on the first Monday in December.

Troops for Indians.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Gen. Otis, commander of the Department of Colorado, has sent troops against the Utes, who, it is feared, will take the warpath as a result of an encounter between poaching braves and the game wardens near Lilly Park, Wyo., Tuesday evening, during which two bucks, one squaw and two wardens were killed.

GOSSIP FROM GRIDIRON.

HAPPENINGS AMONG THE LOCAL FOOTBALL PLAYERS.

Games That are to be Played and Points About Teams and Individual Players That May Prove Interesting to Cranks.

The Plainfield A. A. eleven will not play any match game on Saturday afternoon. A game had been arranged with the Riverside Athletic Club, of Newark, but the close proximity of the Election Day game with the San Remos, of New York, and the absence of fully half of the team, made it necessary to call that game off a week ago. The Riversides will come to this city later in the season, when the full team will turn out to meet them. The Riversides are very strong and have the reputation of doing considerable slugging.

The Election Day game of the Plainfield A. A. will be the most important game of the season so far. The powerful San Remo team, of New York, the old rivals of the Plainfield boys, will be here on that occasion, and, as the Plainfield eleven is to be considerably strengthened, an exciting match may be assured. The game will be called at 3 o'clock, instead of 4, as in the other games. Admission will be twenty-five cents.

The Crescent football team, of this city, will play the eleven from the Rahway Y. M. C. A. in this city Saturday afternoon, on the Plainfield A. A. gridiron on Martine common. The game is one of the contests in the Journal league. It is called for 4 o'clock. Plainfield A. A. season tickets will admit to the grounds.

The Plainfield A. A. team will meet for practice this evening, tomorrow evening and Monday evening on the Westervelt avenue grounds. Every candidate is expected to be on hand, as it is very important that all should understand the new plays that are to be introduced for the Election Day game.

The Alis first team defeated the second team yesterday afternoon by a score of 17 to 10. Woltman kicked a goal from the field during the second half.

GOLF.

Carl Walz, who was known as the tennis champion of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, has now develped into a crack golfer and is improving his game every day. He spends much of his time at the links of the club in all kinds of weather, and has been making some excellent scores in practice. His showing in the matches that he has played has been very good.

The mixed foursomes record at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club links was equalled yesterday morning by Miss Emma Schoonmaker and Morris Dumont, who completed the nine holes in 53 strokes.

Although a trifle windy, the weather of the last few days has brought out the golfers in great numbers, and the links of the Hillside Club were the scene of many exciting matches.

—The four boys who now stand accused with being the burglars that entered the store of Frucht, will come up for their hearing tomorrow morning.

—As a result of a bon-fire at the residence of A. E. Hall, on Plainfield avenue, yesterday afternoon, a portion of the front porch and lattice work caught fire and a few pails of water soon extinguished the flames.

REV. P. S. GIBSON FAILED TO CLEAR HIMSELF.

Found Guilty by Twelve Men Jury in the Trial Before the City Judge.

No Sensational Testimony Was Produced—Swain Girl Told Her Story But the Minister Denied all Charges When Put on Stand—Strong Arguments by Counsel—The Judge's Sentence.

"Guilty" said the foreman of the jury, after two hours deliberation, and the word was quickly passed along that Rev. Phillip S. Gibson, the colored pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, had been convicted on the charge of adultery. The charge was made by Overseer of the Poor Marx a week ago, and the young woman named was Miss Lucy Swain, a member of his flock. The case was tried before City Judge DeMeza and a jury of twelve well-known Plainfielders. After a long trial, the jury retired to bring in a verdict of guilty. There was very little sensational evidence adduced during the trial. The case may be considered a great victory for Senator Reed, Miss Swain's lawyer.

The Council Chamber, where the trial was held, was crowded even before the Judge appeared. Most of the occupants of the benches outside of the rail were colored and formed the army of witnesses that had been subpœnaed by both sides.

After the case was called, Patrolman McCue called a jury. Isaac Vail was excused by the Judge. Nelson Giles was challenged by Assemblyman W. R. Codington. Senator Reed was satisfied with the personal of the jury. The following jury was sworn in: George H. Willey, John Martin, E. H. Cleveley, John J. Kenney, George Moore, John Ross, Michael Coyne, George O. Stevens, C. H. Herring, Charles H. Hand, Joseph Sattels, Harry W. Marshall.

Senator Charles A. Reed was present as representative of the complainant and prosecuting attorney in the absence of Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh. Assemblyman W. R. Codington and S. S. Swackhamer were the lawyers for the defence.

Lucy Swain was the second witness called. She was rather nervous at first, but finally gathered courage and told her story. She said that she was twenty four years old and had lived in Plainfield three years. She had been a domestic. She met Rev. Mr. Gibson at his church when she first came to Plainfield. He afterwards called on her while she was employed by Mrs. Templin, on East Sixth street, and then was with her at a picnic to Florida Grove sometime after. The prisoner sat in the back of the room with bowed head. The night after that picnic, she said, they had met and he had told her that he loved her and they had spent the evening together. After that, she said, they had met every Thursday evening when she was in the city. She told of a trip to Washington with him last year. This year she went to Cranford one Tuesday night and met him at church there. She also testified that before Easter she went to New York with him while his wife was in the hospital. She told of a visit to Gibson's house, Sunday, April 25th, and how he had written to her to tell her not to come in when anyone was in sight.

There came out the fact that all the eight letters, that she claimed to have received from Pastor Gibson, had disappeared. She said that while working for Mrs. S. G. Smith, of Putnam avenue, soon after the proceedings were started, a man, dressed like a policeman, had come and taken the letters saying that they were needed in court. She had given them up. She had seen all the policemen, but could not recognize the visitor.

"Gentlemen," said Senator Reed to the lawyers of the defendant, "we ask you to produce those letters." Assemblyman Codington denied all knowledge of the letters, and the complainant proceeded with her testimony.

A month later she said that she told Rev. Mr. Gibson that she was in trouble. He asked her to withhold his name, she testified, and he would do anything he could. According to her story he never came to see her again. She then testified that she wrote to him when he was on his vacation, and his wife found the letter.

Assemblyman Codington conducted the cross-examination. She stated that she decided to make the complaint when the prisoner told her that he was not the father of the child.

She remembered calling on a friend a week ago Sunday and having conversation about the case. She refused to implicate John Reid in any way.

She said on re-direct examination that S. S. Swackhamer called on her and tried to persuade her to sign a paper clearing Rev. Mr. Gibson, but she refused.

Charles Barber, a trustee in Gibson's church, had seen them together on the street late at night. He had warned her to be careful. He also saw her come out of the pastor's house on April 25th. No one was living in his house at that time. There had been talk about the two before. A committee had been appointed to investigate, he said.

The last witness for the prosecution was Nathan Pollard, financial secretary of the church. He had seen Lucy go into the pastor's house at 10 o'clock at night. He said that he conversed with the pastor about it.

Senator Reed announced that the city rested its case.

Assemblyman Codington stated that his client denied any improper conduct with Lucy Swain and declared the witnesses prejudiced against Rev. Mr. Gibson.

Mrs. Frances Scott was the first witness for the defence. She testified that Lucy Swain had called on her and said that she would not have charged Gibson if he had not called her a notorious liar.

Mrs. Anna Robinson told how Lucy Swain went to board with her and how John Reid came to see her. She said that she ordered her away and put her trunk outside. She was a remarkable witness and made lots of fun. The electric lights went out, but she told the Judge that she could talk in the dark.

The defendant, Rev. Philip S. Gibson, was at last put on the stand. He told of his first acquaintance with Lucy Swain. Lucy had been to his house only once, he said, and then to see the woman who was occupying the second floor of the parsonage. She often shouted at meeting and disturbed him and he said she was a hypocrite. He told of a rumor of trouble between John Reid and Lucy Swain, which was investigated by a committee, as a result of which she was excluded from the church with his consent and wish. He denied the testimony of Barber and the rest.

April 26, he testified, he took tea with Mrs. Martha Rodgers and was not with Lucy Swain. He had tried to interest her in the church and Sunday-school. He testified he never wrote a letter to her.

Scipio J. Willington, one of the deacons of the Mt. Olive church, told of the pastor's good character. Matthew Robinson and Edward Maynard, other deacons, gave similar testimony.

Mrs. Martha Rodgers remembered that he was at her house April 26th.

In rebuttal Senator Reed called John Reid, who denied Mrs. Robinson's testimony about himself and Lucy Swain. Mrs. L. Wyckoff also contradicted Mrs. Robinson's testimony.

After a brief recess, the summing up began. Assemblyman Codington made a short speech, and then S. S. Swackhamer completed the summing up for the defence in an eloquent speech. Senator Reed closed the case with one of his best appeals in which he presented his case in a very able manner Then the City Judge charged the jury and they retired at 7:30 o'clock. They had no dinner.

Rev. Mr. Gibson appeared before City Judge DeMeza this morning and was sentenced to pay $2.50 a week for the support of Lucy Swain and the child, and all necessary doctor's bills.

To Help the Needy.

The Cheerful Worker's Circle of the King's Daughters will give an Entertainment in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Tableaux and music will be rendered by the members among whom are Misses Martie Wadsworth, Elsie and Helen Hartman, Grace and Gladys Kaufman, Edith Fisk, Edme Corelies, Ursula Rowland, Elizabeth Cady, Wilhelmina Patton, Florence Beebe and Maysie Day. Admission 25 cents. Proceeds will be used for the relief of needy children.

For Missionary Purposes.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of Hope chapel held their regular meeting yesterday in the chapel, at which time the collection-box for missionary work was opened. It contained about $11, and this amount will be used in helping various missionary causes. During the meeting Mrs. G. Kennedy Newell presented a paper of great interest concerning missionary work at home and abroad. There was a good attendance of members and the meeting was an exceedingly helpful one for all.

MR. M'GEE IS PRESIDENT.

CHOSEN AS HIGHEST EPWORTHIAN OFFICER IN ELIZABETH DISTRICT.

The Most Interesting Feature of the Convention Was the Parade of the Juniors—Rev. J. R. Day's Apt Words to Christians.

The second annual convention of the Epworth Leagues of the Elizabeth district continued its sessions yesterday afternoon in the Grace M. E. church, of North Plainfield. The opening devotional service was led by Rev. H. J. Johnston, the pastor of the church.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President Walter McGee, of North Plainfield; first vice-president, Miss A. H. Mooney, of Scotch Plains; second vice-president, Rev. J. B. J. Rhodes, of Lebanon; third vice president, Miss Effa Ham, of Cranford; fourth vice president, Miss Helen Carleton, of Elizabeth; corresponding secretary, Rev. E. E. Roberson, of White House; recording secretary, J. A. Stafford, of North Plainfield; treasurer, A. H. Stiles, of Whitehouse; superintendent of junior leagues, Mrs. Theodore Holcomb, of Frenchtown.

An invitation was presented by the First M. E. church, of Rahway, and seconded by the Trinity M. E. church, of the same place, urging that the district convention be held in that city next year. The invitation was accepted amid much enthusiasm.

The principal address of the afternoon was delivered by Rev. J. A. Hensey, of Verona, upon the text Nehemia 2-4: "Run, speak to this young man."

At 4 o'clock occurred an event which to many was the most interesting feature of the convention. After the adjournment of the afternoon session the Junior Epworth Leagues of the Monroe Avenue, the First M. E. and the Grace M. E. churches, accompanied by the Junior Christian Endeavorers of Trinity Reformed church, marched with pastors at their head to the Grace M. E. church, where a service devoted especially to the Juniors was held.

A short devotional service was held and Miss Nettie Beeching, of Washingtonville, president of the Plainfield Primary Sunday-school Teachers' Union, taught the Sunday-school lesson for the coming Sunday. At the close of the lesson, Rev. Henry A. Butchel, D. D., pastor of Calvary M. E. church, of East Orange, gave the children a short talk.

At 6 o'clock the delegates were served with supper in the basement of the First M. E. church. About 200 were served. The supper was in charge of a committee, the general chairman of which was Miss Gertrude Sharp. The chairmen of the individual committees were: From Grace Grace M. E. church, Mrs. John Valiant; Monroe avenue church, Miss Leora Wenzell, and First M. E. church, Miss Gertrude Sharp.

The principal event of the evening was an address by Rev. J. R. Day, D. D., LL.D., Chancellor of Syracuse University. As the speaker arose he was given the Chautauqua salute. Times are changing for the better, he said. Not many years ago the young people were in the way in the churches, but now the old have grown young and the young are grown older, and the arrangement is altogether an admirable one. The old-fashioned idea was that a boy of 14 who had religion should act like a Christian of seventy, looking gloomy and feeling gloomy, and living in the fear of going to hell and watching timidly for a chance to slip into heaven. Religion now takes a man just as he is, with all his capabilities and all his aptitudes and makes him a force for good without destroying him.

A vocal solo was sung by Charles L. Lewis, of this city, and a duet by Mr. Lewis and Elmer Runyon, with piano accompaniments by Mrs. Charles Lewis.

A vote of thanks was passed for the pastors of the churches, the members of the Epworth Leagues, the speakers, and all who had assisted to make the convention a success. The benediction was then pronounced by Rev. W. C. Snodgrass, D. D., and the convention was at an end.

A Fine Programme.

The programme for the approaching Spielkartenfest promises to be a work of art. A special design has been made for the cover while half-tone pictures of the participants in the different dances will be scattered through the programme. It will be a small sized volume, as at the Kirmess, with short descriptions of the dances and a list of the chaperones and dancers. The book will be made of a fine quality of paper and will make a delightful souvenir of the Spielkartenfest.

THE FIRST G. O. P. GUN.

THE REPUBLICAN COUNTY CANDIDATES MET THE VOTERS.

An Informal Levee Held in the Republican Association Rooms Last Night—An Effort to Get All Republicans Up Into Line.

The first gun in the coming campaign was fired last evening by the Republicans. It was not a large gun but was intended to deeply penetrate the enemy's ranks. It was the first move of either party that has appeared on the surface and was considered a successful one by the Republican leaders. It was a novel scheme, that of making the voters personally acquainted with the candidates who are to come before them on the Republican ticket next Tuesday.

The Republicans have a rather strange state of affairs to deal with in the city of Plainfield this year. The Republican majority is a large one and then there is a sprinkling of mug wump votes to be looked after. The chief worry of the local managers has been to round up all the Republicans in town. Perhaps it was the doings of the present Council, perhaps it was not, but at any rate there was a thread of revolt stretched through the ranks that threatened to reduce the majority uncomfortably unless a big effort was made to round up all the wavering ones. Then, too, the workers needed to be encouraged.

So it was that the sub-committee from the local executive committee invited all the candidates on the county ticket to come down and meet the Plainfield voters. An informal reception was held in their honor at the Republican headquarters last evening, and the voters dropped in during the evening from 8 to 10 o'clock. Robert Houston, George E. Squier, of Elizabeth, and Roger F. Murray, of this city, the three candidates for the Assembly were here and so was George T. Parrot, nominee for Surrogate. Of course, there were very few, indeed, that did not already know Roger Murray, but they wanted to shake hands with him and tell him that they were with him. The other candidates proved to be genial fellows and the Plainfielders who happened in extended them a hearty welcome. Several of the Elizabeth workers came up with the candidates and talked on the political situation with their Plainfield friends.

Assemblyman W. R. Codington, chairman of the city executive committee, was present and introduced the candidates to the voters. He was assisted by Judge William A. Newcorn, City Clerk J. T. MacMurray, J. W. Murray, Jr., J. W. Murray, J. B. Coward, and other well-known workers of the city.

More Than a Dime's Worth of Fun.

A pleasant dime social was held last evening at the home of Mrs. James Radin, on North avenue, under the auspices of Martha Washington Council, No. 23, Daughters of America. There was a large attendance of members and their friends, and all joined in making the event a happy one. There was vocal and instrumental music and a little dancing, all of which helped to furnish a good time for those present. There was a goodly sum of money received at the door which will greatly help the council. The committee in charge of the affair was composed of Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Higgins, Mrs. Kinsey, Mrs. James Radin and Mr. Welsh.

Needlework Guild.

Contributors are requested to send their donations to the Needlework Guild before November 1st, as we have had several calls for garments this month. Last winter the reserved fund of garments were called for by the directors and others for many in pressing need. Six hundred and fifty-four new garments were distributed in the winters of 96-97 to institutions, missionary boxes and private cases. Knowing this large want which this charity fills it is sincerely hoped that we will have a larger number of garments to distribute this winter. C. W. Adams, Secretary.

Parliamentary Club Elect.

At the meeting of the Parliamentary Club held yesterday in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, the following officers were elected: President, Miss C. R. Yates; vice-president, Mrs. T. F. Budlough; recording secretary, Mrs. H. M. Maxson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. H. Frost; treasurer, Mrs. J. D. Titsworth.

Young Republicans Active.

The Young Men's Republican Club is preparing to hold a demonstration in honor of the candidacy of Roger Murray in the Republican headquarters on East Front street, Monday evening. It is the eve of election and the officers of the club want to infuse a little of the campaign enthusiasm into the blood of the members. Of course, Murray will be there, and is expected to talk to his clubmates. Then there will be other speakers. The inner man will also be remembered.

THREE TRAINS CRASH TOGETHER; ONE MAN HURT.

A Bad Wreck on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, Near South Plainfield, Last Night.

A Coal Train, Running Slow, Was Crashed Into by a Fast Milk Train—Wreckage Strewn Over the Tracks and an Approaching Express Train From the Opposite Direction Ran Into That.

The inhabitants of the little hamlet of Samptown, a mile and a half west of South Plainfield, were just preparing to retire for the night last evening when there came a mighty crash. The shriek of a locomotive whistle was heard above the din and then came another and louder crash. A milk train on the Lehigh Valley railroad, running at the rate of sixty miles an hour, had collided with the rear end of an east bound coal train and then a west bound express train, No. 7 according to the time-table of the Lehigh Valley, crashed into the wreck. Wonderful to say, no one was killed although several sustained injuries.

The trouble all lay in the fact that the coal train was on the main east bound track when the milk train was due. How it came to be there, the officials of the road are unable to say. At any rate, it was going east and had slowed up after passing the long curve west of Samptown preparatory to stopping at South Plainfield. The train was composed of fifty large gondolas filled with coal. It has been impossible to learn the names of the crew as they were from another division, and Superintendent Donnelly, of this division, could give no information on that subject. The train was bound for Perth Amboy.

As the train slowed up, the rear brakesman jumped off to go back and flag the approaching milk train. He had hardly gone fifty feet from his train when the headlight of the milk train appeared around the curve. There was no one in the caboose of the coal train.

The milk train was composed of one express car from the Lake Erie and Michigan Southern, which was loaded mostly with fresh fish, and occupied by two express passengers, and eight milk cars. The train makes a fast run from Mauch Chunk to Jersey City, being only fifteen minutes slower than the Black Diamond express. William Barber, of Jersey City, was the engineer of the milk train and Fred Miller, of Easton, fireman. "Doc" William D. Young was the conductor in charge.

As the milk train rounded the curve Engineer Barber saw the approaching flagman and the rear lights of the coaler. He applied the emergency brakes and the shock threw him down on the floor of the cab. The next instant the crash came and the big engine plowed right through the caboose and several of the coal cars, then it left the track and turned directly across the west bound track heading for the ditch.

Fireman Young was shoveling coal at the time and he was thrown fifty feet into a neighboring field by the shock. The express car fell over on its side and the two express messengers became entangled in the boxes of fish but escaped serious injury. Miller was badly bruised and was injured internally.

Engineer Barber left the cab as the locomotive came to a standstill only to see the glare of another train approaching on the west bound train. It was the express, No. 7. The train leaves New York at 8 o'clock and had stopped at South Plainfield. It is a through train to Chicago. The engineer was Elmer Luckenbeel, of Jersey City, the conductor, Joseph DeHart, of Phillipsburg, and the brakeman, William Mutchler, of Jersey City.

No. 7 had just left South Plainfield and got fully under way when the engineer saw the flagman of the freight jump off and then the headlight of the milk train appeared around the curve. Seeing that a collision was inevitable, he applied the emergency brakes and considerably reduced the speed before his engine struck the engine of the milk train which was standing directly across the track The latter engine was turned over on its side by the last collision and the tender thrown partially into the ditch. The locomotive of the express was completely demolished on one side and toppled over but was prevented from falling over by the wreck of the tender and coal cars beneath it. The engineer and firemen were in the high cab and thus escaped serious injury. Superintendent Donnelly told a Press reporter this morning that had the cab been of the ordinary low style, both men would have undoubtedly been killed.

Several of the express cars were derailed and the occupants of the sleeper on the rear of the train received a shaking up. Two women were standing in the car at the time and both were thrown to the floor. They escaped with bruises

Seven of the coal cars were wrecked and their contents scattered along the tracks. The rest of the train was shaken up and several couplings broken. The engineer of the coaler did not feel the accident, however, and kept on as far as South Plainfield before one of the brakemen could notify him that the rear of the train was missing and that sections of it had been dropped all along the track from the scene of the accident to South Plainfield. The stray uninjured cars were collected and the train went on to Perth Amboy.

The wreckage completely blocked both main tracks and two sidings at the spot. The first wrecking train arrived at midnight but the steam crane was delayed at New Market by another small wreck. The axle to the engine of the wrecking train broke and had to be removed from the track The crane arrived at Samptown at 3 o'clock, this morning, and the work of removing the wreckage was begun at once. One of the sidings was cleared at 8 o'clock and the trains that had been blocked were allowed to go through. There were twenty coal and freight trains stalled west of the wreck to Hillsboro. When the track was opened at at 10 o'clock, there were eight coal and freight trains and two passenger trains. A west bound passenger train was also delayed. The passenger trains were from one to two hours behind schedule time and will not be running on time until late this afternoon. The last of the wreck was cleared away at 2 o'clock.

Superintendent Jas. Donnelly was on hand at midnight and took charge of the removal of the wreckage. A field telegraph office was established at the scene of the wreck. In conversation with a Press reporter, he laid the blame for the accident on the crew of the coal train and on the flagman who, he said, should have went back long before.

The sleeper on No. 7 was sent back to Roselle and went to Bound Brook over the Jersey Central tracks.

The accident was witnessed by David F. Blackford who lives nearby. He was standing on the bridge over the creek within fifty feet of the collision and saw the entire wreck. He afterwards took Fred Miller, the injured fireman, home with him for the night. Miller was sent home this morning.

The wreckage took fire soon after the accident and the ruins of the caboose and coal cars were burned. The rails were bent and loosened and the ties cut up.

A FINANCIAL PLAN.

Board of Education Anxious to Know Each Month How Much to Spend.

A regular meeting of the North Plainfield Board of Education was held last evening in the schoolhouse on Somerset street. The first matter of interest considered was the adoption of a scheme whereby the members will be able to tell each month just how much there is in the treasury and how much can be expended. This scheme was introduced by the finance committee and was well received by the other members. Charles L. Lewis, teacher of music in the Plainfield public schools, was engaged to fill a similar position in the borough school. He is to teach music twice a week for the balance of the school year.

Regarding the overcrowded condition of the school the members discussed the question and decided to lay the matter over until the next meeting of the board.

Dry Goods at Old Prices.

Although there has been a very decided advance of prices in dry goods of every description among manufacturers and retailers, there is one store in this town that is selling at old prices and in some cases at lower prices than ever before. Edward White was a very heavy buyer before the advance, and it places the store in a position to offer choice reliable merchandise at prices that are in many cases lower than the goods can be manufactured for at present prices. They tell of many of the goods in their advertisement.

First Marriage License.

Charles VanMiddlesworth, a former resident of this place, grandson of John VanMiddlesworth, was married at Plainfield last evening. The groom is now a resident of Brooklyn, and was obliged to get a marriage license. County Clerk Somers issued the license, which was the first issued in this county.—Unionist Gazette.

SPAIN REJECTS OFFERS

Will Not Allow the United States to Interfere in Cuba.

TEXT OF THE DOCUMENT

It Is Very Polite, but Evasive and Unsatisfactory to the Administration—Will Not Be Made Public Until Congress Meets.

Washington, Oct. 29.—President McKinley found time yesterday to read carefully the full text of the Spanish Premier's note on Cuban affairs, and there is warrant for the statement that it will be accepted by the Administration as a rejection of the offered mediation of the United States to end the war and secure Cuban autonomy or independence. The note itself is a model of diplomatic evasion on important points, while abounding in expression of regard and friendliness for the United States. The only harsh criticism in the note is the charge that the United States have been the recruiting ground for the friends of Cuba and that the McKinley Administration has been unwilling or unable to prevent filibustering. In all the honeyed phraseology there is no promise that Spain is willing to give up Cuba either to the Cubans or to the United States, and the Administration will therefore be compelled to frame and announce an alternative Cuban policy, which will hardly be agreed upon or announced before the meeting of Congress in December.

President McKinley has decided that, unless the Spanish Government objects, the text of the note will not be made public until he sends his annual report to Congress in December. A member of the Cabinet stated the attitude of the Administration on this point in saying: "As the stronger nation, it would not be fair or proper for us to make public the attitude of the Spanish Ministry. They must be allowed to follow their own desire on this point."

The Administration feels and expresses much gratification at the promised revocation of Weyler's concentration order. President McKinley, Secretary Sherman and other members of the Cabinet generally, in their correspondence and conversations with Minister Taylor, Consul-General Lee, Dupuy de Lome and other diplomatic officers here, always expressed the utmost concern regarding the inhuman and barbaric tyranny of Weyler's concentration order, and let it be plainly known that its revocation had to be the first step in the professed policy of friendliness to the United States and humanity to Cuba.

The recall of Weyler and the revocation of the concentration order are, however, not accepted as proof positive that the new Liberal Ministry is any more strongly disposed than its predecessor to grant reforms to Cuba.

There will be no time for deliberate consideration of the question until after the elections. Two of the Cabinet officers—Secretary of the Navy Long and Secretary of War Alger—left town yesterday, Mr. Long for League Island and Mr. Alger for Detroit. Before going, President McKinley read to them the text of the Spanish reply, so that they would be fully informed of its contents. The regular semi-weekly meeting of the Cabinet will be held today, and immediately afterward the President will go to Ohio. Secretary Sherman is going also, and the formal consideration of public questions will be resumed next week, when the annual reports of the President and members of the Cabinet will be outlined.

The Administration is but little concerned about the reference in the Spanish note to filibustering. A member of the Cabinet said this morning that it is very well known to the Spanish Minister, and through him to the Spanish Ministry, that the United States Government has gone to the very limits of its powers in its determination and effort to arrest filibustering expeditions and putting an end to the practice. Indeed, he says, in the minds of many, the Government has exceeded its duties and obligations in this regard, and Spain knows it.

Europe Won't Help Spain.

Madrid, Oct. 29.—Spain has received replies from the various European powers to her inquiries touching their attitude in case her relations with the United States became ruptured.

It is understood that in the replies Spain was informed that only diplomatic support would be given to her. Some of the continental governments, especially Germany, are understood to expressly repudiate the validity of the Monroe doctrine.

To Wed in Lion's Den.

Boston, Oct. 29.—When the Boston Zoological Society advertised that it wanted an attractive couple to be married in a den of lions at the Zoo, couples were heard from in all parts of New England, but one or the other of the twain always lacked courage.

The couple selected finally are Miss Charlotte Wiberg, of Boston, and Arthur St. Andrassy, of Perth Amboy, N. J.

The bride to be is very pretty, 21 years of age, and was born in this city. The name of the officiating clergyman is withheld for the present.

The ceremony will take place at the Zoo next Thursday.

Asks Damages for Divorce.

Phillipsburg, N. J., Oct. 29.—Mrs. Emma Herring will go to Wilkesbarre, Pa., next week to institute a suit for $20,000 damages against the parents of her husband, George B. Herring, for alienating his affections. Mrs. Herring is 19 years of age. She was formerly Miss Emma Myers, and is the daughter of Uriah Myers, a conductor on the Central Railroad of New Jersey. Young Herring has gone to Oklahoma and begun a suit for divorce under the laws of that State.

Bad Wreck on the Erie.

Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Erie train No. 13, the west-bound Wells-Fargo express, was in collision in the yards yesterday morning with a D., L. & W. freight, which was crossing the Erie tracks.

The express engine was thrown off the track. Engineer J. C. Miller, of Elmira, and Fireman R. E. Jessups, of Hornellsville, were badly injured, and the damage is $20,000.

INDICTED FOR MURDER

Nineteen Counts Against the Hazleton Sheriff and Deputies.

BITTER TRIAL EXPECTED

Plenty of Testimony to Show that the Slaughter of the Miners Was Unprovoked—Likely to Stand Together.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 29.—The Grand Jury has returned true bills against Sheriff Martin and his deputies for the Lattimer shooting. The true bills included nineteen for murder, one for each man killed and one for the victims collectively. Thirty-six true bills were found in the same way against the same defendants for felonious wounding. It is understood from this fact that the defendants can have separate trials or can elect to be tried together.

The fact that true bills have been found occasions no surprise, for this action was expected, and if the jury had ignored the bills the defendants would have been at once rearrested. The general feeling here is that the case should be finally disposed of by regular trial, and it is likely that Sheriff Martin and his deputies will elect to stand together. The re-entry of Garman and McGahren into the case indicates that the prosecution will be pushed with vigor, and probably with a good deal of bitterness.

The prosecution has several hundred witnesses who will testify that the shooting by the deputies, on the order of Sheriff Martin, was entirely unprovoked; that no attack was made on the officers, and that the miners had merely crowded around the Sheriff to hear his reading of the order to disperse.

They will testify that the strikers immediately broke ranks, and fled, but that several volleys were fired after them, as the bullet wounds in the backs of many of the dead and injured bear testimony.

The men slain were not among the original hard coal strikers of the Hazleton district, but had been induced to leave the pits a few days previously by a marching column of strikers.

The shooting for which Sheriff Martin and his deputies have been indicted occurred on Sept. 10 at Lattimer, Luzerne County, Pa. A great number of alien coal miners had been on a strike for several weeks, and had been marching about the country and compelling other workmen to quit, in defiance of court injunctions. They had also been guilty of the destruction of property and many assaults. A large mob of strikers gathered at Hazleton on the morning of Sept. 10 and announced the intention of marching against the collieries at Lattimer and driving out the men employed there. Sheriff Martin and a force of deputies, after one brush with the rioters at Hazleton, intercepted them on the edge of the village of Lattimer. The Sheriff ordered the strikers to halt, and stepped forward to read the riot act. They paid no attention to his command, but tried to push him from the road, and the deputies fired, killing nineteen of the rioters and wounding many others.

QUAY AND MARTIN.

Evidence that the Long-Time Antagonists Are United Again.

Philadelphia, Oct. 29.—Local political events confirm the prognostications made some months ago that all signs in Pennsylvania pointed to a coalition between Senator Quay and his old adjutant, now Secretary of the Commonwealth, David Martin. Wednesday Quay paid his first visit to the headquarters of the Republican City Committee in ten years and mingled with the active element in local politics. The Senator left the committee rooms and strolled down the street with Martin.

It was reported six weeks ago that the gap between Quay and Martin in State and local politics had probably been closed. Quay is for the local organization and for the Martin local ticket for city offices in February. Whether he is for Attorney-General McCormick for Governor is doubtful, but the State end of the problem will work itself out before the discontented forces of Bryanism and other elements become formidable in their antagonism to the Republican State organization next year, as heralded last night in a speech at Wilkesbarre, by ex-Governor Pattison.

MADDEN CLAIMS FORFEIT.

And Also Claims the Championship for Gus Rublin.

New York, Oct. 29.—Billy Madden was again at the Illustrated News office at 3 p. m. yesterday to make a match on behalf of Gus Rublin against Peter Maher, but M. J. Connelly, Maher's manager, did not show up or send any word, notwithstanding that he has a forfeit of $500 up to make the match, and made the agreement to be on hand to sign articles.

Madden felt very much disappointed at the failure of the other side to put in an appearance, and said he did not feel justified in giving them any more time. He therefore claimed the forfeit, and said:

"As neither Fitzsimmons, Corbett, Maher or any other heavy-weight will fight my man, who has money up to contest with any white man living, it is but reasonable and consistent, according to all ring rules, to claim the championship for Rublin. This I now do," and the score of sporting men who were present said he was perfectly right.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by druggists, price 75c per bottle.

At last I found a remedy that effected a cure and that was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy." This medicine can always be depended upon for colic, cholera morbus, dysentery and diarrhœa. It is pleasant to take and never fails to affect a cure. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. —A regular meeting of the West End Hose Company will be held next Monday evening.

—The case against Wallace and others in the city court was dismissed yesterday afternoon.

—The landlord and tenant case of J. A. Blatz against Rilling, before Justice Mattison, was adjourned for two weeks.

—On Grant avenue, between Front and Fourth streets, a stone walk and curbing is being laid. The street is also being repaired.

—A high board fence has been erected on West Front street in front of the Stillman property upon which a building is to be erected.

—This afternoon the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue church will meet in the church parlors to sew and make useful articles.

—The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company are having new cables stretched about town to meet the increasing business of the company.

—Alex. Lusardi, of 211 West Front street, has a choice lot of all kinds of fruit, especially California and white grapes, his prices for which are reasonable.

—Tomorrow evening on Somerset street, in the store formerly occupied by Julius J. Stahl, a cake and candy sale will be held for the benefit of Grace M. E. church.

—An enjoyable barn dance was held at the barn of William Lorton, of New Market, last night. Guests were present from New York, Plainfield, Dunellen and New Market.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of Hope Chapel will hold a dime social in the chapel next Monday evening. A programme of music and recitations has been arranged for the occasion.

—Good progress is being made in the preparation for the organization of a militia company. Thirty names have already been enrolled. The number necessary is fifty-three men.

—William Debele, of Somerset street, is making several improvements about his place, and one of them is that of having the frame awning removed from in front of the store.

—The ladies of the First M. E. church, will give a Hallowe'en supper in Vincent chapel Monday evening next. There will be games for the young folks and an old fashioned supper.

—It may be the object of the Street Commission to use the bricks left on West Front street, near Rock avenue, but it seems as though they could have been left in a better place than on the sidewalk and in the gutter.

—The regular meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church will be held this evening in the lecture room. The subject will be, "Confessing Christ Before Men. Why and How." All are invited.

—Martin Whelan writes to The Press to complain of the burning of rubbage in the "gravel pits" in the eastern end of the city. He says that the stench arising from the burning rubbage is almost unbearable to those living in the neighborhood.

—The is some talk on the part of wheelmen and those who use horses of making Dunellen avenue from Dunellen to Compton avenue a boulevard and have the street put in good condition. This talk is the result of the trolley cars running on Front street, and thereby making travel more or less dangerous.

A COSTLY LOVE AFFAIR.

A New York State court has just rendered a verdict that ought to teach men who are in love to defer signing contracts to impart wealth to the idol of their eye until they are sure their affections will not grow cold. It proved a costly transaction for the man in the instance under observation. It seems that he fell in love with a woman who loved so wisely that there is reason to believe that she had been there before. Before this fair lady would consent to give her hand in marriage she demanded that the applicant sign an agreement whereby for a consideration of $1 on her part he was to give her $20,000, with a house and lot thrown in, whenever she demanded it. He did it, believing no doubt that the anti nuptial contract would soon be forgotten in the sea of happiness which their wedding would plunge them into. It is related as a fact that matters did go along swimmingly for a time, but one fateful day there was a spat—possibly induced by indigestible cooking or the failure of the wife to find her husband's collar button under the bed; at any rate there were words and then a parting. The husband, serenely forgetting that the wife had held tightly to the nuptial agreement, lived on unconscious of the impending trouble until one day a nicely-folded parchment, with a blue ribbon and a big seal of red wax, was thrust into his hands by a lawyer's clerk. He read it and—horrors! it was the family skeleton, the agreement of his to give his wife $20,000 and a house and lot for $1 and her love. But the latter was now flown and the $1 wasn't even a chip off of a hemlock plank, figuratively speaking, towards bridging the abyss that loomed up before him. He determined to fight it out and fight he did for three years, but the day of reckoning has come and the Court has decreed that the fair lady made a legal bargain when she sold her love, even if it was only temporary. Inasmuch as the defendant was a widower when he met the fair lady and therefor had had experience in affairs of the heart on a previous occasion, we are forced to believe that love is really blind, as some sage once said, and which people have been sentimentally repeating ever since.

John L. Crowell, Democratic candidate for Surrogate, and Benjamin Lawrence and Dr. Thomas Jefferson Jackson, Democratic candidates for Assembly, were about town yesterday being introduced to voters by James E. Martine. All three are gentlemen of affability and made a favorable impression upon those whom they met. If the election was to be decided by the choice of the handsomest man there isn't much doubt but what Dr. Jackson would certainly be an Assemblyman.

The counsel of each of the County Boards of Freeholders of this State will be advised by a circular from Attorney General Grey that the ballots cast at the special election Sept. 28th, should be removed from the boxes and the latter made ready for next Tuesday's election. This will settle a question about which there has been some perplexity.

—Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., will meet tonight and transact routine business.

—The Grand Union Tea Company 138 West Front street will still continue on Friday and Saturday of this week to give to each purchase of one can of baking powder a large size gray dish pan.

—If you intend to purchase an overcoat, ulster, suit or anything in the gent's furnishing line, give Jaquett, 129 East Front street, a call. He is forced to sell goods way below cost to close out his business, and he will offer some exceptional bargains Saturday.

Rev. J. S. Braker delivered an address at the Union County Sunday-school convention which was held at Cranford yesterday.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent Cough Remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form.—The Banner of Liberty, Libertytown, Maryland. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

The Westfield Club's football team is now holding its practices on the tennis courts next to the clubhouse, where electric lights have been placed to enable the team to practice at night. Preparations are now being made for the game with Cranford on Election Day.

After abandoning their efforts for a few months, burglars have again begun depredations in Westfield. An entrance was forced to the Union County Standard building, corner of Prospect street and North avenue, Wednesday night, and several offices in the building were ransacked. From the office of M. L. Salisbury, a civil engineer, a surveying instrument valued at $200 and a set of drawing tools were taken. From the rooms of Ralph and Lee Pearsall, on the same floor, a number of musical instruments, a revolver, a gun and some clothing was taken. These articles were discovered later on in a closet in Mr. Salisbury's office. The thieves evidently expected to return and secure these later on. An attempt was also made Wednesday night to gain an entrance to the residence of C. A. Brown, on New York avenue. The family were aroused by a noise and on investigation found the window sash cut away next to the latch.

LINCOLN.

Ground has been broken for the new town hall and schoolhouse.

Contracts will be awarded Monday for the laying of water pipes through Beechwood Heights and the streets of Lincoln.

The fires were started in the boilers in the Lincoln Steel Works yesterday, and as the smoke came rolling out of the stack there was great rejoicing among the inhabitants of the rapidly growing town. The factory will be in full operation in a few weeks.

THE DAMROSCH RECITAL.

Wierd Music-Drama of Wagner Interpreted in an Explanatory Recital.

Probably few men in the musical world are better fitted to interpret the wierd music-dramas of that musical wizard, Richard Wagner, than the well-known New York musician and conductor, Walter Damrosch, who last night gave an explanatory recital at the Casino of the Union County Country Club.

The story of "Siegfried," was told in music in Wagner's drama with the utmost fidelity. To show how perfectly subject and harmony were in accordance was the aim of Mr. Damrosch. He told the story of the opera often in the words of the text, and at the same time played portions of the score on the grand piano, showing how almost every word of the text had its corresponding note in the music. He also explained carefully each of the principal "motives" of the opera, which each describe some one thing, and which, singly or in combination, may be traced through the whole music-drama.

Mr. Damrosch's playing of Wagner's music is unusually sympathetic and enthusiastic, and shows a deep knowledge of the meaning of music, a thorough comprehension of the tecnique of the art, and a true understanding of and sympathy with human nature. His interpretation of "Siegfried," was an education and a delight to his appreciative audience, and invested the romantic story with a new charm.

THEATRICAL.

Of "Shore Acres" it has been said that it is not a play, but a leaf torn from the book of nature and held up to the gaze of human eyes that men may learn the futility of worldly ambition and the beauty of unselfishness and devotion to others. Mr. Hearne's play has certainly achieved a most remarkable success and it promises to attract the cover of the drama for many years to come. Although it is almost entirely free from the old and stereotyped form of dramatic situations and climaxes, its story is a powerful one and follows the trials of Uncle Nat and his loved ones with almost breathless interest. At Music Hall tonight.

Reform Club Interest.

An interesting meeting of the Reform Club was held in their hall on West Second street last night. About 150 persons were present to enjoy the programme, which included remarks by Messrs. Marcley, Lee and Sayres, and musical selections by Guttman's orchestra. Another entertaining meeting is being arranged for next Thursday night.

Quality and Price Are the Prizes.

What would you think of a lawyer who tried to secure clients by offering chances on a bicycle? Would you want the services of a physician who offered to give coal hods or sofa pillows to patients who employed him regularly?

We think not. We believe also that when sickness comes and you have prescriptions to be filled or need any other aid that the skilled pharmacist can render, you want perfect service at a fair price—and nothing else.

We give such service. We are apt to save you 15 to 25 per cent on the cost—druggists that are conscientious about quality are pretty sure to be as careful about price.

MORE BODIES IN WRECK

Number of Victims May be Swelled to Twenty-Six.

SFVERAL PERSONS MISSING

Search for the Dead in the River Renewed with Vigor—Woman's Body Still Unidentified—One Wreck Theory Disproved.

New York, Oct. 29.—The search for the bodies of the victims of the New York Central horror is being pushed with great diligence, as it is now thought possible that eight bodies are still in the river. Six persons who are believed to have boarded the ill-fated train are missing. These are:

JOHN WATERS, a plumber, employed by Maar Bros., Poughkeepsie.
ANNIE BURKE, 16 Centre street, Poughkeepsie.
JOHN LUGERT, a baker, of Hudson, N. Y.
JOHN DEVINE, a bartender, of Syracuse, N. Y.
FRANK B. ORMSBY, of Syracuse, N. Y.
MRS. M'GRATH, of Pawling, N. Y.

Inquiries have been received from relatives of these persons by Coroner Wood and all declare their fears that they have met death in the wreck.

If all the people that are reported missing yesterday were lost in the Buffalo express the dead list will foot up to twenty six.

The identification of the woman's body supposed to be Mrs. Mary Theirs, of Cleveland, proved to be wrong. Mrs. Theirs is alive and well. The body is not yet identified.

The theory that the breaking down of the engine caused the wreck was disposed of yesterday when the forward truck of the locomotive was raised. The truck was intact, and even if it had been found broken the officials would not have held it as proof that a break-down had caused the accident. They declare that the dynamite plot theory was as reasonable as any.

The work of dredging the river for the missing bodies was continued yesterday afternoon. A diver was also at work, but he found no indications of any bodies up to last night. The muddy condition of the river makes it difficult for the diver to see anything. He has to trust mainly to his sense of touch.

General Manager Toucey, of the railroad, said yesterday that he is satisfied that the cause of the break of the roadbed was that the engine jumped the track and by its weight and impact crushed the earth embankment and toppled the wall over from the top. He says positively that the wall did not slide off from the bottom. The engine ran 100 feet beyond the break before it plunged into the river, and the cars, breaking loose from it, also went down into the river. If this be true it would account for the two distinct shocks which the witnesses testified to at the inquest last night. The first shock would have come from the checking of the train when the engine struck the ties and earth, and the second one when the cars plunged into the hole and river.

Mystery Unsolved Yet.

President Depew, of the New York Central, said yesterday that the mystery of Sunday's accident had not yet been solved.

"I want to say, however," he said, "in reference to statements contained in certain newspapers, that we have been for a long time receiving reports that our roadbed is unsafe, that the policy of the New York Central is and always has been to drive away the traveling public to other roads by keeping our roadbeds in such a condition that we are likely to kill a train load of people at almost any time. That is the way we make our money. The statement that we have gone over the heads of our engineering department which has charge of the roadbed is absurd. Mr. Katte, our chief engineer, is acknowledged to be one of the greatest experts of the country, and we have implicit confidence in him. However, to convince the public that we are leaving nothing undone, we have employed other experts to supplement the work of Mr. Katte. I have nothing to say in reference to the reports of engineers employed by some papers, except that superficial examinations are not always to be relied upon."

Poughkeepsie, Oct. 29.—John Devine and John Waters, of this city, who were thought to have perished in the wreck at Garrisons, are both safe. Devine returned from New York Wednesday night and says he saw Waters there and that he was unhurt.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Adolph L. Luetgert, the sausage maker who was tried recently for the alleged murder of his wife, and concerning whose guilt the jury disagreed, has quarreled with ex-Judge Vincent, his chief counsel, and it is likely that Vincent will withdraw from the case.

Luetgert was sullen and ill-tempered yesterday. He sent for the Assistant State's Attorney, Ramsay, to consult with him about the new trial. Ex-Judge Vincent urged Luetgert to agree to a reasonable continuance of the case. Luetgert was obdurate and refused. Then Vincent plainly told the sausage maker that the case would be continued if he was to have any voice in it in future.

Both sides agreed yesterday to have the case set for trial on Monday, November 18.

Dollar Wheat Again.

New York, Oct. 29.—The dollar mark was reached again by December wheat on the Produce Exchange yesterday. Sales at that price were made just before the official close of business at 2.15 o'clock, and the fact was the cause of cheering by the brokers in the wheat pit. The official close for the future was at $1.00, as gainst 98⅝ cents on Monday. Later, on the curb, futures to a considerable amount were dealt in at the dollar price.

Boy Killed by a Bull.

Reading, Pa., Oct. 29.—Milton Eyrich, aged 14 years, employed on a farm above this city, went into the field yesterday morning to drive the herd of cows to water. A bull plunged for the boy, tossed him into the air, caught him on his horns the second time and again tossed him up. One horn penetrated the boy's abdomen. The bull was driven off and killed, and the boy died about the same time.

The Tables Turned.

We have almost solved the servant girl problem.

Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.

The tables are turned, and we have turned them.

We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.

Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "

What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

YOUNG SON FOR CLEVELAND.

Baby Boy Born to the Ex-President Yesterday.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 29.—Mrs. Grover Cleveland gave birth to a son at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mother and child are doing well. The baby weighed twelve pounds. The Clevelands now have four children, Ruth, Marion, Esther and the latest arrival. The ex-President's great desire is gratified. He has long wished for a son.

The news spread quickly around the town and campus, and the students made merry last night over the prospect of a big guard or even a centre rush for the 1917 'varsity eleven. The announcement of the safe arrival of Grover Cleveland, Jr., was made on the university bulletin board in the afternoon. A large crowd of students were soon collected, and somebody called for "a triple cheer for the kid," which was given with such a hearty will that the noise could plainly be heard in the Cleveland house.

A little knot of Mr. Cleveland's personal friends gathered in the drawing-room of the Bayard avenue house last night to offer congratulations. The child, muffled in softest clothes, was brought into the room and a toast was drunk to his health.

FEAR OF CUBAN VENGEANCE.

It Is All That Prevents Great Outrages in Havana.

Havana, Oct. 27, via Key West, Oct. 28.—Two dynamite bombs exploded on Tuesday in the neighborhood of El Cerro, Havana City. The bombs did some damage to baracks occupied by Spanish soldiers, but neither killed nor wounded anybody. It is generally believed that the explosion was caused by Cubans merely to warn the Spanish volunteers not to carry out their threats of committing murder during the proposed demonstration in favor of Gen. Weyler. There is no doubt that if the volunteers repeat their butcheries of 1869 some conspicuous Spaniards will be killed by the Cubans in retaliation, and Havana will fall into a state of anarchy in which the foreign residents will be imperiled.

Only fear of Cuban revenge is likely to prevent rapine and murder by the volunteers on the defenseless native families living in the capital. The report that the government of Senor Sagasta, in order to prevent those outrages, intends to discharge the volunteers and disarm them, is not credited here by the people who know the relations which the Spanish governments have always maintained with the savage mob, officially styled "the most patriotic Institution of Volunteers of Havana."

EX-MAYOR CURTIS MARRIED.

Slips Away from Boston and Weds Miss Waterman in Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Ex-Mayor Edwin C. Curtis, of Boston, was married here at noon yesterday to Miss Maud Waterman at the home of Miss Waterman's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hall. Bishop Cheney performed the ceremony. The couple left last evening for a brief wedding trip before their return to Boston. So far as the Boston public is concerned, the wedding was a runaway match. Ex-Mayor Curtis is engaged in a political campaign in which he is expected to stand for a second election at the hands of the Republicans, and on that account all arrangements for the marriage were kept secret.

Miss Waterman has been living with her sister for two years, so the ex-Mayor quietly slipped away from his friends, came out here, and was married before any of them knew of it.

The Papal Allocution.

Rome, Oct. 29.—The next consistory has been fixed to be held in December. The Papal allocution, which will then be read, will deplore the recent anti-clerical measures adopted by the Government.

It is understood that the Congregation of the Propaganda Fide have agreed upon the nominations to be submitted to the Pope for the bishoprics of Vancouver, Concordia and New Orleans.

Minister Hoshi to Retire.

Washington, Oct. 29.—The appearance of the story from Honolulu predicting the removal of the Japanese Minister Toru Hoshi, and the immediate appointment of a successor, created no surprise at the Japanese Legation. It was said, however, that the Minister's stay in the United States after his return, which is looked for about the first of the year, will be for a limited period only.

Preacher Kills His Wife.

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 29.—The Rev. J. Burdine, a Baptist preacher, living in the upper part of Pickens County, shot his wife yesterday through the head, killing her instantly. Then he fired a bullet into his own head. He is still living, but unconscious. Mrs. Burdine was a sister of Maj. Stewart, clerk of the Court of Pickens.

World's Record Smashed Again.

Philadelphia, Oct. 29.—Eddie McDuffie yesterday at Willow Grove bicycle track, established a new world's record for one mile, paced, covering the distance in 1m., 35 2-5s., three-fifths of a second lower than the record made by Jimmy Michael on the same track several weeks ago.

A Farmer Killed.

Reading, Pa., Oct. 29.—John Lommox, a farmer of Frederick township, was driving from his home to the store in his carriage yesterday morning. His horse took fright at a bicycle and ran away. Lommox was thrown from the carriage. He fell on his head, crushing his skull, dying instantly.

Large Orders for Torpedoes.

Washington, Oct. 29.—A large supply of automobile torpedoes ready for immediate service on board ships is to be purchased by the navy, and a contract has been awarded for twenty-five of the latest improved type, costing $70,000 for the entire lot. Other large orders will be given later.

The City of Topeka Aground.

Tacoma, Oct. 29.—The Alaska steamer City of Topeka ran aground yesterday afternoon during a fog on Brown's Point, just outside the entrance to Tacoma harbor. The steamer Santa Cruz has been dispatched to pull her off.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—VanEmburgh & Son have a special sale now on. Read their ad.

—Gavett is now showing the finest line of lamps and Welsbach gas stands ever exhibited in this city.

Councilman A. C. Stebbins and Mr. Morgan, of the Pond Tool and Machine Works, went to Philadelphia on business today.

—Justice Mosher today issued a summons in the landlord and tenant case of Laungbaum against Jackson, returnable next Thursday.

—Flynn Brothers, 318 West Front street, Scheffiin building, has an excellent assortment of winter shoes to select from and their prices are right.

—L. M. French, of Somerset street, has just turned out the first rubber-tired carriage from his factory. It is for P. Keeley & Son, of LaGrande avenue.

—Blair, hatter, Park avenue, has a large stock of derbies, alpines, men's underwear, gloves and neckwear and an excellent assortment to select from. Prices low.

—A party of North Plainfield politicians started out this morning in a carriage to make a tour of the county. Judging from the make up of the party it is difficult to say who they are working for.

—Commencing with last evening the trolley cars will run under fifteen minutes headway from 6 o'clock instead of 7 as heretofore. This is owing to the fact that it gets dark much earlier and the motormen are not able to see so well through the vestibuled fronts.

—One of the biggest bargains they have ever offered in high-grade shoes for men, Doane & Edsall say is now to be had at their store. They will close the special lot out quickly, so those who get the bargains will need to make haste. See their new "ad" in another column for special prices.

—One of the best meat markets in this vicinity is the one conducted by J. M. Smalley on Somerset street, corner of Race. Tomorrow Mr. Smalley will have an exceptionally fine display of all the best of meat. Mr. Smalley keeps a complete stock of everything to be found in a first-class market.

ENTERTAINED HIS SCHOLARS.

Horace J. Martin Gave His Sunday-School Class a Good Time.

Horace J. Martin, of West Front street, entertained his Sunday-school class of young women at his home last evening, and the latter gave a reception and musicale for the purpose of raising money to assist in the furnishing of the new Sunday-school room of the Trinity Reformed chured. The programme consisted of piano selections by Horace Martin, Jr., Willard Martin, Miss Edith Hulbert, vocal solos by Miss Charlotte Messerschith, recitations by Helen Woolley, Miss Amy Emmons. Miss Mabelle Force rendered several piano selections and also accompanied Miss Messerschmith on the piano. Each of the above numbers were cordially received by the large assemblage of guests present. A feature of the programme was furnished by a blackboard upon which was written many different names, and the point was to pick out the names and spell them correctly.

A collection was received which was most gratifying to those who had planned the affair. The members of the class served refreshments during the evening.

No Reason, Sisters Say, for Suiciding.

The Misses Weitheimer, of New York, came to Plainfield this morning and called at the hospital where they identified their dead brother. In conversation with Miss Moss, the nurse, they said that their brother had no reason for committing the deed, that he was a pet in the family and a great favorite and always had everything he wanted. The parents of the children reside in Germany and Bertram came to this country to escape being drafted in the army. He was a victim of cigarettes and novels. Undertaker took charge of the body for the sisters and the Plainfield Hebrew Association. This afternoon at 2 o'clock interment was in the Hebrew cemetery at Gaitville, near Bound Brook.

—The illustrated lecture to be given this evening in the Y. M. C. A. Hall will be for the benefit of the local post Volunteers of America.

—Rev. Hovhannes K. Samuelian, of Nicodemedia, Turkey, delivered the secoed of his series of interesting lectures on Canstantinople in the Y. M. C. A. Hall to a fair sized audience last evening. The title of the lecture was "Life on the Bridge."

HENRY GEORGE DEAD.

Tragic End to a Sensational Canvass of Mayoralty Campaign.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

NEW YORK, October 29th, 1897.—Henry George died at the Union Square Hotel at 4:45 o'clock this morning. Death is thought to have been due to apoplexy.

Mr. George arrived at the hotel about 1 o'clock this morning. He had just come from several large mass meetings in the Boroughs of Queens and Brooklyn. The work of the night seemed to have told on him. He complained of being tired, but his friends and relatives who awaited him thought it only the natural fatigue that follows such hard campaigning as Mr. George has been doing. Not long after reaching the hotel he retired.

Mrs. George awaited him in room No. 22 of the hotel. It was about 3:30 o'clock when Mrs. George awakened. She found Mr. George sitting in an arm chair. Mrs. George at once grew anxious as to her husband's condition. He gradually grew incoherent and lapsed into semi-consciousness. A call was sent to Dr. Kelly, of 117 East Fifty-ninth street, and he came without delay. Without sign of recognition to those around him he passed peacefully away at 4:45 o'clock.

The effect of the death of Mr. George will be, it is thought by politicians, an aid to Mr. VanWyck, Tuesday. Many who would have voted for George will now cast their ballots for the Tammany candidate.

Sent Back to Jail.

The hearing of the alleged young burglars did not take place this morning as was expected. Instead the four lads appeared before Justice Newcorn and entered a plea of non vult. They were Ferdinand Rockafellow, represented by former Judge W. A. Coddington. Samuel Riker represented by City Judge DeMeza, Charles Westerfield represented by former Councilman Walter L. Hetfield, and David Connett, colored, without a lawyer. They were sent to Elizabeth to secure bail to await sentence. Walter Ralph, charged with receiving the goods, waived examination by the advice of his counsel, City Judge DeMeza, and was held for the Grand Jury.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Daniel Laing, of West Eighth street, will spend the winter in New York.

Julius Williams, of Elmwood place, is expected home soon from an extended business trip.

Miss Sadie Randolph, of West Eighth street, will spend next week in New York with friends.

The Misses Rafferty, of Park avenue, entertained company from Bound Brook yesterday.

Lawyer S. S. Swackhamer, of the firm of Codington & Swackhamer, was called out of town today on business.

Miss Grace Rowland, of East Sscond street, gave a whist party last evening to a few of her intimate friends. A very pleasant time was had by all present.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter B. Hodge, of Plainfield avenue, have returned from Somerville, where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Hodge's father, John Polhemus, which was held yesterday afternoon from the house at 12:30.

—L. E. Hart, of West Front street, is about to make some improvements to his Elmwood place property.

—Regular monthly missionary meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at Warren chapel. F. H. Andrews will be the speaker.

—The telephone wires in the borough are being re-arranged, and new wires are being stretched.

—The Royal Arch Degree was conferred on three candidates at the regular communication of Jerusalem Chapter, No. 24, R. A. M., held last evening.

At the last moment, the Plainfield A. A. has decided to play tomorrow afternoon. The New Jersey Athletic Club will be the opposing team. They are very strong. The Crescents will play Roselle on the Myrtle avenue grounds.

THE PLOT OF THE 'FEST.

COMES FROM AN OLD GERMAN CUSTOM INDULGED IN ANNUALLY.

An Opening Love Song, a Few Preliminary Dances and Then Comes the Event, Whist With Living Cards.

Everybody is enquiring what the Spielkartenfest really is. Of course, it is known that it is to be a monster benefit for the Muhlenberg Hospital to be held in the Crescent Rink from November 8 to 13, but then the details are lacking. Like the Kermiss, the Spielkartenfest came to us from Germany. It is an old German festival at which time it was the custom for young and old, the people as well as the nobility, to indulge in the public amusement with absolute freedom.

The plot, if such it may be called, of the Spielkartenfest which is to be given in this city next month, is to the effect that a young girl while preparing for the festival, hears a serenade and throws a rose from the window. The serenade, by the way, is to be "Love's Sorrow," and will be sung by Elmer E. Runyon, the well-known tenor. The young girl then rehearses a dance planned for the entertainment of the royalty, which she carried out by the assistance of a friend. With the aid of a false mirror, two girls are seen instead of one. Upon the entrance of the serenaders the trick is discovered. Then follows the dance of the Troubadours, or the mirror dance as it is known at present, and then the curtain falls upon the group of merry dancers to rise again upon the magnificent tableau of the Spielkertenfest with its grand procession, its bright attractive dances, until the entrance of the players announce the most interesting feature of the entertainment, the game of whist with living cards.

The players, who, by the way, are to be the famous four of the Park Club, Messrs. McCutchen, Howell, Townsend and Rogers, with their four pages each, take places in the four respective corners of the stage. Then comes the procession of the fifty two cards, led by the Joker, or court jester, who sees that they are thoroughly shuffled and then deals them, four at a time, to the players.

Each card will be readily distinguished. The ladies will wear aprons with the requisite number of spots on them, while capes will answer the same purpose for their escorts. Each living card holds a playing card in his or her hand corresponding with the card represented. This is given to the player to whom the living card is dealt, thus making it a genuine hand of whist. As a card is played, it, or rather he or she, is led out by a page. The trick is led to the winning side by the Joker, who also scores the result on a blackboard. The colors are red and white on the left hand and yellow and black on the right hand side of the stage. If the trick is won by the red and white, it is led to that side, thus enabling those in the audience who are not whist players to keep the run of the game. After the cards have all been played, the Joker enters, carrying the winning colors, followed by all the cards, a tableau is formed and the Spielkartenfest is over.

No, not over, only the dances are concluded, and then follows a delightful hour among the booths, looking at the various attractions, and purchasing here and there bon-bons, flowers, lemonade, dolls for the children, and even a pencil and eraser. Then the restaurant offers all sorts of inducements—but then, those attractions have been mentioned before. It's going to be a grand affair. The city will be there in force. It's a worthy undertaking and deserves to be worthily supported.

An Athletic Association.

The athletic association of the New York Military Academy was organized several days ago by the students at that academy. George Proctor Smith was elected president. The other officers chosen were: Walter H. Serrell, vice-president; Aubrey Hull, secretary; Lindley M. Hillman, treasurer A committee, composed of George Proctor Smith, John Hull and Langdon Howard, was appointed to draw up a constitution.

Some Good Things at White's.

A backward season has hurt the prices on many lines of goods, manufacturers and importers are anxious to sell and this house has been most fortunate in its purchase of fall goods, they are offering many good values in hosiery and underwear and in dress goods they have never had such a fine selection.

Sons of Veterans Fair.

During next week, when the Sons of Veterans will hold their fair in Washington Hall, it is expected that several neighboring camps will visit the fair. There will be dancing every evening, and the committee has decided not to allow any contest books in the place where the fair will be held.

SALE FOR WORTHY OBJECT.

TO ASSIST POOR WHITE PEOPLE.

Held in the Hospitable Home of Mrs. John Doull Miller—Those Who Were in Charge.

A charming little informal sale for a worthy object filled the beautiful home of Mrs. John Doull Miller, of East Ninth street, with workers and purchasers yesterday afternoon. It was a cake, candy and apron sale for the benefit of the work among the poor white people of the south, in which Rev. E. L. Walz, Jr., is interested. It was arranged and successfully carried out by a number of the ladies of the Crescent Avenue church.

Three tables occupied the drawing room, while refreshments were served in the dining-room. The cake table, decorated with pink roses, was under the charge of Miss Gertrude Walz, Mrs. Fred Yates and Miss Hayes. inent at the apron table, over which presided Miss Cook, Miss Katheryn Stewart, Miss Hunter, White bride roses were prom- and Miss Katheryn Yates. Red roses were in prominence on the candy table, where the aids were Mrs. E. R. Ackerman, Mrs. Joseph W. Sandford. Jr., Mrs. Daniel Ginna and Mrs. E. L Walz.

Fred Shepard entertained some of the younger visitors with a phonograph, while Miss Daisy Shepard presided over a monster grab bag, from which all sorts of wonderful things were produced.

The dining room was decorated principally in scarlet. Mrs. Walter Stewart and Mrs. Frank Mead alternated in presiding over the pouring of the tea, while Mrs. B. O. Bowers and Mrs. Harry Borden looked after the chocolate in a similar manner. They were assisted by Miss Annie Stewart, Miss May Evans and Miss Anna Miller.

Mrs. Augustus Shepard held general sway over the sale and looked after each part, rendering assistance when needed. Miss Mead assisted her in the duties of her part.

Everything found ready sale and by the time the afternoon had come to an end the tables had been cleared of all the articles displayed there. The attendance was large and the results very satisfactory to all concerned. While the exact amount cleared has not yet been ascertained, it is known to be a large amount, that will be of great assistance to the work for which it is intended.

Mrs. Miller was unable to be present at the sale on account of illness.

Tickets for the 'Fest.

Beginning on Monday morning the tickets for the Spielkartenfest are to be placed on sale at Hall's pharmacy at the corner of Watchung avenue and East Fifth street, and at Arm strong's pharmacy, corner of Park and North avenues. The tickets will be evenly divided between the two places and reserved seats for all the evenings performances can be secured beginning on Monday morning. The Spielkartenfest is only a week off now and the fact that the tickets are to be placed on sale at once brings the fact to the attention of all.

Winfield Scott Post Inspected.

Winfield Scott Relief Corps, No. 10, auxilary to Winfield Scott Post, No 73, G. A. R., was inspected last evening by the division inspector. The corps was found to be in the best of condi tiun financially as well as in the ritualistic work of the order. Among the visitors present was Mrs. James At wood, of Trenton. After the business of the evening ice cream and cake was served to those present

Better Sidewalks.

A. Kane has completed the laying of the stone sidewalk for Mrs. Depew, on Franklin place, and for Mrs. A. E. Ross, on West Eighth street, and will put two gangs of men at work the first of the month. He will begin work laying the sidewalks for E. M. Daniel, on West Eighth street and Plainfield avenue, and for N. P. T. Finch, on Belvidere and Watchung avenues.

A Talented Musician.

Naboth Osborne, a member of the Drew Quartette, who are now holding revival meetings at Grace M. E. church, was the leader of the Syracuse Glee and Banjo Clubs when they ap peared in this city at Monroe Avenue church two years ago. While in this city he will be a guest at the home of Andrew Wilson, of the borough.

A Purely Social One.

Nellie Valiant, the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Valiant, of Washington Park, entertained a few of her young friends at her home last evening. The affair was purely a social one and the young people enjoyed themselves very much.

—Service at the Church of the Redeemer will be held at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening instead of 4 o'clock in the afternoon as usual. The change is for tomorrow only.

TO FIRE CHURCH SPIRIT

REVIVAL MEETINGS COMMENCED IN GRACE M. E. CHURCH.

The First Meeting Held Last Night and Marked With Great Religious Ardor—Drew Quartette Fine Singers.

A series of revival services were commenced at Grace M. E. church last evening which bid fair to be very successful. The church was well filled with members and friends, while many unconverted ones were attracted to hear the singing and speaking by the Drew Quartette, composed of Rev. Sherman Powell, C. E. Hesselgrave, Naboth Osborne and W. P. Drew, all talented students of the Gospel.

The meeting opened with a song service led by the pastor, Rev. H. J. Johnston, and the regular church choir, with Miss Carroll presiding at the organ. Following this several selections were given by the quartette. Their singing was much enjoyed and was very effective. Rev. Sherman Powell read the Scripture lesson, after which the pastor of the church spoke a few words by way of introduction.

The discourse of the evening was delivered by Mr. Powell, who is a pleasant and winning speaker. His text was taken from the fifteenth verse of the tenth chapter of second Kings: "Is Thine Heart Right?" The speaker then said in part:

"At this time we ought to think entirely of God and not the world. Is thine heart right is the all-important question to ask yourself. It has been a part of human nature since the time of Adam for people to shift responsibility, and get away from the true facts. This is not a question of health which most everyone is interested in to such an extent that when people meet on the street the first question is, 'How do you do?' It is not a question of financial standing. Business integrity is no proof of moral integrity in the deepest sense. Neither is it a question of social standing. One may stand ever so high in the social world yet not be saved. Modern society is no recommendation to anyone. To be in the '400' lacks a great deal of being all that is good. It is not a question of being happy. One may be happy and yet be on the road to perdition. The real question is are you right in God's sight? Is the love of your heart right. God rightfully claims first, last and everything.

"The question of pleasures will come up in these meetings, and there will be a little trimming along that line. There are things which we must not do if they take us or our friends away from Christ. It is not right for a man on prayer-meeting night to go to the club or the store and spend his time there telling stories, and the man that does it will have a hard time in getting his heart right. You can generally tell a man by the company he keeps.

"Love is a real thing that brings action, and we either move to please ourselves or we do so to please God. What is the motive that prompts us to do this or that? If it is a God given motive we are all right, and if not our hearts are not right."

During the latter part of Mr. Powell's sermon he related several impressive incidents to illustrate the truth of his arguments. Rev. Mr. Johnston took charge of the latter part of the service and a short season of quiet devotion was held, during which many raised their hands, thereby showing that they desired to be prayed for and that they would help all that is possible in the services. The quartette also sang several beautiful selections, after which the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. G. W. Smith. The services will be continued this evening, tomorrow evening and Monday evening by the quartette.

THE PRINCETON INN ROW.

The New Brunswick Presbytery to Hear Rev. Mr. Shields.

A special meeting of the New Brunswick Presbytery has been called for November 11th, at Readville, to take action on the request of Rev. Charles W. Shields, of Princeton, who wants to resign from the Presbyterian church, because of the action of the Synod and Presbyteries in criticising him for signing the application for a license for Princeton Inn.

New Jerseys Are Not Coming.

Owing to the very short notice, the Plainfield A. A. will not play the New Jersey Athletic Club this afternoon, as was announced yesterday, but the Crescents and the Rahway Y. M. C. A. will meet on Martine common as originally announced. A game with the New Jerseys will be played later in the season.

VISITING BRAVES CAME.

CARTERET TRIBE WITNESS ADOPTION CEREMONIES BY MIANTONOMO.

The Home Team Highly Complimented For Their Work—A Sociable Session Followed, All Enjoying a Very Good Time.

The chieftians and braves of the Improved Order of Red Men did not exactly paint the town red, last night, but they had a big time notwithstanding. Some of the braves from the Quinnipiac tribe over at Carteret had been invited to come to Plainfield some day to witness the adoption ceremonies at the wigwam of the Miantonomo tribe and last evening was the occasion of their visit.

A committee had been appointed by the local Red Men to look after the entertainment of their visiting brethren and they prepared a grand reception for the Carteret braves. Besides the visitors from Carteret, there was a large delegation present from the Paughcaughnaughsinque tribe in this city.

One candidate was elected and, for the benefit of the visitors, the adoption ceremonies were performed on that candidate. The team was highly commended by the visitors. After the excitement attendant to that had died away, Sachem Slorah made an address of welcome.

Then followed an informal programme for the entertainment of the guests and the local braves. It consisted of remarks by Sachem Deal, of Carteret, piano solo by William Trust, remarks by Past Sachem Conover, of Paughcaughnaughsinque tribe, vocal solo with banjo accompaniment by Harry Drier, remarks by Past Sachem Slug, of Carteret, comic solo by David Thompson, remarks by Senior Sagamore Mason, song by Past Sachem Holdstein, remarks by Chief of Records Quinn, of Carteret, vocal solo with banjo accompaniment by Harry Drier, remarks by Collector of Wampum Osmund and Deacon Mague, piano solo by William Trust, and remarks by Great Sannap William Newcorn.

The council fire was then quenched and the braves and their chieftains adjourned to partake of the collation which had been provided by the thoughtful committee. The party broke up at an early hour this morning.

A HALLOWE'EN PARTY.

Congregational Endeavorers Enjoyed a Seasonable Event Last Night.

The Christian Endeavor Sosiety of the Congregational church held a social and Hallowe'en party last evening at the home of Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Dwigth, of Rockview avenue. There was about fifty members and friends present and all had a delightful time. One of the chief features was a contest in stringing pop-corn to be used on the Christmas tree at the church this year. It was a prize contest and the winner was awarded a ball of pop-corn as big as a watermelon. Another feature was a prize potato contest, and the winner secured a doll made of potatoes.

Frank O. Bristol entertained the audience by giving several impersonations of prominent people, including Marshal P. Wilder. Mr. Bristol was very funny, as usual, and was heartily applauded. Other numbers on the programme consisted of recitations by Miss Mamie Emmons and Miss Catherine Dwight. After the rendition of the programme refreshments consisting of nuts, apples, fruit, candy, etc., was served by the committee in charge, of which Mrs. A. C. LaBoyteaux was the chairman.

Sunday-school Leaders Met.

A meeting of the officers and teachers of the Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school was held last evening at the home of Superintendent E. E. Anthony, on West Front street. The meeting was the first of a series that will be held every month, and was called for the purpose of devising ways and means to furnish the new Sunday-school room of the church. Nothing was definitely decided last evening, but many suggestions were offered by those present for the carrying on of the work planned. A portion of the evening was spent in a social manner and refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Anthony.

Death of an Infant Son.

The many friends of Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Suydam Fritts will sympathize with them in the loss of their infant son, Robert Parker, which occurred yesterday. Friends of the family are invited to attend the funeral services, which will be held tomorrow afternoon from the home of Dr. J. T. Fritts, No. 423 Park avenue, at 4 o'clock.

TWO MORE WHEELS STOLEN

LEFT IN THE STREET BY OWNERS.

While the Rightful Riders Were Inside Stores Doing Business The Thief Plied His Trade With Success.

It was a lovely day yesterday, so nice in fact that the bicycle thief was tempted to go out again and continue his rounds. He first stopped in front of Curtis M. Thorpe's store on Park avenue. Walter Emmons, of Jackson avenue, was in the store at the time. His Knickerbocker wheel remained outside. It was of the 1897 model, No. 1697. He was in the store for some time and when he came out at 3:30 o'clock his wheel was gone. Supposing that some of the boys had taken it for a joke, he hunted around in the neighborhood to find it, but without success. The matter was then reported to the police but no one had noticed the wheel disappear and there was absolutely no clew from which to work.

Later in the afternoon, H. H. Apgar, of Clinton avenue, went to get his wheel in the hallway next to Fred W. Dunn's grocery store, corner of Park and North avenues, where he had left it. He, too, supposed that he was the victim of a practical joke when he found the wheel missing, and looked up and down North and Park avenues, but in vain. The bicycle thief had been to see him also and left no word behind.

The police say that there is absolutely no way to stop these thefts, until the owners of the wheels carry locks with them and lock their wheels, whenever they leave them at the curb or outdoors. At present, the wheel may be stolen right in front of the eyes of the officers, who are unable to tell whether the man taking the wheel is the real owner or not.

ON THE EVE OF SWEET SIXTEEN.

Miss Tiny Voehl Celebrated Her Fifteenth Birthday With Her Friends.

Yesterday Miss Tiny Voehl, of Somerset street, celebrated the anniversary of her fifteenth birthday, and last evening she was given a surprise by a number of her young friends. The surprise was arranged by Miss Addie Carney, of Craig place, and was complete. An evening of music, games and general sociability composed the programme, and the young hostess received many substantial remembrances of the occasion from her friends. Those present included Addie Carney, Lucetta Clark, Edith Loomis, Ada VanHorn, Addie and Minnie Marsh, Carrie Pangborn, Mary Hoagland, Helen Harned, Florence Leighton, Kizzie DeMott, John Carney, George Pope, William Pope, William Monfort, George Gaddis, Bert Simpson, Edward Bellis, Fred Armstrong, Fred Voorhies, Edgar and Harold George, Irving Harned, Ben. Schuck, of North Plainfield; and Miss Leightfoot, of Westfield.

A Church Sociable.

The First Baptist church, of Roselle, will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary tomorrow morning, afternoon and evening with services appropriate to the occasion. Monday evening a meeting for sister Baptist churches will be held, with addresses by Rev. Delavan DeWolf, of Newark: Rev. R. M. Luther, D. D., of Newark, and Rev. J. C. Allen, D. D., of Jersey City. The offerings which will be taken at the different services will all be devoted to the reduction of the church's mortgage debt, which is now $1,900.

Narrow Escape From Serious Injury.

While working in the electrical department of the American Engine Company's works at Bound Brook, last evening, Ralph K. Miner, of East Sixth street, was injured by the falling of a large fly wheel. His leg was caught between the wheel and the base of the machine on which he was working and was considerly cut and scraped. He was brought to his home in a carriage and will be confined to his bed for a week. Dr. E W. Hedges dressed the wound.

Chainless Wheel on Exhibition.

The Columbia chainless wheel is now on exhibition in the grocery store of George W. Rockfellow, corner of Park avenue and West Fourth street, under the charge of an expert. It will remain there until 9 o'clock this evening.

—At the missionary meeting held at Warren chapel last evening over $6 was contributed to the cause of missions.

—W. D Murray, of this city, is in attendance at the Second District Y. M. C. A. conference which is being held at Morristown today.

—T. H. Pollard, of Brooklyn, a member of the Potter & Campbell Company, has rented through Mulford's agency the house at 120 Plainfield avenue, and will shortly occupy it with his family.

Rev. Mr. Baldwin, of Nesbanic, will preach in the Mt. Olive Captist church tomorrow.

U. S. WHIST CHAMPIONS.

PARK CLUB FOUR HOLD AMERICAN WHIST LEAGUE TROPHY.

The Cup Won From the New Jersey Whist Club, of Newark—Match Played in Two Rounds and Hardly Fought.

Another great victory in the whistic arena has been won by the famous four of the Park Club. Yesterday afternoon and evening they met the champion team of the New Jersey Whist Club, of Newark, at the latter city, and defeated them in a closely contested match for the American Whist League challenge trophy. The score was an unusually close one and made the match one of the most exciting ever played for the trophy.

The A. W. L. challenge trophy, as it is called, is offered for the championship of the United States in whist. The present trophy was only offered last year, but the one that preceded it has traveled all over the country as club after club played for it and won it only to be defeated by a more powerful adversary. Three years ago the Parks won it from the Philadelphia Whist Club and held it for one match to be defeated finally by the Hamilton Whist Club of Philadelphia. During the last two years they have played for it several times, but never won it, although they made a strong fight for it. The old trophy was finally won by the Hamilton club fifteen times, after which it became the permanent property of that club. The new trophy was then offered by the League and was captured at the last whist congress by the Toledo team. The Baltimores finally captured it, only to be defeated by the New Jersey Whist Club a week ago. Now the trophy, which is a very handsome one, is in the posssession of the Park Club.

The team that represented the New Jersey Whist Club was composed of four of the best players in the State, Messrs. Otis, Aymar, Cameron and Eagles.. The latter two are members of the North End Club team. The regular team, consisting of Messrs. McCutchen, Townsend, Howell and Rogers, represented the Park Club. Alfred Taylor, captain of the Brooklyn Whist Club team, acted as referee.

The match was of forty-eight hands and was played in two rounds. The first round was hotly contested and resulted in a tie, 9 tricks for each side. In the second round, the Park team settled down to their championship form and proved too strong for their antagonists. The score of the second round being 15 to 11 in favor of the Parks. The total score was 24 to 20, in favor of the Parks.

This evening, the Park Club will be represented in the contest between the New Jersey Association and the Atlantic Association, at Jersey City, by six of its players, Messrs. McCutchen, Townsend, Howell, Rogers, Reed and Matthews.

A JOLLY SURPRISE.

Unexpected Visit That Mr. and Mrs. James Whelan Received From Friends.

A very pleasant surprise party was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Whelan, of 51 Brook avenue, last evening, and a real pleasant time was enjoyed by all. The committee in charge were Mrs. Eugene O'Reilly and Mrs. J. Leahy. The guests first met at the latter's home and from there prepared to surprise their hostess, which they did in a successful manner.

Games and dancing were the chief features of the evening, and the light fantastic toe tripped to the strains of Prof. O'Reilly's orchestra. Supper was served at 12:30 and was followed by dancing, which was kept up until an early hour this morning.

Among those present were the following: the Misses Mary Kenney, Maggie Richardson, Martha Kyle, Minnie Walsh, Mary Hines, L. Downs, A. O. Leary, M. Leahy, K. Leahy, K. Whelan, Josie Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. James Whelan, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene O'Reilly, Mr. and Mrs. J. Leahy, Mr. and Mrs. Schaefer, Messrs. J. Shirley, W. Ilisley, W. Heideloff, J. Gavin, W. Southard, Jr., P. Kiely, B. Vail, J. Callahan, Jr., F. McGuire, of Trenton, A. B. King, of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Garey, of Hillside avenue.

Felix T. Lincoln is very ill at his home, 308 East Fifth street.

Miss Bertha Stevens, of Grandview avenue, is detained at home by illness.

Miss Emily Barker has returned to Philadelphia after a visit with her brother, Horsley Barker, of Grove street.

—L. L. Manning & Son are erecting a large monument in Hillside cemetery today upon the plot of Mr. Cuthbert, of the Standard Oil Company.

—All Saints' Day will be observed at St. Stephen's church Monday with the following services: Holy Communion at 7 a. m. and morning prayer at 10.

HENRY GEORGE DEAD

Candidate for Mayor of Greater New York Passes Away.

STRICKEN WITH APOPLEXY

His End Was Peaceful, and He Died with a Smile on His Lips—Statesman, Philosopher and Friend of Men.

New York, Oct. 30.—The death of Henry George has caused a political shock such as has never been felt before in this city. It completely upsets all the calculations of the politicians as to the result of the election next Tuesday.

Mr. George, the candidate of the Jeffersonian Democracy, died yesterday morning at the Union Square Hotel at 4.50 o'clock of apoplexy, brought on by overwork in the campaign. He had addressed four political meetings the night before and retired worn out. Mrs. George was with him.

About 3 o'clock in the morning Mrs. George was awakened by the convulsive movements of her husband. He was moaning faintly.

Jumping up, she found him in a dying condition. She immediately rang the bell, and the night clerk responded. It was over ewenty minutes before the doctor arrived.

HENRY GEORGE.

Henry George, Jr., who occupied a room on the second floor, was hastily called. He hurried to the bedside of his dying father.

He, Mrs. George and the doctor did all they could to save Mr. George, but despite their efforts he passed away at 5 o'clock.

The excitement in the street was intense when the death of Mr. George was announced. Every man who wore the garb of a laborer walked the streets as if in a trance. Mr. George had been very dear to most of them.

How the News Was Received.

The news of Mr. George's death was known as early as 7 o'clock in the morning, but it was regarded by almost every one as an election canard. They refused to believe it.

The news spread like wildfire in the neighborhood of Union Square, and crowds began to gather near the hotel where he died shortly after 9 o'clock.

Horror-stricken men stopped to talk about it in knots on the street, and everywhere the kindest things were said of the dead leader.

When the men who had worked with Mr. George in the canvass began to arrive at the hotel and learned the tragic news the excitement was intense. His friends gathered in one of the committee rooms and discussed the death in low tones. There was an informal meeting of those in the committees that were present, and arrangements made for a committee to take charge of the funeral arrangements.

Flags all over the city are at half mast. The City Hall flag was lowered to half mast just as soon as the news reached the Mayor's office.

His Son Succeeds Him.

Henry George's son, Henry George, Jr., will take his father's place on the ticket. He will be the Jeffersonian Democracy's candidate for Mayor of Greater New York.

The Executive Committee reached this decision without a dissenting vote late yesterday afternoon and at once made the announcement. It was received with great demonstrations of joy by the George followers.

Mr. George's body was laid out last night on a slab in the room formerly occupied by the Executive Committee of the Jeffersonian Democracy. It had been embalmed and was clothed in a black shroud. The face looked calm and natural. To those that knew him in life he, dead, seemed as if he were sleeping. There is no evidence in his features that show that Mr. George suffered before his death.

At the head of the body there were already two floral offerings, one a big wreath and the other a floral book made of purple immortelles, with the words "Progress and Poverty" in floral letters on it.

Mrs. George and her daughter left the room at 10.20 o'clock last night, Mrs. George having been with her husband's body ever since he died.

CAREER OF HENRY GEORGE.

A Life of Earnest Struggling in the West and the East.

Henry George was born on Sept. 2, 1839, in a house still standing at 312 Catherine street, Philadelphia. His father was a sea captain, a ship owner and a publisher of religious literature. The son went to the common schools until he was 12, and then entered an academy. But he wanted to go into trade, and his father put him in a printing house. The spirit of adventure was strong in young George, however, and he soon left the printing house for the sea, landing in California before he was 18. He set type there for a time, tried mining, and then went back to type.

While working at his case in San Francisco he wrote anonymous letters on public questions which attracted attention. Dr. Gunn, editor of the San Francisco Times, set a watch at a letter box to learn who the author of the letters was. When he caught George he offered him a place on his staff. The young man accepted, and worked his way up until he became managing editor.

His business as editor brought him to New York on a trip, and while here he was impressed with the luxury of the rich and the misery of the poor of the metropolis. His impression was the seed of "Progress and Poverty."

He wrote the book in 1879, and, as he could get no publisher for it, set the type for the first edition with his own hands. Later Hinton, of San Francisco, published an edition in California, and then the Appletons brought one out in New York. Kegan Paul, of London, published a large edition, but the books lay piled in the publisher's cellar until the author, as correspondent from Ireland of the Irish World, was arrested by order of the British Government. After that Kegan had to run off more books. Mr. George followed up his success with a book called "The Irish Land Question."

In 1884-85 Mr. George lectured on economic subjects in Great Britain and Ireland. Meantime "Progress and Poverty" was being read by the labor leaders of America, and when the Mayoralty campaign of 1886 opened they were ready to accept him and no other as their candidate.

The campaign was one of the most exciting in the history of New York. The Rev. Dr. McGlynn took the stump for him, and disobeyed Archbishop Corrigan, who ordered him to confine himself to his duties as pastor of St. Stephen's Church, at 149 East Twenty-eighth street. Dr. McGlynn was excommunicated practically, and a long controversy among the leading Catholics of America followed, which was settled only when Archbishop Satolli was sent to America as the Apostolic Delegate. Dr. McGlynn was restored to the Church and was sent to a pastorate in Newburg, N. Y.

After the campaign of 1886 Mr. George started the Standard as a vehicle for the spread of his ideas. He stood for the single-tax idea, for free trade, for Bryanism, at least in all its salient features; for the sale of public franchises at auction, and for opposition to corporation power. When he was editor of the Sacramento Reporter he opposed the corporations so vigorously that they bought a controlling interest in the paper in order to get him out of the editorial chair.

Mr. George left the East in 1869 to go back to California, and acted as correspondent for a New York paper. After doing a little more work at typesetting there he accepted a place as editor of a small paper in Oakland, a suburb of San Francisco. He was there only a few months when Gov. Haight, of California, asked him to take charge of the principal Democratic organ, the Sacramento Recorder. He accepted. He was given one-fourth of the shares besides the salary.

The Central Pacific Railroad, then being completed and entering "on its career of corruption and oppression," as Mr. George said, bought the paper, and he retired. He became the California agent of a rival press association, meantime employing his pen in behalf of Gov. Haight and the Democratic party. Mr. George there conceived "Progress and Poverty." He used to tell the story like this:

Progress and Poverty.

"I had taken a horse and gone for a ride, and, absorbed in my own thoughts, had driven him into the hills until the horse panted for breath. Stopping for a rest, I asked a passing teamster, for want of something else to say, what land was worth there. He pointed to some cows grazing off so far that they looked like mice, and he said: 'I don't know exactly, but there is a man over there who will sell some land for $1,000 an acre.'

"Like a flash it came upon me that there was the reason. With the growth of population land grows in value, and the men who work it must pay more for the privilege. I turned back in quiet thought. The perception that then came to me has been with me ever since."

Big Fire in Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Oct. 30.—The Union Trust Company's big building on Worth avenue, the local Wall street, was destroyed by fire yesterday. The building was occupied by the trust company, the Pittsburg Stock Exchange and a restaurant in the cellar. An overheated smokestack from the kitchen in the basement set fire to the roof and the flames had gained great headway before a stream of water was thrown on them. The burned building was sold to the Union Trust Company two years ago for $150,000 by the Stock Exchange. The loss is estimated at from $150,000 to $200,000, on which there is an insurance of about one-half.

The Great Medicine that Gives Nerve Strength

Hood's Sarsaparilla Makes the Blood Rich and Pure, Creates an Appetite and Restores Health, Vigor and Vitality.

"I feel that I ought to write a few words in praise of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which has done great things for me. I was in a delicate condition and was sick at my stomach and constipated. I tried remedies highly recommended for female weaknesses, but the medicines brought on other troubles. I was so weak I could not attend to my household duties, and I then determined to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. After I had taken this medicine a short time I began to gain strength. I until I was able to work all day without any inconvenience. I have taken Hood's Pills for constipation, and I am better today than I have been for five years. Since taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills I feel rested in the morning. I am less nervous and am sure I have richer and purer blood. I have always been bothered with scrofula, but now I am rid of it. Before my last child was born I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and my girl baby was fat and strong, while my other child was not well and lived to be only two years old." MRS. E. F. Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bushnell, of Park avenue, are entertaining friends from Brooklyn.

Grew Stronger Each Day

Croup Quickly Cured.

MOUNTAIN GLEN, Ark.—Our children were suffering with croup when we received a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It afforded almost instant relief.—F. A. Thornton. This celebrated remedy is for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Miss Egel, of Bound Brook, has been the guest of Plainfield friends.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by druggists, price 75c per bottle.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Miss Emma Thorn, of Brooklyn, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Townley, of Grandview avenue.

Those who believe chronic diarrhœa to be incurable should read what Mr. P. E. Grisham, of Gaars Mills, La., has to say on the subject, viz.: "I have been a sufferer from chronic diarrhœa ever since the war and have tried all kinds of medicines for it. At last I found a remedy that effected a cure and that was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy." This medicine can always be depended upon for colic, cholera morbus, dysentery and diarrhœa. It is pleasant to take and never fails to affect a cure. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Miss Lizzie Huff, of Centreville, is visiting her brother, Horace Huff and wife, of Coddington avenue.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent Cough Remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form.—The Banner of Liberty, Libertytown, Maryland. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, Apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Nature makes the cures after all.

Now and then she gets into a tight place and needs helping out.

Things get started in the wrong direction.

Something is needed to check disease and start the system in the right direction toward health.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with hypophosphites can do just this.

It strengthens the nerves, feeds famished tissues, and makes rich blood.

50c. and $1.00; all druggists.

THEATRICAL.

The successful production of "Cumberland '61" a new American romantic drama by Franklin Fyles, was made by Augustus Pitou at the Fourteenth Street Theatre in New York, Monday night, Oct. 18th. The theme of the play is the vendetta as it still exists in the mountains of the Cumberland region. The time of the action is the first year of the Rebellion, but the war is only a background for romantic fiction based on fact. The sentimental story is the old one of love between the son and daughter of families separated by a deadly feud, which has in the past broken out frequently with loss of life, and which now reappears in the episodes that constitute the movement of the piece. The scenes comprise a view of West Point painted from exact sketches and photographs; a Cumberland church picturesquely ruined by warfare; the exterior and interior of a mountaineer leader's house, and a bridge spanning a chasm, upon which structure the two representatives of the vendetta meet in combat.

An Officer's Heroic Conduct.

Thursday afternoon, while the members of the Junior Epworth League were parading in North Plainfield, Patrolman Cash, who headed the procession, saved a number of the children from serious injury. The flying flags and the appearance of the children frightened a pony which stood on Park place, and the little animal started toward Grove street from which street the children were coming. The officer had a lively chase for a few minutes, but finally succeeded in catching the horse just before he rushed through the crowd of children. The wagon was occupied by a plucky little girl but she was unable to stop the progress of the steed. Everyone applauded the effort of the officer.

Petit Jurors.

Next Monday the petit jury will commence its work at Elizabeth and those who go from Plainfield include Voorhees Laing, Charles Ulrich, Andrew Fritts, Wm. Craig, I. L. McVoy and Hugh O'Donnell.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Rev. F. B. Meyer, B. A., the noted preacher and writer, has said, "Belong to a gymnasium, that you may keep in good working trim the body which God has entrusted to you."

The examinations in gymnastics at the Y. M. C. A. will be held in about two weeks, and are intended to give each basket ball player an opportunity to pass and get upon the team. For this a percentage of 65 is necessary. The exnminations will consist of general drill, apparatus work and tests of endurance in running.

The physical examinations at the Y. M. C. A. will hereafter be conducted in a more spacious and airy room, just above the reception room.

The senior basket ball team of the Summit Y. M. C. A. will visit the Plainfield Association, November 5th, and the following night the junior basket ball team, of this city, will go to Summit to play a game with the students' class.

A junior basket ball team has been formed in the night gymnasium class, and both teams will meet for practice tonight.

Special music and other features will make the men's meeting, Sunday afternoon, one of special interest.

Appeal to Endeavorers.

E. E. Anthony, treasurer of the State Christian Endeavor Society, has issued the following appeal to members of the society:

Dear Endeavorers—Again the treasurer must appeal to your generous instincts. Our State treasury opens the new year with a deficiency. We believe all appreciate the work of the department in our State Union, and the fact that a good State convention is a decided blessing to all was settled years ago. We don't ask much from you, just 3 cents from each member of the senior societies and 2 cents from the juniors. Surely every one can afford these sums. There is no law against any one giving more, however. We need money immediately. It is your work, will you sustain it? Please remit to your sincere Christian Endeavor friend.

Benjamin Schenck, of East Fifth street, spent yesterday in Somerville.

Mrs. Tunis Visscher Winne, of Brooklyn, has been the guest of Mrs. B. O. Bowers, of Franklin place, for the last week.

HENRY GEORGE

Conflicting emotions surge through the mind of an admirer of Henry George when it comes to penning a few words anent his death—whether they shall be modeled into an imaginative comparison of the man with something supremely ideal or whether they shall consist of simple and plain words expressing regret and sorrow over his decease. The life of Henry George was so unostentatious, so void of the hollow mockeries of this life, his manner so frank and honest, his words so forcible and direct—his every demeanor so representative of man as one likes to quote the word in admiration—that the universal recognition of what it was, even to the mind untutored in the art of framing the conviction into fine words, is the best simile that can be drawn around it. The essential quality that marked Henry George's life and impelled him to act as he did, was undying sympathy with the unfortunate—the under dogs in life as some would express it He wanted to see all men put on an equal basis in buffeting about the world seeking a livelihood for themselves and theirs. He was peculiarly sensitive in determining the seamy side of life and government and equally as facile in exploiting his remedies for the conditions which he considered crying shames. He had seen a bit of the world, as they say, and the hard knocks that were his as a result served as unconscious examples in prompting him to act as he did. Some of his ideas were considered as vagaries, but they were so philosophically conceived that they attracted even the attention and study of those diametrically opposed to them. Perhaps Mr. George's principal fault lay in the fact that to apply his ideas in a practical manner, so that in his lifetime he might see them put to a test, would occasion a whole revolution of worldly things as now constituted. That condition a greater part of the world could not bring itself into sympathy with. But with all his advanced notions no one ever questioned the personal honesty of the man or his purely philanthropic impulses in a public way. In the death of Henry George the world loses one of its best men.

The sudden death of Henry George came as a tragic climax to a campaign that had already become more than dramatic by the very part that the deceased had played in it. Chaotic as the situation was the removal of one of its principal factors does not seem to effectively clear up the probable result, evidence of which is shown in the conflicting claims that adherents of the various remaining candidates claim for their men as a result of the demise of Mr. George. As their own support may lean towards one or the other of the candidates, just so is their voiced opinions of what the majority of all the voters are going to do. But they are prognostications which can only be accounted right or wrong after the votes are counted.

THE SUNDAY LESSON.

INTERNATIONAL SERIES, WITH COMMENTARY BY DR. STEARNS.

Golden Text: Be of good cheer: for I believe God, that it shall be even as it was Told me.—Acts xxvii, 25. Oct. 31, 1897.

13. "And when the south wind blew softly, supposing that they had obtained their purpose, loosing thence they sailed close by Crete." Paul, with Aristarchus, a former fellow traveler, and afterward a fellow prisoner (Acts xix, 29; Col. iv, 10), is now at sea on his way to Rome. They touched at Sidom and thence near Cyprus, to Myra on the mainland of Lycia, in Asia Minor. There he was transferred to a ship of Alexandria bound for Italy, and after many days of slow sailing rounded the east end of Crete and reached the Fair Havens, on the south coast of Crete. Here they spent much time, until Paul advised them not to venture farther on account of the season, but the master and owner, and the majority advised to try and reach the port of Phenice, a little farther west in Crete, and winter there. So with a light wind they started, keeping as near the land as possible. Paul is in the hands, humanly speaking, of those who know not God, but he is really in the hands of God and can trust Him to manage.

14, 15. A mighty wind from the land arose against which the ship could not bear up, and they were compelled to let her run before it. Was this of God or the devil that they were thus driven out to sea? We know that satan is the prince of the power of the air and that he caused the wind that blew down the house upon Job's children and killed them (Job i, 12, 19), but he could not do it without God's permission. God controls the angels who controls the winds, and even the stormy wind fulfills His word (Rev. vii, 1; Ps. cxlviii, 8). We must see God alone.

16, 17. The storm increased. Under the lee of the island of Clauda they get the small boat on board which had evidently been towing astern. They somehow undergird the ship, then lower the sail and let her drive under bare poles. What about the condition of the passengers among the 276 souls on board? (Verse 37). Sailors are not supposed to feel anything, never to know they are sick till they are dead, but many ordinary people do get awfully sick in a storm. This must have been a sad ship. And yet there were some on it very dear to the Lord Jesus.

18, 19. "Exceedingly tossed with a tempest." Well, there is no use to say a word about this unless you have been in such circumstances yourself. It was a bad case, and many doubtless wished that there was no more sea (Rev. xxi, 1). Yet even under such circumstances the Prince of Peace can control one's heart. In health or sickness, life or death, we can be quiet in His loving care.

20. "All hope that we should be saved was then taken away." Surely they were at their wits' end (Ps. cvii, 27), or, as in the margin, "All their wisdom was swallowed up." The case was, as far as human eyes could see, utterly hopeless. It makes one think of the sinner having no hope and without God in the world (Eph. ii. 12), or, as in Rom. v, 6, "without strength." But there is a Saviour for the lost, and only for such. He said, "I came not to call the righteous, but sinners, to repentance."

21. "But after long abstinence Paul stood forth in the midst of them." They had fasted for 14 days (verse 33), and must have felt forlorn indeed and ready for a word of comfort from any one who might have it for them. None but God could help or comfort them, and His servant is ready to be the messenger. He is the Father of mercies and the God of all comfort (II Cor. i, 3), but we cannot fully appreciate it or Him till we get into strait places.

22. "And now I exhort you to be of good cheer, for there shall be no loss of any man's life among you, but of the ship." He emphasized it by adding, "There shall not an hair fall from the head of any of you," and he took bread and gave thanks to God in the presence of them all and began to eat (verses 34, 35).

23. "For there stood by me this night the angel of God, whose I am and whom I serve." This and the next two verses are to me the very heart of this lesson. Take the words "God, whose I am," and think of what is included. His property, which He will certainly care for, His child, whom He will certainly see to, loved by the Lord Jesus as the Father loves Him (John xv, 9), bought with the precious blood of Christ, and therefore as precious to God as that blood is; a part of Christ Himself, a member of His body. We need not hesitate to say, "The most high God, the possessor of heaven and earth, owns me," and take all the comfort there is for us. Then consider "whom I serve," and remember that we cannot serve God and Mammon; neither can we serve Christ and please men (Math. vi, 24; Gal. i, 10.

24. "Saying, Fear not, Paul! Thou must be brought before Caesar, and, lo, God hath given thee all them that sail with thee." This is a confirmation of the Lord's testimony to him in Jerusalem—"Thou must bear witness at Rome" (chapter xxiii, 11). The Lord's "musts" are as sure as God Himself, whether "ye must be born again" or "all things must be fulfilled." Every purpose of the Lord shall be performed, and all His thoughts shall come to pass (Jer. li, 29; Isa. xiv, 24). It was the Lord's purpose that Paul should be His witness at Rome, and therefore it was as good as done, although in this storm everything seemed against it. How blessed are the "fear nots" of God from the first one in Gen. xv, 1, to the last in Revelation! His perfect love casts out all fear, and the soul that rests in Him can truly say, "What time I am afraid I will trust in Thee." "I will trust and not be afraid."

25. "Wherefore, sirs, be of good cheer, for I believe God, that it shall be even as it was told me." Verse 44 says, "And so it came to pass." Whatever God says is as sure as if it had already come to pass, so we should say continually, "I believe God." The first "believe" in the Bible is in Gen. xv, 6, where it is said of Abraham, "He believed in the Lord, and He counted it to him for righteousness." It might be literally translated "Abraham amened God," or said amen to God.

Iron in the Blood.

Iron Extracted by an Eminent London Physician from Bullock's Blood Gives Strength to the Weak and Cures Disease.

The amount of iron taken annually in pills and mixtures is almost beyond belief. A large portion of it is prescribed by physicians but the greater part is taken by persons who realize that they need toning up and take iron on their own responsibility.

Eminent physicians long ago discovered the most important element in the blood was iron or Hæmoglobin. This iron attracts the oxygen from the air cells of the lungs, unites with it and thus carries it to all parts of the body, increasing the vitality and eliminating disease.

To produce iron as nature produces it in the blood, was long a problem which physicians and chemists strove to solve without success. It remained for Dr. Campbell, the well-known English physician, to discover that the blood of a bullock contained iron or Hæmoglobin, in exactly the same form as it exists in the human blood. This he succeeded in extracting and enclosing in small pointed globes of pure gelatine to which he gave the name of Capsuloids.

For the first time in the annals of medical science it became possible to make impoverished blood rich and red by the administration of iron in its natural form. The result almost promises to revolutionize the practice of medicine. It has been demonstrated that these Capsuloids will cure nervous prostration, nervous debility, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, anæmia, scrofula, erysipelas, rheumatism, kidney and liver troubles, and other diseases due to an inferior condition of the blood.

Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids are sold by all leading druggists at 50 cts. per large box, six boxes for $2.50, or sent direct at the same price from the office of The Capsuloid Company, Downing Building, 108 Fulton Street, New York City.

evidently, and the business shou d be done by all means. Buildings require paint. Of course a house may be left unpainted and left to become weatherbeaten and a wreck. That doesn't pay, though; it's much cheaper to paint, and our paints in all colors are the best in the market for durability under the most trying conditions. They are well adapted to our exposure and we sell everything in the line of paints and painters' supplies at short prices.

The Tables Turned.

We have almost solved the servant girl problem.

Instead of the maid being mistress, we have made it possible for the mistress herself to be mistress.

The tables are turned, and we have turned them.

We have accomplished it to the mutual satisfaction of everybody. The plan is so simple that the wonder is nobody ever thought of it before.

Cheap but good laundering of general house linen enables every housekeeper to have the washing done out of the house. For instance,

Counterpanes 10c each.
Table Cloth 5c "
Sheets - 3c "
Towel, Napkins 1c "

What does our proposition mean? It means no more washday odor about the house. It means satisfied servants, because a maid will not be insolent if she can escape washdays and the delay of other work caused by bad drying days. Our booklet "Tables Turned" tells all about our new plan. You can have it for the asking.

VICTORY FOR ELI SHAW

Camden's Murdered Women the Victims of Unknown Person.

ALMOST A RIOT AT COURT

Women Trampled by a Curious Crowd in the Rush to Hear the Inquest—Shaw Still Held in Jail—Some Startling Rumors.

Camden, N. J., Oct. 30.—The Coroner's jury finds that Eli Shaw's mother and grandmother came to their death at the hands of some unknown persons.

Shaw is still in jail, held by a warrant in the hands of the police.

The entire city is in a state of great excitement over the result of the inquest as to the death of Mrs. Emma Zane and Mrs. Sarah Shaw, mother and grandmother of Eli Shaw, who is under arrest, accused of their murder.

Shaw's sweetheart, Maybelle Neilson, who believes in his innocence and who says she will spend her fortune to prove it, was on the scene early, and the sympathetic court attendants saw to it that she reached a seat near the prisoner, unharmed by the crush of spectators.

Hundreds of curious ones have crossed the river from Philadelphia, and already at least a dozen women have been roughly knocked down and trampled upon by the throng which besieges the court house, making frantic efforts to gain an entrance to the inquest room.

Women Badly Injured.

Two of the women were so badly injured that they were taken to the hospital unconscious. Another, who had fainted, was dragged into a neighboring house, where she recovered and was taken home.

Clothing was torn from men and women alike, and at one time it looked as though the police would be unable to prevent a riot.

The doors of the court house had to be closed to keep out the mob, but even then hundreds refused to go away, and used every means, fair and foul, to gain an entrance to the inquest room.

May Prove Him Innocent.

It is expected that witnesses will be produced who will prove Miss Neilson's constant assertion that her fiance is as innocent as it is possible for a man to be.

These witnesses will, it is alleged, corroborate Eli Shaw's story and wipe out the State's theory. Both the witnesses are women. Their identity has not been disclosed, for the reason, it is stated, that the defence is fearful that they might be tampered with.

One Woman's Story.

One of the women, early on the morning of the murder, Oct. 12, heard a pistol shot, but did not get out of bed. Five minutes later she heard another shot. She did not move. She was paralyzed with fear, she says. Then she heard agonized cries of "Murder! oh, murder! For God's sake, some one come!"

The person crying for help, she will testify, was Eli Shaw.

The other witnesses not only heard Eli's calls for aid, but also his grandmother's. She had been in the family for years and recognized Mrs. Zane's voice.

Upsets State's Claim.

The corroboration of Eli's story upsets the claim of the State that Shaw committed both murders and spent two hours removing evidence of his guilt, breaking windows and creating appearances of burglary.

Before going in to the inquest Miss Neilson said to a reporter: "At last we are in a position to prove that Mr. Shaw is guiltless. I feel as certain that he will be a free man before night as I do that I am alive. He must be. He is a brave man, a true man, an innocent man, and when he is released from this dreadful place I will prove my faith in him and my love for him by marrying him immediately, if he so desires."

SHOT HIS FAIR COUSIN.

Weeden Admits that He Tried to Kill Miss Coulters.

Providence, R. I., Oct. 30.—All the mystery that surrounded the attempt to kill Miss Daisy Coulters was cleared up yesterday when her cousin, Frank Weeden, confessed that it was he who fired the shot.

Miss Coulters, who is a student at Brown University, was shot as she sat by an open window a few weeks ago, and was dangerously wounded. The weapon used was evidently a shotgun, loaded with slugs.

The case was a complete mystery for some time, but her cousin, an erratic young man who had pestered her with his attentions, was suspected. He was arrested, but would not admit any connection with the crime until yesterday.

A FATAL BLOW.

Joseph Brady Was Killed While Skylarking in a Saloon.

Philadelphia, Oct. 30.—Joseph Brady, aged 23, was killed in a saloon yesterday by a blow on the solar plexus.

The man had been skylarking with Joseph McGreal and Harry Meehan and other friends. Brady offered to allow his companions to test their strength by striking him on the chest. One blow struck him too low, landing on about the place where Fitzsimmons landed on Corbett.

Brady's friends thought he was only stunned, but all efforts to revive him were of no avail.

Predicts Earthquakes in Mexico.

City of Mexico, Oct. 30.—Juan N. Contreras, the earthquake and weather prophet, predicts that a series of very severe shocks will be felt in this city from Nov. 2 to Nov. 4 and from Nov. 6 to Nov. 8. This prediction has caused much uneasiness here. The faith in Contreras' earthquake prognostications is very strong, owing to the fact that he has never gave false warnings. His latest success was the prediction of the severe earthquake which visited the Isthmus of Tehuantepec.

To Look for the Andree Balloon.

London, Oct. 30.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Copenhagen says that Capt. Sverdrup, of Dr. Nansen's ship, the Fram, will start immediately with an expedition for Prince Charles Promontory to look for the Andree balloon.

GOSSIP FROM GRIDIRON.

HAPPENINGS AMONG THE LOCAL FOOTBALL PLAYERS.

Games That are to be Played and Points About Teams and Individual Players That May Prove Interesting to Cranks.

There will be a football game this afternoon on Martine common.

Through a typographical error, The Press stated that the Alis first team defeated the second team Wednesday 17 to 10. The score really was 17 to 0.

An excellent quality of football will be seen at Martine common on Tuesday afternoon, when the eleven of the Plainfield A. A. will line up against the San Remo team, from New York. The game will begin at 3 o'clock instead of at 4, as has been the custom. 25 cents admission will be charged.

By far the strongest team that ever represented Plainfield on the gridiron will line up Tuesday afternoon against the San Remo team, of New York. The San Remo team is composed of members of the New York Athletic Club, and includes some of its best players. The lineup of the Plainfield team will probably be as follows: Right end, Rider; right tackle, Hallock, right guard, Brown; centre, Hall; left guard, Milne; left tackle, Lovell; left end, Waring; quarter back, Saltzman; right half back, Freeman; left half back, Smith; full back, Cathcart. Lovell may not be able to play, in which case Cuming will take his place. If Saltzman does not play at his old place behind the line, Waring will play there and Serrell will cover end. Darling will relieve one of the other backs after one half.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The Knob Hill bowling team met the No Name Club on the Ulrich alleys last evening, and rolled the first match game of the season, and considering all things it was a good contest. The former team won the match by the score of 1440, and their opponents scored 1398. The attendance of bowling enthusiasts was large and much interest was manifested throughout. Below will be found the scores:

AT THE TRAPS.

At the invitation shoot of the Brooklyn Gun Club, at East New York, Thursday, T. H Keller, the popular representative of the Climax Gun Club, won the first prize, a handsome silver tea service, his score being 29 out of a possible 30 birds. "Tom" is shooting in rare form this season, and the manner in which he breaks his birds causes favorable comment, and speaks volumes for his Victor loads of King's smokeless powder. Tom modestly attributes his success entirely to his ammunition, and says "any one can do good work with Victor loads;" and judging from their popularity, a host of sportsmen believe him.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

The President Designates Thursday, Nov. 25, as Thanksgiving Day.

Washington, Oct. 30.—The President yesterday issued the following Thanksgiving proclamation:

"By the President of the United States:

"In remembrance of God's goodness to us during the past year, which has been so abundant, 'let us offer unto Him our thanksgiving and pay our vows to the Most High.' Under His watchful providence industry has prospered, the conditions of labor have been improved, the rewards of husbandmen have been increased and the comforts of our homes multiplied. His mighty hand has preserved peace and protected the nation. Respect for law and order has been strengthened, love of free institutions cherished and all sections of our beloved country brought into closer bonds of fraternal regard and generous co-operation. For these great benefits it is our duty to praise the Lord in a spirit of humility and gratitude, and to offer up to Him our most earnest supplications.

"That we may acknowledge our obligation as a people to Him who has so graciously granted to us the blessings of free government and material prosperity, I, William McKinley, President of the United States, do hereby designate and set apart Thursday, the 25th day of November, for national thanksgiving and prayer, which all of the people are invited to observe with appropriate religious services in their respective places of worship. On this day of rejoicing and domestic reunion let our prayers ascend to the Giver of every good and perfect gift for the continuance of His love and favor to us, that our hearts may be filled with charity and good will, and that we may be ever worthy of His beneficent concern.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington this twenty-ninth day of October, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty-second.
